LOCAL MATTERS.

Original Pension.—William J. Liveley, of Chestertown, was granted an original pension last week.

Installation of Officers. — Deputy District Organizer George R. Trax, of Easton, will visit the Chestertown Conclave of Heptasophs this (Thursday) evening and install the newly elected officers.

Who Can Beat This.—Mr. J. Walter Skirven has 118 lambs in his home flock of sheep. Of the number there are 40 pairs of twins, and during the entire winter but four lambs have been lost. Two of these four were frozen, one a horse killed and one died from natural causes. Who can beat this record?

The First Herring.—The first herring caught in Chester river as far up as Chestertown were caught by Charles Johnson on Friday last. Mr. Johnson states that he caught eight. The Caroline county heart was gladdened by the appearence of this spring dainty several weeks ago.

Road Improvements.—Between three and four thousand bushels of shells were received by sail vessel on Saturday to be used on the paper mill hill. Supt. Quantz appeared before the board of county commioners and offered to do the hauling free if the commisioners would provide the shells. The offer was accepted and the work is under way.

Bitten by a Rabid Dog.—News was received several days ago that Harry, the interesting little son of Mr. Albert Reistle, living near Godwin's mill, near Crumpton, made a narrow escape from being bitten by a rabid shepherds dog last week. The dog developed an unmistakable case of rabies, and before it could be confined attacked the little fellow. His clothes were torn and the impress of the dog's teeth was left on the flesh, but fortunately the skin was not broken. The animal was promptly killed.

Thought She Was the Mesiah.—The Steamer Richard Willing, of the Ericsson Line, which stopped at Betterton on Friday night of last week, enroute from Phildelphia to Baltimore, had on board a demented colored woman named Silvia Giles, supposed to hail from Baltimore. The woman insisted that her mission on earth is to enact great reforms. About midnight, much to the discomfort of sleeping passengers, she commenced to make speeches, and became so noisy that it was necessary to confine her in a room in charge of an officer. She had $14 in money and a gold watch.

"Tom Brown" Married. — Tom Brown, who was tried for the shooting of his brother-in-law, Samuel Rash, is said to be employed as a waiter in a Philadelphia restaurant. A gentleman from Queen Anne who knew Brown, by the merest accident recently stopped at the restaurant, and seeing Brown familiarly called him "Tom." The indignant waiter wanted to know what "Tom" he meant and when told that he was "Tom Brown" stoutly denied his identity. Brown is reported as having come down to Price's Station last week, drove into the country where he was quietly married, and took Mrs. Brown back with him on the next train.

Clothes Burned off.—A ten-year-old colored girl living with Mrs. William A. Smith, made a remarkable escape from being burned to death on Monday morning. The girl was standing in front of a stove playing in the fire with a piece of paper, when in an instant the paper blazed up, setting fire to her clothing. Samuel Hazleton, who was scouring the floor at the time, heard the child's screams and doused her into a tub of water which he was using. The flames were immediately extinguished but not until the clothing had been almost entirely burned off the child's body. The marvelous part of the matter is that the child was not even scorched.

Hen Roost Raided.—Mr. Harry Taylor, living near Hanesville, has suffered from continued raids upon his hen roost. On Friday night two weeks ago, three turkeys were stolen and on Friday night last, 30 fine chickens were taken. Snow fell on Friday night and tracks were discovered leading directly from Mr. Taylor's hennery to the house of Samuel Nichols. Chickens were found in Nichols' possession and he was accordingly arrested and given a hearing before Justice J. W. Wright, of Chestertown on Monday. Nichols proved by Charles Wright, however, that he had bought the chickens from him on the day before and was released.

Pretended to be After Schofield.—Game Warden Massmore has been after users of "big guns" in killing wild ducks near Bengies, for some time, and on Monday two detectives went to the hacking shore pretending to be after Schofield, who assaulted Mrs. Godwin in this county. They got a search warrant and went to the home of William Litchfield, a fisherman on the Gunpowder, about a mile below Gunpowder bridge. Schfield was absent on a fishing trip and the visitors told his wife they wanted to buy some ducks, but she refused them admission. The warrant was read to her, and the detectives say they had to fight their way into the house, after which they found the gun in an addition to the building. The detectives decided not to take Litchfield's return, but shouldered the gun and carried it three miles to Magnolia Station. It is painted yellow and is similar in pattern to the ordinary single-barrel muzzle loader, but it is over nine feet long and the stock at the trigger has a circumference of fourteen inches. The inside diameter of the barrel is an inch and a half and it is said to weigh 150 pounds.

Appeal Taken.—In the case of Henry T. Kerr, receiver of the City National Bank of Quanah, Texas, against John D. Ware, decided at the January term of the circuit court for Kent county in favor of the defendant, the comptroller of the currency has directed an appeal to be taken to the Court of Appeals of Maryland, and the record will go up to the April term of that court. It appears from the statement of facts on which the case was tried in the circuit court that Mr. Urie held ten shares of the stock of the bank, and assigned the same in July, 1894, to his wife, Mrs. Lillian Urie, as trustee for their infant daughter, M. L. Urie, and that the bank about that time stopped paying dividends, and in December 1894, went into the hands of a receiver. The comptroller made an assessment of the full value of the stock upon the stockholders, and made demand on Mr. Urie as one of such stockholders for his ratable part of such assessment, with which demand Mr. Urie refused to comply, and the circuit court sustained his refusal. The question presented in the appeal is whether under the facts of the case, the assignment to Mrs. Urie as trustee for the infant child was an assignment as terminated individual liability to assessment, or whether that liability still continued notwithstanding such assignment.

Man's Intellect Inferior.—The masculine mind advocates received a decided setback last week at the hands of the Adisonia Club, colored. The question under discussion was, "Are the mental capacities of the sexes equal?" A novel feature of the occasion was that each debator represented a prominent statesman. F. Nichols represented Mark Hanna, Jonas Harding, Senator Bulter, of S.C., Daniel Miller, Robert Ingersoll; G. W. Brown, W. L. Wilson; J. W. Anderson, Governor Beaver; J. H. Blake, Thomas B. Reed; J. E. Dent, Benjamin Harrison; Edward Graves, Senator C. H. Gibson; Geo. Carmichael, George L. Wellington. It was decided by an unanimous vote that woman is intellectually the superior of man. Perry C. Frisby made a strong address on Perseverance. This decision is a squelsher for the advocates of the mental superiority of the "stronger vessel."

Lloyd—Gray Shooting Case.—A magistrate's preliminary hearing was had in the Loyd-Gray shooting case at Meginness on Wednesday of last week. James Lloyd was held in $400 bail, James Blackiston and John Lloyd were each held in $200 and James Blackiston, Sr., was released. All of the men furnished bail and were released to await trial by the circuit court. Capt. Gray, who was shot and otherwise seriously injured corroborated the statement of the affray as already reported in the TRANSCRIPT and was endorsed by the testimony of others. Mr. and Mrs. Hynson Cole further testified that they heard John Lloyd say while at their house, "Capt. Gray had woke up the wrong man when he shot his brother Jimmie's pigs, and his brother Jimmie said he was going to knock him (Gray) down, beat him with his boots and drag him by his old gray whiskers." James Lloyd on the other hand testified that Gray threatened not only to shoot his pigs but said that he would blow his (James Lloyd's) d—— heart out if the pigs were not kept away." He also claimed that Capt. Gray attacked and cut him before he struck him (Gray) with the gun. Lloyd said that he slipped and fell and that Capt. Gray seized his gun and tried to shoot him with it.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM EMORY.

Mr. William Emory, an old and well-known citizen of Queen Anne county died at his residence on Corsica River in that county, on Tuesday morning, March 2, aged sixty-nine years. He was married in 1855 to Miss Sallie Comegys, daughter of Mr. Samuel Comegys, of this county. Mr. Emory with his family resided at Washington College from 1867 to 1877. Mrs. Dr. Benjamin Perkins, formerly of Chestertown, but now of Philadelphia is his sister, and Mr. Robert S. Emory of this county, Messrs. John, Thos., Frank and Addison Emory, of Queen Anne, are brothers. A widow and five children survive him, Mrs. Dr. W. Frank Hines, of Chestertown; Wm. C., Misses. Annie and Alice, and Samuel. His remains will be buried in Centreville cemetery this (Thursday) morning.

MRS. EMMA C. GILL.

Mrs. Emma C. Gill, wife of Rev. John M. Gill, pastor of Christ M. P. Church, Chestertown, died of heart disease, at her home, corner Queen street and Maple avenue, at an early hour on Friday morning, aged thirty-eight years. Mrs. Gill had been subject to severe attacks of the heart, but not until the latter part of last year, did her condition become alarming to her friends. Several months ago while her husband was conducting evening services at his church, Mrs. Gill was taken suddenly ill, and though she rallied a number of times her condition was known to be most serious from the first.

With remarkable pertinacity the patient clung to life and after all hope of recovery had gone her remarkable vitality asserted itself and warranted the hope that the shadows might pass and the noble christian life of the sufferer be spared. The inroads of disease were more than the form weakened by suffering and weary with the struggle could bear, and death finally came peacefully to the patient sufferer.

Mrs. Gill was before Marriage a Miss Emma C. Yingling, daughter of Joshua and Margaret Yingling, of Westminster. She was educated at Western Maryland College, and in 1885 married Rev. J. M. Gill. She leaves one child, Robert Gill, an interesting child of seven years.

Possessed of a noble Christian character, Mrs. Gill's life was spent in casting sunshine and happiness across the pathway of others. Without in any instance wavering in a discharge of the beautiful responsibilities of wife and mother, her life and its most sacred talents were consecrated to the uplifting and saving of all who came within the circle of her devoted Christian influence.

"None knew her but to love her,
None mentioned but to praise."

The remains were taken to Westminster on Monday morning for interment.

Funeral services were conducted on Tuesday morning in the Westminster M. P. Church, Revs. J. T. Murray, W. R. Graham and T. H. Lewis, officiating. The pall-bearers were: Dr. J. W. Herring, Charles Billingslea, Roland Watts, Frank Herr, E. O. Grimes, Jesse Shreeve, of Westminster; S. Frank Smith and C. L. Dodd, both of whom accompanied the remains to Westminster.

A beautiful cross of pink buds, hyacinths and white lilacs were placed on the bier with the loving sympathy of the Little Juniors of Christ Church. A magnificent wreath of purple hyacinths, white lilies, white tulips and white buds were sent with the loving sympathy of the Young Peoples Society of Christian Endeavor of Christ Church. It would be impossible to describe the delicate beauty of these offerings of love.

New Advertisements.

Don't fail to hunt up Guest's Residuum advertisement. It's an A No. 1. article.

Moody & Lusby have the handsomest display of hats and caps we have ever seen in Chestertown, and deserve great credit for bringing within reach of our people such a line, thereby saving the expense of a trip to the city for same. Then, too, their quotations are fully 20 per cent. less than city prices. Look at their magnificent array.

Mr Vandergrift has completed every arrangement for the appearance of the Celebrated Guy Bros. Minstrels at Stam's Hall on Monday evening next. This splendid aggregation of minstrel talent comes with even greater attractions than at their appearance one year ago when by common consent it was declared to be the finest minstrel troupe ever in Chestertown. The magnificent parade in the afternoon will be a feature of their visit. This parade will be led by three drum majors one of whom is the highest baton thrower in America. Mr. Vandergrift proposes, if possible, to get the merchants to close early on Monday evening in order that their clerks may attend this unusual treat. A Frederick contemporary says: "The company is composed of the very best talent in the minstrel line, and they have an entire new show this season. New people, new songs and dances; all new acts. The company is stronger and better than ever." A rousing reception is already assured to the Guy Brothers. Diagram of seats may be seen, and tickets now on sale at Stam's drug store.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram M. Brown entertained a number of friends most delightfully on Thursday evening last. The occasion was a concert party to enjoy the Cecilia Club of Boston. After the concert a delicious supper was served at their home on Front St. The guests were: Mr. and Mrs James A. Pearce, Dr. and Mrs. W. Frank Hines, Mrs. Hallie Goodin, Misses. Ellen Fisher, Nelie Walker Minnie Massey, and Anna Brown; Dr. C. P. Gilpin Messrs. Lewin W. Wickes, William W. Beck, Henry W. Catlin, and Wilbur Eliason, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kennedy entertained a number of friends at their home near Kennedyville, on Saturday evening. After a sumptuous supper, whist and seven-hand euchre were enjoyed. Late in the evening refreshments were served. Among those present were: William Wallis and wife, Harry Deringer and wife, John N. Comegys and wife: the Misses. Mamie Janvier, Susie Edson, Lula Crow, Margaret Miller, of New Jersey; Messrs. P. G. Wilmer, William Janvier, J. C. Sutton, William and Walter Crow, Edward Wallis, John Wallis and others.

Miss Mamie Janvier entertained a number of friends most delightfully one evening last week.

Mr. P. G. Wilmer spent last week on a visit to Philadelphia and Baltimore friends.

Mr. Harry Hodgskin is in attendance upon the inauguration of President McKinley to-day.

Miss Alice Austin is the guest of her brother, Mr. Austin, of Washington, D. C.

Mr. H. L. Boyd, has been appointed agent for the Orient Insurance Company, Hartford, Connecticut. This is one of the most reliable, up-to-date and aggressive companies of the country.

Miss Cora Reed started on Monday for Philadelphia and New York, to make her annual purchases of beautiful spring millinery. She will select only the finest and latest goods for her superb line of spring goods.

The Misses Anna and Eleanor Rasin were the guests of Mrs. I. Freeman Rasin at a delightful theatre party last week, to see "The Sporting Duchess," at the Academy of Music, Baltimore.

FROM QUAKER NECK.

A Glorious Revival at Mowbray Chapel

The revival services at Mowbray Chapel conducted by Rev. T. B Cooper assisted by Evangelist E. C. Wright, have extended over a period of two weeks. There has been a number of conversions and the Holy Spirit seems to pervade the whole community. There are many who are "almost persuaded" and many under conviction who for some cause harden their hearts and are saying "next time will be time enough." We pray that they may not be too late.

Thursday night was especially a spiritual feast. Three were baptized, a number taken into the church in full membership, and those recently converted admitted on probation under the new and beautiful form adopted by the last conference. During the singing of appropriate hymns all the Christians went forward and extended the glad hand of Christian fellowship to the new members and recent converts. Special prayers were asked for unsaved friends and relations and it was certainly "good to be there." With the new acquisitions we will have strength enough to form classes, Epworth League, prayer meetings and whatsoever will help and strengthen us in our duty to God and our labor for the Master. QUAKER NECK.

Short Church Notes.

We had the pleasure of being present last Sunday at the Methodist Episcopal Church, Chestertown, to hear the Rev. W. P. Comptom preach to the Mount Vernon Society of Washington College. This is the 50th anniversary and they appropriately celebrated it. The sermon was a success. It was masterly, learned and scintilcated with beautiful sentences. The house was full, and singing extra. Miss Lambert, the organist, has but few that can excel her.

Rich Neck correspondent of Centreville Record.

Rev. J. H. Willey, former pastor of Chestertown Methodist Episcopal Church has received a call to Nostrand Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church of Brooklyn. The salary is $4,000. Dr. Willey is at present located in Syracuse.

Father McSweeney advertises the old Chestertown rectory for sale preparatory to the erection of a handsome priest's house on the site of the present building.

It is now announced that the Diocese of Wilmington is to have two new priests. Edward McVey of St. Mary's parish will be ordained in June, and after the ordination it is expected that Fathers Temple and McVey will be brought to this diocese. One will probably be sent to fill the vacancy in the church at Cambridge. Rev. Dr Temple is now a professor in or near New York city.

Still Pond News.

The Hepbron sale on Monday was one of the most largely attended events of the kind ever held in Kent County. Good prices were secured, horses bringing as high as $52 and other property in proportion.

Messrs. Stavely & Bowers are carrying out this week extensive and important changes in Medders & Co.'s building. When completed, these improvements will render this building one of the handsomest country stores in the State. It will enclose a splendid stock of general merchandise proverbially high in quality and low in prices. Much of the sharp business competition which has been such a boon to Still Pond consumers, is directly due to the energy, ability and success of Mr. William Medders. His introduction of city methods has had the patronage it deserves.

The monthly social and business (?) meeting of the Epworth League will be held this evening, at the residence of Mr. J. W. Harper.

Mrs. I. R. Starkey has been quite ill, but is somewhat improved at this writing.

An Interesting Fact Concerning Fire Insurance.—Policy No. 25, for $2,400, issued in 1847, by the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Kent county, was recently cancelled. It was one of the oldest policies of the company, and, as its number indicates, the 25th policy issued. It shows in a striking manner the extremely low cost of insurance in the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Kent county during the past 70 years.

The holders of this policy paid to the company during these fifty years, in premiums and assessments	$161 69
And received from the company, in dividends and in amount paid at the time of cancellation	336 44

The receipts from the company were more than double the payments made, though the property was insured the entire time. Had such a policy been taken out in 1847 in a stock company at the lowest present rates and continued to the present time, the insurance would have cost $480, or fifty payments of about $9.60 each; and none of this $480 would have been returned. Adding to this $480, the amount received on the policy issued by the Kent Mutual over and above the payments made, viz., $164 75, and it shows that the difference in the cost of the two policies would have been $644.75. In other words, the insurance in the Mutual of Kent has cost $644.75 less than it would have cost had the insurance been taken out in a stock company at the lowest present rates for insuring such property. 3t.

THE CONFERENCE PROGRAMME.

Rev. W. P. Compton, pastor of the Chestertown Methodist Episcopal church, has completed the assignment of homes to the official guests, and the interesting item of news is now given to the public for the first time. The arrangements for the entertainment of so large a number of guests has entailed an immense amount of work upon Mr. Compton, but with characteristic zeal and ability he entered upon the work and has nearly completed every detail of the arduous task, and when the time for the formal opening of conference arrives no friction in any department will be encountered but all will be in readiness.
