THE

THE COMING FENCE.

The wooden age is past,
The old rails are rotting fast,
To replace them with the same I know will never pay.
Barbed wire is also doomed,
Wire and picket has been boomed,
But the Coiled Spring Fence, it has surely come to stay.

Other fences there will be,
But no one can fail to see
That against THIS they stand no show to win the day.
They lack the essential thing,
The self-regulating spring,
Which defeats contraction and expansion in a scientific way.

You will hear their busy hum,
As the patent right men come
Offering "rights" at bankrupt prices as they "must be sold to-day."
They may be without guile,
But just greet them with a smile,
And "the man who takes no paper lices just across the way."

They will sell him AIR and SKY,
And the exclusive right to buy
Wire and tools to fence his farm, and, the labor "is but play."
They will furnish him a ratchet,
Or something else to match it,
To be loosened in October and tightened up in May.

The unsophisticated neighbor
Puts in days of arduous labor,
Which the guileless patent right men designated "play."
And his fence has cost him double,
If you count in all the trouble,
And is not safe without a man to watch it night and day.

You may thank your stars and Page,
That in this enlightened age,
You are not doomed to build your fences in the antiquated way.
And barbed wire's cruel action,
With expansion and contraction,
By the famous Coiled Spring fence is surely done away,

THE LIGHTENING AGE.

BY FRANK L. STANTON.

What's the world a-coming to, a feller'd like to know,
When they're makin ice to order an manufacturin snow?"
The cities—they're gone out o'sight; it 'pears jes' like a dream,
For when they have a cloudy night they run the stars by steam!
An here's the lightenin, with a song, proclaimin man is boss,
An all the street cars skimmin long without a mule or hoss!
An here's that ringin telephone, which never seems to tire,
But takes a man's voice, free of charge, across six miles o' wire;
An here's the blessed phonygraf, which makes your memory vain,
Ah, like a woman, when you talk, keeps talkin back again!
Lord! how the world is movin on beneath the sun an moon!
I can't help thinkin I was born a hundred years too soo;
But when I go—praise be to God!—it won't be in the night,
For my grave will shine like glory in a bright electric light!

TEN DAYS IN CHICAGO.

A Ramble Amid the Grandeurs of the World's Fair.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE TRANSCRIPT.—You asked me to write up my trip to the World's Fair, and as it is a new departure for me, I hardly know how to commence. However, in compliance with your request I will tell you what we saw at the exposition.

We never saw so much before and never expect to see so much again. The word of God says, "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard, nor hath it entered the heart of man to conceive the things which the Lord hath prepared for those who love him." I can use the same language in speaking of the World's Fair. In the first place the architectural design and beauty of the buildings surpass anything the world has ever known, the strength having been secured by wood and iron, and the exterior is of what is called staff, thirty thousand tons or two thousand carlords of this was used. Staff was invented in France in '76 and is composed of gypsum, alumina, hemp, glycerine and dextrine. These are mixed with water and cast in moulds with out heat into any desired shape, (I happened there a year ago and saw them at this work).

THE FIRST DAY.

The first building we took in was the Transportation, in this we were highly pleased in looking at every mode of traveling under the sun, Jin-riki-sha of India, bimba of Africa, Slama of Peru, Cargo de monte or sliding vehicles of Timshal, Madera Sicilian cart up to a modern vestibuled Pullman, this we were permitted to see in company with Harrison's party, (although I had rather been with Cleveland,) however, after H. had seperated from us, the English chief in charge of their exhibit proffered us a ticket to go through their English train, we being among the honored ones, in spite of the fact we heard many refused admittance. We concluded that he supposed we were of Harrison's party, when our running across them was merely accidental. The transportation exhibit is the largest single display on the grounds, and (aside from the fact it took fire while we were in it and hustled out so uncermoniously) I enjoyed it as much as anything I saw. "Each marking a stage in evolution or development, and the whole constituting a series of object lessons at once practical and educational."

The other buildings were taken in the following order, Mining, Electricity, Horticultural and Children's—a place where babies had been checked for twenty-five cents a day, and through large panes of glass you could see scores of infants and the attendants which are as amusing as anything I saw. Then the Woman's building, which is wonderful, next Government building, in which we saw fish from the eggs up to eating size, relics of the Greeley Expedition and the most amusing thing I saw while there was a Hoosier holding on to his boys afraid they would loose each other, they were grown but nothing made them let go hands.

The fourth day we took the whale back steamer Christopher Columbus, (the largest excursion steamer in the world) and went to the grounds on Lake Michigan, landing near; we concluded to take in the convent LaRabida, this contains relics of Columbus, sent over by Spain. We saw the original draft for 100 gold castellanos by Columbus to start on his expedition, saw his signature, all the books relating to America and the first map on which was shown. The medal given him for the discovery, the bolt to which he was chained in prison, the metal coffin in which he was first buried and the fac-smile of the one in which he was afterwards interred, and part of his ashes in a locket taken out and preserved at that time.

FIFTH DAY.

Manufactures and Liberal arts. This is the largest building the world has ever known it contains 40 acres, it took 20 carloads of nails to put the floor down and the ceiling is so high you could take the M. E. Church steeple of our town and put the M. P. steeple on top of it and move it through the centre of the building without touching. The most interesting to us in this building was ecclesiastical metal ware scene of Christ and His Desciples, Geo. Hulbes leather exhibit and the cutterly exhibit opposite. Exhibit number eighty-five, Austrian furniture. Doulton & Co., English exhibited of royal worcester ware a few large vases painted by the noted artist Mitchell, they priced them to me as follows, $500, $700, $1750, $5000 and $6,000 each. Then Tiffiny's display in which was the celebrated Hamlin's necklace.

SIXTH DAY.

Opening of the Bankers' Congress at Art Palace down in the city and while I attended this, Mrs. Hubbard took in the Art Gallery. At the Congress I made a good listener for parts of four days, and when the session was over would make immediately for the grounds. It was a rare treat to hear men of such prominence and ability. I had the honor to meet and listen to such men as Lyman J. Gage, C. C. Bonney, George R. Blanchard, and from these and others that were there I learned in their judgement the chief cause of hard times, and the defects in our monetary system was chiefly due to the Sherman Act, which was now the most serious cause of this disturbance and that its early and unconditional repeal would do much to restore confidence both at home and abroad, and a renewal of general prosperity, (and to quote) "The Sherman coin notes are payable either in silver or gold at the option of the secretary of the Treasury. The silver dollar has an intrinsic value of about two-thirds the value of the gold dollar. Yet each is an unlimited legal tender, and no law equalizes them by providing for their interconvertibility. If there were two distinct legal standard bushels or yards or pounds or gallons of different dimensions or quantities, can there be any doubt of the uncertainty and confusion, which would result, and the responsibility of conducting the commerce of the country?" I have wandered somewhat from my subject however, to return will say that the other days were devoted to visiting the Art Palace; in this building you will find the best paintings from all over the globe the most noted is called "Alone in the World." Then I remember the Forestry building with pleasure, with equally as much interest went through the Leather, Agricultural and Machinery buildings, near which are to be found the Cliff dwellers, Astec ruins, Chinese palace, British Columbia exhibit. My memory just here recalls a trip at this point among the State and foreign buildings. It is to be regreted, however, that the new states so far out rival our own, and it looks as though our $60,000 appropriation had not much to show for it. The scenes on Midway Plaisance are interesting, the Sedan and wheel chairs going in every direction and there are also here a multitude of 25c side shows hardly worth visiting. Every other evening there was an electrical display and fire works; to take a comfortable seat and listen to the open air concerts by the Marine Band, of Washington, Thomas' Band and the Sousa, Spanish Band, of Madrid, 52 members and generally conceded to be the finest band in the world, these playing alternately while the fountains were playing in front of the Administration building, in which were hundreds of electric light bulbs causing millions of diamonds from the spray, with the electric boats running to and fro the lagoons, together the Venician Gondolas propelled by their Italian oarsman, was a scene never to be forgotten. Such a scene was never before witnessed by human eye. In short a trip to the fair has been said to be worth five trips to Europe.

W. W. HUBBARD.

Dairy Items.

Strict cleanliness is one of the requisities for successful dairying.

The amount of fat which a cow gives is the test of her value in the dairy.

The neatness of the package has much to do with the selling price of butter.

Test the cows in the dairy herd. Some of them are not paying for their keep and should be disposed of.

The dairy cow will not give something for nothing; you must feed her well to get good returns in milk and butter.

If you have no separator, do not fail to provide for the rapid thorough cooling of milk by means of some deep setting system. Heavy losses are sure to come if this is not attended to.

It is said that the sugar contained in a hundred pounds of average milk would bring more money on the market than the butter it contains. As yet there has been no cheap method discovered of extracting it.

Summer Conplaint.

Last fall I was taken with a kind of summer complaint, accompanied with a wonderful diarrhoear Soon after my wife's sister, who lives with us, was taken in the same way. We used almost everything without benefit. Then I said, let us try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which we did, and that cured us right away. I think much of it, as it did for me what it was recommended to do. John Hertzler, Bethel, Berks Co., Pa. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by M. A. Toulson, Chestertown, Md.; J. P. Ireland, Galena, Md., Dr. N. Comegys, Millington, Md.

AT a fashionable dinner given not long ago, beside each woman's place was a Dresden china candle-stick and candle which was lighted when the guests sat down. The one whose candle lasted the longest was supposed to have manifold good luck in store.

It Saves the Children.

"My little boy was very bad off for two months with diarrhœa. We used various medicines, also called in two doctors, but nothing done him any good until we used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy, which gave immediate relief and soon cured him. I consider it the BEST medicine made and can conscientiously recommend it to all who need a diarrhœa or colic medicine. J. E. Hare, Trenton. Tex. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by M. A. Toulson, druggist, Chestertown, Md.; J. P. Ireland, Galena, Md.; Dr. N. Comegys, Millington, Md.

SMALL BOY (excitedly to Locksmith)—"You're to come round to Mrs. Flynn's right away. Johnny's shot himself, an' he's got de lockjaw an' dey can't do nothin' wid him."

A SOFT, fair skin is the result of pure blood and a healthy liver, to secure which, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the Superior Medicine. Ladies who rely upon cosmetics to beautify their complexions, should make a note of this, bearing in mind that they can't improve upon nature.

A SCOTTISH clergyman heard a contention in a house, and asked, "Who is the head here?" The man said, "Sit down a little; we're just trying to settle that point."

"IF your baby does not thrive on fresh milk, boil it." Oh, doctor, you are too severe. Why not spank it?

THE washerwoman, like the poet, spends a good deal of time over a line, and finds life full of hard rubs.

KIND LADY—"Why is it that boys like to stone cats?" Bad Boy—"'Cause cats can't stone back."

WHEN a doctor wishes a man well there is always some lingering doubt as to his sincerity.

THE will of Mark Davis, an Indianapolis Quaker, gave $62,000 to schools and charities.
