—It has been suggested that the Queen Anne's side of Chester river opposite Chestertown, would be a most desirable situation for the erection of a number of neat but small cottages. An embryo Brooklyn is already promised as a future improvement.

—A medium-sized opossum was caught one evening last week up a small tree in front of the residence of J. K. Aldridge, on Front street. His opossumship after being caught, made his escape and rushed through the hall of the house and was lost in the backyard.

—Colin F. Stam showed us yesterday a magnificent blossom of the Lotus, the decorative flower of the Egyptians. The flower is of a delicate pink and indigenous to the Nile. Several beautiful plants of the night-blooming Cereus have been in flower during the month.

Miss Laura, the sixteen-year-old daughter of J. H. Gibson, living on the Parsons' farm, near Smithville, fell from a stable loft on Friday last and broke her arm between the wrist and elbow. Medical aid was summoned and Miss Gibson is doing as well as could be expected.

—Bull frog shooting is the latest introduction in gunning circles. The sport was inaugurated by a Philadelphia summer visitor, who spent several hours on the water, had the skin burned off his neck and secured two quivering frog legs as his reward. The sport is not popular.

—The fine driving horse of Mr. John McCloud was seriously cut by a thread of barbed wire in a wire fence on Monday last. The cut is near the fetlock and is an ugly wound. The horse was turned out to graze with several others and Mr. McCloud says that the matter is somewhat a mystery.

—Another Democrat contest will take place at Worton Presbyterian Church on Monday evening, August 4, commencing at eight o'clock. As yet the number of contestants is unknown, it is not allowed, however, that there be more than ten or less than six. The contests will possibly be discontinued after September 1.

—The old building which stood on the future site of the new bank building, and which was sold to Edward Lambert, has been sold by Mr. Lambert to W. W. Hubbard, and the work of removing the building to Mr. Hubbard's farm, located several miles from town, was commenced yesterday.

—It has been decided by the executive committee of the Maryland Agricultural Society to hold a big trotting meeting at Pimlico, October 7, 8, 9 and 10, giving $15-000 in purses. With a view to obtaining the best class of entries, including whatever may prove during the season the most sensational and attractive stars of the trotting and pacing turf. Col. Hough has been instructed to visit the grand circuit meetings.

—Orphans' court, July 29, 1890: Present Judges Walker, Fisher and Moffett. I. E. Hayes, administrator of Edw. C. Coppage, filed inventory of the personal property of his decedent. Chas. T. Westcott, administrator of N. G. Westcott, filed inventory of the personal property of his decedent, and obtained an order to sell the same. C. T. Westcott, administrator of Nathaniel Voshell, filed his bond, and J. P. Nicholson and A. L. Corey were appointed to appraise the personal property of said deceased.

—As will be found stated in our Tolchester communication, hog cholera has again made its appearance in Kent. Mr. Bramble, on the Tolchester farm, has lost half of a valuable pen of fine hogs, but claims to have found a remedy in the new growth of pine leaves or "shats," which he boils in water and mixes with the hogs' food.

—Richard Carmichael, of Queen Anne's county, a son of the late Judge Carmichael, says that an accurate record has been kept in his family for thirty years and that there has invariable been rain on the 26th of July during that time. The rule was carried out on Saturday. We have heard of no record for Kent during so long a time, but on Saturday last, July 26, one rain at least was added to our local record.

—Mr. George M. Beasten, of Locust Grove, has shown some handsome specimen twigs of Smith's cider apples grown on the farm of J. A. Stauffer. Growing closely together upon eight inches of the twig is a cluster of fifteen healthy, light green apples covered with a delicate bloom. Mr. Stauffer has a large number of trees all loaded with apples in the same manner.

—Marriage licenses issued during July: White—Wm. L. Spry, Lottie R. Gray; Edward R. Joiner, Clotie Hubbard. Colored—Wm. H. Carter to Ellen Murray; Benj. H. Freeman to Sarah R. Garrison; Wm. Quiller to Mary Snowden; Alexander Mann to Carrie Tilghman; Thos. Anderson White to Sarah A. Johnson; George Chambers to Tudy Jones.

—The new postal cards, which will soon be printed are of two sizes—the larger ones which have twice the area of the present postal cards, being intended for business communications that cannot very well be crowded, and other purposes demanding space. Both kinds have in the right and upper corner, instead of a representation of a stamp, a small portrait of General Grant.

—The first rabid dog reported in Chestertown this year was killed on Saturday. The dog belonged to Mr. Kirby, the florist. The first symptoms given of the rabies was a peculiar expression of the eyes and singular actions of the dog while in the sick-room of Mr. Kirby's little girl. The dog after making several circuits of the garden, snapping at every object it passed, was chained and fell in a fit. The suffering animal was promptly killed and Mr. Kirby suggests the advisability of carefully watching several large dogs which were seen in the immediate vicinity of his dog when mad. There is little doubt that the dog was suffering with the terrible disease, hydrophobia, during which it snapped at Mr. Kirby several times before being killed.

—Some excitement was created in Sandy Bottom, a colored settlement near Fairlee, on Monday by the sudden death of Hannah Ford. It seems that Thomas Ford and his wife Hannah, lived unhappily together and about a year ago separated, both remaining in the settlement at houses only a short distance apart. On Monday about half-past twelve o'clock, as Ford was eating his dinner, his wife entered and catching him in the collar made some unfriendly remarks. The man pushed his assailant from him and she fell, but recovering herself she again made an assault and was a second time pushed away and fell on her face. Ford called for a man to come and take her from the house, which was done and the woman in a few minutes was dead. A coroners' inquest was held at which Dr. Wilson made a careful examination but could discover no bruises of any kind, and we are reliably informed, that the conclusion reached was, that the woman died of a heart affection and not from direct injuries received from the husband.

Chestertown's Vegetable Supply.

Chestertown has been literally flooded with vegetables during the past and present week. Since the opening of the bridge for free travel, a floodtide of Queen Anne's truckers has struck Chestertown. Mr. Kelley says that so far the increase of travel across the bridge by all classes has been unexpectedly large. In view of the fact of the large supply of choice vegetables, which has been the natural outgrowth of the establishment of free communication between the counties, some of the Chestertown produce dealers and a number of the Kent county truckers are inclined to raise the cry "I told you so," and claim that injury rather than benefit will be the result on this side of the river. The dealers object to the produce being carried from door to door for sale, leaving them only what cannot be disposed of in that way, while the growers claim that they cannot successfully compete with the early soil across the river. The money, it should be remembered by the merchants of town, will in nearly every case be left with them; while with our strictly Democratic population, it should not be objected that an objectionable protective tariff in the form of a bridge toll has been removed. There is little reason to doubt that the new order of things will be for the mutual benefit of both Kent and Queen Anne's. Chestertown now has a territory to draw from scarcely surpassed by any town in the State.

Items from Locust Grove.

LOCUST GROVE, July 29, 1890.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Leaving out of the summer season, visitors and visiting our town and vicinity could be said only to exist. Of course our farmers are at work, and must continue to bear the heat and burthen of the day, while the undersigned historic Miss Rooney and her friends keep up the social end of the fairy wand of life. Bashful young men as well as coy maidens have had a pleasant summer in and around our picturesque little town of Locusts. The following are some of the social notes which have made the present month one of unusual pleasure to little Annie and her friends:

Miss Elsie Penning, of Havre de Grace, and Miss Corydon Dorsey, of Carroll county, are visiting Miss Mamie Moore.

Mrs. Owens, of Florida, has been visiting Mrs. George Beasten.

Miss Bertha Hayes has returned home after a pleasant visit to relatives at Seaford, Del.

Misses Ida and Blanche Redmile are spending their vacation with relatives in Pennsylvania.

Mr. G. Harvey Beasten has returned to New York after a pleasant visit to his parents.

Mr. Nelson Hammond, of Baltimore, is paying a visit to Mr. Sereck Shallcross.

Mrs. Redmile has returned home from Pennsylvania, where she has been visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. George Thompson, after spending a few days with his mother at Olney, Pa., has returned home.

Miss Helen Hayes is paying a visit to her friend, Miss Gast, at Mifflinsburg, Pennsylvania.

Miss Lillie Boggs is enjoying a pleasant visit to friends at Smyrna.

Miss Lydia Hall, of Wilmington, Del., is visiting Miss Bertha Hayes.

Mrs. Nichols and daughter are visiting Mrs. T. J. Shallcross.

ANNIE ROONEY.

Personal Mention.

Miss Mamie Gemmill is the guest of Miss Cockey, on Kent Island.

Miss Mamie Weathered has been spending several weeks in Western Maryland.

Miss Mary Hurtt is the guest of Baltimore friends.

The Misses Lizzie and Mamie Roberts are visiting Miss Eunice Gemmill.

Dr. Davis and wife and Mrs. Meekins, of Baltimore, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walbert, near Lankford.

Mr. Lawrence J. Smyth, formerly principal of Kennedyville school, Kent county, has been appointed principal of the Double Creek school, vice George M. Vansant, resigned. Mr. Smyth is a graduate of Washington College.

Messrs. Oliver and Harvey Merryman, of Baltimore, are visiting the family of Mr. R. J. Catlin.

Miss Blanche Harman, daughter of the late Walter F. Harman, won the prize in the contest of elocution, at Glyndon, last week. She had seven competitors.

The Misses Wilkins are visiting friends in Sudlersville.

Miss Ida Gallaher, of New York, is visiting Mrs. Richard Hynson, on Water street.

Mrs. Mary Graves and grandson, Arthur Toulson, of Wilmington, Del., are visiting Mrs. William Elliott on High street.

Mr. Edward Plotts, proprietor of the Gem Piano and Organ Co., Washington, N. J., was in town last week looking after the interest of his firm, and paid the TRANSCRIPT a call. The Gem Piano and Organ Co. have a large number of instruments throughout Kent, and as far as we can learn they give entire satisfaction.

Miss Hirata, the Japanese young lady who visited Chestertown during the conference of the Methodist Protestant church, delivered an interesting address at Wesley Chapel, near Edesville, on Sunday last. Rev. F. T. Tagg preached a very fine sermon. Large congregations were present.

Walter W. Chapman, the genial official of the Chestertown National Bank, who has been extremely ill for several weeks past, started for a trip to Atlantic City on Monday, James W. Chapman, Jr., who is also convalescing after a severe spell of illness, accompanied his brother.

Mr. J. E. Carter and wife, of Smyrna, Del., have been visiting his brother, F. J. Carter.

Miss Sallie Barwick, of Chesapeake City, is visiting friends in Kent county.

Mr. Josiah Ringgold is lying critically ill, at his residence in Chestertown, with typhoid fever.

Miss Lillie Rivers is visiting her sister at Summerfield. Miss Rivers will be absent for some time, and before returning will visit Niagara, Watkin's Glenn and points in Canada.

Miss Clare Perkins is visiting Miss Eleanor Rasin, at her home near Lankford.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel R. Clements, Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Hines and Dr. C. P. Gilpin left this morning for a trip to Boston. The party will be joined in Baltimore by Mr., Mrs. and Miss Davidson, of Queenstown. The party will be gone about ten days.

Thos. S. Dodd, J. P., has removed his office to the office of C. S. York, adjoining the new bank.

Mr. Clarence Beck, wife and children of St. Louis, are visiting Dr. Samuel Beck, on Main street.

Wm. T. Wright, a former merchant of Chestertown, but now engaged in business at Hampton, Va., spent Sunday in town. Mr. Wright's mother returned with him to Hampton, and was on the steamer Virginia at the time of the accident on Monday night.

Mrs. S. H. Greenwood is visiting friends in the upper part of the county.

Miss Mary C. Ruth advertises that she has opened a boarding house on Saratoga street and solicits the patronage of her friends from Kent county.

F. M. Lloyd, telegraph operator and agent at Lambson's, was on the steamer Tolchester at the time of the Monday evening collision, but escaped unhurt.

John L. Naulty and wife—nee Miss Anna Kleff—and son, and Miss Mary V. Naulty, of Chicago, Ill., and Mrs. G. H. Kleff, of Westminister, Md., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John C. Voshell, at the "Armstrong House."

Miss Salle V. Pennington, of Baltimore, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Melvin near the college.

Mr. and Mrs. William Oliver, of Kansas City, are visiting Mr. and Mrs Joseph Turner.

Miss Nannie Deaver, of Frederick county, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hope H. Barroll.

Summer Frostiness.

The cold spell which recently visited Kent, is unparalleled, excepting the years 1874 and 1875. The Baltimore Sun says: On the 14th of July in both those years the temperature fell to 54 degrees. The following table shows the lowest temperatures recorded, with their respective dates, during July of each year since the establishment of the signal office in Baltimore:

A Project to Benefit Farmers.

Senator Call, by request, recently introduced a bill to amend the laws relating to national banks so as to afford relief to farmers. It provides that when in any State or in any two or more counties the farmers or other owners of products which are not perishable, shall establish a warehouse and deposit in it farm products the cash value of which shall not be less than $100,000, the owners of the product may, under certain conditions, apply for and receive a national bank charter, with the usual rights and privileges appertaining thereto. These banks shall have the right to discount notes of owners of farm products in the warehouse, and may also issue notes based on real estate mortgage security.

A Cyclone in Kent.

A severe cyclone struck portions of Kent county on Friday night last, between 12 and 1 o'clock, and moved in a southwesterly direction. The heavy wind was first felt in Quaker Neck, but did no special damage. The greatest severity of the storm expended itself on and near the home place of Wm. H. Stewart, where it struck a woods and twisted large trees off, uprooted others, while many were broken down or otherwise injured; then passing through a corn field its path was marked by a clearly defined route about three hundred yards in width, where the corn was beaten perfectly flat. A rail fence was in the storm's path and was completely blown to pieces, while boards from a plank fence were carried in some cases fully an hundred yards by the wind. The peach orchard of Mr. Stewart was next reached, where the storm formed into a Y. The trees were twisted off, uprooted or fearfully broken, in any event the effect was almost a total destruction of the trees. The storm then made a jump over one field and centered in the peach orchard of Mr. William Morris, and left a path of destruction behind it. A number of trees were uprooted or torn to pieces in the orchard of Mr. Wilbur Eliason.

The heavy blow was noticeable elsewhere in the county, but so far as heard from no serious damage was felt except in the cases named.

From Tolchester.

TOLCHESTER, July 28, 1890.

EDITORS TRANSCRIPT:—Things generally have taken a new lease of life at the bayshore, since the rains. Business here is still booming and Tolchester looks as fresh and bright as ever. Sunday last was a big day, about 4000 people were here from Philadelphia and Baltimore. Business now, however, will begin to fall off, as August is the poorest month of the season for us of late years. The company is promising some big things in the way of attractions in the near future, due notice of which will appear in the TRANSCRIPT.

We have no accidents to report for this week, and hope the time for them is past. A new and better way of spending Sunday evenings at the Beach has just been started. The Rev. H. C. Turner has kindly consented to preach each Sunday at 8 o'clock P. M. He gave us his first sermon on Sunday last to a good audience, and it was enjoyed by all. This we think a right move in the right direction, as many of the employees do not have the chance to attend church during the summer months.

The hotel is now well-filled, and will be perhaps until the end of the season. The Tolchester Pikes Peak Slide Company will begin to build their slide in Washington about September 1. The business here has been a great success.

The boarding-houses near here have done a good business this summer.

Our farmers are looking forward to a fair yield of corn since the rains, and with their other products, with good prices for corn, hope to come out straight yet.

That dreaded disease, hog cholera, has made its appearance in our midst again. Mr. Bramble has lost about half his pen of fine hogs with it, but managed to save the others by a very simple remedy, and that is the tender or outer ends of green pine branches boiled in water, and put in with their food. He says it is a sure cure.

WAPS.

A Unique Letter.

The following curious literary production, was received recently by a Kent county official who had at his disposal the position referred to below:

DEAR SIR:—I believe you are a gentleman to your office in every respect. And I also believe you have looked to the interest of your home people, and when favors are to be shown, you show them to us. But, kind sir, if it would please your most Excellent Majesty, I do solicit the royal pity for my own distress. I've a wife and two little children to support; and if I'm not retained in my occupation I'll be overboard. And may the All-bountiful Creator shower on your Majesty and the royal family, every blessing that this world can afford, and every fullness of joy which the Divine revelation has promised us in this world and the next. I am your Majesty's most dutiful and devoted servant to command.

Obituary Mention.

Wm. B. Price, a much respected and prominent young farmer of the fifth district, Queen Anne's county, died at his residence on Wednesday night of last week, at about 12 o'clock, after an illness of about two weeks with typhoid fever. The deceased was a young man of sterling integrity, high ambitions, and had lived an exemplary life, having been a member of the M. E. Church for a number of years. Mr. Price was appointed tax-collector for his district last April, and had bonded and entered upon his duties when stricken down with the illness that terminated in his death. Four years ago he was married to Miss Ava Downes, a sister of Mrs. C. G. Woodall, formerly of Chestertown, who with two children survive him. His father Mr. Wm. H. Price died very suddenly several years ago.

J. Wright Chambers, a native of Queen Anne's, died at his residence in Baltimore, last Thursday morning age 48 years. Mr. Chambers' death was rather sudden and not expected until a few hours before it occurred. The seat of his disease was located in the stomach. When quite a youth Mr. Chambers entered a drug store in Centreville and learned the drug business. This, however, he did not follow in after life. He turned his attention to other pursuits and removed to Baltimore. While thus engaged he invented and patented a fan attachment for a sewing machine, which would keep the operator cool while at work. His most successful invention was an attachment for sewing machines for making bags and sacks. For this invention he has been receiving $25 a week royalty for six or eight years. About 18 years ago he married Miss Mary Ellen Keating, of Centreville, who survives him. He leaves no children. His remains were interred in the cemetery at Centreville. Mr. Chambers was an own brother to Mrs. S. F. Smith, of Chestertown, and frequently visited in Kent county, where he had many friends.

Wm. O. Smith, for many years a prominent carpenter and builder in Chestertown and Baltimore, died on Friday afternoon at the home of his son, No. 1729, Druid Hill avenue. The deceased was born in Bolivar, Tenn., sixty-seven years ago, and used to relate that when he was a child the Indians would take him to live with them several days at a time. When he was yet a boy he removed to Baltimore county, Md., and in his 15th year was sent to learn his trade as a carpenter at the navy-yards at Washington. Later he moved to Chestertown, Kent county, where he carried on his business as a builder until 1871, when he went to Baltimore. About two years ago he was stricken with nervous prostration, from which he never entirely recovered. He was a prominent member of the Chestertown Methodist Protestant Church and of Mount Vernon Church.

The Amity Club.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., July 28, 1890.

EDITORS CHESTERTOWN TRANSCRIPT:—The Amity Yachting Club from Betterton, Md., arrived here this morning, and are spending the day visiting the State House, the Treasury Building, State Library, the State Museum, Comptroller's Office, St. John's College, the Naval Academy and the war ships Passaic, Wyoming and Santee of the U. S. Navy. But two of the classes at the Naval Academy are at home—the second and fourth classes. To-day the cadets drill aboard the ship Santee, practice target shooting, work in the machine shops and give an exhibition in rowing under a trainer, expecting to meet the Ariel boat crew of Baltimore, and the University of Pennsylvania eight, shortly.

The Amity Yachting Club are on board the sloop yacht Susquehanna, Capt. Mitchell, of Havre de Grace, and comprises the following persons, viz: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Yardley, Miss Demmie Hall, Miss Bessie Cannon and Harry T. Thomas, of Baltimore; the Misses Emilie and Florence Broomell and Jos. L. Hecht, of Philadelphia; Ed. W. Stark, of Pittston, Penna.; Miss Grace Turner, of Chestertown; the Misses Sue and Birdie Jump, Mary Stokes, Dr. W. E. Barnard, J. S. Owens, Henry C. Turner and Howard Turner, of Still Pond, Md.

The boys play the Naval Academy baseball club to-morrow. A.

New Advertisements.

The report of the condition of the Second National Bank of Chestertown will be found in this issue of the TRANSCRIPT.

John H. Greenwood, auctioneer, will sell at public sale on Saturday next, Aug. 2d., 1890, on the lot in front of the TRANSCRIPT office a lot of household and kitchen furniture.

Joseph Turner, agent, advertises the property of Joseph W. Thompson at public sale, Tuesday, August 5, 1890. On account of rain this sale was postponed from last week. A large attendance is requested.

T. Romie Strong, Register of Wills, gives notice, to parents, guardians and others, that the Orphans Court for Kent county, will on Tuesday, Aug. 8, 1890, examine and appoint one person to a free scholarship in Washington College.

J. T. Twilley, Esq., advertises that, owing to the depressed times, he will sell coal and wood at a very small advance. Read his advertisement.

The advertisement of the Maryland Agricultural College appears in this issue. This college is conveniently located and offers some inducements worthy of attention.

Smith & Clements, agents, advertises in this issue the Bickford & Huffman grain drill, and Scott's high grade fertilizers. This firm is alive to the interests of the farmers and call their attention to their advertisement. Scott's fertilizers have a wide reputation as a grain producer, and the Bickford & Huffman drill stands among the first.

YOUNG MAN

WHAT ARE YOU DOING TO MAKE THE WORLD BETTER FOR YOUR HAVING LIVED IN IT?

Are you just eking out an existence—living from hand to mouth from day to day, with no provision for accident, sickness or other emergency of life? Are you treading the well-beaten paths

OF THOUSANDS GONE BEFORE WHO DIED UNHONORED AND UNKNOWN IF NOT PAUPERS?

And You, Young Woman

How is it with you? What is your mission in life? Will you fill it and fill it well? Then seek at once to know what it is and then fill it. We hear some of the timid ones saying, O, I am only a woman,

WHAT CAN A WOMAN DO? WE ANSWER VERY MUCH,

And to substantiate our assertion we have but to refer you to the hundreds of noble, brave, heroic women, who within the last decade have scaled the heights of public prejudice and to-day stand triumphant on the heights of fame

WAVING PROUDLY THE FLAG OF LIBERTY,

And those who have the best interest of mankind at heart say well done. They bid you follow, will you do it? We hear many answer, I would, but how? We answer there are many ways; new avenues are daily opening into which men and women may enter with the full assurance that if faithfully followed success is sure. But to know which of these to enter is the perplexing question, and the best solution of it is a knowledge of the needs of the world and of ourselves. This only can be gained in its fullest sense by contact with and mingling in the active business world, feeling the world's pulse, as it were. A grand opportunity for doing this is now presented right in our midst in the business, It not only gives you this much-desired opportunity, but the company by their very liberal inducements enable you to pay all your own expenses and if industrious, save a surplus while gaining the rich experience which leads to lives of usefulness and fame. Had not Edison taken the humble position of train boy and thus informed himself of the needs of the world, where would the Edison of to-day have been? So Whitney with his cotton gin, Howe with his sewing machine, Goodyear accidentally purchasing his life-preserver. But it is unnecessary, you are familiar with them.

THERE ARE THOUSANDS OF GRAND OPPORTUNITIES AWAITING YOU

Strike out and find them. An interview with W. G. Dunham, general manager for the Garment Cutter company, will give you any information desired in regard to terms, unoccupied fields, etc., etc. He can be found at the Voshell House, Chestertown.

Notwithstanding
The Hard Times Our Friends Are BUYING LUMBER
FROM US, BECAUSE THEY BELIEVE WE DESERVE THEIR PATRONAGE.
To replace the fast-going stock caused by increased sales, we received and unloaded last week one CARGO of 1x12 16 Feet
N. Carolina Stock Boards
ANOTHER CARGO 1X12 16 FEET
WHITE PINE BOARDS.
This week we have bills of lading at hand, and expect
Three Cargoes:
ONE OF GEORGIA TIMBER 8x10, 8x8, 6x8 and 6x6.
Another of ⅝x6¾ WHITE PINE SIDING.
And the third a Full Vessel load of CYPRESS, direct from the N. C. Swamps.
Our Prices are always as Low as the city, and you can save freighting by buying here, and as to quality, we leave our friends to testify.
