LOCAL MATTERS.

SHORT LOCAL BITS.

The steamer Ford did not reach Chestertown on Thursday night until 9 o'clock, being delayed at Quaker Neck wharf delivering lumber. ——In response to a numerously signed petition Mr. W. A. Potts, the affable proprietor of a number of the amusements at Tolchester, has closed them down on Sunday. ——The residence of Dr. Jas. A. Perkins, Queen street, is receiving a handsome summer suit of paint. ——The peach basket factory at Burchinal's wharf commenced operations last week with a daily capacity for 10,000 baskets. Mr. Westcott Faithful, of Queen Anne's, is in charge. ——The Nicholson ice factory commenced sending out ice on Monday morning of last week. The new plants has a daily capacity of five tons, and for the present will be under the personal supervision of Mr. Nicholson. —— The old walls and chimneys of the burned laundry on Calvert street have been sold to Mrs. John Hall for $200. They have been torn down and a small building is being erected on the site. ——What has become of the weather vane talked of for Stam's Hall? This is a needed convenience. ——Officer Kelley and Mr. Frisby Newcomb last week manipulated the big road machine and put the entrances to Chestertown in condition. ——Scott's Point is the most available property on Chester river for a shipyard, and there are nearly sixty sailing vessels and a number of smaller craft on the river which would in all probability seek repairs there were a dock provided for the work. ——Mrs. Wm. R. Pippin was painfully injured recently by the flying up of one of the insecure boards on the walk leading to Washington College. A dozen persons to our personal knowledge have been painfully hurt in a similar way. To avoid serious injuries and a suit for substantial damages, possibly a pavement might be found a wise economy by our town fathers. ——Alonzo Carmichael, a colored resident of Scott's Point, had one of the most beautiful flower gardens ever seen in Chestertown. His spring bloom of roses, though not of the choicest varieties, was simply indescribable for profusion, fragrance and beauty. ——The Old Jane, the champion belt-holder of Chestertown's sailing craft, lies at her moorings awaiting a competitor worthy of her speed. ——The splendid reception and the character of the guests on the occasion of the Brick House Club's first social entertainment, are respectfully referred to the consideration of the club's erstwhile criticts for their profound consideration. ——Chestertown, without the Washington College base-ball team, will be shorn of her chiefest glory, for Chestertown has been base-ball and base-ball has been Chestertown. Good-bye, Burris! Day-day, Zearfoss! Farewell, all of you; requiescat in pace. —— Mr. James Sewell, of Kent, was a purchaser at the horse sale in Baltimore, on Thursday. ——The homes of Mr. C. M. Lucas and Mrs. Fallowfield are resplendent in new suits of paint.

The Gerdes in Port.—The special police boat for Chester river, Katie Gerdes, has been purchased by Capt. Harry Pheffer, and was in port on Saturday.

Stunned by Lightning.—Lightning struck a tree near the lower Quaker Neck School House taught by Miss Bertha E. Price, last week, and a number of the pupils were badly stunned.

Early Harvest.—Mr. Ray Bowers will commence cutting wheat this morning. Messrs. William DeFord, R. J. Hurlock and William Hendrix, in Queen Anne's commenced on Monday.

A Painful Injury.—Mr. Daniel McKee, about ten days ago entered his stable to halter a colt. The animal reared back, striking Mr. McKee in the head, almost knocking him senseless, and inflicting a painful and ugly wound on the nose.

Order of Heptasophs.—Mr. J. H. Primrose, is in Chestertown for the purpose of organizing an order of Heptasophs. Mr. Primrose has recently organized a large order in Centreville and one in Dover, Del.,

A Cliff City Estimate.—A prominent resident of Cliff City was in Chestertown on Saturday, and after a careful review, put the estimate of the season's peach shipments from Cliff wharf at 10,000 packages. This is in the event that there is no boat from Lankford's. Should the Lankford line start the Cliff shipments will be divided with that point.

Real Estate Sales.—W. M. Slay, Esq., as trustee, on Tuesday sold the Berryman property, situated near Rock Hall, to Mr. Robert Wickes for Mr. Berryman for $475. James A. Pearce, Esq., executor of Sarah C. Rodgers, sold the tract of land lying on the road from Fairlee to Buck Neck to George W. Dill for $485. Hope H. Barroll, Esq., as trustee, sold the Lusby farm in Quaker Neck, to Thomas Parsons at $7 per acre.

Dammage by Rosebugs.—Reports are being received in some sections of the county that the rosebugs are doing great dammage to grapes and in some instances peaches and apples. At Mrs. Mary E. Matthews about three miles from Chestertown the pests are literally devouring the young grapes and leaves of the vines. They may be seen in great masses on peaches and apples. At Capt. R. S. Emory's, and other places dammage is being done.

Corn Thinners Scarce.—Corn thinners were so scarce last week that a number of farmers sent for miles around to collect up boys from their neighbors and friends to assist them with the work. Several came to Chestertown, and though there were fully one hundred colored men and boys idling on the street or playing base-ball, not a half dozen workers could be secured. These parties should be listed for the benefit of next winter's Relief Association.

Dr. James Brown's Death.—Dr. James Brown, a cousin of Mrs. Carolene Hynson of Chestertown, and one of the physicians of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, died on Sunday at Boston, Mass., in the forty-first year of his age. His death was from pulmonary trouble, after a short illness. On Thursday last Dr. Brown, accompanied by Summerfield B. Bond, went to Boston on one of the Merchants and Miners' Line of steamers, in the hope that the trip would prove beneficial, but he grew rapidly worse until his death. Kent County, Md., was Dr. Brown's birth-place. After a preliminary education he went abroad, where he finished his studies and received his medical degree. For some years past he had been in the dispensary at the Hopkins Hospital. A widow and two children survive him.

Election of Officers.—Chester Alliance will meet to-day at 2.30 o'clock P.M. at the home of President John Bell, and elect officers for the ensuing year. This will be the last meeting before the summer adjournment, and a full attendance is desired. The year just closing has been one, while particularly pleasant, of many substantial benefits to the members of the organization. The Alliance has successfully met and surmounted many obstacles, and is the only Alliance in Kent county which has been able to stem the tide of the various oppositions which always beset farmers when organized for mutual protection and benefit. Mr. John Bell is president; Mr. H. I. Parsons secretary.

Summer Home Bought.—Mr. Chas. E. Kennard has sold the Redue property, near Pomona, to Mr. Theadore S. Newton, manager of the Homestead Steel Works Hotel, Munhall, Pa.; terms private. Mr. Kennard sold the same property in March to Messrs. Sill and Terry. Mr. Newton purchased the property as a summer home, and Mr. Sill will remain on the farm. Mr. Kennard has brought a number of the most representative moneyed men of Baltimore, and citizens from other States to Kent to show them desirable home-situations in the county. He is still in correspondence with some of these gentlemen with prospects of sales. Mr. Kennard is a Kent countian, and never tires of disclosing the beauties and special attractions, of this, to him, Eden of Maryland. A vote of thanks is due the gentleman for his earnest efforts to induce wealth to locate in our midst.

The Worton Creamery.—The new creamery at Worton Station is nearing completion, and Mr. Shockley stated several days ago that the machinery would all be in place and ready for work by June 25. The building is 40x24 feet, has a cement floor put down by Mr. Thomas C. Parsons, and will be provided with all desirable modern improvements. The creamery will have a daily capacity for 1200 pounds of milk, or in other words, when run at its highest speed will put out 480 pounds of the finest butter. It is expected that the plant will start with a milk supply of 3000 pounds. The farmers of the vicinity have taken hold of the new enterprize, and the outlook is most promising. Mr. James T. Ireland and Mr. Harry Nichols will in all probability be the largest contributors to the milk supply. The plant is being put in by H. Reeves, of Wilmington, Del., and the work is in charge of Mr. Shockley.

THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Delightful Occasions Mark the History of Sunny June.

One of the most charming social events of the season was the entertainment extended the Chestertown Tennis Club on Friday by Miss Sophie Beck. The members of the club and a number of invited friends of Miss Beck drove to Tolchester in the afternoon and enjoyed dancing and other pleasures until after the steamer left, then the jolly company seated themselves on the beautiful bluff overlooking the bay and partook of a splendid supper. The meal finished and enjoyed in real picnic fashion, the party drove to Miss Beck's home, where dancing, refreshments and social pleasures were enjoyed. The music discoursed for the occasion was by Mr. Jas. L. Beck, Prof. Eugene Willson and Mr. Charles Beck was inspiring in the extreme.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Tilden Brice, Mrs. Walter Miller, Mrs. R. D. Hynson, Misses Nannie and Annie Brice, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brice, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Welch, Misses Dewey, Rea Westcott, Cora Massey, Grace Whaland, Leye Wilkins, Emma Lou Cavender, Lottie Wickes, Veva Perkins, Mary Hurtt, Bertha Hynson; Mr. Knappe and Messrs. Tom Massey, Joe Brice, Carl Westcott, Harry Vickers, Harry Rickey, Raymond Simpers, Dr. Faulkner, Lewin Wickes and Henry Deaver.

On last Saturday evening, the Pieria Literary Society gave a "lawn fete" in honor of the Mt. Vernon and Philomathean Societies, the Senior class and base-ball team. The terraces were decorated with Japanese lanterns and adorned with tete-a-tete tables. The charming young ladies, in their white dresses added greatly to the enchanting scene. Each one was a hostess in herself. Under a number of the largest and most beautiful lanterns stood the receiving party, comprised of Miss Matthews, Miss Pettigrew and Mrs. Micou. The room fitted up as a reception room in case of the storm that was so threatening during the afternoon, was, as some declared, "a dream of beauty." With tropical plants and flowers, soft lights and pretty girls, it was all that could be desired. At 9.30 refreshments were announced. An abundance of ices and all varieties of cake were served. But one of the most delightful features of the evening was yet to come. A surprise was in store for the Pierians. At 10.30 a song was heard from the "second terrace," and it did not take them long to realize that they were being serenaded. At 11 the party broke up, after a most delightful evening, declared by all to be a "perfect success." The society deserves great credit, not only for their entertainment, but also for the way in which they keep up their organization. Just as a body of students, it for no other reason, they are remarkable, and Washington College should be proud of them.

On Friday evening the Senior Class was delightfully entertained by Miss May Matthews, the first lady graduate of Washington College, at her home. The lawn was prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns, which shed a soft light around and gave to it the witchery of a fairy scene. A little after 8.00 the guests began to arrive. Out-door games were played until 10 o'clock, when refreshments were served. Cakes and ices were in great plenty. After this music formed the feature of the evening. Several vocal and instrumental solos having been given, the Senior class songs were sung by that August body. After a most pleasant entertainment the company adjourned at 11.30. Among the guests were: Misses Bowerman, Rombach, Annie and Ethel Stewart, Carroll, McFeely, Stevenson, Murray, Boston and Anderson; Messrs. Cameron, Carey, Simpers, Perkins, Williamson, Merriken, Brown, Holloway, Nicholson, Greenfield, Anderson, Copper and Profs. Clarke and Jones.

Miss Idel Baker on Saturday took the scholars of her Kindergarten school on a delightful trip to Baltimore. The interesting little tots enjoyed the trip on the steamer, but the acme was reached when, after a trip through the city they stood delighted before the monkey cage in Druid Hill park. This was one of the most novel as well as the most pleasant of a series of delightful treats which Miss Baker has given her interesting school. We extend thanks and express regrets at our inability to accept an invitation to be one of the Kindergarten party.

The Commencement Hop last night was a glorious success. Beautiful ladies, gallant men, and sweet music reigned supreme. The floor committee was composed as follows: Thomas W. Perkins, '94; Horace B. Constable, '93; Harry G. Simpers, '95; W. C. Brown, '95; Spencer M. Hurtt, '97; Joseph Brice, '98.

THE FIELD OF SPORT.

9 TO 0.

The Clinton base-ball team, which had won 27 of 32 games this season, with two of its victories over the Washington College nine, came to Chestertown yesterday and were defeated by a score of 9 to 0. The home team put up the finest game ever played on the Washington College grounds, and their work was equal to that of winning professionals. Fully 700 people witnessed the game. After the game Zearfoss, that magnificent catcher of the college team, was presented by the citizens of Chestertown with a purse of $30 in gold, by C. T. Westcott, Esq., in a neat and highly appropriate speech. Zearfoss' perfect work behind the bat is only exceeded by his manly dignity and modesty. That sturdy little Roman with the ball, Burris, together with Zearfoss, received a present from Mrs. R. D. Hynson, which was presented during the game. The entire club played splendid ball. Hurrah for W. C.

The Wyanokes, or the reputed "Baltimore Sun nine," but which in fact had but one Baltimore Sun man on the team, were defeated by the Washington College team on the home grounds on Saturday, by a score of 14 to 2. The visitors had some first-rate material and put up some good individual ball, but were not "in it" with the Maryland Collegiate Champions. In the last inning Burris left the box and Davis tried to induce the men to strike his speedy curves, but they were as much at sea as ever. Hits—Washington College, 15; Wyanokes, 8. Errors—Washington College, 3; Wyanokes, 11. Pitchers, Burris and Davis; Rainey and Thompson. The amusing part of the matter was the evident confidence of the Baltimoreans before the game. In conversation, one of the visitors remarked that they would have no difficulty in unraveling the mysteries of Burris' curves. He had a fairly good curve he said, but no speed, and that the defeat of the W. C.'s was a foregone conclusion.

The Y. M. C. A. Browns, of Baltimore, also flushed with confidence and hungering for new victories, came to Chestertown on Thursday and were defeated by a score of 33 to 1. The visitors brought over carrier pigeons which were to be released at intervals during the game, so eager were the Baltimoreans that the news of their victory should not be stale when it reached home. The birds were released, but so far as we know they never reached home, but sorrow-stricken and wing-wearied settled in the Chesapeake for that comfort which the Washington College base-ball team could not or would not give.

Cameron and Faithful, the college tennis champions, defeated Simpers and Perkins, two of the most expert players of the Chestertown Tennis Club, 6 to love, 6 to 3 and 6 to 3. Hurtt and Simpers, of the Chestertown club, played the college men 7 to 5 and 6 to 3.

The Chestertown base-ball team defeated the Centreville team at Tolchester, on Friday, by a score of 8 to 4. Usilton and Cannan were the Chestertown battery.

Six members of the Harlem Bicycle Club, of Baltimore, Captain Samuel E. Philpitt; two other Baltimore wheelmen and three from Washington, D. C., came to Chestertown on Sunday by way of Tolchester, and dined at the Voshell House. About ten others came to Chestertown on their wheels and visited friends.

CROP NOTES.

Enemies of the Corn Worm—New Crop Experiments—Ready for Harvest.

Mr. Walter Morris has had eight acres of corn completely destroyed by an entirely new enemy to the crop in this section. The insect is a nearly black or dark brown bug, about a quarter of an inch in length, which works beneath the surface, destroying the lower portion of the plant. Mr. Morris states that scarcely a hill escaped the ravages of the insect, and so far as he can learn there is no remedy.

Mr. Walter Morris and Mr. W. J. Anderson, both of whom have suffered great injury to their corn from the ravages of the cut worm, state that they have discovered in their fields a deadly enemy to this pest, in the form of a black bug, scarcely a quarter of an inch in length, and resembling the ordinary wheat bug found under stacks or shocks of wheat. The bug has a strong forced arrangement and fearlessly attacks a worm twice its size, seizing it in the throat and holding it until dead. The bug is quick of movement, and was found in great numbers in the fields referred to.

Mr. W. H. Stewart, Mr. A. L. Corey, Mr. Benj. Beck, Jr., and several other gentlemen in the county have this year experimented with barley as a crop. Mr. Stewart harvested his crop last week and reports most satisfactory results on about half of his acreage of eight acres. On the other half, which was a tomato patch last year, the tomatoes having been heavily fertilized. The crop was tried upon the faith in the work of the experiment station last year.

The first new wheat sold in Baltimore last week at one dollar per bushel, and bids for future deliveries are to say the least of it encouraging.

A Chat With the People

ABOUT SHOES.

THOMAS G. WROTH, Under Stam's Hall, Chestertown, Md.

To claim the largest, most varied and complete line of Boots and Shoes in Kent county, is to put the matter fairly and squarely before the people; and those who patronize us will secure many advantages not to be found elsewhere in Kent county. In the first place—this establishment is an filled from the front to the rear with such an assortment as to cause one to wonder at its completeness. Now, in having this chat with you, reader, remember that you do not have to buy the first pair of shoes offered you; but we can show you dozens of different styles at the same price. This, of course, is one of the many advantages you enjoy at our store—So much said about the Shoes. Now we will chat about prices; that, of course, is the most important feature. Well, we handle large quantities of goods, buy largely at rock-bottom cash figures; consequently, we are satisfied that they are bought close enough when we offer them to the buyer we are prepared to place such a low price on each pair of Boots and Shoes as to make it a pleasure to purchase from us. The balance of our winter stock has been greatly reduced; they must move out of the way for spring goods. So, come in and secure bargains in footwear. More later about our immense stock of spring goods. Respectfully,

Jan. 3, 1895. THOS. G. WROTH, CHESTERTOWN, MD.
