WHEREAS, at the January Session, 1892, of the General Assembly of Maryland, a bill was passed proposing an amendment to the Constitution, which amendment is Chapter 313 of the Acts of 1892, and is as follows, to wit:

CHAPTER 313.

AN ACT to add an additional section to Article four of the Constitution of this State.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, Three-fifths of all the members of the two houses concurring, that the following section be, and the same is hereby proposed, as an amendment to the Constitution of this State; and if adopted by the legal and qualified voters thereof, as herein provided, the same shall supercede and stand in the place of Section thirty-nine of Article four of said Constitution.

SEC. 39. The General Assembly shall, as often as it may think the same proper and expedient, provide by law for the election of an additional Judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore city, and whenever provision is so made by the General Assembly, there shall be elected by the voters of said city another Judge of the Supreme Bench of Baltimore city, who shall be subject to the same constitutional provisions, hold his office for the same term of years, receive the same compensation, and have the same powers as are, or shall be provided by the Constitution, or laws of this State, for the Judges of said Supreme Bench of Baltimore city, and the General Assembly may provide by laws, or the Supreme Bench by its rules, for requiring causes in any of the courts of Baltimore city to be tried before the Court without a jury, unless the litigants or some one of them shall within such reasonable time or times, as may be prescribed, elect to have their causes tried before a jury. And the General Assembly may reapportion, change or enlarge the jurisdiction of the several courts in said city.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, by the authority aforesaid, That the foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution shall be, at the next general election to be held in this State, submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection in pursuance of the direction contained in Article fourteen of the Constitution of this State; and at the said general election the vote on said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," or "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as the voter may elect, and immediately after said election due return shall be made to the Governor of the votes for and against said proposed amendment, as directed by said fourteenth Article of the Constitution.

TESTIMONIALS:

CHESTERTOWN, MD., July 12, 1893.
T. R. HUBBARD & SON—Gentlemen: The 22 tons of your A. A. bought of you last fall and used on my several farms has been eminently satisfactory. On one of my farms am sure there must be 30 bushels to the acre. This was used in connection with one of the highest goods on the market, and yours was the best, and on my Broad Neck farm my wheat was also fine, in fact, said to be the best corn ground wheat in the Neck. I expect to use more this fall.
W. J. VANNOUT.

MR. J. C. LOUD says he certainly likes the A. A., and threshed from it over 30 bushels to the acre this year.

MR. JOSEPH BASIN, of Lankford, says he never used a better goods than A. A., as he never fails on a crop of wheat with it. This year he had in only the creek field and lawn, and threshed one of the largest crops he ever raised.

MR. JAMES FRENCH made an actual test this year by threshing seperately the same number of sheaves grown by four different kinds of fertilizer, and says that Hubbard's A. A. was by far the best of all.

*We could give you scores of references, but haven't the space, but wanted to say in conclusion: Owing to the stringency in the money market, fertilizer materials have been low for cash, and as we have laid in one of the largest supplies of Animal Bone, Potash and other materials we have ever bought, which we bought for cash, we are prepared to offer you special inducements this time, and feel sure if you will see or correspond with us before buying, it will certainly be to your interest so to do. ## LAZARUS.

Great shadows stretched their giant arms across the roadside, and twilight lingered 'twixt the sunset and the night as He passed. The wayside violets bent their heads in reverence, and breathed their perfume on Him.

Then Martha came, and kneeling at His feet, moaned, "My Savior, Lord, had'st thou been here, my brother had not died."

Then Mary, following likewise, wept and wailed in anguish, until the mighty chords of sympathy were stirred, and love and pity swayed through all His being. Along His veins electric currents flashed, and over all His face a halo rested. Then as the listening crowd was spell-bound, and nature veiled the eager stars with silence—Divinity burst forth in one loud peal—"Arise Ye Dead." The heavy hinges of the tomb swung back—and Lazarus was free. Oh! stricken ones, ye needs must kneel at Jesus' feet to feel His power.

A SUMMER RAMBLE.

A Traveler's Visit to Kent—What he Says About Our County and Bayshore Resorts.

During a recent trip to the Western portion of Kent county, Maryland, the greatest pleasure experienced by the writer was the vast improvements every where seen, giving evidence of the prosperity and thrift of the country en route, the city of Baltimore and the portion of the highly favored Eastern Shore visited. Leaving Middletown at 9.05 A. M. we were rapidly taken to Baltimore with brief views of the improvements in the towns along the P. W. & B., railroad. Elkton gives indication of prosperity in the extension of the building area, and the recent erection of dwellings and industrial plants. Havre de Grace also seems to be awake, and the large brick building to be occupied by a shoe factory releases the beautiful old town from the saying that "Havre de Grace has two annual seasons of prosperity, viz: fish and ice, and occasionally the people prey on the gunners who are attracted by the unsurpassed "duck shooting on the Flats." Aberdeen now boasts of a splendid stock farm, and fresh coats of paint and modern cottages no longer associate the place with old Scotland and herring.

Baltimore is experiencing a "boom." Her outlying suburbs—recently uninviting brick yards—are now laid out in pretty boulevards and modern dwellings indicate a healthy growth. Arriving at the beautiful Union Station one is astonished to see that modern cable cars have supplanted the old horse cars, and being seated, in about ten minutes you land at Baltimore and Calvert streets. Alighting you instinctively look for "ye ancient hostelry," and so long the political Mecca of Maryland, known far and wide as Barnum's, but on its site stands a magnificent building towering nine stories high, and filled with offices of all kinds. Above its magnificent entrance we read "Equitable Building," and recall the imposing structure in New York City, erected and owned by the same company. On the topmost floor we are ushered into a splendid cafe, and from this height we have a grand panoramic view of the city, its industrial plants and its magnificent harbor and the Patapsco river. Looking beyond her post office building we notice a splendid elevated railway, and see the large and elegant coaches whirling along in mid-air by electricity. We are told that we can take those cars and soon be landed in Roland Park, a bower of beauty and a most popular resort for the Baltimoreans. This is an enterprise of Philadelphia capitalists who have found in Baltimore not only a hospitable welcome but a most profitable undertaking.

But our destination being Rock Hall we proceed along Light street to Pier 13, noticing the vast quantities of fruits and vegetables arriving at the intermediate docks, and steamers loading with every conceivable freight for all points, New York, Philadelphia, Norfolk, York and all of the rivers and tributaries of the magnificent Chesapeake Bay. Soon we are on the steamer Gratitude, and her name expresses our feelings as we see the heat-oppressed people crowding the steamer Louise to enjoy the sail across the bay to the well-known and deservedly popular resort at Tolchester, in Kent county, Maryland.

Soon we follow in the wake of the Louise, but part company with her at the mouth of the Patapsco and lay our course for the South point of the Swan Creek bar while she hauls N. E., rounding the celebrated North Point and standing across the bay to Tolchester, in full sight of Poole's Island.

Rounding the buoy we soon reach Rock Hall wharf, where a large number of the passengers are met by friends and wend their ways to the hospitable homes of old Kent. So with us, we too are greeted by Dr. A. P. Sharp and his son, and escorted to their beautiful summer home on the shores of the broad bay. The Doctor we find a very intelligent gentleman whose life, until recent years, has been actively spent in chemistry and medical preparations, his firm ranking with Powers and Weightman, of Philadelphia, in the preparation of pure chemicals. After an Eastern Shore supper (and that is the synonym for all the luxuries) we spent the balance of the day in a delightful ride through this beautiful country. It is level without ponds or lack of sufficient drainage, a good yellow clay subsoil, with a rich chocolate sandy loam, and shows most bountiful crops of wheat, corn, oats, vegetable, apples, apricots, plums, pears and peaches without a visible sign of disease. Steam threshers were seen everywhere, and every farmer is satisfied with the large yield of splendid wheat. Corn is of dark foliage in full silk; hay crops good, and a splendid promise of peaches and other fruits that remind us of the Delaware orchards of twenty years ago. The climate of Rock Hall is declared by eminent scientists to possess most wonderful powers in the prevention and relief of consumption, asthma and hay fever, and many attribute it to the presence of ozone in unusual proportions. It has been suggested by Dr. Sharp that the rivers of fresh water bring largely the ozone to this point, where it is liberated by meeting the salt water. Certainly the testimonials of physicians and those pronounced "incurables" who have been completely restored by this climate has encouraged some gentlemen to purchase and beautifully lay out a large tract of land on the bay, and they propose to erect and open a large, modern sanitarium and sell lots for residences to those who desire to avail themselves of this climate.

After a restful, quiet Sabbath spent with our kind host and his family, on Monday we continued our ride through the country, and calling upon one of the many neighbors, we were surprised to meet the cellebrated actors, W. J. Shewell and his wife, who have purchased a beautiful farm and spend their vacations by enjoying the entire healthful relaxation in the magnificent climate of that section. Their handsome parlor abounds with souvenirs of their histrionic life, and a pleasant hour was it to recall the "seasons" or "engagements" when they supported Forest, the Booths, Murdock, and were members of Drew's, the old Walnut, new Chestnut and other theatres. Mr. Shewell is now engaged in writing plays, his last being "The Shadows of Two Great Cities." With that kindness of heart characteristic of their profession, their house is a sanitarium, or retreat for members of their profession every summer, and their greatest gratification is in recounting the restoration to full health of those whom they have entreated to their hospitable home to recuperate and rest.

To visit Tolchester is another of the great pleasures of such a trip. The noble three-deck, iron steamer Louise, built by our Delaware ship building firm, the Harlan & Hollingsworth Co., of Wilmington, makes two daily trips to this elegant resort, which is the Cape May of Baltimoreans. The steamer leaves Pier 15, Light Street Wharf every morning and afternoon. After a delightful sail of two hours down the Patapsco passing the enormous evelators discharging and loading of cargoes from and into ships floating the national colors of every country (save the United States), for foreign ports, and the very many river steamers, yacht and sail vessels, passed Fort McHenry, memorable as the spot where Keys saw the star spangled banner and inspired our Natoinal song. Passing Fort Carrol and Sparrow's Point where immense steel works are becoming a rival to the Delaware in modern ship building, passed historic North Point out on the beautiful Chesapeake in full sight of Pool's Island, and rounding to, we land at Tolchester, which place for beauty (both natural and the result of excellent taste) for good order—absence of rum and its attendant abuses—for unsurpassed cuisine, pure water and every rational means of enjoyment, has certainly no equal on either the Delaware or Chesapeake waters. After a splendid supper we were invited to witness the dress parade of the Fourth Regiment, M. N. G., who were encamped at Camp Brown (in honor of Maryland's Governor), and a better drill by citizen soldiery could not be.

In conversation with leading business men rusticating at Tolchester for the day, we found an urgent desire for greater transportation facilities. The splendid crops of grain and fruit seek larger and better markets, and while there can be no reasonable complaint of the water service yet what is desired is the sure transportation afforded by railroad. Tolchester grounds have now ample accommodations to entertain thousands more than Baltimore, Washington and points accessible by boat can furnish, and would soon be a most popular resort for the citizens of Philadelphia, Chester, Wilmington and the Peninsula if facilities for reaching there by rapid transit were provided. That a large local freight traffic in Kent county would gladly seek Eastern Markets is assured, and the perishable produce of Anne Arundel county, opposite Rock Hall, would easily be attracted to a rail terminus at that point, where there is a most capacious safe harbor and anchorage protected from the bay by Swan Creek bar, and having bold salt water of ten and twelve feet at any tide. That such rich and profitable traffic to railroads operated by steam or electricity, should so long remain unknown to Eastern capitalists, is one of the many problems that perplexes your—TRAVELER, in Middletown New Era.

A Good Thing to Keep at Hand.

From the Troy, (Kansas,) Chief.

Some years ago we were very much subjected to severe spells of cholera morbus; and now when we feel any of the symptoms that usually preceed that ailment, such as sickness at the stomach, diarrhoea, etc., we become scarry. We have found Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy the very thing to straighten one out in such cases, and always keep it about. We are not writing this for a pay testimonial, but to let our readers know what is a good thing to keep handy in the house.

BORAX is a harmless and wonderously effective cleansing agent for white clothes, and is cheaper and in every way better than expending one's time and strength in rubbing. Dissolve it in scalding-hot water, one tablespoonful to each pailful of water, and pour it over the clothes instead of boiling them.

WILL you be true to me at the seashore, Maud?"

"Yes, Charlie, dear, I won't get engaged to any other man without letting you know.
