LOCAL MATTERS.

Please do not fail to give this your prompt attention [illegible] have a number of bills outstanding, which when put together, amount to a large sum. Don't neglect to respond to our earnest request because you owe us but a dollar or two, as it all counts and helps us to meet our demands which are pressing.

—Mrs. E.R. Wickes lost a valuable two-year-old colt on Saturday night.

—Perch fish are abundant in Chester river, near Quaker Neck wharf.

—The Chester River steamboat company has enlarged the freight house at Kent Island wharf.

—The exercises of Washington College will close to-morrow, and will not resume until Monday, January 4.

—Pork killing and corn husking will about close together next week. The crop of both is large and of superior quality.

—Mr. George Rollison, of Lankford, recently caught one hundred and fifty bunches of fine white perch out of one pound net.

—Muskrats are being killed in large quantities on some of the Kent county marshes. One gentleman last week killed twenty out of one house.

—A number of Chestertown business men have provided themselves with typewriters. An agent two weeks ago sold about fifteen in a few days.

—Foxes during the summer and fall made such inroads upon turkeys and geese near the bayshore that the Christmas supply from those sections will be limited.

—A young lady of Kent went rabbit hunting last week and succeeded in bagging one rabbit. Who was the girl with bravery sufficient to permit her to fire a gun?

—Report says that Queen Anne's is to have another newspaper next year. The new enterprise will be conducted on Kent Island, and will make the fifth paper edited in Queen Anne's.

—Cards are out announcing the marriage on Thursday, Dec. 17, of Miss May Wilkins daughter of Mr. Edward Wilkins, of Grey's Inn and Mr. Robert Wickes, of Eastern Neck Island.

—Wild geese are reported as being numerous in wheat fields bordering upon Worton Creek and several other water courses of Kent. The game, however, is shy and has afforded but little sport.

—The county commissioners at their meeting on Tuesday refused to grant the petition of Capt. Joseph W. Thompson asking that he be allowed to build a warehouse on the public wharf, Chestertown.

—Mr. P. B. Hollis, who left for England to visit his parents last week, was tendered an elegant supper at the Voshell house by a number of his gentlemen friends several evening before he commenced his long journey.

—Constable Knox took a young white man, whose name we have been unable to learn, to the House of Correction on Monday for having beaten his father. A hearing was given before Justice of the Peace Groff, of Golt's.

—The Kent county board of commissioners have invited the Queen Anne's board to meet them in joint session on Friday, December 31, to consult in regard to needed repairs to the railway or track under the draw of Chester bridge.

—Amanda Beverly was taken to the Maryland Hospital about ten days ago, by order of the board of county commissioners Mr. J. H. Greenwood took the woman over. It will be remembered that Amanda Beverly created much destruction to Mr. William Kirby's hot houses somewhat over a year ago.

—Captain John W. Mister, the notorious and persistent violator of the State's oyster laws, was arrested while dredging in forbidden waters off Kent Point, in Eastern bay, by Captain Stanley Bryan, of the police schooner Frolic last week. There were about four hundred bushels of oysters on board.

—A game of foot-ball is scheduled to take place on the college campus at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon between the Washington College and Centreville football teams. The Centreville men, it is stated, will bring with them some strong materia from Lehigh and Princeton, and in consequence a fine game may be expected.

—The unpleasant fact is rapidly forcing itself upon us, that to all appearances Kent is to share the same fate as Cecil and Talbot in receiving a visitation from the Grip. Its appearance is already noted, and the most we may hope is that it may be mild in extent of territory visited and moderate in form. Cecil and Talbot are suffering from the ravages of the disease in its worst type.

—Dr. G. Allen Jarman, so well known in Kent as a skilled veterinarian, but who has for more than a year past been located in Centreville, has returned to Chestertown where he will practice his profession and at an early date expects to open an hospital for the treatment of all diseases of the horse. Dr. Jarman at the solicitation of his Centreville friends will visit that town each Tuesday for the practice of his profession.

—A two-horse wagon on Thursday afternoon ran against a post of the porch of Mr. A. J. Hynson, on Queen street, and tore it completely away. A number of wagons had been engaged in moving the furniture of Mr. Staats just across the street, and one of the teams was left unattended, when it started off, ran against Mr. Charles Wickes' porch, slightly damaging it, and then rammed the wagon in between a tree and Mr. Hynson's porch, scarring one post and tearing out another as above stated.

—Samuel McKnett, the eighteen-year-old son of Mr. McKnett, of the Urieville mill, made a narrow escape from a serious accident about ten days ago. Young McKnett was gunning for wild duck, and in loading an old single-barrel gun which he was using, it was found impossible to ram the wad down on the shot. When ducks were found, young McKnett fearing that there might be some trouble as the outgrowth of not loading the gun properly, did not place the gun to his shoulder, but placed the gun at his side and fired. The breech was shattered into splinters, a piece was torn out of the barrel about seven inches long and the young man was badly burned and smoked by the powder. The barrel was found some distance behind him sticking upright in the mud.

—Charles Holden, a twelve-year-old boy of Galena, was arrested on Sunday and given a hearing upon complaint of Mr. Frank Ruth, a merchant of Galena. It seems that Mr. and Mrs. Holden, who live adjoining the store of Mr. Ruth, were away from home and had left the boy in charge. During the day several fires were discovered burning around the stable on the Holden property and in dangerous proximity to the building occupied by Mr. Ruth. The boy was kept in the Galena lockup, and was placed in jail on Tuesday to await the action of the grand jury.

—Richard D. Hynson, Esq., and Mr. James Beck returned on Saturday from their ten days' gunning excursion to St. Mary's county. The gentlemen were royally entertained by Mr. Samuel L. Rawleigh, and enjoyed fair sport gunning, killing, Mr. Beck states, ninety-one birds. Game in the immediate vicinity of Mr. Rawleigh's was scarce, but by riding several miles good shooting was found. The trip was filled with many novel and most enjoyable features. Long distances and several unfavorable days made the time for gunning limited, or many more birds would have been bagged.

—Messrs. Luther Tarr, Jerry Scully, William Goodman and John Pierce, while oystering off Hail Point on Thursday, made a most novel catch. The tongmen struck something with their rakes which required their united strength to bring to the surface, and when brought up the big oyster proved to be a top buggy. The carriage was towed to the shore, and was found to be in fair condition, excepting the top which was broken off in being towed ashore. Fully a bushel of large oysters had attached themselves to the long lost vehicle, which belonged to Bellingham, of Lynch's Station, and was blown from the deck of the Emma Ford in a heavy gale about a year ago.

—Reports have been received from points on Chesapeake Bay to the effect that fishing with dynamite cartridges has been carried on to an extent, which, if persisted in will entirely destroy the fishing interests of the State. The parties who it is claimed have indulged in the pernicious method of catching fish have met with almost unprecedented success while those who have shown a respect for the rights of others and the laws, have been but fairly successful. The parties adopting in this glaringly illegal way of catching fish are known and should be promptly made to answer for their violations of law. The fishermen who know the parties should promptly inform upon them.

—The importance of keeping a strict watch upon Thomas Thompson, the condemned murderer of William Adams is shown by a speech which he was overheard to make last week. He asserted most positively that on January 29, 1891, the day appointed for his execution he will not be alive. Of course but one inference may be drawn from this assertion and that is that he proposes to dispose of himself in some more satisfactory way than being hung. What means he proposes to adopt was not stated. The board of commissioners at their meeting last week refused to allow more than one dollar a day for the death-watch, the watcher to board himself. Is this adequate?

—The old engine house at the Chestertown depot was torn down last week, and workmen are now engaged in building a new engine house, 16x63 feet. The new house will be the same length as the old one, but will accommodate but one engine whereas its predecessor would accommodate two. Just as soon as the present work of building is completed, the company will build a roomy freight-house. There has been a long-felt need of securing ample storage accommodations at this point. The road-bed for about two miles between Lambson's and Massey's has been thoroughly ballasted with gravel, and new ties have been put in. Other decided improvements are still being made to the grades and other sections of the road. The water tank at the depot has been recently repainted and has had substantial new trestle work placed under it.

—Town bailiff Kelley is still energetically pushing the improvements to the streets and crossings of Chestertown. The pavements in the upper portion of the town have been put in order; a crossing has been placed leading from Mrs. Hurtt's property to Mr. Boyd's. About two hundred feet of pavement have been laid in front of the property belonging to Mr. Eliason and others on Main street; the crossing at the corner of Main and Front streets will be fixed and the old trees in front of the property of J. R. Clements and C. M. Lucas will be taken down; a crossing will be placed at the corner of Queen street and Maple avenue, the stones on Washington avenue along the Stam property and opposite the property of Mrs. Thomas and Mr. W. W. Hubbard will be removed and an excellent cinder walk covered with sawdust will be made. All of these prospective improvements will be completed before Christmas, the weather permitting. The next on the programme should be the old market house which we sincerely hope may fade out of existance with the approach of Spring.

Church Notes.

Rev. W. J. Duhadaway states that the report to the effect that he expected to study for the bar is a mistake. He says there is still plenty of room and work in his conference to engage his attention.

A letter last week from the wife of Rev. E.H. Vandyke, who was injured in the recent earthquake in Japan, says that the probabilities are that her husband will never recover from his injuries. Mr. Vandyke had his skull crushed in by a falling brick, and is most seriously injured.

At an election of the Methodist Episcopal church choir last week, Capt. Joseph Downey was elected leader; vice, Mr. R. K. Pippin resigned.

Divine Services will be held next Sunday at St. Andrew's church, Galena, 10½ A.M.; at Shrewsbury, 3 P. M.

A BEAUTIFUL WEDDING.

Another Chestertonian Goes West for His Bride.

The marriage of Mr. William Walter Chapman to Miss Mayme Etta Dryer, of Indianapolis, as previously announced in the TRANSCRIPT, took place at the beautiful residence of the bride's parents, 630 Pennsylvania street, Indianapolis, on Wednesday evening, December 9, with the Rev. Mr. Rondthales of the Presbyterian Church, and formerly of Hagerstown, Md., officiating, in the presence of fifty or sixty of the relatives and intimate friends of the bride. Promptly at six o'clock Harts' orchestra played the wedding march, and the bridal party proceeded from the room in the rear of the hall to the spacious and beautifully decorated parlors where smilax, palms, ferns and mistletoe were tastefully placed. The two little ribbon girls, Misses Louise Dryer and Mary Sayler, clad in dainty gowns of white silk, placed white satin robbons from the door of the parlor to the mantel, which was transformed into a background of palms, ferns and roses, and where the beautiful and impressive ceremony was performed. The Rev. Mr. Rondthales then entered and immediately upon reaching the spot where the ceremony was performed, the groom and his best man, R. Harrison Collins, entered proceeding to their positions when the four-year-old flower girl, Miss Helen Buchanan, of Chicago, looking like a little fairy, who wore a pretty Kate Greenaway costume of white silk, with gloves and slippers to match, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses entered. The pretty bride, with her maid of honor, Miss Julia Bryan, entered last, and was received by the groom with extended hand. The bride's dress was of white faille en train, with V-shaped neck and long sleeves. It was richly trimmed with silver and pearl passamenterie, and the neck and sleeves were filled with duchess point lace. Pearl pins held the dainty bridal veil in place, and she wore diamond ornaments and carried a bunch of white roses in her hand. Miss Bryan wore a simple white silk dress daintily fashioned, and carried pink roses. The Presbyterian ceremony was used, and the father of the bride gave her to the groom. A reception, which was attended by over three hundred of the leading and representative society people, of Indianapolis, among whom we noticed Governor Gray, Hon. Staunton Peele, representative in Congress, and Mrs. Van Camp, society leader of the McKee-Harrison Society, was given from 7 to 10 o'clock.

The bridal party was assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dryer, Mr. J. W. Chapman, father of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Lentz, of Louisville, Mrs. W. P. Buchanan, of Chicago, Mrs. F. M. Rowley, of Kalamazoo, Mich.

At eleven P. M. the bride and groom left for Chicago. They will make an extensive trip before arriving in Chestertown, including Florida, Michigan and other places of interest. As they left for the train the orchestra played "Maryland, My Maryland," and showers of rice was poured on them by the guests. The presents were handsome and numerous. Mr. and Mrs. Chapman will be at home after January 6, 1892. We extend them congratulations and welcome the bride to Chestertown.

Necrology.

Jeremiah Nicols died suddenly of paralysis at his home 28, East Lanvale street, Baltimore, on Thursday last, Dec. 10, in the 68th year of his age. Mr. Nicols was a son of Jeremiah Nicols, who at one time owned Nicol's marsh, lower Quaker Neck, but later in life engaged in the mercantile business with Richard Ringgold in Chestertown. The deceased was born while his father was living on the farm and after completing his education at Chestertown formed a co-partnership in the mercantile business with William B. Wilmer. He afterwards purchased the Gale farm in Broad Neck, where he removed and after farming for some years removed to a farm near Rock Hall, but finally gave up agricultural pursuits a number of years ago, and removed to Baltimore. While farming in Kent he married a Miss Frances Burgess, a most estimable lady of Kent, who with five children, three daughters and two sons, Mrs. Hunt who lives in Omaha, Mary, Nannie, Irving and Lloyd survive him. The remains were brought over to Tolchester and the interment took place at St. Paul's Church on Saturday last. The pall bearers were: William S. Walker, Dr. Samuel Beck, W. N. E. Wickes, J. K. Aldridge, Evan Thomas and J. Thomas Skirven.

Mrs. S. A. Copper died after a short illness at the home of her husband in Roanoke, Va., on Saturday last, aged 28 years. The deceased was a Miss Gardner, of Pittsburg, Pa., and visited her husband's friends in Kent county during August and formed many warm friendships. She was taken sick on Thursday and rapidly grew worse, until the end came on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Copper were married at Pittsburg last April.

Mrs. Thawley, aged about sixty years, died very suddenly of heart disease at the home of Mr. Baker, on Cannon street, on Monday afternoon about half-past four o'clock. Mr. Baker had moved from near Rolph's wharf into his new home during the day, and Mrs. Thawley had been busily engaged in scrubbing and doing other work, but in the afternoon complained of feeling badly, lay on a bed, and in less than ten minutes was dead. As soon as her condition was known, medical aid was summoned, but before a physician could reach the house Mrs. Thawley had expired. She had suffered with heart disease for several years.

Probability of a New Line of Steamers in Chester River—A Representative Prospecting Along the Route.

During the past two weeks a representative of a large steamboat company of New York City has been prospecting along Chester river and its tributaries, with a view of putting on a line of steamers in the near future. After a careful survey of the route and the situation of matters, he expressed himself perfectly satisfied with the outlook, and believed, after his report was received by the company, they would put on a line of steamers at an early day. It is the intention of the company to have their steamers touch at every point now reached by the Chester River Line, and to give a daily service to and from Baltimore. "When we start our boats," said he, "which I am confident we will do in at least two or three months, we propose to give the people a better service than they ever had, and one they will never complain of." We have several steamers that we can spare after the first of the year, which we propose to utilize on one or more of the many routes which we have been prospecting over. In answer to a question how they proposed to reach points now owned by other companies, he said: "What we cannot lease we purpose to buy, as we intend to make this a permanent institution." Our intention is not to antagonize any other company, but simply to make money; and from what I can see I believe there is enough business along this route to justify us in making the undertaking.—Centreville Record.

A Meeting of Postmasters.

A move is now on foot among fourth-class postmasters throughout the United States, having in view the arranging of a petition to be presented to Congress asking an increase of pay. The only remuneration now received by this class of postmasters is for stamps actually cancelled by them and nothing for the large amount of second and third-class matter which they are obliged to handle. It is claimed that the compensation is not equal to the amount of work performed.

With this object in view, Messrs. J. C. Davis, of Pomona, Louis Lambourn, of Still Pond, Mr. Davis, of Golts, P. Jump, of Edesville, and J. H. Weer, of Kennedyville, fourth-class postmasters, met in the court house on Tuesday to discuss the most advisable means of procedure. J. H. Weer was made chairman and J. C. Davis, secretary of the meeting. Letters were received from all of the twenty absent postmasters, expressing their sympathy and promising their hearty co-operation in the movement, and giving satisfactory reasons for their absence. It was decided better to ask for allowances for rent, light and fuel rather than for a fixed salary. Some suggested an extra salary, but the majority did not consider it advisable. Mr. J. C. Davis was elected the delegate to the general meeting to be held at Annapolis at a date not as yet determined upon, and Mr. Lambourn was elected an alternate. The present remuneration of fourth-class postmasters is: on the first $50 cancelled, 100 per centum; on next $100 or less, 60 per centum; on next $200 or less, 50 per centum; on all the balance, 40 per centum. When the amount reaches $250 for four consecutive quarters, the office is duly reported and is made a third-class office with a salary of $1,000.

The Queen Anne's and Cecil county postmasters met on Tuesday.

General Meeting of County Commissioners.

Thomas J. Shallcross, president of the Kent county board of county commissioners has issued a request to the boards of commissioners of each county of the State to meet in joint session on some date in January, to be hereafter named, in Baltimore city. It is proposed that various questions of general interest to the State at large and the individual counties be discussed, and in conformity with the prevailing sentiment as expressed at that meeting, a petition be framed, to be submitted to the Legislature asking that the desired reforms or changes be made. The three principal lines so far mapped out for consideration will be new assessment and the advisability of the county commissioners being the boards of review; county treasurers in counties where there is no treasurer; superintendent of public roads in counties where needed.

The Baltimore Sun, in commenting upon the excellent idea conceived and put in execution by County Commissioner Thomas J. Shallcross, says: "Mr. Shallcross, the president of the commissioners of Kent county, has addressed a communication to each of the county commissioners in the State suggesting a convention in Baltimore to consult about proper legislation rendered necessary by the adoption of the fourth amendment to the constitution. This is a most timely and important suggestion. The Legislature will be required to fix a term of office, and in doing so the question of the proper compensation and number of commissioners should be considered. A suggestion has been made that the number of commissioners for each county be reduced to three, and that one of these go out of office and a new one be elected biennially. The position is an arduous and an important one, which it is difficult to properly fill. There is a great reluctance to serve as county commissioner, and perhaps the office would be made more attractive and the services of good men could be more easily secured by offering a better compensation. All these things should be carefully considered in advance of the meeting of the Legislature."

Letters have been received from the following boards, stating that their counties will be represented: Anne Arundel, Allegany, Baltimore, Caroline, Cecil, Charles, Dorchester, Harford, Queen Anne's, St. Mary's, Wicomico.

EXCITING FOOT-BALL.

Another Game Falls to the Washington College Team by a Score of 22 to 4.

The steamer Corsica brought over to Chestertown on Saturday morning a very confident and sanguine foot-ball aggregation from Western Maryland College, via Baltimore. In the shadowy atmosphere of six A. M., they trooped forth from the boat, and forming in line of battle upon the pier, gave vent to their college yell, which before the day was over was destined to become a yell of disappointing defeat. The game was played in the morning, so that the visitors might return on the Corsica in the afternoon. At eleven o'clock Captains Usilton and Bowden tossed for choice, and the fickle coin favored the Westminster chief, who took the ball and faced the western goal.

When the two teams lined up the heavy rush line of the visitors, who boast of being nearly up to Yale in weight, seemed to completely overshadow their less sturdy looking opponents. Appreciating this advantage, they adopted the method of rushing the ball by means of strength rather than trust to the more scientific measures of running the backs around the ends. Upon play being called, Westminster wedged the ball off and rushed the lighter line for a gain of ten yards. By two more such rushes it was taken to the twenty-five-yard line of the home team, but here by an off-side play the ball was given to Washington College. Then came an opportunity to show that foot-ball is not merely a game of main strength and awkwardness, but one involving scientific principles and good generalship. The ball was snapped back to Usilton, tossed to Brice, and away he rushed guarded by Usilton and the other backs, carrying the ball back over all the ground gained by the three rushers to the centre of the field. The first half was warmly contested by both sides, neither scoring. Usilton, Brice, Polk and Parker, by their fine tackling, running and guarding, balanced the advantage derived from the inroads made by the rushing of the Westminster men. Time was called with the ball in the hands of Washington College. Before the close of the half, the rush line of the home team had gained vantage ground, and the Westminster team was no longer able to advance the ball by means of her superior weight,

The second half began with the ball in the hands of Washington College, and they advanced to the centre of the field prepared to play ball. They started off with the V, and gained about ten yards. The ball rapidly approached Westminster's goal in the hands of the different backs, and was carried across the line in the hands of Brice, scoring the first touchdown. The Washington College men following out their policy of not kicking goals, the ball went to the visitors at the twenty-five-yard line. In four downs the ball changed hands, and Parker bunted the line for five yards, Polk ran around the end for as much more, and Brice scored touch down number two; no goal. The ball went again to the twenty-five-yard line.

Four downs within five yards gain gave the pigskin to Washington College. Polk, Parker and Brice in turn had the ball, and the latter scored yet another touch-down. Same tactics of no goal took the ball to the twenty-five-yard line, but it was soon given over to the home team again and the Siamese twins—Brice and Usilton—dashed across the goal line together, and touchdown number four was added to former's credit. The only goal of the game was kicked, and Westminster took the ball to the centre of the field. They started off with the V, but Murphy ran out and around the end, and the other backs it is claimed deliberately tackled three of the Washington College men in order that they might keep them off the runner, who of course was enabled to cross the goal-line. They were allowed the point, but failed to kick goal. One minute was left. Washington College had the ball at their own twenty-five-yard line. Back it sailed to Brice, and he with Usilton brushed aside the opposing tacklers and made the entire distance of eighty-five yards to the enemy's goal. No goal.

Game was called after four seconds with the ball in the hands of Westminster men Usilton put up a very fine game despite his weak knee. He was not able, however, to do nearly so well as usual. Brice was all right as his playing shows. He is a fast and also a very strong runner, and is very hard to hold even when fairly tackled. Polk did some good rushing, and is perhaps the fastest runner on the team. Parker makes a fine man to go through the line, and commanded the wholesome respect of the Westminster men for his qualities as a battering-ram. All four tackled and interfered well when occasion required.

The rush-line also deserve their share and by no means a small one, of the credit against a decided difference in weight, they managed to hold their own. Not once did any of the opposing rushes get through to tackle, and the backs were thus enabled to accomplish their attempts unhindered. The end-men and tackles went through when Westminster had the ball and often materially assisted the backs in downing the ball. The combined weight of Westminster's line and backs being concentrated on the centre made it impossible to stop them except by getting right down and pulling them on top thus blocking the way. This was the plan adopted and was very successful. Left-guard Downs deserves special mention for the manner in which he cast himself beheath the feet of the advancing line.

For the visitors Murphy and Bowden did good tackling, and White made several fine gains with the ball. The rushline is of good material and averages one hundred and seventy-six pounds. The teams lined up as follows:

WASH. COLLEGE.	POSITION.	W.M. COLLEGE.
Hurtt	Right End	Williams.
Hanna	Right Tackle	Leas.
Watts	Right Guard	Pearre.
Fisher	Center	Lewis.
Usilton	Quarter-back	White.
Brice	Right Half-back	Murphy.
Parker	Full back	Myers.

"SAME THING!"

With the exception of a steadily growing increase in our business, and we avail ourselves of this opportunity of thanking a generous public for the appreciation shown our

SQUARE METHODS.

We started on this platform, and intend to build on this solid foundation, namely,

HONEST DEALING!

For we are fully aware that at this enlightened day people are becoming familiar with the scheming methods resorted to by some dealers, and prefer spending their hard-earned dollar with the plain square dealer. Such is our claim, and we daily demonstrate it. Right here we may truly say

FIRST HANDS, NO DEAD STOCK, VERY SMALL EXPENSES,

Means we can handle GOODS CLOSER than the general dealer. This is a bold assertion but I can back every word of it, and all we want is a continuation of the opportunities to prove our position.

TEN PER CENT. MEANS $1.00 IN $10.00.

As we have just received a new invoice, can quote you a little closer than ever. Come and see me; your future business I want, and to experience the realization of my fondest hopes, I shall let no effort go by to justly merit a consummation that square dealing will surely bring.
