State Convention Primaries.

The Democratic voters of Kent county are invited to meet in the several election districts at the usual places of voting, on SATURDAY, Sept. 16, 1893, at 2 o'clock P. M., and select five delegates in each district to meet in Chestertown on the following TUESDAY, at 11 o'clock A.M., to elect delegates to the State convention which is called to meet in Baltimore on Wednesday, Sept. 27, 1893, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Comptroller of the State. By order,

H. W. VICKERS,
A. F. HUEY,
G. W. HATCHERSON,
State Central Committee for Kent Co.

LAST WEEK was the banner week at the World's Fair so far, the attendance reaching 1,119,789. The attendance during the entire month of May was but 1,050,037.

PRAYERS WERE OFFERED in every Episcopal church in Washington, on Sunday, for the recovery and health of Mrs. Cleveland and the recent little visitor to the White House, Miss Cleveland Jr.

REV QUINCY L. MORROW, formerly the M. P. Minister at Kennedyville, but now stationed at Snow Hill, has started the publication of a prohibition paper in that town, and proposes to make a vigorous campaign.

A COURT STREET WIT wants to know: "Is a United States bank note or regularly coined gold dollar, if offered to a voter on election day, a legal tender?" It is and it isn't. The man who gets it thinks that it is, the candidate who gets beaten by its operation thinks that it is not.

THE WIDE SPREAD impression that the remains of Guiteau, President Garfield's assassin, is on exhibition in a medical museum, has been put to rest by Deputy Warden Russ, of the District jail, who states that the remains were buried under the floor of the laundry-room of the jail.

BALTIMORE CITY POLITICS are becoming daily warmer and more interesting. The Hydra-headed Independent, constantly flaunts itself before the gaze of the State and municipal "bosses," and like Banquo's ghost, will not down at their bidding. The Maryland Independent is constructed somewhat on the nine-life order of the cat.

CHAS. W. CLEMENTS, of Crumpton, will accept thanks for a basket of fine peaches. We will remember him at the right time.—Balto. Argus.

And so Brother Clements is making love to the Argus man. Well, that is a good thing to do, Charley. Stand in with the press if you want success, as all old politicians will tell you, and you will get there, old fellow.—Centreville Observer.

A wink should be as good as a nod from the Observer. It knows whereof it speaks.

BY SPECIAL INVITATION a number of the Centreville bar dined with Hon. John M. Robinson at 3 P. M. on Friday. Several members of the bar were absent because of business engagements. The Record says: "The occasion was one of the most enjoyable affairs of any kind ever held in the county, and more numerously attended."

WHEAT LAST WEEK enjoyed a steady rising tendency, rising two cents a bushel in two days. On Tuesday the prices stood 65 and 67 cents for steamer and No. 2 red respectively. On Wednesday the figures rose to 66 and 68, and on Thursday went to 67 and 69. With enormous exports and a steady demand, it is hoped that the prospect for grain prices is brightening.

ONE OF THE EDITORS of the TRANSCRIPT was last week invited to a mushroom and beefsteak feast, but preferring to examine the questionable dainties, they were found to be frogstools, and the invitation was declined. Two persons were poisoned from eating toadstools in New York this week. There is no objection to mushrooms, but we have no hankering for toadstools.

A COMPROMISE of the silver fight now on in Congress is rumored. The people want no more compromises. Mr. Sherman's bill was a compromise and its lesson is sufficient. If any of the distinguished Senators are listening to the delusive buz of the presidential bee and are trying to carry water on both shoulders, let them desist. It is a trite but none the less true expression that "honesty is the best policy," and the people demand honesty of treatment from their representatives, and unless such treatment is accorded somebody's presidential bee may not reach the buzzing state, but "die a bornin."

THE REPUBLICAN State convention met in Baltimore on Wednesday of last week. Charles T. Westcott, Esq., was made chairman. By resolution passed, the authority to fill all vacancies on the ticket, whether caused by declination or death, was conferred upon a committee to be appointed by the chairman of the convention, composed of one member of the executive committee from each congressional district, with himself as chairman, and first district member with right to fill vacancies. Joshua Horner, Jr., a capitalist of Baltimore city, was nominated for the Comptrollership, but has since declined the nomination. In accord with the authority conferred by the resolution above referred to, Chairman Westcott will appoint the committee whose duty it shall be to fill the vacancy, but the personnel of that committee has not been decided upon and Mr. Westcott stated yesterday that it will not be named for some days, as there is no particular cause for haste. The Baltimore News states that Mr. Westcott himself may be induced to accept the nomination in order that his party's embarrassment may be relieved. This, however, is extremely doubtful.

PRESIDENT AND MRS. CLEVELAND are now rejoicing over the birth of another little Miss Cleveland at the White House. This latest arrival into the President's family is the first time within the history of the White House that the executive mansion at Washington has been honored by the birth of a child to a President. It is suggested that the little girl be named Francis after its beautiful and accomplished mother.

FARES TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

THE BALTIMORE Sun of Tuesday devoted a half column editorially to the communication which appeared in last week's TRANSCRIPT, appealing for reasonable reductions in fares on the railroad lines leading into Chicago during the World's Fair. The Sun added: "There can be little question that the railroads could have adopted a more liberal policy with advantage to the themselves, public and the exposition. The country has been practically at their mercy with regard to the fair and comparatively little mercy has been shown. The Sun pointed out several months ago the importance of a reduction in rates to Chicago and suggested that if the railroads would not make such reduction for the whole period of the exposition they should make special rates for State celebrations, extending, say, for ten days. Such a policy would have insured an immense concourse of people for Maryland Day, for instance, and would doubtless have encouraged similarly large attendance from other States. The fair is now drawing to a close, but it is not yet too late to give the country the benefit of cheap prices and good accommodations. Where several persons in one family are going to the exposition a small reduction in the item of traveling expenses will make considerable difference in the sum total of the outlay, and even in the case of a single traveler such reduction may be of very appreciable importance. It is to be hoped that the railroads may meet the general demand for lower rates by prompt and satisfactory concessions. They will make, not lose by it.

PEACH CALCULATIONS.

A Milford, Delaware, peach-grower figures as follows on the peach: "Forty per cent. of the peach crop goes to the railroad, thirty per cent. to the commission men for cartage, etc., and the balance, thirty per cent., the farmer gets to pay for baskets, picking and hauling. The farmers, we believe, will testify this is not far from right, and in many cases the farmer does not even get the thirty per cent. but the railroad and commission men do.

Some interesting estimates of the peach crop come from the Milford Chronicle. It is claimed that 4,000,000 baskets have been shipped by railroad; 1,500,000 have been shipped by water; 1,500,000 have been put in cans and 2,000,000 lost by the storms and the failure of the railroad companies to furnish cars in sufficient numbers to take them to market. This would make the total crop on the Peninsula 9,000,000 baskets. The highest estimate heretofore made has been 7,000,000 baskets.

The Philadelphia Times says that the Delaware peach for 1893 has done honor and credit to the orchard which gave it a home. Few like seasons grace the records, and some records of the past were truly marvelous for the luscious magnitude, if not for profit. The product of this year, which has been estimated at as high a figure as 5,000,000 baskets, only goes to show what the peach can do when let alone. Just how the extraordinary found an inning in the calculations of Nature is unknown, but the Delaware peach-grower does not stop to inquire in these busy days of pickers and baskets. He has the harvest and the peach in greater style than almost ever before.

MARYLAND DAY AT THE FAIR.

Impressive Exercises In Honor of "Maryland, My Maryland."

One of the features of the Chicago World's Fair has been the celebration by the various States of special days set apart for that purpose as State days. Maryland's turn has come at last. The Governor and his staff, Mayor Latrobe, Cardinal Gibbons, prominent business men and a large number of Marylanders of all classes were present. Governors of the various states and many distinguished persons were also present.

The committee had printed for distribution on Tuesday to everybody who took part in the celebration a very unique programme. It consisted of a four-page folder of white paper, with an exact reproduction in colors of the original star-spangled banner which floated over Fort McHenry on the memorable morning when Francis Scott Key penned the lines "In the dawn's early light," that since have become the national anthem. The flag then contained only 15 stars, two States having been added to the original 13. During the battle that night one of the stars was shot through, and the flag, now said to be in possession of Francis P. Stevens, has only 14 stars in it. In this shape it was reproduced with a little white spot to indicate where the star was shot out by the enemy's bullets. The color of the blue and red in the flag are rather faint now, and the tints of the reproduction on paper were excellent. Underneath the flag were the words of the song, which the audience sang.

The other side of the programme gave the exercises as follows:

Ceremonies at Music Hall—3.30 P. M.

Prayer—His Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore.

Music.

Introduction—His Excellency Frank Brown, Governor of Maryland.

Recitation—Miss Martha Ford, "The Star-Spangled Banner," and a specially written poem.

Music.

Oration—Hon. John V. L. Findlay, of Maryland.

Music.

Song—"Star-Spangled Banner."

Benediction—His Eminence James Cardinal Gibbons.

The programme also included cuts of the Maryland Building as decorated for the day, and the Board of World's Fair Managers.

At 6 o'clock Governor Brown held a reception at the Maryland Building assisted by his full staff and prominent citizens. The Iowa State Band furnished concert music, and refreshments were served, after which there was a magnificent display of fireworks, which included the reproduction of the bombardment of Fort McHenry and the birth of the starry emblem.

THE COUNTRY AT LARGE.

Several residences in Annapolis have been robbed during the absence of their occupants during the summer.

Wilmington, Delaware, has an epidemic of rabid dogs.

Delaware oyster beds, known as the Maurice river oyster beds were damaged to the extent of $2,000,000 by being covered up by sand during the recent storms.

The centennial of the laying of the corner-stone of the National Capitol, will be appropriately celebrated at Washington on September 16, 17 and 18.

A Japanese prince, Komatsu, grand nephew of the Mikado of Japan, visited Annapolis on Monday, and 21 guns were fired in his honor from the Naval Academy.

PROPOSED RAILROAD EXTENSION.

So far as the general public can see, the proposed peninsula railroad connecting the Baltimore & Ohio railroad directly with Elkton, Chestertown, Easton and other points down the peninsula, is quietly resting. We are informed, however, that the proposed extension is being practically considered by a number of business men in the respective counties through which it will pass, as well as by railroad men, who will just so soon as the new branch can be shown to be a profitable investment either as a feeder to the main line or independently, take hold of the proposition and push it to completion. Kent, Cecil, Talbot, Queen Anne's and Caroline counties are awake to the demands of the occasion and the press are keeping the subject agitated, and will continue to do so. The section through which the road will pass, as now mapped out, is one of the finest agricultural belts of the State, besides the new road would draw large freights possibly from the water-front, giving as it will greatly increased facilities and more direct communication with desirable markets. Baltimore is more directly interested in this move than possibly appears upon its face, but it is certain that Philadelphia and northern markets are bidding strongly for the trade of the Maryland peninsula, and so far with marked success. Philadelphia has already become more intimately connected with some sections of Maryland as a market for their grain, fruits and vegetables, as well as other products, than Baltimore, and the latter city can poorly afford to let this productive section thus easily pass from her grasp.

The Baltimore Sun in referring to the proposed extension says: "The Eastern Shore newspapers are urging upon the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company the construction of a branch from Elkton down the Peninsula. Such a line, says the Denton Journal, was chartered some time ago, and it would pass through a country, continues that paper, which sadly needs increased facilities for transportation. The Centreville Observer does not doubt that every county through which the road would pass would be willing to make subscriptions to the capital stock. There is a disposition on the Eastern Shore to engage in the cultivation of such fruit and vegetables as require quick and abundant transportation facilities. At this time all the roads on the Peninsula, with the exception of one or two, seem to have Philadelphia for their final terminus. A road such as is urged, connecting more directly with Baltimore, which is the greatest fruit market, would give the producers along its line a choice of markets which would probably be of great advantage."

It is certain that at the next session of the Legislature, this needed improvement will crystalize into definite and tangible form.

THE DEADLOCKED CONVENTION.

The First Judicial District Convention a Record Breaker—4400 Ineffective Ballots Taken.

The Democratic Convention of the First judicial circuit, comprising four delegates from each of the counties of Worcester, Somerset, Wicomico, and Dorchester, was called to order on Tuesday in the dancing pavilion of the Atlantic Hotel, by Lloyd L. Wilkinson, a member of the central committee from Worcester. Ex-Governor Jackson was made temporary chairman and W. S. McMaster and Thomas H. Spence temporary secretaries. A committee on credentials and permanent organization, of which Col. John Walter Smith was chairman, reported, recommending that the temporary be made the permanent officers. At 12.45 the convention took a recess until 2.30 P. M., when it reassembled for business.

The nominations for chief judge were first made by Eph. G. Polk, editor of the Princess Anne Marylander, placing the name of Judge Henry Page before the convention, and Oscar M. Purnell, editor of the Snow Hill Messenger, performing a like duty for Judge Charles F. Holland, W. D. Travers, of Dorchester, seconded the nomination of Page, while Senator Toadvin seconded that of Judge Holland.

W. Laird Henry, editor of the Cambridge Chronicle, nominated Ex-Governor Lloyd for associate judge.

Col. John Walter Smith then mounted the platform and in an eloquent speech placed the name of Clayton J. Purnell, of Worcester county, before the convention as a candidate for associate judge. Colonel Smith claimed as one of the reasons why Worcester county should have the place that that county and Wicomico were the counties from which the Democratic majorities were expected.

Henry Page, Jr., seconded the nomination of Ex-Governor Lloyd and James T. Truitt and E. Stanley Toadvin that of Mr. Purnell.

The convention then proceeded to ballot and after taking 59 ballots for chief judge all of which stood 8 to 8 with monotonous regularity, it was determined to try to nominate a candidate for associate judge, and after 60 fruitless ballots, all of which stood 8 to 8, another recess was taken. The delegates from Wicomico and Worcester counties voted solidly for Holland for chief judge and Purnell for associate, while the Somerset and Dorchester people clang together for Page and Lloyd.

After nearly a week of tedious voting, forty-four hundred ballots having been taken with the dead-lock result of eight to eight, the convention adjourned on Tuesday to reassemble on September 21.

PUBLIC SALE

—OF—

Valuabl Peroperty

BY VIRTUE of authority conferred by the will of Richard T. Turner, I will offer for sale in front of the Court House Door, at Chestertown, Maryland, on Tuesday, Sept. 19, 1893,

AT ONE O'CLOCK P. M., THE

Mill & Wharf Property

situated in Chestertown, Kent county, Maryland, and known as

"Scott's Point."

This property consists of

4 ACRES of LAND,

on Chester river, at the county town, with about 300 feet of WATER FRONT, improved by a

Wharf, Saw Mill & Planing Mill

The wharf can be used by either vessel or steamers plying the river, and also for the storage of lumber, coal and other traffic, and is connected with the mill by car tracks laid with iron rails. This track continues on through the mill and back the entire length of the lumber yard. On the wharf are TWO STORAGE BUILDINGS. Also, another building used in part as office, balance as paint room and storage room. The MILL is a FRAME BUILDING with Iron Roof, and contains

1 FORTY-HORSE ENGINE & BOILER,
1 CIRCULAR SAW MILL,
1 CROSS-CUT SAW, LATHE MACHINE
FLOORING and SURFACING "
MOULDING MACHINE,
SASH and DOOR MACHINE,
BELTING, ETC., ETC.

Chestertown has a population of about 2600. The town is growing, making a constant demand for lumber. The country around is productive, and the farms are being improved by new buildings. Chestertown is the centre of trade for the county; has rail communication with the upper half of the county and Philadelphia; water communication daily by steamer with Baltimore and the lower half of the county, and by sail vessel with all prominent points of the county not touched by rail or steamer. There are only four or five other lumber yards in the county, hence this property is very desirable as an investment.

TERMS OF SALE:—One-half cash on day of sale and the balance in one year, with interest from day of sale. These terms may be modified to suit purchaser.
