Post-War Jobs

The question of what is going to become of war workers when the war ends and production of war equipment stops is one of the questions which Washington and industry are trying to answer right now.

So far the solution has not been found. Large industries which know they can employ an enormous number of men when they are ready for all-out civilian production, don't know what they can do about those workers while they are installing new equipment for peacetime manufacturing.

Unless some answer is found there is bound to be a period of six months or a year of widespread unemployment.

At present there is enough money saved by the people of this country, in war bonds and in savings banks, to almost guarantee a major buying spree and period of prosperity after the war. But if those savings have to be spent to support families temporarily unemployed, enough will be used up to explode all our dreams of new cars, new homes or new anything.

One plan which has been given some consideration has been to compel industry to give war workers a six-month vacation with pay during that transition period. But such a solution would indirectly cost the consumer billions of dollars and would force smaller companies into bankruptcy.

With all the brilliant minds which are working on this problem, it would seem that they could arrive at some better answer than government or industry hand-outs.

Baseball's Big Day

If there was some way to harness enthusiasm, and transfuse it into war work, we could probably have gone a long way toward winning the war with the abundance of enthusiasm expended on the World Series baseball games.

According to reports from New York and St. Louis, the excitement created by the battle between the Yankees and the Cardinals this year was greater than at any time in history. Hotel rooms were sold out weeks ahead. Restaurants were filled to the gills, night clubs were turning thousands away and the ball parks were bulging at the sides.

In spite of war transportation problems and busy war jobs, baseball fans poured in from all sections of the country. To millions of Americans the war news took a back seat as the inning by inning scores of our annual baseball classic kept the wires hot.

During war time it may seem to some a sacrilege that a mere game could be given such nationwide attention. But actually, this interest in baseball during wartime is in no sense unpatriotic. The best proof of that is the afct that service men were among the most excited witnesses of the games—and even on foreign fronts many a former baseball fan was temporarily more interested in how the "series" was coming out than in how his own army was progressing.

It still seems too bad that we can't stir up national excitement over our war effort to the pitch shown over the battle of battles o the baseball diamond—but that is no reason for condemning baseba or its followers.

STATE INCOME TAX CUT TO ONE PER CENT

Marylanders will pay the State the equivalent of one per cent tax on their 1943 incomes.

Governor O'Conor announced yesterday that the Board of Public Works had decreed that only 50 per cent of individual tax liability will be collected on 1943 incomes in the 1944 revenue year.

There has been no change in the two per cent rate of the State income levy.

The new order of the Board of Public Works, which authorized the reduction at a special meeting held in Governor O'Conor's office in the State House, was issued under an act of the Legislature.

Although the rate was allowed to remain at 2 per cent the State only collected 66 2-3 per cent of the amount due under this rate on 1942 incomes. Yesterday's action by the board calls for collection of only 50 per cent of what would be due under the 2 per cent rate.

Earlier this year a 33 1-3 per cent reduction had been made to apply to 1942, 1943 and 1944 incomes, representing $12,135,000 which tax payers would not be called upon to pay. Yesterday's action added another $1,605,000 to the amount they will be relieved of paying.

The reduction was a part of the fiscal program of the State Administration, Governor O'Conor said. At the beginning of the present fiscal year, July 1, the State had accumulated a greater surplus than had been anticipated. From the surplus the Legislature appropriated amounts totaling $8,005,000 for post-war and emergency funds and for teachers and State employees' bonus and salary adjustments.

After providing for a working fund of $2,000,000, there remained approximately $1,800,000. The surplus resulted from reversions of unspent appropriations in the different State departments and agencies and from increased revenues over the estimated amounts.

The fifty per cent deduction authorized by yesterday's action represents a reduction in individual's tax liability of $4,815,000. Of this amount two thirds, or $3,210,000, represnts deduction made earlier in the year and applicable to 1943 incomes.

Yesterday's action added another $1,605,000.

FEWER TIRES INDICATED FOR CAR OWNERS IN NOV.

Because of an acute shortage of new passenger and truck tires the Office of Price Administration has cut the November quota for drivers sharply.

It was said that there would be available for rationing 30 per cent fewer truck tires and 14 per cent fewer new tires for passenger cars than in October. The November quota will be 290,245 truck tires and 553,688 passenger car tires.

OPA increased by 28 per cent the quota of used or recapped passenger car tires from 648,000 in October to 829,650 for November.

Aid to Enemy

"Any American who wilfully neglects to pay his taxes on time or to invest every cent he can in War Bonds is surely giving aid and comfort to the enemy . . . We have a job to do and we are all called for service to our country. Our dollars are called to service too. Let us all ask ourselves, 'Shall we be more tender with our dollars than with the lives of our sons?'" — Secretary Morgenthau.
