THE DINGLEY BILL was passed on Monday by a vote of 189 for to 115 against, by the conference committee. The American people will soon have an opportunity to grow rich and happy through the medium of taxation. Upon the virtual passage of the bill the sugar trust stocks bounced from 133¾ to 144¼, the highest price on record.

THE TAX-PAYERS of Kent are anxiously awaiting the detailed levy which on July the seventh was promised to be "ready for publication next week." The jugglery with the figures of the levy list has already occupied much of the time of the distinguished head of the board of county commissioners, and if he supposes that he can manipulate the showing so that only such persons as he may wish, will discover the sham of this year's levy, he has undertaken rather a protracted and hopeless task. Let the figures come, the people want to figure a little now and discover the source of and reasons for the claimed two-cent decrease for the present year.

THE PRACTICAL RESULT of the bold stroke made by the Republican judicial convention to entrap the Prohibition voters of the second judicial district, will, it is believed, prove a dismal failure. It was an impeachment of the sterling common sense and that strong vigorous manhood which are prominent characteristics of the Prohibition party, to try to entrap them by such a subterfuge as was passed in the form of a "resolution" at Centreville. To what element of voters in Kent county are we indebted for the passage of a prohibatory law, if not the intelligent vote of its white citizens? Then, too, as between the Democratic party possessing ninety per cent of that vote, against the Republican party with ten per cent, is it not an absurdity to claim that the Republican party "has been largely instrumental in securing the adoption of the law in all the counties of this circuit?"

WHAT THE AMERICAN PEOPLE need in far greater degree than the Dingley Tariff to sap their very life blood out, are proper emigration laws. Laws which, instead of making of the United States the refuge of the criminal and pauper classes of the world, thereby forcing the American laborer into competition with the worst elements of Europe, will result in bringing to our shores men of brain, brawn and character. What this country wants and needs most is the introduction of men competent to become intelligent citizens and laborers whose talent in the labor markets of the world is as valuable and will command an honest, living remuneration. Judicious and intelligently enforced emigration laws play an important part in the weal of any country.

VAST DIFFERENCES of opinion exist among Republican leaders in Kent relative to the purity of party methods and party measures. At a recent meeting the Senator from Kent was horrified that an insinuation should be made that some of their primaries, and, indeed, some of their elections had not borne the stamp of being immaculate, and he had resolutions promptly shelved that asked that "fair and honest primaries and elections" be secured beyond all question to the voters of this county. An unequivocal demand for honorable judges and clerks of election, a fair representation of all candidates in campaign management, uniformity in the size of tickets at primary elections, voting from the registration lists, and legalized primaries, sent a thrill of indignant resentment through certain prominent leaders. They hautily declared that irregularities in Republican party management in this county were unheard of occurrences, and resented the indirect impeachment, but became strangely quiet when told that tickets of different colors and size, together with other political improprieties had marked some of their mid-summer and early fall contests. The time and place were pointed out for their edification.

THE WHEAT MARKET.

The farmers of Kent, together with those of the great wheat-growing sections of the Union, are more cheerful than during many seasons. The crop of the United States, estimated at 550,000,000 bushels, is abundant and of fine quality, and in this State it is exceptionally large. Europe, India and Australia are short in crop, and instead of supplying to a great extent the demands of western European markets, it is reported that India and Australia will be forced into the market for home consumption. Indeed, Australia has already made demands upon the granaries of the Pacific Coast for grain to supply bread for her own people. France, it is estimated, will need 6,600,000 quarters or 33,000,000 bushels from this side of the ocean against 10,000,000 last year. Great Britain's crop is short and her elevator supply is now reported as nearly exhausted, with harvest still several weeks off. A protracted drought has cut the Russian crop, and in Italy, Austria, Turkey and the Danunbian provinces it is below the average because of unfavorable weather. These reports are taken from official sources, and it is fair to presume that they are in the main reliable. Should they prove authentic, it is clear that the unusual conditions which exist in the great wheat-growing countries will create a continued strong demand for all the wheat grown on the American continent. The unusually brisk demand several months ago when American wheat nearly reached the dollar mark, emptied a large percentage of the granaries of this country and a general clearing out took place. The present stock of last year's crop, as well as the estimate for the crop of this year is, of course, largely speculative, but assuming their correctness, America will have 200,000,000 bushels for export, allowing 350,000,000 bushels for home consumption. It is also stated that:

"There is just now a growing demand in Japan for our flour. A few years ago it was almost nothing. This year the exports to Eastern Asia, mainly Japan, which has grown rich since the war with China, will amount to a million barrels of flour, equivalent to nearly five million bushels of wheat. Congress would do the people a better service by fostering this trade than by destroying it in a senseless dispute over Hawaii with that friendly and progressive country."

KEATING'S SENTENCE.

Mrs. Mary M. Comegys Writes to Gov. Lowndes That it is Not Being Carried Out.

GOVERNOR ACTS PROMPTLY.

No case tried in the courts of the second judicial circuit in many years created more widespread interest than the trial of B. Palmer Keating, for thirty years a prominent member of the Centreville bar. The removal of the case to Cambridge, the trial and the subsequent conviction and imprisonment of the Centreville lawyer were given in full in the TRANSCRIPT as current news as they followed in rapid succession. From the day that Mr. Keating was lodged in jail reports of a lax enforcement of the sentence of the court was given currency. It was said that the supposed prisoner had a private room elegantly furnished in the sheriff's residence portion of the jail; indeed, it was claimed that the private room of the sheriff's wife had been given to the prisoner, and that Mrs. Wooleyhand in her disgust had left the jail. That special meals and comforts enjoyed by but few well-to-do farmers were being provided. Many of these reports were accepted as without foundation. Mrs. Comegys, however, heard of these reports and the publication of her letter and a letter from the Governor to Judge Page on Monday, came with startling suddenness, and will doubtless result in a thorough investigation of the case. Mr. Keating was for many years one of the leaders in social, professional and political circles in Q.A.'s co. At one time he was supposed to possess considerable property, and his financial collapse, together with the charges made against him, caused a genuine sensation, not only in his native county, but throughout the State.

The following correspondence composes the first chapter of the sequel to the Keating trial.

Governor Lowndes has sent the following letter to Judge Page, of Somerset county:

Hon. Henry Page,
Chief Judge First Jud. Circuit,
Princess Ann, Md.

DEAR SIR:—I beg to transmit herewith for your consideration, and for such action as you may deem proper, a letter from Mrs. Mary M. Comegys, complaining of the conduct of Sheriff Wooleyhand in permitting B. Palmer Keating, now under sentence of one year in jail, to "visit his home at will and remain as long as he pleases."

Mrs. Comegys, as you will doubtless recall, was the prosecuting witness in the case in which Keating was convicted and sentenced, and her letter only corroborates information about the sheriff's conduct which comes to me from other and reliable sources.

I am advised that the conduct of the sheriff in this respect may constitute a contempt of your court, and I therefore bring the matter to your attention, so that you who imposed the sentence in the case may take such action as you may think the circumstances demand.

I am also advised that the facts complained of, if established, would render the sheriff liable to criminal prosecution in his county, and I therefore suggest that you, after taking such action as you deem proper, transmit the letter of Mrs. Comegys to Chief Judge Russum, so that he may call the matter to the attention of the grand jury of Queen Anne's county, if he thinks such action should be taken.

Mrs. Comegys' Letter.

The letter to which the Governor refers is as follows:

CENTREVILLE, MD., July 16, 1897.
To His Excellency, Gov. Lloyd Lowndes:

I desire to call your attention to what I consider a serious dereliction of duty on the part of the sheriff, James Wooleyhand, of this county.

During the November term of our court B. Palmer Keating was indicted on the charge of embezzlement. The case was removed from this county to that of Dorchester, where he was tried, convicted and sentenced to be confined in the Centreville jail for a term of one year.

This sentence has not been carried out nor is it being carried out. The failure to do so is due to the flagrant conduct of the sheriff. As a matter of fact Keating has never been in jail, but occupies a room tastily furnished in the resident part of the jail and leads a life of freedom and enjoyment. Nor is this all or the worst part of the farce. Keating is permitted to visit his home at will and remain as long as he pleases. He is treated not like a criminal, as the law directed, but more like a prince.

Such action by the sheriff makes the law a mockery and tends to create anarchy. A petty thief is locked in his cell and the full measure of the law is meted out to him, while a man like Keating, who robbed widows, orphans and others of their all, is being treated like a nabob. This is surely a miscarriage of intended justice.

I trust you will make an investigation of this matter and see that the punishment directed by the law shall fall on the rich offender as well as the poor one.

From one who was robbed of three thousand dollars by this alleged prisoner.

Very respectfully,
MARY M. COMEGYS.

What the Govenror Says.

In speaking of the complaint of Mrs. Comegys, the Governor said:

"I am somewhat surprised to hear that in any county in this State the mandates and sentences of the courts are not observed. The judges of Maryland are known to enforce the laws, and the knowledge thatee a sheriff or other officer has set at defiance the solemn sentence of a judge will certainly meet with the condemnation of the people of Maryland.

"The fact that a man may have wealth, family, influence or position has never yet availed him in the State to secure greater immunity at the hands of the law than his less fartunate neighbor, and if there is any evidence of a growing tendency in any part of the State to discriminate between the rich and poor, black and white, high and low criminal, it should be promptly and effectually stampted out. Nothing should be allowed to be done by any subordinate officer of the court to shake the faith of the people in its fairness in the imposition of sentences and its ability to impartially enforce its decrees and orders.

"If the complaints made by Mrs. Comegys and others about the conduct of the sheriff of Queen Anne's county be established, speedy and condign punishment ought to be imposed on him

"I am advised that two avenues of prosecution are open—one by contempt proceedings on the part of the court imposing the sentence, and the other by indictment by the grand jury of the county in which the alleged misconduct occurred and I have full confidence that the judges will invistigate the matter and deal with it as the facts warrant, and if they find them as represented will not hesitate to provide for the enforcement of their orders and sentences.

"I am glad that the facts are brought to light and the people given an opportunity through the press to know that the derelictions of an officer cannot go unchallenged and, if proved, unpunished.

"The courts of Maryland will continue to maintain their dignity, and no matter what the position of the offender may be he will not in Maryland go unpunished."

What the Sheriff Says.

When interviewed, Sheriff Woollyhand and his deputy, T. Sudler Roberts, made the following statement in reference to the letter written by Mrs. Mary M. Comegys to Governor Lowndes, complaining of the sheriff's conduct in premitting Mr. Keating to visit his home:

"We have never allowed Mr. Keating to leave the jail except in the custody of an officer. As is the custom in other places, we have escorted him to his home on various occasions for the purpose of taking a bath and changing his clothing. Previous to this we have never been aware of any objections being made to such a proceeding, and considered that we were acting fully within the requirements of the law. We are responsible for his safe-keeping and for his appearance at any moment, and do not think we are violating any statute by doing what has been repeatedly done elsewhere. In Baltimore city jail and the various county jails the prisoners are allowed the privilege of furnishing their own rooms, and we do not transgress the bounds of custom in allowing Mr. Keating to do the same. He is a man of delicate physique, and confinement in a bare, ill-ventilated cell would probably kill him before the expiration of his sentence. We feel that we have fulfilled our duties in complying with the sentence of the court and are confident of our ability to refute any charges which may be made against us, either before Judge Page or the grand jury of this county."

TUESDAY'S CONVENTIONS.

Democrats and Prohibitionists in Session Arranging for State Convention Work.

Pursuant to call of the county central committee, primaries were held throughout Kent county on Saturday and six delegates elected to the county convention which met in Chestertown on Tuesday, to name six delegates to the State convention which will meet in Baltimore on Wednesday next, July 28. The duty of this State convention will be to nominate a candidate for Comptroller of the State Treasury and a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

The Convention.

The convention was well attended, delegates and representatives being present from each district of the county. William M. Slay, Esq., was made chairman of the convention, and Mr. Joseph Peterson, secretary. Upon motion, the chairman of each district except from the sixth put in nomination one candidate for delegate to the State convention as follows:

First district, Dr. E. G. Clarke; second, John C. Sutton; third, John H. O. Stokes; fourth, Samuel Hicks; fifth, James B. Willson; seventh, Richard Groves. These delegates will each have one-half vote.

The district delegates to Tuesday's convention were:

First District—R. F. Moffett, Govey Everett, R. W. Comegys, J. F. Willson, D. J. McCauley, Sam'l Todd.

Second—L. J. Usilton, J. B. Hossenger, Robert Wallis, John Price, Wm. Parr, Jas. McKee.

Third—Capt. Jas. T. Brice, James G. Harris, Walter T. Morris, Jas. H. Sheets, John C. Jones, Harry E. Taylor.

Fourth—W. M. Slay, W. L. Fowler, J. L. Bowers, A. J. Hynson, G. A. Jarman, John N. Dodd.

Sixth—Jos. Peterson, R. C. Morgan, Thos. Davis, Jas. Bennett, John Lewis Israel Walbert.

Seventh—R. Groves, Morgan Brown, Charles Brown, George Beck, Walter Fletcher, T. A. Wallis.

The Prohibition Convention.

The prohibition convention called to meet in Chestertown on Tuesday, because of the inclemency of the weather was poorly attended and was turned into a brief informal discussion of some unimportant matters. Messrs. George Covington, William M. Watts and Thomas Rasin, were appointed a committee to select delegates to the Prohibition State convention to meet at Glyndon, on August 5th. At the State convention candidates will be named for Comptroller of the State and Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Each county is entitled to 2 delegates and two alternates for each representative in the Legislature, and also one for each one hundred votes or fraction thereof cast at the last election for the Prohibition ticket. Kent is entitled to seven delegates and seven alternates. No definite details for the approaching campaign will be determined upon until after the Glyndon convention.

Order of Publication.

William J. Coleman, et al.
vs.
Sophia Jones, James Jones.

In the Circuit Court for Kent county, in equity.

NO 1272 CHANCERY.

THE object of this suit is to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate in Kent County, in this State, of which Samuel Jones, late of Kent County, died seized and possessed.

The bill states that the said Samuel Jones was in his lifetime indebted unto William J. Coleman, one of the plaintiffs, in the sum of twenty-nine dollars and six cents, on open account, and also unto William H. Krisen, in the sum of eighteen dollars, on open account, and unto Richard T. Turner, Jr., and Howard Turner, trading as Turner & Son, in the sum of thirty-two dollars and twenty-three cents, on a certain promissory note dated January 1st, 1896, and payable one day after date, as will appear by reference to said note filed in said suit.

That said Samuel Jones, being so indebted, and also unto divers other persons in considerable sums of money, and having a small tract of real estate in Kent county, but no personal estate, departed this life in the month of July, in the year eighteen hundred and ninety-six, intestate, and leaving a widow, Sophia Jones, and one child, James Jones, as his heirs-at-law, both of whom are adults, and the widow resides in Kent county, Maryland, and the said James Jones resides in the State of Pennsylvania.

The bill further states, that as the said Sam'l Jones did not leave personal estate sufficient to pay his debts, the aforesaid creditors are entitled to have their claims paid out of a sale of the real estate of the said Samuel Jones.

It is thereupon, this 7th day of July, 1897, ordered by the Circuit Court for Kent county, in equity, that the plaintiffs, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper printed and published in said Kent county once in each of four successive weeks before the 6th day of August, 1897, give notice to the said absent defendant of the object and substance of this bill, warning him to appear in this court in person or by solicitor, on or before the 23d day of August next, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

SAMUEL G. FISHER, Clerk.
