For the United States' Senate

James A. Pearce, Esq.

NEW YORK is still claimed to be the key to the presidential situation of 1892.

RUTH CLEVELAND, daughter of ex-President Cleveland, is to have a cradle made of a portion of the wood from the cabin in which General Grant once lived.

GOVERNOR JACKSON has been busily occupied during the past ten days, at Annapolis, signing commissions to the newly elected officers throughout the State.

IT IS UNDERSTOOD that Col. William J. Vannort will be tendered the complimentary honor of a nomination for the United States Senatorship from the Eastern Shore.

THE Massachusetts Constitution was amended last week so that in the future the poll-tax will be removed. The Democrats favored and the Republicans fought the change.

MR. MILLS, who is now making a strong fight for the Speakership of the United States Senate, indignantly denies that he has made any deal whatever with the opponents of the free coinage of silver.

JUDGE WATTERS, about ten days ago disposed of several cases against the Bel Air Literary, Musical, Social and Dramatic Club, imposed a fine and revoked its charter for violating the local option law.

A MEETING of the trustees of the Board of Trade of Chestertown, is called to meet at their hall at half-past seven o'clock on Friday evening. Business of importance for discussion.

THE Snow Hill Messenger has placed at the head of its editorial columns the names of Gorman and Gray as the presidential ticket for 1892. The two G's are all right, may be, but Cleveland is good enough for Kent.

THE Salisbury Sentinel states as a fact that "the man" referring in unmistakable terms to Arthur P. Gorman, was appointed a page in the United States Senate about forty years ago at the suggestion of Hon. James A. Pearce, of Kent.

IN THE SUIT for thirty-four thousand dollars, brought by C. M. Bell, the Washington photographer against a lithographing company for an infringement of his copy-right in the pictures of Mrs. ex-President Cleveland, Bell has lost.

WILLIAM T. HEPBRON and J. Fletcher Wilson will enter the next Legislature as veterans in legislative affairs, and Mr. Strong, though a new member, will carry with him a fund of sound, practical sense which will mark him the peer of any man in the House.

WE PARTICULARLY REFER the peach-growers of Kent to the very important questions introduced at the peach-growers' meeting at Waynesboro' last week, which we give in full elsewhere. These questions may be profitably taken up by our fruit-growers at future meetings.

FOR the president of the Senate, those most prominently spoken of are: the Hons. Thomas G. Hayes, of Baltimore city; John B. Brown, of Queen Anne's; John Hubner, of Baltimore county, and Pinkney J. Bennett, of Carroll. In regard to the Speakership of the House of Delegates but one name has been prominently mentioned thus far, that of the Hon. Murray Vandiver, of Harford.

THE Frederick Examiner, Republican, says: "Now is a good time to disregard the bogus law which gives the Eastern Shore one-half of our United States Senators. We assert that the law is in violation of the constitution of the United States, without warrant in the constitution of Maryland, and contrary to common sense and common justice." May be it is, Mr. Examiner, but we doubt it.

IN AN INTERVIEW with a New York World reporter Mr. Fassett, late Rebulican candidate for Governor of New York, is quoted as saying: "As the situation stands to-day Mr. Cleveland has unquestionably got the better of Mr. Hill in the struggle for Democratic leadership. When Mr. Cleveland made his speech at Cooper Union it changed 10,000 votes. Mr. Cleveland did more to defeat me than any other man."

THE HON. CHARLES H. GIBSON to all appearances is gaining vantage ground in the fight for the clerkship of the House of Representatives. Since Pennsylvania has dropped back to her old Republican moorings, that State has lost ground in the clerkship fight. Remembering the many benefits vouchsafed to Kent by Mr. Gibson's untiring zeal while a member of Congress, we extend to him the most sincere hope that he may receive the honor which he so richly merits at the hands of his party.

SAYS the Baltimore Sun: "The point has been raised that the constitutional amendments empowering the Legislature to change the terms of county commissioners cannot apply to those just elected. This is a mistake. All the officers of the State were elected at the same time the constitution of 1867 was adopted, and served under the provisions of that constitution. The new amendment repeals the section of the constitution which fixes the term of office for county commissioners, and there is now no definate term of office for them until the Legislature fixes one under the authority of the amendment."

"THE POPULAR ex-Congressman, Charles H. Gibson is looming up as a possibly strong contestant for Senatorial honors. The Baltimore correspondent of the Washington Star says: "To close observers the most probable man is ex-Congressman Gibson. Though he is making his fight honestly for the clerkship of the House of Representatives with excellent chances of success, his friends think his ambition for the Senate is well known, and there are indications strongly in his favor. His experience in the lower house strengthens his position greatly and his popularity in Washington society and in both houses of Congress would without doubt make his election the most popular at the national capital that could be made. More than all, he is the man the party leaders want."

THE Baltimore Herald says: "A bit of gossip that was afloat last week is worth printing. It is to this effect: Queen Anne's has a Senatorial candidate in the person of John B. Brown. Mr. Brown's brother, Edwin H. Brown, is State Treasurer by appointment of Governor Jackson. Treasurer Brown would like to be elected for a full term by the Legislature. Suppose it should be discovered that the Western Shore is determined to have that office? Suppose Governor Jackson, realizing this, should appoint Treasurer Brown to be United States Senator, what would the effect be? Would it not eliminate John B. Brown from the Senatorial contest? Would it not bind Queen Anne's four votes to Govarnor Jackson when the Legislative caucus assembled? Furthermore, would it not give Governor Jackson a chance to make himself popular on the Western Shore by appointing such a man as Spencer C. Jones to be State Treasurer to succeed Mr. Brown?

"This is worth thinking about, and is not beyond the bounds of possibility. The appointment of an ad interim Senator, it is said, may be made in a very few days. Robert F. Brattan is still prominently mentioned, and many think he will be the man. This is a puzzle, but many more will be presented before it is solved."

A CORRESPONDENT of the Queen Anne's Advocate pays the following tribute to the Australian ballot: "The patriotic citizen contemplating the order, peace and quiet which prevailed at all the polling places in the county, and the absence of bribery, is more than ever convinced of the virtues of the Australian Ballot System." We are yet to hear of the first failure of the Australian ballot to give the most eminent satisfaction to all parties who respect an untrammelled suffrage; all parties who wish for the eternal destruction of the pernicious system of the wholesale bribery and purchase of the manhood of American freemen with money, and all those who are sincere advocates of pure and honest politics. Kent county needs the progressive system, and we hope that our representatives will see to it, that Kent is enrolled with those counties which are progressive in political reform as well as in the advancement of their commercial growth. The Democracy of Kent need have no fear in securing to the people that method of exercising the right of franchise which permits to the voter the greatest freedom and independence, coupled with an opportunity to express a careful and judicious selection removed from the pernicious influence of men who control the political voices of their fellows by threats and violence. While the Australian system is not as yet perfectly adapted to all of the peculiarities of our American institutions, it is far in advance of any method which has as yet been introduced. Let us try it at least.

SUCCESS OF THE AUSTRALIAN BALLOT IN CHICAGO.

It is a success. The Australian ballot law gave to Chicago an election different from any that had ever preceded it. The day was just like any other day in the year. The police had no part in the contest. Polling places were quiet and orderly, and the drunken heelers and clamorous ticket-peddlers were not to be seen. The fact was established that Chicago can hold a peaceable and business-like election free from scenes of violence and intimidation. Consequently, the law vindicated itself. The good accomplished was insignificant as compared with the benefits which will follow, it being established that any voter can go into a respectable and well-conducted polling place and privately register his choice of candidates. More people will vote when it is unnecessary to fight for the divine right of suffrage.

Considering that the law presented certain difficulties on a first trial, and that many people regarded the new form of voting as a mysterious ceremony, the vote was surprisingly large. Mistakes were made by two classes of people. The first were those who thought they knew all about the law and had not taken the trouble to study the simple instruction. The second were those who did not understand the English language, could not distinguish between a square and a circle, had not heard, who were candidates on any of the tickets and failed to understand the meaning of booths and official ballots. No trouble was experienced by the thousands of plain, every-day people who read newspapers and know which end of a lead pencil is used for marking.—Chicago Daily News.

"OUR UNPROMPT TELEGRAPH SYSTEM."

Take It Away or Give Us Promptness

Surely it is time for the citizens of Chestertown to take some action and join together in unanimonsly condemning the gross imposition that is being placed upon us in our unenviable telegraphic system. For months we have suffered the most trying and unjust treatment, entailing many losses from unnecessary delays and unpromptness that we are daily subjected to. That we have a business community that will and must call for some prompt accommodation, is apparent, and we are not to be set aside and used as if we had not enough interest in our business and community to take action against such treatment, which either classes us as men of no business, or little children requiring no facilities for business.

Why the unreasonable delays should occur is a question unanswerable, indeed; for it is a stated fact, that we can wire from Baltimore to Chestertown early in the morning, take the Tolchester steamer, come to Tolchester, thence to Chestertown, ride over twenty-four miles of water and eleven miles of land, and nine times out of ten, sign in Chestertown for our telegrams.

The reason why the management should so order all our messages to be sent via of Philadelphia may be a convenience of his own; yet a great delay to the people of the Eastern Shore generally; for surely in the transmission of a message to Baltimore, we cannot see why Wilmington could not adjust the matter, rather than send it to Philadelphia, taking time, and ofttimes the office there is so busy that our mssages are laid aside for a convenient time to send them. We have sent messages to test the matter from Baltimor to this place, to prove to the management that such things are facts; we have taken the time in Baltimore at which they were sent to Philadelphia, for our wire to be transmitted here; we have recorded the time of arrival and found the message to have been held from one to two hours before our wire received them.

Then, too, the silent contempt with which we have been treated, both business men and press; how many times have our papers requested them "to give us better facilities;" how many letters have gone from some of the most influential business men of our community, only to be treated with silent contempt and things growing worse. What we business men want is promptness. We try to transact our business with that promptness which becomes a part of our capital, and when such delays occur we have to stand the brunt and accusation that we are either unprompt or neglectful.

When we use a wire we do it because we want quick work,—we are depending on our message to further our business—thus we are willing to pay the charges asked; whereas many times with the way we are now treated at this point, a two-cent stamp will do us more good than a sixty five-cent telegram, because nine times out of ten the letter will reach the destination as soon as the wire will. Away with such treatment! Away with such insults! For it is a gross insult to our business men of both town and county. The smallest country village either on the Eastern or Western Shores, no matter where, has more promptness, and is treated with better facilities than Chestertown. And yet we are allowing ourselves to have thrown into our faces the grossest imposition, and are set aside with a "don't care."

For the management to move the office was one of those acts which should have caused the community to come together at the first insinuation of its execution and should have had it removed from us altogether rather than to have suffered the imposition of a half-mile walk in a town of 3000 inhabitants to send a telegram, and doing business of hundreds of thousand of dollars.

Strangers, some of them the most prominent men of the world whom we entertain here laugh at us when they hear how we are placed in such matters.

Is it the fault of the operator here? We frankly say, no! For there is no one who could be more accommodating than the present operator in charge of the office here. He refuses to confer no reasonable favor, and, indeed, is willing to leave his bed at midnight and do anything toward furthering the promptness of the system and accommodate the people, and yet with all this, no matter how urgent our matters may be, after we do all we can here, to have our messages held and delayed at other places, is not proper treatment and should be abolished.

Some of us are forced in our business to use the wires, and mus. have quick transit. With many others of our community we cannot do without it, and we say frankly to the management of the Western Union Telegraph Company if you cannot give us better accommodations take out your wire altogether from our town, for then we will not expect anything more than our mails offer and not be waiting in suspense and laboring under the disappointments to which we are now subject.

And when this is done, you will find that there is in this community business men, who will have some arrangements made whereby they will not allow themselves to suffer under a monopoly whose actions plainly portray that they do not care how much the people are inconvenienced so they are not themselves, but accept our money, keep their shingle out for business when there is no business in them.

Now let us come together and let the managers of the W. U. T. Company see that they cannot treat us in this way, if they want our patronage. We know it pays them well, so let them give us something in return for it and not keep in this drag.

ONE WHO USES THE WIRES.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There's only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitution all remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be distroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure Send for circulars, free.

Something New to Look At!

This showing the same old line of goods all the season through we remedy by semi-weekly shipments, and just now, at the very time you want Clothing, the manufacturers are anxious to unload winter stock to prepare for spring, consequently we get them at closer figures—and so do you—for I have marked them likewise, therefore here's even greater inducements than I have already offered. Examine my line and prices—15 per cent. saving is my claim, and you will find me a few doors below the postoffice. To substantiate it, goods direct from manufacturers and saving expenses, cuts out entirely the middle man and the retailer, whose expenses are so much greater to do business, and the difference in prices that these indisputable facts necessitate. I give to the consumer. My close figures mean that I must sell quantities of goods and not depend upon one sale to pay expenses for the day. Then I must deal fairly and be with the masses. Fully realizing this, I am here to fulfill every claim. Thankful for the liberal patronage extended me, I am respectfully.

W. E. MOODY.

Stop in and guess on the temperature for Xmas day 12 o'clock. Finest boy's suit in our establishment, age 5 to 14, to the closest guess.
