$6,500.00 Worth of Spring and Summer Clothing,

to be sacrified BELOW COST from now till the end of season.

THOMAS S. BORDLEY

has thrown upon the market $6,500.00 worth of the Finest and Nobbiest Suits

For Men, Youths and Boys, ever seen in Chestertown, and offers the entire lot far BELOW COST in order that he may clear the store by the 15th day of August, at which time he must move what stock he has left for the period of three weeks. It is impossible to give you a clear idea of the Bargains to be had at this sale. For instance, we have piled all our $6.00, $6.50, $7.00 and $7.50 suits for Men, and will sell them all, or your choice of all of them, for

ONLY $4.75.

In this lot you will find ALL WOOL Suits in solid Black and Blue, Mixed Cheviot in nobby and subdued style, and neat Chassimere effect, the style, fit and quality of which will surprise you.

FOR $8.50

we will sell you your choice of as fine a line of Handsome Worsted as you desire to wear, including Clay Weaves, in Sacks and Regent cut; also wide wale effect, all of which will please the most fastidious. The fit and finish of these garments are simply perfection, having been purchased this season from some of the finest houses in the country.

All Our Children's Suits,

age 4 to 16, will be sold regardless of what they cost. For example, we will sell you some beautiful effects, including a full line of BLUE CLOTH Sailor Suit

FOR ONLY 95 CENTS.

Think of such a price—only 95c. for a Child's Handsome Suit. But the goods must go, the store must absolutely be cleared of all stock by August 15th. Remember, I have had an experience of nineteen years in buying and selling clothing, and I flatter myself that no man can buy them cheaper, and I positively declare that no one shall sell them as cheap. Such an opportunity seldom occurs, especially in Chestertown, and it will pay you far better than you imagine to look over this vast array of suits good before you purchase.

N. B.—All Our Gents' Furnishing Goods, Hats and Caps, etc., will be sold in the same way.

We have left about 12 or 15 Gents' Fine $5.00 MACKINTOSHES which we sell for only $3 65. Remember, that the Cash must accompany every purchase, as we cannot afford to sell these goods for nearly one-half their value and charge them. You will find our advertisement frequently changed from now on, and if you will watch it carefully you will find something very much to your advantage. Don't fail to find the proper store—it is the only CORNER Clothing Store in Chestertown, and you will see in front of the store a large canvas sign announcing our entire stock Below Cost. Resp't.,

MY WINDOW IVY.

Over my window the ivy climbs,
Its roots are in homely jars,
But all day long it looks at the sun,
And at night looks out at the stars.

The dust of the room may dim its green,
But I call to the breezy air;
"Come in, come in, good friend of mine!
And make my garden fair."

So the ivy thrives from morn to morn,
Its leaves all turned to the light;
And it gladdens my soul with its tender green,
And teaches me day and night.

What though my lot is in lonely place,
And my spirit behind the bars?
All the long day I may look at the sun,
And at night look out at the stars.

What though the dust of earth would dim?
There's a glorious outer air
That will sweep through my soul if I let it in,
And make it fresh and fair.

Dear God! let me grow from day to day,
Clinging and sunny and bright!
Though planted in shade, thy window is near,
And my leaves may turn to the light.

EFFECTS OF FREE SILVER.

"Coin" Has a Plain Talk With the Farmers, Wage Earners and Pension Holders.

EFFECT ON FARMERS.

They say to farmers, admitted, wheat is 50 cents, but you can buy as much with that 50 cents as you could with the dollar when wheat was a dollar a bushel, so you are not injured.

The answer is this: It is true that a farmer can buy as much calico and cotton cloth with 50 cents as he could before when wheat was $1 a bushel. But he cannot pay his taxes that way. It now takes two bushels and nearly three bushels of wheat to pay as much taxes as one bushel of wheat would have paid in 1873, whereas, 17,000 bushels of wheat would have paid the president's salary of $25,000 in 1873, it now requires 100,000 bushels of wheat to pay his salary of $50,000. And it was the same Congress that increased the President's salary from $25,000 to $50,000 a year that demonetized silver. Official favoritism and neglect of the rights of the producers has always come with despotism. It now requires two and three times as much of your wheat to ride on a Pullman car or a street car as it did in 1873. Those things under the control of trusts will be held up in price and producers will suffer in the exchange of their property for them. I would say to the farmers that the kernel of this whole question is right here:

The money dealers are engaged in dealing in a crop called money, and that crop, counting their money and their bonds and notes payable in money, now amounts to $30,000,000,000. By increasing, as they have done, the exchangeable value of their crop with yours, they are able to buy all of your property cheap and come into the possession of the property of the farmers. There is prosperity in the country when there are high prices for the products of the farm. Larger quantities of money have to be shipped from the money centers to the country to pay for these crops. The farmers get the money, and the next year raise the same crops over again, and keep the money moving, with high prices to them. When money is high priced, and the farmer's products are low priced, the reverse is true and wealth accumulates in the cities.

EFFECTS ON WAGES.

They say wages have not declined.

Store clerks in the city of Chicago in 1873 got $12 a week, about an average of that. They are now getting an average of about $6 a week.

Unorganized labor has fallen proportionately. It is only organized labor that has held up prices, and it has done that in two ways: One is that organized labor is among the first-class mechanics, where experts are required, and the supply of that kind of workmen is limited. But organized labor holds itself up by reason of its unions. They are intelligent. They stand together as a brotherhood of men fighting in a common cause. And yet in spite of their organization labor has had wages partially reduced.

Unorganized labor has declined 50 per cent.; and tens of thousands are unemployed and are getting nothing. This makes tramps; it makes fallen hopes; it makes discouraged manhood; it makes less of good citizenship in this country. Add the number of workmen organized, unorganized and unemployed, and get your sum total, then divide it into the wages they receive and you have the gold standard, measured with even exactness into the bone and flesh and blood of the laboring classes of the United States.

The labor question is a question of supply and demand, and so long as farming is unprofitable, the people are gravitating to the cities, and there is an oversupply of wage earners. The remedy is higher prices and a gravitation of wage earners to the country, where they can build their own homes and earn their own living as their own employers, and not as the servants of other people.

PENSION HOLDERS.

They say to pensioners, "You can buy more with the money you now receive than you can with the same money if we had free coinage of silver. With free coinage prices will double, and you will buy less with your pension."

Here is an admission that prices will advance to double what they are now with the free coinage of silver. This selfish argument made to pensioners, is made to men who risked their lives on the field of battle for their flag, and it is now a question, under the present system of confiscation, whether we are to have a republic or not to pay these pensions. And in this struggle these veterans who defended the republic once before, will be found again on the side of the integrity of the nation. The men who make this base appeal, intended to reach a selfish nature, are the men who stayed at home during the war and trafficked on the necessities of the government. The loyal parties of this country will be satisfied with the honest money of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln. Thousands of our pensioners are losing more, in their business, or occupations, or by loss of occupation, by reason of the hard times, than they are getting in the way of pensions. They are not idlers and beggars, seeking their only subsistence from the government.

Rhymed Rules for Women.

To mount the wheel with perfect grace,
First see the pedals are in place;
The right the centre half around,
The left the nearest to the ground.
Draw back the wheel a little, thus,
To give it proper impetus.
Your hands upon the handle bar
Should be as dainty touches are.
Then press with right foot, till you see
The inside pedal rising free.
Don't be in haste, the pedal right
Describes the circle; sinks from sight;
But ere it meet your foot once more
You're mounted and the lesson's o'er.

How is This for Rank Methods in Politics?

Last week Mr. Charles Fulton, of Baltimore, was the guest of Mr. Ralph Robinson, at Waverly. Mr. Fulton is a young lawyer and an active practitioner at the Baltimore bar. Though not engaged in matters political he is nevertheless a close observer of political events and of the trend of political opinion. In this campaign Mr. Fulton is somewhat of the gold standard persuasion, but he proposes to vote for Bryan. In an interview with a representative of the Observer Mr. Fulton said, "the division between the two political forces in this campaign is clearly marked in Baltimore city. While there may be found a large number of prominent Democrats who will vote either for Palmer or McKinley, the laboring classes of all shades of political opinion are almost unanimously supporting Bryan. People who believe Baltimore to be a nest of gold standard advocates are greatly in error. It is somewhat difficult to make accurate prophecies as to the result, but the current of opinion is setting in strongly towards Bryan. The managers of and sympathizers with the gold money scheme are themselves injuring their own cause. For instance; it is a well-known fact that large corporations like the street railways are bitterly hostile to Bryan. About three weeks ago a large Democratic meeting was held at Darley Park. To say that the meeting attracted a large attendance would be repeating a fact too well known. The Baltimore papers which are fighting Bryan, estimated the number to be five thousand. This would not count them by half. An immense throng flocked out to Darley Park, in such multitudes that the corporation magnates became alarmed at its significance. In order to check this rallying under the Democratic flag, orders were issued to stop the running of the street cars so that the people would be unable to reach the place of meeting. The Baltimore papers, of course, said nothing about this. And yet the order was obeyed. These common-carriers of Baltimore city, operated under a franchise guaranteeing the public convenience, were utilized at the time in question to hinder the travelling public from reaching a desired destination. It was evidently a case where these so-called sticklers for fairness and free speech were afraid to provide the opportunity to allow the people to hear the silver cause argued. But despite these obstructions a tremendous crowd was present. Some had walked a distance of over two miles. And a successful meeting it was too! This effort on the part of the city's street railway corporations to injure the free study of the issues in the campaign has done their own cause much damage in the eyes of the masses of Baltimore city."

Let the corporations continue their evil work. If they believe they can crush popular convictions by such methods as these, perhaps a little experience will disabuse them of their error. It is a dangerous expedient to excite popular fury. But the scourge of imposition with which corporations are lashing the people's backs will sting them into a rage of resentment which will leave its impress long after the day of election.—Centreville Observer.

Women and Bicycles.

It has been said that the year 1895 will be a landmark in the progress of women, and for no other reason than that it was "the great bicycle year,"—the year in which the women of the civilized countries put aside their scruples and their uncertainty as to the propriety of the practice and came boldly to the front as devotees of the wheel. The Queen of Italy and princesses of several royal families learned to ride; this, of course, banished the last remnant of doubt from the minds of the fashionable as to the good form of cycling. Undoubtedly the vogue of bicycling among women this spring and summer will be as great as ever, and the acceptance of the divided skirt or bloomer costume as the proper dress for cycling will be even more general than last season. This is not to be regretted, because it is proved that the divided skirts can be made pretty and graceful, and because they are a decided gain on the side of safety and convenience. There is little doubt that cycling is a boon to womankind; yet the exercise has its dangerous feature. Physicians are beginning to sound the note of warning against excessive or untimely cycling on the part of women. Every woman knows when she is riding too much or should not ride at all. The doctors say she should be careful to act in accordance with this knowledge if her wheeling is to benefit and not injure her.

A TIME O' DAY GARDEN.

An Arrangement of Flowers Which is as Good as a Clock.

Gardeners should know that it is quite possible to so arrange flowers in a garden that all the purposes of a clock will be answered. In the time of Pliny forty-six flowers were known to open and shut at certain hours of the day, and this number has since been largely increased. For instance, a bed of common dandelions would show when it was 5.30 o'clock in the morning and 8.30 o'clock at night respectively, for these flowers open and shut at the times named, frequently to the minute. The common hawkweed opens at 2 o'clock in the morning and may be depended upon to close within a few minutes of 2 in the afternoon. The yellow goat's beard shuts at 12 o'clock noon, absolutely to the minute, sidereal time. The sow thistle opens at 5 A. M. and closes at 11.12 A. M. The white lily opens at 7 A. M. and closes at 5 P. M.

The Export Market for Apples.

According to the recent crop reports in the American Agriculturist, fruit farmers have reason to be pleased with the prospect for the export trade in apples this year. In nearly all parts of Germany the indications are that there will be only a small crop and it will be left largely to America to supply the deficiency. In England the crop is much better, and, though it falls short of last year's supply, it is probably sufficient to meet the demand for the summer months. But the apples grown in Great Britain are very largely varieties that cannot be kept long, and thus place will be made for large quantities of our varieties of winter apples. It is said the effort which has been made recently to export apples packed in boxes has not been favorably received by foreign dealers and that, as a rule, they prefer them packed in barrels in the usual way.

Woman's Sphere.

They talk about a woman's sphere
As though it had a limit;
There's not a place in earth or heaven,
There's not a task to mankind given,
There's not a blessing or a woe,
There's not a whispered yes or no,
There's not a life, or death, or birth
That has a feather's weight of worth,
Without a woman in it.
