THE town of Pocomoke was almost totally destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss $100,000.

MR. CLEVELAND AND MR. STEVENSON will be formally notified of their nomination on July 20.

JUDGE EDWARD DUFFY, of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore, died near Frederick city, Md., at 6 o'clock on Friday morning, of apoplexy.

GEN. JOHN BIDWELL, of Chico, California, will be the Presidential standard-bearer of the Prohibition party in the coming campaign.

WAR, bloodshed and death at the Carnegie Iron Works, Pennsylvania. War between Pinkerton detectives and workmen, opened yesterday.

EX-GOV. HENRY LLOYD was last week appointed by Governor Brown, associate judge of the first judical district, to fill out the unexpired term of the late Judge Goldsborough.

IT IS not believed in Republican circles that the severance of Mr. Clarkson's political head from his political body, will in anywise strengthen the campaign of "Grandpa's" hat.

THE appointment of Judge Pere L. Wickes as the successor of the late Judge Duffy, of the Supreme bench, of Baltimore city, is one of the best appointments ever made by Governor Brown

MR. GORMAN, who, with a majority of his colleagues from Maryland to the Chicago Convention, lost their equalibrium, fell in line on the free coinage bill, and voted against it. Senator Gibson was not present, but was paired against it.

TWO COMMUNICATIONS have been received this week having no name signed to them. We again state that under no circumstances will mailed communications be recognized unless duly signed by the writer. This is a rule which we will not deviate from.

A NUMBER of the counties have procured handsomely framed collections of the photographs representing the clerks of the circuit court of their respective counties. This is a first-rate idea, and why should not Kent adopt the happy example set by her sister counties.

IT HAS been suggested that the twelfth of next October be made a great National Arbor Day. The suggestion has been made to the National Columbian School Celebration for the observance of Columbus Day. Let Kent remember this suggestion.

IN OUR NEXT ISSUE we will give a most interesting Washington letter, in which the individual charms of several "queens of the White House" will be given. Mrs. Cleveland will be most interestingly spoken of. We are in hopes that in the future we may be enabled to give other communications from the same writer.

A CONVENTION was recently held at the Democratic headquarters, Chicago, by colored Democrats, under the auspices of the United States Negro National Democratic Convention. The most of them are said to be Republicans, but the treatment of the colored race by President Harrison does not meet their views. It was fearlessly proclaimed that the Republican party had outlived its usefulness so far as the negro is concerned.

GENERAL JAMES B. WEAVER, of Iowa, has been nominated for the presidency on the Third Party ticket. It is now being figured that the Third Party may hold the balance of power to an extent which will throw the presidential election in Congress. Of course, in that event Mr. Cleveland would be president, but as the Senate nominates the vice-president, Mr. Reid might possibly get a small slice of the national plum. There were four candidates before the convention: Weaver, of Iowa; Kyle, of South Dakota; Fields, of Virginia, and Page, of Virginia.

THOUGH the great national holiday, July Fourth, was not observed in Kent with the blare of trumpets and the boom of guns, there is no reason to suppose that the people of Kent have in anywise become less loyal or devoted to the sacred traditions of their common country. On no other day of the year is there the same reason why the American citizen, forgetting factions, laying aside all party differences and remembering only that he is an American should be proud of his nationality. It is the birthday of liberty, and all men can and should meet on the broad grounds of a common citizenship.

SENATOR KYLE, of South Dakota, says that he believes that the People's ticket will carry Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and North Dakota, with a fighting chance for Minnesota, Colorado, Nevada, Idaho and Montana, and in any event will carry enough electors to hold the balance of power. This will undoubtedly, he said, throw the election into the House, and will result in the election of a Democratic President, unless the silver Representatives should form a silver combination, which is altogether possible, to elect a President favorable to free silver. In case this should be done there would be a show for the People's party candidates.

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC WORKS, W. F. HOLAHAN has been one of Tammany's staunchest leaders since John Kelley's time, and is a prominent figure in New York politics. He says of the disposition of the organization: "While Tammany Hall carried the banner of David B. Hill to the end of the fierce contest in Chicago, her leaders and her army have already entered the political campaign, determined to win their State for Grover Cleveland. New York city will give the candidate the largest majority any man ever received in this country. It will be so large that the interior portion of the State, which is largely Republican, cannot possibly overcome it."

MR. GORMAN did at Chicago, what he never was guilty of before in his whole career—"lost his head." He never before yielded to flattery, but the temptation was too great, and he committed what is worse in a politician than a crime—a blunder. Usually he has been the adviser—and instead of taking the advice of Mr. Rasin, who never flatters, he took the advice of Mr. Compton and Senator Gibson and yielded to their flattery. In plain words, his vanity got the better of his judgment, and he fell into the trap which destroyed in a few brief days the national reputation he had been years in acquiring.

* * * * * *

Instead of being the recognized head of the so-called regulars in the State, he will now be obliged to yield that pre-eminence to Mr. Rasin, who showed himself a better judge of national politics than the Senator himself.—Baltimore Sunday News.

THE FOLLOWING pathetic little poem is most respectfully dedicated to the puzzled author of the unique, but nevertheless euphonious sentence—"personal grounds and State pride." The poem was sung by the forlorn chick which our much perplexed contemporary put out about ten days ago to proclaim that "Original Cleveland men are plentiful in Kent." The Baltimore Sun caught the refrain and has reproduced in a most dramatic way the situation, and here it is:

"A rooster sat on the top of a pole
In front of a Democrat club,
And a whisper rose from the crowd below
'We're for'—— Whom? why that's the rub.

And the rooster sat, and sat, and sat,
And sat till it grew very late,
And he wondered why he could not find out
Just who was the candidate.

Then the whisper swelled to a mighty sound,
"Grover Cleveland's the name, we chime!'
And the rooster crowed, and crowed, and crowed,
'We've been for him all the time!'"

OF WHAT CONSEQUENCE is it that Mr. Whitney declares that he is satisfied with the result of the Chicago convention and the vote cast by the individual States? Mr. Whitney stood with victory within his grasp, and crowned with the laurels won in one of the most brilliant contests against political intrigue and political duplicity within the history of national conventions. A stupendous scheme had been unearthed and defeated, though its inner secrets have not as yet been disclosed, and it is of little matter to the people of Maryland that the gallant defender of the people's rights is satisfied with the Maryland vote. The delegates selected by the people of Maryland to represent them in the convention at Chicago, are held responsible to a higher tribunal than that of individual opinion. Those gentlemen are responsible to the intelligent citizenship of a sovereign State. The contemptable sophistry advanced by certain gentlemen of unsettled minds, that "personal grounds and State pride" were the grand fundamental and primary reasons prompting their action, is not sufficient. A magnificent sacrifice this which is asked, that the wishes of ninety-five per cent. of the people of Maryland should be offered upon the the altar of "personal grounds and State pride," while Pennsylvania, and a great number of other loyal States felt honored in subserving the wishes and the best interests of the people at large. It is high time that the people, and not political henchmen, professional office seekers and favor-curriers be heard in affairs political.

PEACH TALK.

Once on a time in orchards grew
All over the Eastern Sho';
Plenty of peaches of ruby hue,
Not stung by the bugs, or covered with glue,
'Tis true, 'tis true.
Now, "listen to my tale of woe."

A Caroline County Poet.

WILMINGTON, DEL., June 29.—The Delaware peach crop has been officially declared a failure. Three experts employed by different railroads all agree that the crop will be very far short of the usual amount. These estimates give 409,000 bushels as the crop, but the fruit is still dropping and it may fall far short of this number. A full crop is from 4,000,000 to 6,000,000 baskets.

Mr. W. P. Ireland, of Philadelphia, who made us a pleasant call on Monday, states that the Maryland crop is a failure, but that Georgia will have a heavy crop. Marshallville alone will send from 200 to 250 carloads during the season. Some fruit from that section is already in market, and is bringing from $2.50 to $3.00 for sixteen-quart crates.

Ex-Governor Biggs, in speaking of the prospects for a peach crop on his Maryland orchards, said last week: "It's a mighty poor show. I have 77,000 trees on my Maryland farms, and I do not expect to realize 1,000 baskets. The varieties that promise a small yield are the early Alexanders, Early Rose and troths. The fruit has suffered greatly from being stung by the small insects you hear so much about, although the June drop has taken off many. The prospects are very poor, indeed."

Four baskets of peaches, the first shipment of the fruit from the Peninsula this summer, were shipped via the Delaware railroad on Monday. They came from Melfa, Va. This is the earliest first shipment of peaches for many years.—Delaware Democrat.

I. N. Mills, special agent of the P. W. & B. R. R., writes to the Clayton Call:

In answer to your request for the estimate of the peach crop this year, I enclose the following: You will understand this is the estimate of growers given to the railroad agents at our several stations. These agents report that it is very difficult to get any correct estimate, as some of the growers report peaches still dropping, and they are doubtful as to whether they will have even the small number reported, to ship when the time comes to market them. Growers in Sussex and lower Kent report all their fruit on early and late varieties. The middle varieties, such as generally constitute the bulk of the crop shipped, being almost bare of fruit this year.

Superintendent E. P. Stacey, of the Baltimore and Delaware Bay Railroad, estimates the crop at 10,000 baskets. The peaches are still dropping from the trees, and there is very little fruit left, hardly enough for home consumption.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

JUDGE PERE L. WICKES.

Judge Pere L. Wickes, a brother of Judge Joseph A. Wickes, has been appointed by Governor Brown to fill the vacancy on the supreme bench of Baltimore City caused by the recent death of Judge Duffy. The Baltimore Sun says:

"Judge Wickes was born in Chestertown, Kent county, August 14, 1837, and is now in the fifty-fourth year of his age. He is the youngest son of Col. Joseph Wickes, a distinguished Maryland lawyer, and a nephew of the late Judge Chambers, for many years chief justice of Maryland. Judge Wickes received his education at Princeton College, New Jersey, which institution conferred the degree of bachelor of arts upon him in June, 1856, and subsequently the degree of master of arts. He studied law with his brother, Judge Jos. A. Wickes, of Maryland, and afterward with the Hon. S. Teackle Wallis, of Baltimore. He was admitted to the bar of his native county on April 18, 1859, where he practiced his profession until 1868, when he removed to York, Pa.

"Soon after going to York, he received the appointment of attorney for the Northern Central and Pennsylvania Central Railroad Companies. He acquired a lucrative practice, which he left to accept the position of additional law judge for the York judical district, to which he was elected in the fall of 1875. Upon the retirement of the Hon. Robert J. Fisher in January, 1882, he was commissioned president judge of the nineteenth Pennsylvania district, which position he filled to the close of his judicial term, in January, 1886. Immediately after retiring from the bench at York he came back to Maryland.

"In February, 1862, Judge Wickes married a daughter of the late Henry Welsh, a prominent citizen of the borough of York, and for many years influential in the politics of Pennsylvania. The judge has six children, all of whom are living. The eldest, a son, is a civil engineer practicing his profession in Pennsylvania, where he lives with his family. One son graduated from the Medical School of the University of Maryland at the last commencement with distinguished honors. Another son is a student at Johns Hopkins University and is preparing himself to adopt the law as a profession. The judge has two grown daughters and a young son, who is still at school.

"While occupying the bench in Pennsylvania, Judge Wickes' services were marked by great ability and industry, and received the following newspaper tribute when he retired: 'Judge Wickes had no favorites at the bar, and his most intimate personal friends in the profession never dared to presume upon any partiality on that account. No unnecessary officers about the court were tolerated by him, and both in the conduct of the business of the court and the administration of the laws, the most careful economy was enforced. The treasury was always faithfully guarded, and in nothing was he ever discovered to show the slightest partisan prejudices. While these traits made him, perhaps, unpopular with the politicians of his party, they give him a strong hold upon the affections of the people.'

Judge Wickes came to Baltimore in January, 1886, and has since lived here with his family. Although not actively engaged in the practice of his profession here, he has been interested in all matters of public interest, and has taken part in the discussions of many of them through the public press. He brings to the bench the experience of years of practice in this State, and the approval of the people among whom his judicial life was passed in Pennsylvania.

At the last State convention of the democratic party, Judge Wickes was selected as one of the electors-at-large for Maryland. He says that while there is perhaps no legal bar to his serving as an elector while occupying a seat on the bench, still it is hardly consistent with judicial dignity for him to go upon the hustings and participate in the campaign, as an elector is required to do. He will retire from the electoral ticket as soon as the Governor notifies him of his appointment to the bench. Judge Wickes says he regrets that he will not serve as an elector, as he desired especially to participate actively in the work for ex-President Cleveland, whom he greatly admires.

Kent's Endorsement Endorsed.

BALTIMORE, July 4, 1892.

MESSRS. EDITORS OF THE TRANSCRIPT, KENT CO., MD.—Gentlemen: We learn through the columns of your valuable paper, that old Kent endorses the nomination of the Chicago convention to the core. Ex-President Grover Cleveland, has awakened the admiration of the yeomanry throughout the country by his courage in expressing his political views, thereby teaching that loyalty of character, is the rock bottom of all true patriots and maintaining that the government is by the people and for the people, with avowed principles of its maintainance, upon an economical basis adjusting itself to the interests of all classes of her citizens, a free ballot, honest dollar, tariff reform. And I do hope that every citizen within her borders will keep the ball in motion until next November, when every ballot will be the spark of liberty that has never dimmed since lit by the Father of 1776.

With respect I am yours truly,

ALBERT MEDDERS,
646 North Carey Street.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL COMMENCEMENT.

Young Graduates Well Equipped and Ready for the Responsibilities of Life.

On Thursday evening the Commencement, the final and most interesting portion of the closing exercises of the Chestertown Public School, took place in Stam's Hall, when the hall was crowded with the friends and relatives of the fair graduates. With earlier school studies and text-books laid aside, the young ladies and one young gentleman of the class, took their places upon the stage, ready to perform the one pleasant duty which was to usher them upon a wider stage of action, and bring before them new responsibilities, enlarged possibilities and a more exalted plain of action. One prettily written essay, and though school work had been "finished," yet it was on ly the "beginning" of the great, but glorious battle, of what we hope may be noble and well-spent lives—lives as pure and exalted as they shall be abundant in blessings to others. Many warm hearts gave sincere God-speeds to the class of '92, hoping that their exit from the trying stage of human life might be as bright and successful as their farewell to school days had been signally flattering.

Miss Amy Russell opened the programme with a beautiful selection, by Stults, on the piano, which was followed by prayer by Rev. J. W. Easley. Miss S. Elizabeth Stuart then read her salutatory essay, selecting as her subject, "Finished, Yet Beginning." The subject was forcibly treated, and Miss Stuart did herself much credit in the choice of her subject, her manner of treatment and the evident thought which she had bestowed upon her work. Miss Genvevia Hendrickson, as honorary essayist of her class, followed Miss Stuart with a most creditable essay, selecting as her subject, "Step by Step We Gain the Heights." The essayist contended that only by perseverance and constant endeavor are the heights of succes gained and kept. Miss Julia Elliott then gave a beautiful piano selection, "Home Again," by Grobe. Miss Minnie Maslin's essay, "To day," was one of the finest productions of the evening, and was admirably rendered. "Lost—an Hour," the subject of Miss Mary Louise Anthony's essay, was carefully treated, and gave evidence of much thought in its preparation. Miss Sallie Beck and Miss Georgie Thompson gave the audience a treat in the beautiful vocal duet, "Baby's Laughing in Her Sleep." Miss Clara Downey was to have sung with Miss Beck, but was sick, so Miss Thompson took her part without any preparation whatever, though no one would have discovered the fact had it not been announced. Miss Sue Lambert then read an admirable essay; subject, "Devotion." This grand cardinal principle of success was emphasized and placed in a most important position in its relation to human life. The subject of the essay of Miss Violet Ringgold Beck was, "To Be, Not to Seem." The subject was considered in a most original and practical manner. Miss Beck's essay was most favorably received, condemning as it did all sham, deceptions, make-believes. Mr. T. Howard Fowler, valedictorian of his class, read a forcible and most excellently prepared essay, on the subject, "No Help Like Self-Help."

Following music by Miss Amy Russell, Rev. D. L. Greenfield made an eloquent and very interesting address to the graduates, after which he presented the certificates of graduation to the respective members of the class.

Mr. T. H. Topping then presented prizes to Mr. Howard Fowler and Miss Nora Bramble. Mr. Fowler received two handsome volumes of Rollin's Outlines of Ancient History, offered by Hon. M. de K. Smith to the student leading the eighth grade. Mr. Topping, in presenting the prize, paid a most beautiful compliment to the successful student; a compliment which any young man might with much credit to himself set as an object for his ambition. The chaste and handsome gold medal received by Miss Bramble was offered by John D. Urie, Esq., to the leader of the seventh grade.

Mr. M. A. Toulson has offered a prize for the member of the eighth grade next year making the highest general average. A gentleman has also offered a prize to the pupils making the largest and most complete collection of native wild flowers. The contest will be open for the entire school. No limit is set for the number of specimens secured, but the one securing the greatest number, all other conditions being equal, will be awarded the prize. The following reasonable conditions must be observed: First, must be wild flowers only of Maryland; second, flower and leaves to be mounted on manilla paper 10x12 inches, fruit if possible, root if plant be an herb; third, the paper to have on it the name of collector, English name of plant if possible, locality and date of collection; fourth, time within which the collections may be made, from July 1, 1892, to June 15, 1893; collection to be given to the school. Prof. Proctor states that over five hundred specimens may be easily secured in Kent.

"The Witches' Flight," a difficult piece of music, was most beautifully rendered by Miss Rose Frazier, after which the audience was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. J. W. Easley.

The exercises were all of a most enjoyable character, and to both teachers and scholars we extend congratulations and the hope that they may enjoy a most delightful holiday, and to the young graduates our very best wishes for a long, prosperous and happy life.

Order of Publication.

James K. H. Jacobs, Wm. S. Maxwell, vs.
Oliver Kennard, Elenora Kennard, Laura Williams, Abe Williams, Silus Givens, Highley Dorsey, Frederick Givens, Stephen Givens, Rachel Givens, Charles Givens, Wilhemina Givens, Hope H. Barroll, administrator of Stephen Kennard.

In the Orphans' Court for Kent County, in Equity.

THE object of this bill is to procure a decree for the sale of the real estate of Stephen Kennard, late of Kent county, deceased, for the purpose of paying the debts of the said Stephen Kennard.

The bill of complaint of James K. H. Jacobs and William S. Maxwell by Hope H. Barroll, their solicitor, respectfully shows:

That Stephen Kennard, colored, was in his life time indebted unto your orator, James K. H. Jacobs, in the full and just sum of fifty-three dollars and two cents ($53.02), with interest thereon from the 19th day of May, 1889, upon a certain open account filed herewith and marked Plaintiff's Exhibit No. 1. Also, unto the said William S. Maxwell in the full and just sum of twenty dollars ($20.00), with interest thereon from the 21st day of February, 1892, as will appear by an open account filed herewith and marked Exhibit No. 2.

That the said Stephen Kennard, being so indebted unto your orators as aforesaid, and also unto divers other persons, and having real estate of great value, but no personal estate sufficient to pay his debts as appears by certificate of Register's Exhibit No. 3, departed this life in the month of February, 1892, leaving no widow, but the following children surviving him as his heirs at law, namely: (A) Oliver Kennard, who resides in the city of Philadelphia, Pa. (B) Elenora Kennard, who resides in the city of Baltimore, Md. (C) Laura Kennard, who married Abe Williams, both of whom reside in Kent county, in the State of Maryland.

And the said Stephen Kennard also had a daughter by the name of Harriet Anne Kennard who is now dead, but who in her lifetime intermarried with one Silus Givens, who hath survived her; and Harriet Anne Givens left six children, one of them, Highley Dorsey, who is a bastard, having been born before her marriage with the said Silus Givens, and also the following children by her husband, Silus Givens, namely: Fred. Givens, Stephen Givens, Rachel Givens, Charles Givens and Wilhemina Givens, all of whom are minors, and who reside in Kent county aforesaid.

And your orators are informed and believe that the said Stephen Kennard left a small and insufficient personal estate for payment of his debts, and that letters of administration upon his personal estate have been granted to Hope H. Barroll, and they are advised that in order to pay their debts and the other debts due from said Stephen Kennard, it is necessary for the real estate to be sold, which said real estate consists of a house and lot of land in or near the village of Still Pond, K
