DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For the Unexpired Term in the Fifty-Third Congress,

W. LAIRD HENRY,

OF DORCHESTER COUNTY.

For Representative in the Fifty-Fourth Congress,

JOSHUA W. MILES,

OF SOMERSET COUNTY.

THE congressional election will be held throughout the State on Tuesday, November sixth.

IT IS reported that Mr. A. I Dugan has received a desirable appointment in the Baltimore Custom House.

EX STATE TREASURER STEVENSON ARCHER, is still at the Baltimore City Hospital, but is improving slowly.

THE transportation of the Coxeyites out of the State cost the State treasury about five hundred dollars, while the board of the men at the House of Correction was over one hundred and fifty dollars.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CAMPAIGN in the First district was opened by Messrs. Miles and Henry at Crisfield, on Thursday last. Both gentlemen came out fairly and squarely on a Cleveland and Reform platform, and were esthusiastically received.

HERE IS WHAT Boston's Young Democracy have to say on matters political:

Resolved, That the Young Men's Democratic Club of Massachusetts denies the right of Senators Gorman, Brice, Smith and Murphy to represent the Democratic party, and demand their removal from positions of trust and honor within our party as being grossly faithless to party pledges.

LIVER PAD SWINDLERS have been successfully operating down the Peninsula and such a bird may be hovering around Chestertown. Our people should be careful. Salisbury citizens lost a handsome sum to the oily-tongued fakir. We warn the people of the town and county to be on their guard.

SO FAR, no further developments relative to the recent visit of New York and Philadelphia railroad magnates have taken place. A prominent Queen Anne's gentleman said several days ago, referring to the Queen Anne's road, that he felt confident that it will be built within a reasonably short time.

BY A DECISIVE VICTORY of the Chinese troops at Ping Yang, Northern Corea, the Chinese have lost sixteen thousand men in killed, wounded and prisoners. The Chinese general was among the captured. The battle lasted three days. Japanese women of rank have asked to be allowed to arm and participate in the battles of the future.

NEW YORK REPUBLICANS, on Tuesday nominated ex-Vice President Levi P. Morton, on the first ballot, as their candidate for the governorship. Congressman Lemuel E. Quigg, remembered by many Chestertonians as a resident of this town during his youth, was temporary chairman of the convention. Governor Flower has declined the Democratic nomination for the governorship.

CAROLINE COUNTY, whose financial condition several years ago stood second to no county in the State of Maryland, at present makes a deplorable showing along financial lines. Such a state of affairs existed that it was found necessary to appoint a committee of investigation, and now the accounts of the taeasurer are reported to have been so curiously kept that it is impossible for the committee to determine the true state of the situation. With the treasurer system, which Caroline several years ago adopted, it is difficult to see how the present trouble has arisen.

WOULD LIKE-TO-BE-GOVERNOR JOHN WALTER SMITH, it is fair to infer, will soon start out on his missionary tour of county fairs and other public gatherings feeling the pulse of the people relative to Gubernatorial politics. Mr. Smith's conspicuous log-rolling performance at the Ocean City convention will probably prove more of a stumbling block to his political aspirations than he at first anticipated, when he comes before the people. Col. Smith, you stood as the animated figure-head of a departed prestige; of an idol whose glory is rapidly departing and whose colossal greatness is departing with the sun which has shone upon so many successes. You represented Mr. Gorman and his resolutions, now can they animate your political aspirations into real life?

IT IS A MATTER of no little regret that the Democracy of Maryland is to lose the splendid services of Hon. Isador Raynor in the lower House of Congress. With scarcely a peer on the floor of the Lower House as an eloquent speaker and forcible debater, Mr. Raynor has been the uncompromising champion of the best interests of his constituents and an abiding and fearless friend of the administration. If elected Governor his field of usefulness will still be large, but with the United States Senate dwarfed into the contemptible littleness of a half dozen tricksters and traitors flaunting their abominable successes in the face of an outraged people, the retirement of Mr. Raynor is a national, not a State calamity.

THE STARTLING ANNOUNCEMENT is made that twenty-five men, all provided with government licenses, are daily and almost hourly violating the local option laws of Kent county. A sad commentary this, and one which the citizens should at once vigorously set themselves at work to correct. If the law is a bad one, repeal it; but since it is law, in the name of decency, in behalf of the honor and reputation of the county, as an example to the rising generation of men who are to control the fortunes and shape the destinies of this, the fairest of Maryland's counties, let this ulcer of lawlessness be removed. Let it not be said that Kent county is fostering and rearing her young manhood and fair young womanhood in an atmosphere tainted with an utter disregard of laws passed by its citizens. See to it that until the law is repealed not a single dispenser of illicit liquors is left within the borders of Kent. The possession of a government license to dispense fermented liquors in violation of focal laws should be prima facie evidence of guilt and sufficient ground for legal action against the offender.

CONGRESSMAN W. C. P. BRECKINRIDGE was defeated in his congressional district at the primaries on Saturday last by W. C. Owens, Owens' plurality being somewhat over 500. Possibly never within the history of the country has a more memorable battle been fought or won. The old man eloquent is crushed beneath the accumulated prayers of the outraged womanhood of his own State, and to woman more than to any other power is due his overwhelming defeat. Women may not vote, but the earnest prayers and fervent appeals of true womanhood is more than a match for the combined votes of misguided and misguiding men armed with the right of suffrage. For ten years he in secret courted the downfall which was visited upon him in public on Saturday last.

THE KENT COUNTY SLATE.

There is a strong conviction in the minds of many persons in Kent that the recent article on Kent politics, published in the News and copied from the Baltimore Herald, in which certain gentlemen are charged with having fixed up a slate for the Legislature and county offices for next year, was inspired by the would-be bosses in Chestertown for the purpose of prejudicing the position of the gentlemen named with their fellow-Democrats, while they themselves, the disciples of political legerdermain, are secretly at work to bring forward a ticket to serve the ambition and selfish interests of themselves.

The TRANSCRIPT reporter saw several of the gentlemen mentioned by the News, and heard from others referred to.

Mr. Vickers, when interviewed, said that so far as the article refers to himself it is pure fiction. He is not a candidate for the House of Delegates and is not looking out for the Speakership of the House. And more than that, he has not conferred with any of the gentlemen mentioned. Mr. Vickers expressed himself as strongly of the opinion that the next local ticket in Kent would be made by the people in their own interest and for their express benefit. He thinks the Democratic farmers of the county will come to the front with more pronounced views than they have ever done in the past, and next year promises, he thinks, to be a bad year for any man or favored set of men who undertake to boss the job.

The people will make the ticket to suit themselves, and will see that the legislative ticket particularly is in accord and harmonizes with the overwhelming Cleveland sentiment of the county. And that the ticket will be made as well with the view of redressing the needs of the farmers and other tax-payers by lopping off extravagancies and the reduction of the burden of taxation to the lowest minimum.

Friends of Mr. Hepbron, who was also mentioned, say that he is not a candidate again for the Senate. That he has filled that position three times, and is willing to rest upon his honors.

Other gentlemen mentioned in the News as candidates were wholly ignorant of the matter until the publication of their names appeared in the News.

The impression is strong that some folks have gone around Robin Hood's Barn to put out a slate as a blind to the public, while they themselves are working in secret.

MR. RAYNOR'S CANDIDACY.

Hon. Isador Raynor, in a column card in the Baltimore papers of Tuesday, set forth the considerations which prompted his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination. He said:

"I believe that I can assert with becoming modesty that the record that I have made upon public questions has been acceptable to those for whom it has been made, and I can further add that the principles of Democracy of which President Cleveland is the greatest and most fearless exponent, and to which his friends in the House have given their unswerving adherence, are the principles that are firmly imbedded in the bosom of those who have honored me with their suffrages and support.

"It is unnecessary for me to say, I hope and trust, that I am not the candidate of any individual or faction within the party, and that I would far rather retire to the walks of private life quietly and cheerfully than occupy such a position. It is to the people alone that I must appeal, and to them alone that I can look with any hope or expectation of success. If I deceive them in this regard, if I am in the field to further the interest of any individual, whoever he may be, I am utterly unfit to occupy this place, and my whole candidacy becomes a sham and a fraud upon the people of this State. This determination of mine to become a candidate was reached at a time when I had no idea or intimation that the present Governor would seek a renomination; in fact, I was informed upon the best authority that he would not place himself before the people again as a candidate, and I believed in this statement, knowing that it was contrary to all precedent in this State to grant a Governor a term of eight years, no matter how efficient his services may have been. The most illustrious men who have ever held this office with us have never claimed a re-election as a reward for a faithful performance of public duties, and I had no information of any sort at the time when I had positively made up my mind to enter the list that the Governor would again announce his candidacy for renomination. He must not think, therefore, that I am his antagonist in any greater degree than I am the antagonist of any of the other candidates."

MR. PALMER KEATING SNUBBED BY SENATOR GIBSON.

Last week Mr. B. Palmer Keating, of Centreville, was snubbed at Ocean City by Senator Charles H. Gibson. It seems that Mr. Keating was sitting in the porch of the Atlantic hotel which fronts the ocean. Senator Gibson was joined on the board walk by some friends whom he invited to accompany him in a stroll down the walk. One of the party said: "Mr. Keating is sitting on the Atlantic porch suppose I invite him to join us." To which the Senator replied: "Mr. Keating defeated me in my efforts to have my brother-in-law appointed postmaster at Centreville, his presence would not be agreeable to me." This was a surprise to those who heard the remark. Mr. Hardcastle, of Talbot county, who was astounded at the remark, sought Mr. Keating and asked him what was the matter between himself and Senator Gibson. Mr. Keating replied "Nothing that I know of." Then Mr. Hardcastle detailed what had occurred. In a few minutes the Senator and his friends came to the hotel porch where Mr. Keating was sitting, and approaching Mr. Keating in a suave manner the Senator inquired, "Why did you not join us?" to which Mr. Keating replied "I don't suppose you wanted me, as Mr. Hardcastle says you announced to your friends that my presence would not be agreeable to you." The Senator flushed and replied, "Well, I didn't intend that Hardcastle should tell you, but it is so." Mr. Keating was of course indignant and retorted, "Well sir, I have no apologies to make to you for anything I have said or done." With that the two gentlemen separated. It is quite apparent that the Senator is not in a kindly mood with those who opposed his efforts to have the post-office here filled by his brother-in-law, Mr. John R. Emory. As may be supposed, Mr. Keating's friends are provoked at the conduct of the junior Senator.—Centreville Record.

TEACHERS IN SESSION.

The first quarterly meeting of the teachers of Kent county was held at the public school room, Chestertown, on Saturday last. The attendance was unusually small, but thirty-nine of the more than sixty teachers of the county being present. Prof. E. B. Prettyman, of the State Normal School, was expected to be present, but was unavoidably absent. Eben F. Perkins, president of the Teachers' Association, took occasion to compliment those of the teachers who were present and to express his regrets that so many of the teachers had remained away from the meeting, stating that had Mr. Prettyman been present it would have been cause for embarrassment rather than pride that the attendance was so small.

The literary committee reported the following questions, which were adopted for discussion at the next meeting: 1st, How can we most successfully teach our history of Maryland? 2d, How far does the teacher's discipline affect the child's life out of school?

The following literary committee was appointed by the chair for the ensuing year: Messrs. I. R. Starkey, Thomas B. Long, S. W. Wallis and Miss Laura R. A. Thomas and Miss Caroline I. Smyth.

Under the head of unfinished business, the questions: What basis have you adopted and what aids to determine promotions for the school year? was discussed with more than usual interest and great freedom of expression, all agreeing that as a basis, a thorough knowledge of the pupil and what he knows and what he can do. Some believe in the French method as an aid to determine fitness, while many believed in the regular semi-annual examinations and others believed in frequent reviews. Then came the first regular question for discussion: How can we best inculcate a high sense of honor in our pupils? Bearing upon this question Mr. Topping made a ringing speech, declaring this to be a matter of profound importance. He said that a careful review of the political, social and moral life of Kent county will clearly show that the county is not getting value received for the thirty thousand dollars which are annually expended to uplift the young intellectually and morally. Teach the young that a high standard of honor is of first importance and desirable progress must of necessity follow.

Mr. I. R. Starkey took strong ground, contending that no opportunity should be allowed to pass to impress upon pupils the great importance of a high sense of honor. Set lectures would not meet the requirements of the case, but as opportunity offered the work should go on from the lowest to the highest classes.

Next was discussed: How can we best teach the diacritical marks? This was conceded to be of great importance, and it was held that the importance of a thorough understanding of the marks should be taught as occasion offered from the first grade up.

Miss Carrie Meredith read a carefully prepared, finely worded and interesting essay, subject: "The Value of Time."

The question: "What suggestions have you for the school year?" was carried over as unfinished business to the next meeting.

(COMMUNICATED.)

THE TOLCHESTER QUESTION.

What would Jesus do? Entering the chamber of a young Christian, my eye was attracted to the above motto upon the wall. The question was so pertinent, and went so directly to my heart, that it has followed me ever since. In the every-day avocations of life, I find myself confronted by it. I do not presume I am different from the rest of my kind, or that I am following the Master more closely than do others that walk with me along the varied pathway of life. It goes without saying that every Christian is not only willing but desirous of putting this question to his heart in all matters secular and religious. But do we do it? I was present at a Christian Endeavor meeting a short while ago, where the subject of Sabbath observance versus Sabbath desecration came before it. Much discussion was indulged in, and strong resolutions drawn up condemnatory of Kent's famous summer resort—Tolchester. I was forcibly reminded of the "resolutions gotten up by old maids and women seeking notoriety by holding conventions?" All agreed it was a blot upon the fair fame of our county, a snare to the feet of our youth, and a festering sore upon our body politic, and that all forms of Sabbath breaking was indulged in by frequenters of the place on the Lord's day. I heard this incident privately related. A few Sabbaths ago the authorities of the place arrested a man for selling liquor without license. (?) Not the least abashed or put out by it, the man told them to "go ahead." He did not deny the charge brought, but said, "If you arrest me, I'll have every man now at work upon the grounds arrested for working on Sunday." And taking paper and pencil he walked over the grounds taking the name of every one so employed. It is needless to tell you he was not further interfered with. We are aware that those about to make the arrest were not doing so from a moral standpoint. But what of the Christian community throughout the county, and especially within ten miles of Tolchester, where its Sabbath-breaking influences are most felt? Do they ever ask themselves "What would Jesus do" if He were here? Would He be as indifferent as we are to this evil in our midst?

I have been told that some of our professing Christians "drive down to Tolchester" on Sabbath afternoons. It may be true. I hope it is not. Satan loves to have the rest of the world think he is on handshaking terms with God's people.

At the Christian Endeavor meeting referred to a committee of leading ministers in the county were appointed with a view to closing this place on the Sabbath day. It cannot be a difficult thing to do as the law is on their side as well as public sentiment, if they but ask themselves "What would Jesus do? and be guided by the answer which will surely be given of the Holy Spirit. Our county will then have taken a step toward the millennium, and it will be easier to break up some of the lesser forms of Sabbath breaking to which their attention may be called. I would like to call your attention to a few passages of Scripture bearing upon this subject: "Ye shall keep the Sabbath therefore, for it is holy unto you, every one that defileth it shall surely be put to death; for whosoever doeth any work therein, that soul shall be cut off from among his people. Ex. 31-14." "Six days may work be done, but in the seventh is the Sabbath of rest, holy to the Lord." Ex. 31-15. "What evil thing is this that ye do and profane the Sabbath day?" Neh. 13-17. "Blessed is the man that keepeth the Sabbath from polluting it, and keepeth his hand from doing evil." Is. 56-2. "If thou turn away thy foot from the Sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on My holy day, and call the Sabbath a delight, the holy of the Lord, honorable; and shalt honor Him, not doing thine own ways nor speaking thine own words; then I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, for the mouth of the Lord has spoken it.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury,

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces, such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucus surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
