DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For the Unexpired Term in the Fifty-Third Congress,

W. LAIRD HENRY.

OF DORCHESTER COUNTY.

For Representative in the Fifty-Fourth Congress,

JOSHUA W. MILES.

OF SOMERSET COUNTY.

IT IS STATED upon authority, that the election expenses of Hon. G. L. Wellington Republican Congressional candidate in the Sixth district, are being paid by one or two large corporations whose interests lie with the Republican party—at least in the Sixth district. All he is required to do is to fight free coal and show the Democrats what a dangerous thing free coal is (to Monopoly) to deal with.

KENT COUNTY PROHIBITIONISTS are actively preparing for a vigorous campaign, and every section of the county will be canvassed, and meetings held at Millington, Galena, Kennedyville, Still Pond and Rock Hall. Republicans too are making an active but quiet fight, the Democrats alone, to all appearances, being comparatively inactive. Action, vigorous, continued action is necessary if Kent's Democracy desires to hold her old-time position of supremacy.

THE DEMOCRACY OF KENT was surely well pleased with the sound, unequivocating utterances of Messrs. Miles and Henry on Thursday last. Their political creed is of the Grover Cleveland and William L. Wilson sort, and surely none, even the most exacting, could ask for anything better. The gentlemen are worthy standard bearers of their party, fully alive to the great demands of their district and the country at large, and each Democrat of the county should feel it his duty to vote and work for their election.

A PARTY of masked men took Stephen Williams, a negro brute, from the Marlboro' jail on Saturday morning and hung him to an iron bridge leading into the town. Williams' crime was premeditated, and was unusually atrocious and brutal. It included the dragging of a sick woman over a wire fence until she was cut and bleeding after a terrible struggle, in which a dog fought faithfully against the attack of the inhuman brute. The crime was committed within a quarter of a mile of where a negro named Allen was hanged for a similar crime only five months ago.

THERE IS A TOWN ORDINANCE requiring that all gates of yards along streets shall open on the inside and not across the pavements. This requirement has been disregarded in several instances, notably along Maple avenue and Queen street, and on several recent occasions painful results have been experienced by citizens using the sidewalks at night. It is a most reasonable demand that the safety of limb and convenience of citizens should not be endangered by gates swinging across the pavements, and we are sure that it will only be necessary to thus call the attention of property owners to the matter to have the law complied with.

IT IS BEING POINTED OUT by Republican orators and the Republican press, that at no period did the workingmen have so much money to spend as during the McKinley times. The Hagerstown Mail very pertinently asks: "What were all the strikes about? What was the matter at Homestead, at Pullman, at Chicago, in the coal mines all over the land, at the Lowell and Fall River textile mill, at the Pattison silk mills? All these industries were protected by McKinley, and all paying big dividends to their owners. But soldiers had to be ordered out against the working men. Our Monopoly friends must consider the working people most unreasonable to quit work and disturb the country while enjoying such excellent wages and rolling in wealth." Now let Messrs. Mallalieu and Dryden declare themselves. Are they in favor of McKinleyism? Messrs. Miles and Henry are not.

NEW YORK is again the great political storm centre of the country. As goes New York so goes the Presidential election has become almost an accepted political truism, and for this reason the result of the present campaign is of more than ordinary interest to both of the great parties. This is the skirmish preparatory to the great Presidential battle of 1896, and whatever personal preferences may be, the great Democratic heart is anxious that David Bennett Hill should win his fight. New York gave the election to Polk and the Democrats in 1840, in 1844 she made Taylor the Whig President, in 1880 she placed Garfield in the Presidential chair, in 1884 she sent Cleveland to the White House, in 1888 she smiled upon the fortunes of the Republicans and Harrison became President, and in 1892, though not needed, she fell into the victorious column for Grover Cleveland. How will she stand in 1896?

DR. S. R. MURRAY preached a strong sermon on Sunday evening, in which he gave utterance to many unwholesome truths relative to the flagrant and persistent violations of the local option law in Kent county. As emphasizing the sermon of Dr. Murray, His Honor Judge Wickes this week delivered a stinging rebuke to the spirit of lawlessness which so largely prevails. Some have seen proper to criticise the utterances of Dr. Murray, but the saddest commentary of all is that not a single statement was uncalled for nor was there in any case an exaggeration of fact. The quickest and only way to rid ourselves and the county of the stigma of lawlessness and an utter disregard for healthy and permanent public institutions, is to place the seal of an eternal condemnation upon lawless men and their acts, and bring each and every violator of law to speedy and merited justice. Then, and not till then, can we hope to have the sanction of the pulpit and all Christian men upon our acts, and not until then will the law abiding citizens of the county be justified in criticising the condemnatory utterances of those who have the moral welfare of the county and State most at heart.

DEMOCRACY'S RALLY.

Miles and Henry Fairly and Squarely on the Grover Cleveland Platform.

"NO MAN'S MAN."

Whatever of lukewarmness, whatever of doubt or whatever of criticism the Kent county Democracy may have felt in regard to the present campaign and the Congressional standard-bearers chosen by the Ocean City convention, all such feelings were dispelled by Messrs. Miles and Henry at the Chestertown meeting on Thursday last. The political gospel of both the candidates went straight to the great Democratic heart of the county, and candor forces the statement that the great issues nearest and dearest to that greatest American—Grover Cleveland—and his friends may with absolute safety be entrusted to the sturdy young Congressional candidates in the First district.

Representative Democrats from every district and every section were present, and because of frequent insinuations and open charges that all was not "straight" at the Ocean City convention, awaited with a peculiar interest to learn the position of the Congressional candidates.

Harrison W. Vickers, Esq., chairman of the County Central Committee, made a short but pointed and eloquent reference to the great Democratic issues involved in the present campaign, and urged every Democrat to be at his post on November sixth, and thereby insure a glorious triumph for Democracy and its standard-bearers, Miles and Henry.

The following officers were unanimously elected:

PRESIDENT—CORNELIUS J. SCOTT.

VICE-PRESIDENTS—FIRST DISTRICT.

Stephen Boyer, Jas. F. M. Woodall,
J. Thomas Pennington, James R. Jones,
Dennis J. McCauley.

SECOND DISTRICT.

James W. Hurtt, Tilghman Shafer,
Alday Clements, Eugene M. Bonwill,
Edward W. Hepbron.

THIRD DISTRICT.

Richard C. Smyth, James Lewis,
Thomas J. Willis, Howard Turner,
Edward J. Crew.

FOURTH DISTRICT.

H. H. Barroll, Wm. T. Anderson,
Victor Hendrickson, Solomon Startt,
George H. Watts.

FIFTH DISTRICT.

William E. Keyser, James Harper Gale,
Wm. Tylden Brice, Capt. James B. Willson,
William Crouch.

SECRETARIES.

Stonewall J. Johnson, James G. Beck,
John C. Sutton, John H. Aldridge,
Jefferson D. Ayres.

President Scott, one of the heroes of the minority resolution fight at Ocean City, in taking the chair, made a short but appropriate speech.

MR. HENRY'S SPEECH.

Mr. Henry's speech was earnest in delivery, sound in Democratic doctrine, and was most favorably received. He stuck closely to the Democratic text and struck from the shoulder for tariff reform in all of its varying phases. For many months, he said, the eyes of the nation were concentrated upon the conflict going on in the American Congress. While that struggle was pending I earnestly hoped that the Wilson bill, substantially as it passed the House of Representatives, or at least with the recommendations contained in the famous and historic letter of President Cleveland to Chairman Wilson, would be enacted into law. I sincerely depreciate the failure of that measure, believing that it contained provisions which would have brought more radical relief to the people, and which were more in harmony with platform pledges and with public expectations and demands.

MILES THE ELOQUENT.

Mr. Miles was at his best, and his speech was declared by Mr. Henry, who has been with him throughout the campaign, as the best which he had made. Cleveland Democracy was expounded with a vigor and directness which captivated his auditors and made him master of the situation. Tariff reform in its entirety was endorsed in the most solemn and impressive way, nor did he falter at a single tenet of the true Democratic faith. The Baltimore News says:

"So far from there being any equivocations in what he said he went to the border lines of prudence in registering his views. He repudiated the Senate bill, declared himself individually in favor of free iron, free coal and free sugar, and wound up by a statement that Senator Gorman will probably find interesting. It was in reference to the Sugar Trust, which he scored and scored again.

DENOUNCES THE SUGAR TRUST.

"It is a shame, a scandal and a disgrace," he declared, "upon the fair name of the country that the dictates of a trust should be substituted for the will of a Congress of the United States." This part of his speech was greeted with great applause, for everyone knew to whom Mr. Miles referred.

This was not the only time that Mr. Miles paid his respects to Mr. Gorman. He treated of the matter of the Ocean City Convention, in which there is, of course, great interest.

"When I was nominated at Ocean City I had no idea that anybody was behind me," said he most earnestly, "I declare this to you on my word of honor."

"I swear it," he continued impressively. "I never knew that anybody was behind me save the delegates who sat in the convention. I could not and will not be the henchman of any 'boss.' It was the greatest disappointment to me; one of the greatest disappointments I have ever experienced, when on the day after the convention I found that a portion of the press intimated that the word for my nomination came from Washington.

"If it did, I do not know it. I can only say that no word can come from Washington that will make me abate one jot or one tittle from my Democracy, and that Democracy is the sort that is taught by that great American, Grover Cleveland, and the great commoner from West Virginia, William L. Wilson.

"Born as I was on an Eastern Shore farm, reared among the tillers of the soil, having from my infancy a genuine sympathy with the sturdy yeomanry of my State, I had rather be the champion in the American Congress of the neglected, oppressed and unprotected farmers, laborers and mechanics of the First Congressional district of Maryland in this their great struggle with the pampered and protected interests of the country than to serve for a life-time as the representative of the richest mining or manufacturing district in the land.

"NO MAN'S MAN."

"I am no man's man, and when I get to Washington I'll be no man's man, but I'll be a man of the men—of the men of this district."

This declaration of Mr. Miles created great enthusiasm in his audience. None was more pleased with it than that sturdy old Democratic Roman, James Alfred Pearce, who is taking an active interest in the success of the candidates. Harrison W. Vickers, one of the leading lawyers and citizens of the county, a son of the late United States Senator George Vickers, and himself chairman of the County Executive Committee, said:

"While I believe that Messrs. Gorman and Gibson exercised their influence in Mr. Miles' behalf at the convention, I think Mr. Gorman will find that he has picked out the wrong man in Josh Miles, if he expects to claim him as his own after election. I feel the greatest confidence in him and the course he will pursue, if elected."

SENATOR HEPBRON IN LINE.

State Senator William T. Hepbron is most enthusiastic about the candidates, and especially about Mr. Miles.

"I never heard a better Democratic speech in my life," he said. "A man who could not support those candidates is not worthy of the name of Democrat. We'll get at Gorman and Gibson when their turn comes around. These are not Gorman men. They are true and honest tariff reformers."

Such are the sentiments of every Democrat who heard Messrs. Miles and Henry.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE DEMOCRACY.

Another meeting had been advertised for this evening, at which Ex-State Treasurer Edwin H. Brown, of Queen Anne's county, and James Alfred Pearce were advertised to speak, as well as the candidates. Mr. Brown, who was to make the principal speech, could not attend and the candidates were both fagged out with their labors of the afternoon, so the meeting was abandoned.

A little incident, however, happened which served to do away with the disappointment which might otherwise have been felt by those who had remained in town to hear the speaking. The boys at Washington College organized a Democratic torch-light parade, which proved very successful and amusing. They had 22 transparencies in line, the procession was headed by an imitation of the middle building of the college, on which was drawn various Democratic emblems including not only the names, but the pictures of the two popular candidates, Miles and Henry borne by Brown and Holloway. Then came Glover, from Dorchester, carrying a transparency with these mottoes, Miles and Henry, Washington College, Dorchester will go Democratic. Next came McDorman from Somerset, holding aloft Miles and Henry, Somerset and W. C. 1894. Jump, represented Talbot Democracy. Quillen, Coulbourn, Carey and Boston all carried banners from Worcester. Coulbourn hurrahed for J. W. Smith, and the transparency proclaimed, Down with Gorman and monopolies, Wilson forever, we are the people. Faithful, Armstrong, Coursey and Pardee upheld the colors of Queen Anne's with these emblems, Democrats of '94, Free Trade, coming voters, Miles and Henry, Q. A. Democracy, free sugar, cradle of Democracy, down with McKinleyism, Q A. 700 majority, Democracy my sentiments, etc. Venables upheld the honor of Wicomico with these mottoes, Jeffersonian Democracy, future law-makers, defenders of our country. Cruikshank represented Cecil and proclaimed no McKinleyism, Wilson, Tariff Reform and victory, no monopolies and free necessaries of life. Kent was represented by Thomas, who carried W. C. Democracy, free sugar, Miles and Henry, the people's choice, and by Little Beck who labored under the, what appeared to be light burden with the following: Kent's Democracy, Miles and Henry, free trade, College boys' rights and tariff reform. Dashiell bore Baltimore city Democracy, future suffrage, etc. Delaware's chickens came out and crowed for W. C., Delaware Democracy, free trade, Cleveland's picture, Miles and Henry, a picture of a boy on a horse crying, ho! ho! Come out and vote, the pictures of Tunnel and Bancroft, their next governor and representative in Congress, an elephant with the pictures of Mallalieu and Dryden leading the G. O. P. to a forlorn hope. Merriken, from Caroline, brought up the rear with a new broom.

The students gave the candidates a rousing reception and the torchlight procession was one of the most interesting features of the occasion. Messrs. Miles and Henry, James A. Pearce, H. W. Vickers, Hope H. Barroll, Samuel Vannort, J. D. Carter, of Baltimore, W. W. Beck, H. W. Catlin, and Thomas Baxter, a college student from Delaware, addressed the collegians and a large number of others present.

ON THE FOOT-BALL FIELD.

A Magnificent Game Ends in a Defeat for the Washington College Team.

The Maryland Agricultural College football team arrived at Chestertown by the tug Mascot, Saturday afternoon, about 2.45 o'clock, and the players were met by a delegation from Washington College.

It was evident from the first that the Western Shoremen expected to win by an overwhelming score, and when they sized up the W. C. boys and found that our team had an average of at least ten pounds less than their sturdy kickers, it caused the admirers of W. C. to shiver with fear. The visitors were evidently overflowing with faith in their ability to carry the pigskin to a greater number of points than their opponents. Game was called about 3.30, and the teams lined up as follows:

M. A. C.		W. C.
Walker	Centre	Zearfoss
Wharton	Right Guard	Douglass
Wooters	Left Guard	Davis
Harding	Left Tackle	Patton & Brown
Raline	Right Tackle	Merrikin
Blackiston	Right End	Cooper
Bannon, captain	Left End	Holloway, captain
Harris	Quarter Back	Massey
Mileson	Right Half-Back	Glover
Harrison	Left Half-Back	Perkins
Lewis	Full Back	Burris

The ball was put in play with a kick by Burris, which landed it well down in the visitors' territory. It was at this point in the game that Perkins distinguished himself as a tackler by magnificent work, making the first five yards of gain which came to the home team. By the good tackling of Glover and Cooper the farmers lost the ball. Then Burris made his splendid thirty yards run which stirred the blood in the veins of the home handlers of the sphere. Our boys received five more yards on account of one of the M. A. C. men being off side. Burris kicked the ball and on account of some fumbling of the visitors, Cooper seized it and paced off under the home goal, but when the referee saw that Cooper was clear, he blew the whistle, which called the W. C. men back to where the ball was first seized by Cooper. This was the questionable way in which our boys lost a coveted touch-down. Here the ball changed hands several times and was kicked by both Burris and Lewis. Brilliant tackling on both sides characterized the work of the contestants for points. Then Harrison made his thirty yards run, which greatly elated the visitors. So ended the first half with the "official" score 0 to 0.

The second half started by a kick by Wooters. The ball changed hands several times, and after 25 minutes of terrible rushing on both sides, especially by the hardy Western Shore farmers. They succeeded in getting a touch-down by Harding. Lewis then kicked goal. Ball was again put in play with a kick from the centre by Burris, and was caught by Lewis. Now came as pretty a series of tackles by Massey, Holloway, Perkins and Glover as spectators ever saw on an Eastern Shore foot-ball field. After more terrible rushes through the line, but not the centre, the agriculturists succeeded in getting another touch-down, and a goal was kicked, soon after which time was called, leaving the "official" score 12 to 0, in favor of M. A. C's.

The visitors were, with possibly one exception, in every respect gentlemenly and courteous, and played splendid ball.

There are circumstances under which defeat is really victory, and such was the case in last Saturday's game. Although the home team was defeated, the score was so far below the expectations of the winners that it was really a victory for the home team. Our boys have been and still are being congratulated and commended for their brilliant work. Nothing too flattering can be said of them, and not one of their old admirers feel ashamed of the result. We readily concede to M. A. C. a great deal of credit, and declare them to be foemen worthy of the finest team in the State. To W. C. also belongs golden honors. To Umpire Watson we extend credit for his just decisions. To Referee Dallam belongs—well, we won't say what. Linesman Usilton did his duty.
