COLLINS & HOPPER,

EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS.

SENATOR STANFORD was not present at the vote on the gag-law, but was paired with Senator Stewart, of Nevada.

THE GAG LAW knocked out and the Force bill side-tracked is a terse way of putting the political situation at Washington.

THE Chicago Fair dug out its first spade of earth on Tuesday last. Unfortunate, should it prove the first spadeful in a grand national failure.

THE HON. JOHN J. INGALLS was defeated on Tuesday, the Farmer's Alliance candidate, Judge Peffer, beating him by a vote of 98 to 58 in the Kansas Legislatuae.

SENATOR ARTHTR P. GORMAN has unquestionably made the greatest fight ever conducted on the floor of Congress, and as leader in the great battle against the Force bill iniquity, his name will occupy a position of honor not less complimentary to himself than to his State.

THE following United States Senators were elected last week: New York, David B. Dill, Democrat; Indiana, D. M. Vorhees, Democrat; Colorado, H. M. Teller, Republican; Arkansas, James K. Jones, Democrat; Washington, Watson C. Squire, Republican; Oregon, John H. Mitchell, Republican.

A FEARFUL SLAUGHTER of Christians has taken place in the small Christian community of Loongti——hsin, China. The attack was the result of the commands of Chinese oracles. The homes of fifty or sixty Christians were raided and set on fire, and twenty persons thrown into the flames of burning houses.

THE PAIRS in the vote of Monday last, when it is hoped that the Force bill and its twin brother in iniquity, the gag-law, were buried, were as follows: Pierce and Brown; Plumb and Gibson; Pettigrew and Pasco; Squire and Daniel; Shoupand Colquitt; Sanders and Ingalls; Chandler and Blodgett; Moody and Hearst; Higgins and Voorhees.

THE REBELLION in Chili is assuming more serious proportions, and reports have been received that the insurgents have gained some advantage. The rebels have bombarded Coropel, and the situation is growing more desperate with the abandonment of their allegiance to the government by a portion of the state troops who have joined the insurgents.

THE THANKS of every Democrat and of every conservative Republican are due to the Hon. William M. Stewart, Senator in Congress from Nevada, and to the Hon. Henry M. Teller and the Hon. Edward Oliver Wolcott, Senators in Congress from Colorado, for their manly and spirited opposition to the gag rule. There are other Republican Senators who are openly or secretly opposed to the Force bill; only these three have the courage and the consistency to fight at every step the schemes by which the revolutionists would stifle the free voice of the people's representatives in the Senate, as a preparation to stifling the voice of the people in the election of members of the House of Representatives. —N. Y. Sun.

COMMANDER SETH swore out warrants on Monday for several captains of dredge boats, having on board oysters under the regulation size, and was met by what will prove the perplexing question in the enforcement of the culling law. The captains in each case claimed that the small growth were taken from Virginia waters and were therefore not subject to the restrictions of the Maryland statute. Until tongmen, dredgers and buyers alike realize that there is a unity of interest existing between them, and that that interest is best subserved by a strict enforcement of the law, our oyster laws must to a great extent prove failures. The greed of catchers and buyers have reduced our oyster interests to their present deplorable condition.

DR. CHARLES F. HEUSER, a well-known druggist and physician, died in Baltimore on Wednesday of last week, of consumption, and left in his will directions to the effect that after death his heart be removed from the body. After this the organ was to be replaced and his body cremated. His ashes were to be distributed among those of his friends who cared to have a souvenir of him. He gave directions as to how the heart should be removed. The frontal bone was to be cut, then the ribs, and then the knife was to be used to cut each artery that communicated with the body. It was then to be lifted out and exposed for several minutes. The directions were carried out.

GOVERNOR JACKSON, in issuing a call for a State Immigration Convention to be held in Baltimore, on February 18, has placed before the agriculturists of the State an opportunity to adopt some definite plans relative to the advancement of a higher standard of labor. Maryland in some sections is not only in want of a greater abundance of labor, but the labor which presents itself is far from efficient or reliable. Whether or not foreign labor would meet the deficiency is the question. Let employers of labor from all the various departments of enterprise meet and consult. If our labor is as good as can be got ten, then some improved system of employment or wages must be suggested; if we have no cause for complaint, let our farmers remaine happily housed at home.

THE WORLD'S FAIR COMMISSIONERS are daily meeting with new obstacles, and it now looks as though the anticipated nationality of the great exhibition will exist in name only. In the Illinois House of Representatives on Monday, resolutions were passed declaring that no appropriation for an exhibition will be made, in view of the fact that "the measure now pending in the United States Senate, known as the Force bill, is a revolutionary measure, which, if it passes the Senate and becomes a law, will involve the people of the Southern States in a race war, will prostrate the industries of many of the States of the Union, will disrupt the amicable commercial and social relations existing between the North and the South, and whereas if said measure shall become a law, and such conditions thereby brought about, the World's Fair will become a sectional instead of a national affair; will fail to adequately exhibit and display the magnitude and variety of our country resources; will fall short of the purposes for which it was contemplated, and will bring a stain and reproach upon our whole country."

SAYS a recent reporter of the condition of a number of named penitentiaries: "In comparison with the Maryland penitentiary the State prison of Massachusetts, the only penal institution of that State, had 99 convicts less last year, and the expenses were fully 31,000 more. The costs for provisions, clothing, officers and sundries there was $238.03 per man. Here in Maryland it was $114.45. The actual earnings there were only $50 per man, of $183.03 less than expenses, which multiplied by the number of convicts will show a loss of over $100,000 in the year. In this State the penitentiary was more that self-sustaining. Its annual report shows a surplus of about $2,000.

THE GAG-RULE DISPLACED.

The magnificent fight made for fifty-seven days by the Democrats in the Senate, aided by a handful of patriotic Republicans, against the iniquitous Force bill was rewarded on Monday by victory. The matter under consideration when the vote was taken was the "gag-rule," against which Mr. Morgan was speaking. The Senator from Alabama yielded to Senator Wolcott, of Colorado, for a motion to take up the apportionment bill. The motion was carried by a vote of 35 to 34, with the result that the gag-rule, with its shadow, the Force bill, was given a serious, if not fatal, set-back. The Republican Senators who voted with the Democrats to relegate the gag-rule to the calendar, where the Force bill rests, were Cameron, Jones, of Nevada, Stewart, Teller, Washburn and Wolcott. The recruit whose vote made the coup successful was Mr. Cameron, of Pennsylvania. Had Mr. Stanford, of California, been present he, too, would have voted, it was stated, in support of Mr. Wolcott's motion. Be this as it may, the gag-rule, which was to have been the weapon with which to force the passage of the election bill, was successfully displaced. Both are now at the bottom of the calendar. That both have been killed is perhaps too much to say, though that is asserted with some confidence by persons well acquainted with the situation. Time is an important factor in the calculations of the friends and opponents of the radical programme. Every day the vote upon the Force bill is deferred lessens the probability of its ultimate passage. By the time the apportionment bill is out of the way it may be too late to bother longer with the Force bill. The New England Senators, with characteristic sectional malignity, are hot for the offensive measure, but not a few Republican Senators from Western States, who have been supporting the bill as a party measure, are in reality indifferent to it, and will be glad to drop it for the appropriation and other necessary bills. Even its friends are beginning to be impressed with the growing tide of opposition in the country at large. Day by day, therefore, it will be increasingly difficult to get Mr. Hoar's pet measure up again for consideration, and in view of this fact it is quite possible that we may hear no more of it. Whatever the event, great credit is undoubtedly due to the able and patriotic Senators who have so long and so laboriously battled for the integrity of our free institutions.—Baltimore Sun.

IN THE APPELLATE COURT.

The following interesting decisions were handed down by the Court of Appeals, in session at Annapolis last week:

SHOULD BE RECORDED IN THE COUNTY,

By Judge Robinson—Stiefel & Cohen vs. Randolph Barton, garnishee of O. Brehme & Co. The question in this case is, Does the code require a deed of personal property to a trustee for the benefit of creditors to be recorded in the county where the grantor resides? The court says it does. Brehme resides in Prince George's county, and carried on business in Baltimore. He made a deed of trust for the benefit of creditors, and it was recorded in Baltimore. The appellants attached Brehme's property in Prince George's. The Court of Appeals holds the lien good, because the deed of trust was not recorded in Prince George's county, where the grantor resided. Judgment reversed, and cause remanded.

SOMERSET'S OYSTER LAW VOID.

By Judge Robinson—Thomas L. Bradshaw vs. H. Fillmore Lankford, clerk of the circuit court for Somerset county. By the act of 1890, chapter 629, the question whether or not the taking of oysters by scoops or dredge within the waters of Somerset county shall be prohibited was submitted to the voters of certain election districts of said county, and should a majority of the votes cast be in favor of the prohibition, the act provided it should be unlawful for any person to take oysters by scoop or dredge within the waters of said county. The question before the court was: "Whether the Legislature had the power to submit such a question to the voters of the districts named in the act and make the operation of the act depend upon the contingency of a popular vote." The court decided that the legislature had the right to submit the question to the districts. The act, however, is found to be void, because it deprives the people of the entire State of the common right which they enjoyed to take oysters by scoop or dredge within the waters of the said county. The oyster-beds within the waters of Somerset county do not belong to the people of that county, much less to the voters of certain election districts of the county to whom the operation of the act was submitted. It would be against every principle of sound legislative policy, and repugnant to the maxim which forbids the delegation of legislative power, to hold that it is competant for the legislature to make the operation of a statute, thus affecting the common right of the people of the whole State, depend upon the result of a popular vote of persons residing within three or four, or any given number of election districts.

John Graves, of perpetual-motion fame, died suddenly at Hansonville, Frederick county, on Monday, of supposed heart trouble, aged about 83 years. He had been working on his model for years, and several times claimed it was nearly completed. In his younger days he was a musician and also a clockmaker. Even at his advanced age he would wald 20 or 30 miles a day. Prior to the war he carried on clockmaking and gunsmithing in Baltimore. After his shop was raided he started to travel on foot and tramped all over this State.

PENINSULA FRUIT GROWERS.

The Peach, Pear, Apple and All Other Fruits Ably Discussed at Easton.

Tuesday, Jan. 20.—The fourth annual meeting of the Peninsula Horticultural Society opened in Easton to-day. The reception committee of citizens, Col. Thomas Hughlett, chairman, had secured a hall for the meetings and made other arrangements for the comfort of the association. Kent, Cecil, Talbot, Caroline, Dorchester and the three counties of Delaware were represented at the opening. President J. J. Black was sick and absent and ex-President J. W. Kerr was put in the chair Judge Ormond Hammand, who was to have delivered the address of welcome was absent through sickness, and that duty fell unexpectedly upon Major W. E. Stewart, who gave the association a hearty reception.

George Biddle, of Cecil, read the report of the committee on apples. It was discussed by Messrs. Barnard, Griffith and Harris, of Kent, Kerr and Kelley, of Caroline. It was agreed that Smith's cider was decidedly the most profitable apple for Peninsula cultivation. The Russian apples, although of fine appearance, were lacking in quality. One speaker said the city markets cared nothing for quality. Apples of fine appearance brought the best price, regardless of flavor.

Major Alvord, of the Agricultural College, Mr. Harris, of Kent, and Mr. Powell, of Talbot, were made a committee on ways and means.

Prof. R. H. Alvey, Jr., of the Agricultural College, spoke on Chaucer and his times. Major Alvord, director of the experimental station at the Agricultural College, spoke on the subject of milk, and with reference to the interest of consumers rather than producers. The components of milk were described and illustrated by jars, showing the different parts and their relative proportions. Milk should be judged and valued according to the solid matter it contains. It is a food, not a drink, and as a food should be more highly valued and more liberally used. Three pints of milk contain as much nutriment as a pound of good beef and costs much less.

Wednesday, Jan. 21.—The attendance was larger to-day and much more interest was taken in the proceedings. The president, Dr. John J. Black, of New Castle, Del., was present and read his address—a valuable paper on the attention to detail in horticulture. Mr. Kerr's paper on nomenclature was well received. A. W. Slaymaker made the report on small fruits. It was followed by a lengthy discussion, participated in by Messrs. Kerr, Griffith, Harris, Case and others. It was agreed that last year's yield of berries was the most profitable crop, if not, indeed, the only profitable crop on the Peninsula.

Professor Galloway, of the Washington Pomological Society, spoke on the parasites and fungi of plants and vines. He illustrated his lecture by blackboard work and specimens of parasites and fungoids. The best remedy, he said, is spraying the diseased plants or vines with ammoniacal fluids. J. S. Harris made the report on implements and fertilizers. It was discussed by Dr. A. T. Neal, of the Delaware experiment station, Prof. Brunk, of the Maryland station and others. It was agreed that red clover is the best green fertilizer, and better than commercial fertilizer, the cow pea coming next. In the evening Prof. Brunk lectured on home adornment, with stereopticon illustrations.

Thursday, January 22—The Peninsula Horticultural Society adjourned this evening to meet again on the second Tuesday in January, 1892, at Dover. Among those present were Hon George W Covington, of Worcester, who is going into peach and fruit culture on a large scale. The following offices were elected: President, Col E L Martin, of Seaford; secretary, Wesley Webb, Dover; treasurer, A L Hudson, Clayton; first vice-president, J S Harris, Kent county, Md.; county vice-presidents, Dr J J Black, New Castle; Dr Henry Ridgely, Kent county, Del; Charles Wright, Sussex county, Del; George Biddle, Cecil county, Md; Norris Barnard, Kent county, Md; John B Brown, Queen Anne's county, Md; J W Keer, Caroline; J L Banning, Talbot; Isaac H Wright, Dorchester; J C Phillips, Wicomico; L L Waters, Somerset; Hon George W Covington, Worcester; E C McMath, Accomac county, Va; Dr Brockenborough, Northampton county, Va.

Dr Erwin F Smith, of the Department of Agriculture, who has been studying peach yellows on the Peninsula and elsewhere since 1866, made an interesting address on that subject. The disease is fatal, is contagious and is increasing gradually, going southward on the Peninsula. It is worse in New Castle, Del., and Cecil, Md., and has made its appearance as far south as Caroline county. Neither the cause of the disease nor a cure for it is known.—Easton Democrat.

STATE AND PENINSULA.

James Brennen has brought suit in the Cecil county court against the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad, claiming $10,000 damages, for injuries received by being struck by an express train near Elkton.

A large black bear was killed in the peach orchard of James Hammond, near Milford, last Thursday.

Elkton has the prospect of securing the long-promised water-works.

DELAWARE CITY, Del., Jan. 23.—A fur seal, weighing about 150 pounds and nearly five feet in length and over two feet in width, was killed on the shore of the farm of Fish Commissioner Shubert, about six miles south of Augustine Pier, on Thursday afternoon.

The "Pink Eye" is epidemic at Tyaskin, Wicomico county.

The postoffice at Crisfield has been raised from a fourth-class office to a third-class presidential office, the gross receipts having reached $1,900 per year, entitling the postmaster to a salary of $1,000.

Dr. Charles H. Rose, of Talbot county, makes the suggestion in the Easton Ledger that the three counties of Talbot, Queen Anne's and Caroline might with economy to all erect and maintain a joint almshouse.

The Maryland-Delaware Peninsula furnishes Pennsylvania with its governor and secretary of State—Robert Emory Pattison and William F. Harrity. They took the oath of office last week. In the broad field of politics the Peninsula never fails to hold its own.—Denton Journal.

FACTS ABOUT THE OYSTER.

The Supply Has Been Steadily Decreasing.

According to the census of 1880, the annual oyster production of this coun ry was as follows:

State.	Bushels.
New Hampshire	1,000
Massachusetts	36,000
Rhode Island	163,200
Connecticut	334,450
New York	1,043,500
New Jersey	1,975,000
Delaware	300,000
Maryland	10,600,000
Virginia	6,837,320
North Carolina	170,000
South Carolina	50,000
Georgia	70,000
Florida	78,000
Alabama	104,500
Mississippi	25,000
Louisiana	295,000
Texas	95,000
Washington Territory	15,000
Total	22,195,370

The total value of these is given at thirteen and a half million dollars, and the total capital invested is placed at ten and a half millions. This season Maryland and Virginia, instead of supplying more than 17,000,000 bushels, as in 1880, will not yield 6,000,000 bushels. The two States have 1,600,000 acres of oyster territory. Connecticut with a total area of 74,000 acres, and with oyster cultivation, has an oyster trade of $3,332,311 of invested capital, with an annual product of $1,232,146. In Rhode Island, oyster culture has increased the oyster grounds from 1,100 to 11,000 acres in fifteen years, with a yearly revenue of $11,000 to the State.

THE NESTOR OF THE MAGAZINES.

"According to Homer, Nestor, the old warrior, and the wise counsellor of the Greeks, had ruled over three generations of men, and was wise as the immortal gods."

The North American Review

has been in the van of American thought for more than three-quarters of a century, ranking always with the best and most influential periodicals in the world. It is the mouth-piece of the men who know most about the great topics on which Americans require to be informed from month to month, its contributors being leaders of thought and action in every field. Those who would take counsel of the highest knowledge on the affairs of the time, and learn what is to be said regarding them by the recognized authorities on both sides, must therefore read THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW, the Nestor of the magazines.

"The North American Review is ahead of any magazine this country has ever seen in the importance of the topics it discusses and the eminence of its contributors."—Albany Argus.

"Has become, as it were, the intelligent American citizen's hand-book on great questions of the hour."—Buffalo Express.

"The North American Review touches Americans on almost every point in which they are interested."—Boston Herald.

"A moulder of intelligent opinion by the impartial presentation of both sides of important subjects."—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The list of recent contributors to the REVIEW forms a roll of representative men and women of the time, including W. E. Gladstone, J. G. Blaine, Cardinal Gibbons, Speaker Reed, Ex-Speaker Carlisle, W. McKinley, Jr., Ouida, Mme. Adam, General Sherman, Admiral Porter, Mme. Blavatsky, T. A. Edison, Bishop H. C. Potter, Elizabeth S. Phelps, Chas. S. Parnell, A. J. Balfour, John Morley, Col. R. G. Ingersoll, Henry George, Chauncey M. Depew, Edward Bellamy, Professor James Bryce, Gail Hamilton, etc., etc.

Harper's Weekly has never failed to justify its title as a "Journal of Civilization," and it has done so with a constant regard to enlarged possibilities of usefulness and a higher standard of artistic and literary excellence. Special Supplements will be continued in 1891. They will be literary, scientific, artistic, historical, critical, topographical, or descriptive, as occasion may demand, and will continue to deserve the hearty commendation which has been bestowed on past issues by the press and the public. As a family journal, Harper's Weekly will, as heretofore, be edited with a strict regard for the qualities that make it a safe and welcome visitor to every home.
