MATTERS.

—Oysters are fat, scarce and high in rice.

—Hog cholera is still holding forth in e county.

—White frosts and some ice have been isitors of the past week.

—Several large flocks of wild ducks ere up the river on Sunday last.

—The corn husk prognostication and the goose bone prediction are at variance.

—Albert Clayland has added a fine bateau to the upper Chester river fleet of sailing boats.

—Financial fatigue is a ruling complaint in Kent. Hard work and economy is the best remedy.

—Court week is over, and our country friends will now enjoy a long rest from jury service.

—Samuel J. Coppage, living near Chesterville, lost forty-two hogs of cholera during October.

—Colds are on the increase, but are not et sufficiently numerous and severe to be alled La Grippe.

—Two straw hats are still at large in Chestertown. Such inconsistencies have ong ago been called in.

—Bridge repairs are still being pushed. The caps are now being mortised. The piles as yet have not all been driven.

—The steamer Gratitude paid a visit to Chestertown on Saturday evening, returning to Centreville on Sunday afternoon.

—With the opening of the gunning season, beware of accidents. With proper care there is but little danger of gunning ccidents.

—The closing of the canneries throughout the county has made a decided increase the attendance of pupils in a number of e public schools.

—Tuesday, Nov. 4, election day, was a tate and municipal but not a national oliday, and all State and municipal ffices, banks and courts were closed.

—The Centreville Female Academy, hich has been closed since the second eek in September, because of the prevalence of scarlet fever, was opened on Monday last.

—Fairlee Grange No. 8, resumed its regular meetings to-day, after a suspension of eetings during the summer. The meetings in the future will be on Thursday of h week.

A valuable young colt, belonging to stable Parsons, got down in its stall week and was seriously injured. The t is one of a pair of twins, the other of hich is dead.

—It is generally conceded by the physicians of Kent, that they never knew less r even so little sickness at this season of the year as at present exists, in short it is distressingly healthy.

—Rev. R. H. Adams, owner of the valuable property known as Mallalieu's mills, near Milington, has sold the property to . H. Houpt, of Smyrna, Del. The price present unknown.

—During the recent storm and unusually high tides, Mr. William McConnor, agent for the Chester river steamboat company at Queenstown, was kept up all night watching the freight house on the wharf. The house contained a number of barrels of unslacked lime, and a quantity of perishable goods.

—Adispatch from Centreville, since the recent protracted storm, says: Owing to continuous rains wheat seeding in Queen Anne's county is not nearly completed yet, and the corn crop, owing to the same cause, is damaged to a serious extent. Many prominent farmers think at least fifteen per cent will be useless.

—During the recent high tides considerable damage was done at South Eastlanding, on South East creek, by the flooding of the granaries and the wharf property. Some wheat, twenty sacks of salt, two thousand shingles, several coal-pens and a quantity of lumber were ruined or floated off.

—Tomorrow, Friday, will be Echo day at the Chestertown public school. The reading of the Echo is quite an event in the senior or graduating class history, as the neat little paper is edited by members of the class, and has many interesting and telling reference of a personal nature which give spice and life to the journal.

—Capt. R. S. Emory has gotten his incubator at work for the season of 1890—91. Capt. Emory is possibly one of the most successful poultry raisers, by the incubator system in the State, and has made of what was at first an experiment pure and simple a most profitable business. Several other machines are at work in the county.

—The Washington College Foot-Ball Team will play a match game with the St. John s College team on Saturday, November 15. The team will come over on the Corsica on Saturday morning and will return by the same steamer in the afternoon. The Washington College team will play the Johns Hopkins team a game on the College ground on Saturday next, Nov. 8, commencing at ten o'clock A. M.

—Friday last was Hallow-Even or Halloween, the name to the eve or vigil of All Hallows, or festival of All Saints, which being Nov. 1, Halloween is the evening of October 31. The boys of Chestertown celebrated the occasion by ringing doorbells, taking gates from their hinges and by numerous other pranks of far more interest to themselves than to those upon whom they were played.

—Two Italians and a large brown bear, which gave exhibitions of acting in the streets on Tuesday, were just a little two much for the school children and the colored population to see and at the same time retain the wonted dignity of ordinary occasions. The bear was a large one and gave evidences of a remarkable degree of intelligence, which delighted the children.

—The impromptu trot between Mr. John Clendaniel's flyer and one owned by Mr. Alick Crew, which was expected to take place on last Saturday one week ago but was postponed, took place on Saturday last on the Rose Hill course, near Chestertown. A number of horsemen were present and enjoyed the sport. It soon became evident that Mr. Clendaniel had the advantage of speed over his opponent, and the two straight heats which his horse gathered in settled the mooted question of speed superiority. Best time 3,08.

—The new bank building is rapidly assuming such proportions as to enable one to discover that it will be a most substantial and attractive structure. The work of putting in the heavy steel vault was commenced last week, and the Baltimore workmen carried it through with a rush, and did not stop riveting the heavy steel plates in place until after eleven o'clock at night. The steel sheets are five-eighths of an inch thick and weigh between eight and nine hundred pounds each. Over twelve hundred heavy rivets were required. The inner and outer work of the vault has not as yet been commenced. Contractor Pippin and his men are now putting on the slate roof, and with good weather but little extra time will be required in addition to the specified time for the completion of the building.

—The November term of the circuit court for Queen Anne's county convened on Monday last, with his Honor Judge Wickes on the bench. The day was consumed in calling the dockets, and court organization and some minor business, when an adjournment was had until yesterday (Wednesday) morning, owing to the fact that Tuesday, Nov. 4, was election day. The civil docket contains 85 trials, 5 appeal cases, 8 references and 70 appearances. The criminal docket numbers 10 trials, 2 appeals and 68 recognizances. The indications at this time point to an average term of about ten days. Among the criminal cases to be tried this term is that of Edward Downes, colored, charged with the murder of James Miller, colored, last June, near Hope, Queen Anne's county.

—The first snow of the season so far as heard from is said to have fallen on Monday, the 3d inst. The fall was slight but sufficient to make the opening of the season. The first snowfall of last year was on October 23. It is an old expression that the number of snows during the winter will correspond with the date upon which the first snow occurs. Should this be the case, the coming winter will introduce a famine in snow-cream, as but three snowfalls will visit this section. The Baltimore American of Tuesday says: "There was a very slight fall of snow in this city yesterday morning, about six o'clock. In the Green Spring Valley the first snow of the season began after dark and lasted for five minutes. The first snow in the city was noticed by the Weather Bureau on Sunday, October 19, between 12.18 and 12.23 P. M., while on Friday, the 31st, another slight fall was shown by the instruments. It continued for seven minutes. The nearest snowstorm to Baltimore yesterday was Oswego, N. Y., and in a few other towns of that State.

—The oyster pungy Caroline, Captain Wm. Sommers, of Winchester, Queen Anne's county, capsized off Bloody Point, Kent Island, at 7 o'clock Saturday night, and the captain and one of his two men were drowned. William Bordley, colored, was the only survivor. The pungy Caroline was bound from Baltimore for Eastern bay to buy oysters. At about seven o'clock, while beating about trying to make into Eastern bay, the staunch little craft was toppled over by the heavy winds. The vessel was about five hundred yards north of Bloody Point lighthouse, and it required only about one more tack to round the long bar which reaches out from Kent Island. There were on the pungy Captain Sommers and his two colored sailors, Cornelius Ridman and Bordley. The men clung to the boat, but in an hour's time a heavy sea struck Ridman and carried him off. Capt. Sommers held on until six o'clock the next morning, just eleven hours, and was then washed overboard and drowned. Bordley held on an hour longer and was rescued by the bugeye Martha A. Shaw. All of the men were from Winchester, Queen Anne's county.

—Captain James Thompson, of Chestertown, sent a radish to the TRANSCRIPT office this week which weighted two pounds, measured fifteen inches in circumference and was fifteen inches in length. It was, indeed, a mammoth of its kind.

—The interesting question of admitting women as delegates into church councils is still being voted upon with varying results. The following is the result of the recent vote in Camden, as given by the Philadelphia Record of several days ago. Says the Record: "The churches in the New Jersey Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church voted last night upon the question of the admission of women as delegates to General Conference. The results so far as known indicate a wide diversity of opinion concerning the question, which has been under discussion so long. All sorts of arguments were used for and against the admission of the women, and many females themselves were opposed to their sex acting as delegates."

Personal Mention.

Mr. W. G. Wattson, who is a son of the late Rev. J. N. Wattson so well known throughout the Easton Diocese, was on October 27, 1890, appointed superintendent of the Hudson River Division of the West Shore Railroad. Mr. Wattson has many friends in Kent—in fact, he is looked upon as a Kent county boy—and this pleasing intelligence will be very gratifying to many readers of the TRANSCRIPT.

R. Snowden Thomas, Esq., bookkeeper in the Chestertown National Bank, has returned to his duties in that institution after a pleasant two week's trip to Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Dr. Gundry, of Catonsville, was the guest of Dr. W. Frak Hines last week.

Miss Crow, of Winchester, Va., is visiting Miss Bell, near Chestertown.

Mr. John Roberts left yesterday morning for Roanoke and Salem, in the beautiful Shenadoah Valley of Virginia. Mr. Roberts is prospecting, and may possibly locate in the South.

Prof. E. J. Clarke, of Washington College, has been quite sick during the past week, but is at present convalescing.

Mrs. Warwick, wife of City Solicitor Warwick, of Philadelphia, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Eben F. Perkins for several days last week.

Cards are out for the wedding of Miss Loulie Ireland, of Chestertown, and Mr. John Myers Comegys, of Kent county, to take place Wednesday, November 12, at half-past twelve o'clock, in Emmanuel P. E. Church, Chestertown.

Miss Crouse, of Williamsport, Pennsylvania, has been visiting at the home of Mr. Wm. H. Stewart. She was also the guest last week of the Misses Hines on Front street.

We were in receipt last week of a copy of the Dallas, Texas, News, sent us by our esteemed friend Charles D. Burgess. Mr. Burgess is a Chestertonian well-known throughout Kent. He is now a salesman representing a Baltimore firm in Texas.

A Respected Citizen Gone.

Mr. William O. Shallcross, one of the most prominent citizens of Kent county, died of paralysis at his residence near Locust Grove, on Tuesday, November 4, at the age of [illegible] years.

Mr. Shallcross came from Pennsylvania in 1854, and soon became largely engaged in peach-growing and otherwise identified with the agricultural interests of his adopted county, and at the time of his death was considered one of its best farmers. In a life of 67 years he had never been drawn on a jury or a witness in court. Mr. Shallcross was a kind husband and father, and raised a large family. His life was a quiet and unobtrusive one, and he never gained a friend by flattery or lost one by dissimulation.

The deceased leaves a wife and seven children, two daughters and five sons, all of whom are grown. He suffered an attack of paralysis on Monday evening. Medical aid was summoned, and Dr. Kelley did not leave the bedside of his patient until after his death, 3.40 o'clock on Tuesday evening. By a life of industry and economy he succeeded in gathering around him a handsome property. No man was more respected throughout the county, and a large circle of friends will regret his death.

Funeral services will be held at the house on Friday, the 7th inst., at 11 A. M. Interment at Still Pond cemetery.

Keep the Lights Burning.

The Baltimore American says: "Captain J. F. Baker, of the United States revenue marine service, has reported to the collector that the oyster-dredging schooners Sovereign, Mary E. Stewart and Carrie Sadler were recently found lying at anchor in Jackson's Creek without lights. The penalty for a violation of the law in such cases is $200 for each offense. Rule 10, section 4233, of the Revised Statutes of the United States provides that all vessels, whether steam or sail, when at anchor in roadsteads or fairways shall, between sunset and sunrise, exhibit where it best can be seen, but at a height not exceeding 20 feet above the hull, a white light in a globular lantern of eight inches in diameter. The schooners Sovereign, Carrie Sadler and Mary E. Stewart, all of Balt., have been reported by Capt. J. T. Baker of the revenue steamer Crawford, for violation of the rule, and Collector Marine will have to impose the full penalty of $200 in each case. Many complaints have reached Collector Marine of the obstruction to navigation in the Chester river and Jackson's creek by small oyster dredging boats anchoring in the roadway, and while Capt. Baker was paying a visiting to the locality named he found three vessels without their anchor lights hoisted. After the owners of the vessels pay their fines they have a right to appeal to the Secretary of the Treasury for its remission."

SOCIAL PLEASURES.

The Occult Mysteries of Hallow-Even Investigated—An Enjoyable Dance.

A most delightful observance of Hallow-Even or Hallowneen was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. M. A. Skirven on Friday evening, on Maple ave. The invited guests commenced to arrive about ten o'clock, and in a short time a merry party was completely lost in vain attempts to remove the mystic veil which hides the future and read a portion at least, of the yet unwritten story of the coming years. The past and present linked hands, as many time-honored customs of centuries ago met in friendly contest with games of later introduction to render the hours rich in golden pleasure. Dough balls revealed to blushing maids or bashful youths the rythmic names of future partners for life. The juicy apple which so coyly evaded in a tub of water the chase of many pearly teeth made known its romantic story to but one present. The apple suspended from the ceiling was more than a match for the most persistent lass or laddie and retained in the world of speculation, its story of matrimonial bliss. Needles floating on pails of water, freighted with unknown secrets, drew nearer and nearer together, until like many human lives they met and melted into one. The "Ring of Destiny" rung out its romantic song, while one lass more ventursome than her sisters, walked on the street backward holding a glass before her, and discovered reflected on its surface the veritable face of her future "lord and master." The blind wanderings of youthful and inexperienced Cupid was exemplified by blind-folding those present and starting them upon a sightless search for a pail of water, a broom or a hod of ashes impersonating respectively matrimony, old maidenhood or bacheloristic comfort. The ball of yarn and numerous other experiments were tried. The most enjoyable feature of the evening, however, was a potato race for a first and booby prize. Miss Dennis, of near Pocomoke City, won the booby, a curiously-gotten-up potato doll. The modest and intensely æsthetic youth who carried off first prize, a spray of magnificent chrysanthemums, has informed us that it would be utterly too much to see his name in print, and requests that it remain "nameless here forever more." About 1 o'clock an elegant lunch was enjoyed, and not until nearly two o'clock did the party disband to indulge in pleasant dreams.

A most enjoyable dance was given by the young men of Chestertown, to their lady friends on Thursday evening last at Stam's Hall. The dance was thoroughly impromptu, consequently the usual formalities of written invitations, an elegant supper, etc., were of necessity dispensed with, but a floor in fine condition, good music and a number of beautiful lady dancers made each and every participant forgetful of all informal proceedings before the dance commenced. Mr. Eugene Wilson and Mr. Chas. Beck we are sure never rendered finer music than on Thursday evening, and the hours passed delightfully by. Dancing continued until one o'clock. The ladies present were: Mrs. A. J. Hynson, Mrs. Dr. Whaland, Miss Dennis, of near Pocomocke City; the Misses Anna and Mamie Strong, of near Edesville; Miss May Parrott, of Still Pond; the Misses Mollie and Tenie Alrich, of near Fairlee; the Misses Emory, of near Chestertown; the Misses Lillie and Bertha Hynson, Miss Morgan Beaston, the Misses Hallie and Mary Beck, the Misses Nannie and Daisy Brice, Miss May Ireland, Miss Clare Perkins, Miss Violet Beck and Miss Bell.

CHESTERVILLE NEWS.

Newsy Items as Gathered by "Ring."

CHESTERVILLE, Nov. 5, 1890.

News seem to be scarce in and about the village.

Nothing is easier than fault-finding; no talent, no self-denial, no brains, no character are required to set up in the grumbling business; but those who are moved by a genuine desire to do good should have plenty to do with and there would be no reason for complaint.

Fresh air, sunlight, good and sufficient food, pure water, out-door exercise, temperance in all things, and a cheerful disposition, are the chief remedies in nature's pharmacopolia and are worth more than all the drugs and medicines of the shops.

Rev. Welsh, the M. E. minister in this village has received another letter. The signature of the first letter was a forged name, and the second was anonymous. It is to be hoped that Brother Welsh will receive no more. Such letters and Christian people in this village will be more prayerful and watchful.

One of our record men say, "That twenty-six of the last forty-four Fridays have been rainy.

Our equestrians wish for fair weather and good roads for the next two weeks.

Mr. Noble Pennington is on the sick list.

Mrs. C. Crittenden and son, C. G. Carey, spent last week in Newark.

Mrs. Wesley Jarman and daughter returned from Philadelphia Saturday.

Rev. W. Dolly, of the M. E. Church South, has been giving interesting Sunday school lessons for the past month, and has pictures for every lesson this quarter. The child that gives in the most missionary money each Sunday receives a very large picture representing the lesson.

Mr. Startt has rented his house to Mr. Solloway, and now Mr. S.'s bright light can be seen from some distance in his new home, which some have named Wilmington, as this gentleman intended to move to Wilmington this fall.

Mr. Carter bought the John A. Schwatka property in Chesterville last Saturday for $335, and moved into his new home to-day. He has sold the old wheelwright and blacksmith shop to Mr. Peter Stevens, and Mr. Stevens went to work to-day to tear down and build up anew. So Mr. Stevens will stay with us.

One of our citizens wished to be a good writer so he can write a book on Chesterville. He imagines there is so much to write about, and the editor from this place ought to have a newsy letter. So the editors might if they would write all the rumors and gossips of the week.

After Miss ——— had been kissed by one of her feminine acquaintances, she told one of her confidential friends while another was in hearing, that she liked the occulatory habits of gents about seventeen, for when they kiss, they kiss on the cheek, or on both cheeks, not on the gates ajar.

All persons are notified not to trespass with dog or gun upon the premises of Mr. Thomas Clements.

Mrs. E. H. Crittenden has advertised her house, garden and stable for rent for the next year. This would be a nice situation for a shoemaker or barber.

It does seem that Chesterville is not a desirable place to live, but those that move away want to come back, and some who get a drink of the water here cannot get away.

As the price of all classes of goods have advanced in consequence of the McKinley bill, it is wished by a teacher in the second district that the school board will let the teacher's salary go up ten McKinley dollars before pay day. RING.

COURT NEWS.

The Fall Term Closed on Saturday, Nov. 1—Registration Cases, Etc.

THURSDAY, Oct. 30.—Court convened with his Honor Judge Wickes on the bench.

The sealed verdict which had been handed in at a late hour on Wednesday, was opened. Boyer was indicted for assault with intent to kill, upon Robert Hall for undue intimacy with Boyer's wife. The evidence showed that the assault was provoked by circumstances which went in extenuation of Boyer's act, and the jury returned a verdict of not guilty on first count but guilty on second count, and recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the court. Sentence ten cents fine and one week in the county jail.

In the case of State against Henry B. Woodall for selling intoxicating liquor, a verdict of not guilty was rendered.

State against Jesse Jerome, indicted for carnal knowledge of Lucy Shriver. Trial before the court. Smith for State and Barroll and Vickers for Jerome.

State against Jesse Jerome, indicted for assault upon Nettie Brown. Both cases were tried before the court, a decision in the first being reserved until after the evidence in the second case had been taken. The circumstances of the unmanly assault upon eight-year-old Nettie Brown, were fully given in the TRANSCRIPT at the time, and the trial in each case attracted a large attendance. Sentence in the case of Lucy Shriver, not guilty; in case of Nettie Brown guilty of assault. Sentenced to two years in House of Correction.

State against Jos. Dever, indicted for selling whiskey. Jury trial. Not guilty. Smith for State; Hynson for defence.

State against Henry Sheppard, colored, for violation of local option law. Trial before the court. Declared guilty, fine $50 and costs, Smith for State; Hynson for defence. Court adjourned until Friday.

FRIDAY, Oct. 31.—Court convened with Judge Wickes present.

As previously appointed by the Court appeal registration cases were taken up and occupied the entire day. The following names were given in the petition of William J. Vannort, who asked that the following names (all of white voters) as given be stricken from the registration list of voters:

Wm. J. Vannort petitions the court and asks to have the following names (all of white voters) stricken from the list of registered voters: Barrett C. Catlin, Jacob J. Ziezel, John W. Usilton, Chas. H. Shuster, Wm. C. Wallis, Thos. R. Reiche, Wm. J. Taylor, Julian B. A. Queen, Jas. F. Taylor, Jas. A. Murphy, Wm. L. Gardner, James L. Russell, W. H. and H. A. Lusby, Ernest C. Reiche, Jr., Edwin L. Maslin, Thomas J Marsden, Harry W. Brice, Wm. P. Armstrong, W. R. Pippin, Jas. A. Perkins, Jr., Thos. L. Meeks, James S. Patten, Major T. Goslee, Benj. D. Barnett, Chas. A. Estes, Jr., Jesse K. Hines, Jr.

The following made application for reinstatement:

John F. Spencer, colored, 2d dist.

Harrison Anderson, Jos. J. Dorsey, Jr., and John E. Holley, col., 3d dist.

John C. Bailey, Jas. L. Gilbert, Benj. Bailey, D. T. Williamson and Osborn Brown, colored, 4th dist.

Cases were heard as follows—the court announcing that where the parties appealing failed to establish their cases they would have to pay the costs; when established the county would pay; when the register acted without reasonable ground he would be chargeable with costs:

Osborn Brown, colored, was reinstated. John F. Spencer, col., was decided not entitled to vote in the 2d district.

The following were declared to have lost their residence: Jacob J. Ziezel, Harry W. Brice, Rev. J. A. Murphy, Jas. A. Perkins, Thos. R. Reiche, Julian B. Queen, J. F. Taylor, Jas. L. Russell.

In the cases of John W. Usilton, C. H. Shuster, W. C. Wallis and Capt. William J. Taylor, the register's action in refusing to strike off was affirmed. Cases of B. C. Catlin, W. L. Gardner and W. H. H. Lusby were held for further consideration.

SATURDAY, Nov. 1.—Court convened with Judge Wickes on the bench. The following appeal cases were disposed of:

Thos. Kirby, appeal, decision reversed; appellants name ordered to be added to list of qualified voters.

Joseph J Dorsey, appeal, decision reversed, and name order to be put on registration list.

John E. Holley, appeal, dismissed.

Mr. Samuel Comegys, sheriff, will sell the large and valuable estate of Henry W. Carvill on Tuesday next, Nov. 11, 1890. This is one of the most desirable [illegible] e[illegible]unty.

MR. HICKS' PROPHECY.

November Weather Forecast as prepared by Mr. Hicks.

Rev. Ira R. Hicks, the St. Louis weather prophet, after a careful survey of the natural phenomena, which control to a great extent the weather, says that the equinox of Mercury of the 4th and of Venus of the 5th, which combination, with moon's last quarter added, assures active and prolonged disturbances up to and beyond the reactionary storms due about the 5th and 6th. Phenomenal flights of the mercury will characterize the disturbances of this period. Very warm days will suddenly end in freezing weather. Heavy snow and sleet to the north, with hard rains and tropical storms southward, will be natural results. Between the 6th and 10th a big boreal wave will sweep southward and eastward to the Atlantic.

About the 10th mercurial readings will change in the West, moving eastward and growing warmer in their progress, culminating between the 11th and 15th in storms of marked energy. Rain and snow may be counted on, storm days being specially on and next to the 12th, 13th and 14th. Exposed Northwestern regions will not miscalculate if they prepare for a very cold wave to follow these storms, the westerly to northwesterly tangents of which are apt to bring touches of the blizzard. Cold, bright weather will follow up into the natural reaction about the 18th and 19th. Moon's first quarter on the morning of the 19th will aid the natural tendency to storminess on that and dates touching it. Cold will follow promptly.

The elements of returning storms will show themselves to the west a day or two prior to the 23d, which date is the central day of the last regular period for the month. The 23d, 24th and 25th, and days next, before and after, will bring marked storm movements of a decided wintery cast. Make all such preparations as you would wish to have for cold, unpleasant weather at this time, and see how you will congratulate yourself when the time arrives. Do not wait until the storm days. Then you will be housed, and yourselves and stock will be exposed later to the crest of cold following the storms. The month will end with a moderated temperature and reactionary disturbances well on their way to the Atlantic.

COLLEGE NOTES.

The Young Men's Christian Association was well attended on Sunday afternoon. Prof. Watts addressed the association. Subject: "The True Incentive." An interesting programme has been arranged for next Sunday.

The foot-ball team has not been practicing since the Media team abandoned the game set for 30th inst. Mr. Duer, the manager, has ordered the team into training for the game arranged with the St. John's College team for November 15. Our team is not very heavy, but has some good material.

Prof. Clarke, who has been quite sick for a few days with a very sore throat, is very much improved, and will soon be able to take his classes. During his illness the other members of the faculty have had his classes.

Mrs. A. J. Dekay, Prof. Clarke's mother, paid the college a short visit this week, and was the guest of Prof. Micou.

The new sheds have been completed, and we now have ample accommodations for the horses of those who drive in.

Several of the students spent Saturday with their friends in the country, and report game abundant. Some of them brought home game, but others report game still abundant in the localities where they hunted. Dr. Reed makes a good report.

The Shakespeare Club has not yet organized, but will probably do so at an early date.

The Ladies Delighted.

The pleasant effect and the perfect safety with which ladies may use the liquid fruit laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions make it their favorite remedy. It is pleasing to the eye and to the taste, gentle, yet effectual in acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels.

DIED.

SHALLCROSS.—Near Locust Grove, Tuesday, Nov. 4, 1890, Wm. O. Shallcross, aged 67 years. Funeral services Friday (to-morrow), at his late residence at 11 o'clock. Interment at Still Pond cemetery.

THE SUN,

FOR 1891.

Some people agree with THE SUN's opinions about men and things, and some people don't; but everybody likes to get hold of the newspaper which is never dull and never afraid to speak its mind.

Democrats know that for twenty years THE SUN has fought in the front line for Democratic principles, never wavering or weakening in its loyalty to the true interests of the party it serves with fearless intelligence and disinterested vigor. At times opinions have differed as to the best means of accomplishing the common purpose; it is not THE SUN's fault if it has seen further into the millstone.

Eighteen hundred and ninety-one will be a great year in American politics, and everybody should read THE SUN.
