EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS.

CHARLES T. WESTCOTT, ESQ., chairman of the last Republican State Convention, has not as yet accepted the resignation of Chairman W. F. Stone, and a strong effort is being made to persuade that gentleman to change his announced decision of resigning.

WOULD it not be refreshing to have a rest from Gorman and Gormanism in Kent? The tear-extracting raptures of our worthy contemporary over the big boss, the immaculate and angel-aspiring chief, is rather trying upon the nerves of its readers. The large and frequent eloquence of our neighbors upon the virtues and transcendent glories of the two bright, particular stars of Maryland's political firmament, Messrs. Gorman and Rasin, while a matter of congratulation and high-colored felicity is also a source of embarrassment to the masses, who are such degenerate paupers in all that makes life worth living, in the presence of these political gods. The people are not being deceived, and the Senatorial barterer, the Senatorial obstructionist, the Sphinx like Maryland Czar, and the Kent News' idol and sugar-teat manufacturer, are one and the same person.

APOSTOLIC DELEGATE MGR. SATOLLI has received instructions from Rome, authorizing him to notify the Archbishops, Bishops and priests of the United States that the action taken by the American Archbishops relative to secret and semi-secret societies, at a meeting recently held [illegible] has been ratified by the [illegible] by the Pope. A PLEASANT SERVICE.

Junior Chrisitan Endeavorers Crown Themselves With Lasting Honors.

Instead of the usual preaching service in Christ Methodist Protestant Church on Sunday evening, the platform was occupied by the active members of the Junior Society of Christian Endeavor. The Juniors had some thirty boys and girls ranging from six to twelve years of age seated upon the rostrum. The service was in charge of Master Earl Simpers, and the manner in which he conducted the exercises would have done credit to a much older person. There was a well prepared service as follows:

Responsive service, lead by Milton Peregoy. This was followed by the "Gloria"; then Glenn Howard lead in prayer. Lizzie Quelet read as a Scripture lesson, Luke II, 1-20 verses. Earl Simpers then delivered a very earnest address, stating the aims and hopes of the Juniors, and calling upon the older members of the church for good examples, and kindly encouragement. The address would have done credit to a man of much stronger growth, both in its composition and its delivery. This was followed by a solo, "Savior, Pilot Me," by Louise Usilton. The little soloist sang with great composure, and her solo was very highly appreciated. Ollie Hill then recited in clear, distinct voice that reached the farthest end of the church, "God's Children." Then the Juniors sang in chorus, "Emanuel," after which Gleaves Frazier recited an appropriate selection, "Our Christmas Greeting," and after the Collection, Maud Kelley recited very prettily, "The Secret of Happiness. Milton Peregoy then read seventeen verses from MATTHEW, Chapter II. Ethel Bacchus then favored the audience with a sweet little Christmas selection. Then came a quartette by Misses Usilton, Murray, Quelet and Wheatley, followed by the reading of a letter from Santa Claus by Blanche Elliott, after which Augusta Aldridge recited a beautiful little selection. After a chorus, "Christmas Thoughts," by the Juniors, Maud Thompson recited "Merry Christmas," and Benia Dill recited "Jesus' Name." The next number was a chorus, "The Herald Angels," by Sappington, Dill, Thompson, Hill, Murray, Wheatley, Quelet and [illegible] followed by "God's Boys and Girls," Stella Lynch and Frank [illegible] Howard Dodd then recited in effective manner, "The Heathen Chinee a Christian." Lizzie Quelet sang, "The Blessed Light of Christmas." Her voice is exceptionally strong for one so young, and she sang with rare [illegible] and expression. Bessie Wheatley rendered the beautiful [illegible] Rose for the Christ [illegible] by Fanny Smith in a se[illegible] "The Christmas Tree." [illegible] Thompson then sang a solo. [illegible] voice was rendered all the more [illegible] the sentiment of her selection, [illegible] with the preceding address [illegible] special mention. [illegible] could do just as [illegible] us good ex[illegible] good men and careless Chris[illegible] and wicked, and [illegible] from us." But our [illegible] Christ is that [illegible] they did not [illegible] entertain[illegible] The service [illegible] reflects great credit upon those who trained [illegible] Juniors have the spirit of [illegible] they go about doing good. [illegible] expend their energies simply in [illegible] ment, but a long table in the [illegible] school room fairly groaned [illegible] weight of substantial articles of food and other necessaries they had collected for the poor. These things, together with a considerable sum of money, collected as follows: Earl Simpers, $2.40; John D. H. Nelson, $3.09; Blanche Elliott, $1.95; Maud Thompson, 80 cts.; May Cannan, 30 cents, and Carl Russell seventy-five cents, the whole collection $8 41, they will distribute under the direction of Mrs. Avis Vannort, and their consecrated, industrious leader, Mrs. H. Barnett, to whom much credit belongs for the excellent works of these young Christians. Such young people will make good citizens, and should receive full encouragement.

ROCK HALL LOCALS.

A Delightful Entertainment, and General Happenings.

Burdette Lodge I. O. G. T. gave an oratorical contest at Rock Hall on Thursday evening, under the management of Miss Maggie V. Hersch. The contestants were: Misses Clara Middleton, Nettie Hersch, Julia Middleton, Nannie Taylor, Nannie Coleman, Rilla Downey, Helen Sappington and Frank Downey. The judges were Rev. Mr. Davis and wife and Mr. T. B. Durding. Miss Julia Middleton carried off the first prize of a gold medal, Miss Nettie Hersch secured the second prize, a beautiful gold pen with pearl handle. Miss Clara Middleton was given third prize, a book entitled "Dunraven's Ranch." The prizes were carefully selected by Miss Maggie Hersch, and much admired by the fortunate contestants. Prof. Greenwood, the principal of the public school, presented the prizes, and seemed very proud to think the fortunate ones were all his pupils of the 7th grade. Miss Julia Middleton, only [illegible] years of age, has natural elocutionary talent, and promises much under the guidance of Prof. Greenwood. BUSY ROCK HALL.

DEAR TRANSCRIPT:—From a business standpoint, Rock Hall was never more wide awake than at the present time. Our merchants have been equal to all the demands "Old Kris" made upon them, and the children of this neighborhood have been made wonderfully happy in consequence of his annual visit.

Our oystermen are taking advantage of the fine weather we have been having recently, and complain of nothing but the low prices still prevailing.

The very large travel to Baltimore from Rock Hall last Saturday, looked like an excursion, and until the return of the boat our town was a veritable Sunday. Quite a number of "the boys" seemed to have lots of Christmas in their bones, also in their jugs, but as we are a well-behaved and loyal people here, our "spirits" never get beyond control. Mr. Lev Gale, our accommodating liveryman, anticipating that "the boys" would not care to walk up from the wharf, was on hand thoroughly equipped with teams to convey all who desired to ride.

We have enjoyed several good entertainments lately, given by home talent, the management deserving much credit for their untiring efforts to please the community. Yours truly, OYSTER
