HAPPY GRADUATES.

Pleasant Commencement Exercises of the Chestertown Public School.

List of Promotions.

The commencement exercises of the Chestertown Public School took place last night in Stam's Hall, and were of an unusually interesting character. The graduates were Misses Ethel Coleman, Maud Wilkins, Addie Hurlock, Iris Anthony and Charles Kibler.

The hall was literally packed with friends of the fair young graduates, and those who attended were more than compensated for the discomforts of the heart by the delightful character of the exercises. The program was opened by music by the orchestra, which was followed by prayer by Rev. J. M. Gill, of Christ Methodist Protestant church. Then came music by the orchestra, after which Miss Maud Wilkins read an essay, her subject being The Education of a Girl. The young essayist insisted that the first object of every girl should be to form habits of thoughtful application. The arts of conversation and correspondence, she thought, are greatly neglected since "The good old days." "Girls," she said "should be womanly in matters, not only in those pertaining to domestic life, but in all others, ever showing an intelligent interest in all humanity. If it is necessary for girls to make their own way in the business world in any capacity whatever they may select, it is not necessary for them to neglect their home duties; all work should be done in a womanly manner."

A charming vocal solo by Miss Isabel Beck, was followed by an essay, on The Influence of Kind Words, by Miss Ethel Coleman. The essay opened with the beautiful sentiment, which though quoted, was none the less beautiful, that "kind words are the music of good will to men, and on this harp the smallest fingers in the world may play Heaven's sweetest tunes on earth." She said, "We may be outspoken and fearless when we think we are right, letting our words be a reflection of our lives." Charles Kibler selected as his subject Manual Training. The position was taken that manual training has a most promising future, and by the way, the young essayest is one of the most expert members of the manual training department in the school. He gave a comprehensive and interesting review of the work in the Chestertown school as well as a somewhat historical sketch of the splendid work done in the department of training the young in the use tools. Miss Addie Hurlock assumed the pleasant task of writing the history of her class, stating that from twenty-six in the first-sixth grade her class comrades had continued to decrease until but five remained at graduation. The hardships and pleasures of school life were interestingly reviewed.

After music, The Maiden's Wish, by Miss Mabel Toulson, Miss Iris Anthony read her pleasant class prophesy, Looking Forward. In this the mystic viel of the future was drawn and the members of the class of the Chestertown Public School of 1900, were in fancey given their life-work. Miss Ethel Coleman was pictured as the wife of a missionary, doing great good in the Philippines; Miss Addie Hurlock, was discovered by the fair prophetess teaching in a quaint New Hampshire school; Miss Wilkins, the artist and painter, came next and found favor with the class chronicter. She had returned blushing with honors from her studies in Italy: Charles Kibler, prosperous farmer, smiling in the midst of his family and fertile acres of farmlands, was located in Queen Anne county, while the writer of the commencement prophecy had joined the honored and successful ranks of literature. The paper was happily conceived and pleasantly writien.

Next on the program was a musical selection by Miss Isabel Beck, after which the orator of the occasion, Rev. Louis Randall, of Kennedyville, delivered the address to the graduates. The speaker gave much food for thought, not alone to the graduating class, but to pupils in the great public school of human endeavor, of maturer years. Mr. Randall's effort was masterly and was greatly enjoyed. His subject was The Object of our Public School System. "Qui vive," Galop de Concert, was finely rendered by Misses Olivia Wilkins and Nannie Dixon.

Prof. L. J. Smyth delivered the certificates and prizes. The two "first" prizes of the eighth grade were won by Misses Ethel Coleman and Addie Hurlock, each having the same average.

Maud Wilkins won the eighth grade prize, Mettie Loud, the seventh; Willie Maslin, the second-sixth; Anna Harris, the first-sixth, and Dovie Connelly the fifth grade prize. Little Miss Elizabeth Brown, a member of the fifth grade received a gold medal for attendance, not having missed a day during the year. Little Miss Louise Musselman received a book, as a prize for best writing.

The program was interspersed with fine music by the following orchestra: A. M. Culp and L. B. Russell, cornets; D. P. Jones, 2d tenor; J. N. Dood, alto; J. C. Cannan, bass; Arlington Sparks, first tenor; L. R. Herrick, baritone and J. F. Thompson, first cornet.

OBITUARY.

MRS. GEORGE B. HOLLIDAY.

Mrs. George B. Holliday, a sister of Mrs. S. L. Thomas, of Chestertown, died at her home in Baltimore, on Tuesday morning. The end came after a short illness. Mrs. Thomas was summoned to the bedside of her sister on Tuesday morning, but before she reached Baltimore, going by Tolchester, Mrs. Holliday was dead. A husband and five children survive. Mrs. Holliday was before marriage a Miss Chamberlain.

MRS. A. R. KELLEY.

Mrs. A. R. Kelley, after a long illness and great suffering, passed quietly away on Wednesday, aged seventy-five years Two sons, Columbus, of Pennsylvania; James, of Pine Neck, and one daughter, Mrs. Rambo, of Baltimore, survive her.

Mrs. Kelley was a daughter of Capt. Smith, a sea-faring man, who was once wrecked on a cannibal island. He was the only one of the ship's crew who escaped being eaten.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon; interment in Chester cemetery. The bearers were: J. S. Bradley, S. F. Smith, M. A. Toulson, James Brice, Wm. B. Coleman and Joseph Guest. Undertaker J. E. Ferguson was funeral director.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. George P. Mariner and wife, of Philadelphia, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Kibler, Chestertown. Mr. Mariner is the owner of the fine farm in Queen Anne, tenanted by Mr. Stanford Dewberry.

Prof. Thomas D. Bowers, who has for several years most acceptably filled the position of first assistant in the St. Michaels High School, has been appointed principal of the Easton Grammar School. Mr. Bowers made no application for the position, so the honor comes purely as a recognition of conspicuous talent as shown in his work at St. Michaels. Prof. Bowers is spending the summer in Chestertown.

Dr. Frank T. Little, well-known in Kent, and one of the most vigorous thinkers and eloquent preachers in the Maryland Methodist Protestant Conference, has had the honorary degree of D. D. conferred upon him by the Kansas City University. Dr. Little is pastor of Starr M. P. Church, Baltimore.

Dr. S. Reese Murray, of Baltimore, delivered the address before the graduating class at the St. Michaels High School last week. The Easton Gazette say's the address "was a very scholarly effort, of great beauty of thought and expression". Dr. Murray, in addition to being a gentleman of great culture and learning, is a writer of elegant English, and is a graceful and forciful speaker.

Bader, the old Washington College base-ball catcher, has signed with the Cambridge team for the present season. Bader is, next to Zearfoss, the finest catcher who ever played with the college team.

Mr. Walter M. Greenwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Greenwood, graduated at Charlotte Hall Military School, on Wednesday. Mr. Greenwood held an honorable position in his class.

A first-grade teacher's certificate has been issued to Mr. W. L. Wheatley by the examiner of Caroline county. Mr. Wheatley was a graduate of Washington College the class of 1898 99.

Mr. J. F. Leary, of Rock Hall, was elected one of the vice-presidents of the Maryland Pharmacuetical Association, in session in Cumberland, last week. Mr. Owen C. Smith, son Mr. of S. F. Smith, Chestertown, was elected a member of the executive committee.

The Rev. S. J. Smith, upon whom the honorary degree of D. D. was conferred by Washington College at its recent commencement exercises, is a prominent minister of the Methodist Protestant Church. He was graduated from Washington College in the class of '76, and was noted not only for his exceptionally fine scholarship but also for his wholesome and formative influence over the entire student body. Since his graduation he has filled important charges in Seaford, Delaware, (where he built a fine church), Alexandria, Va., Washington, D. C., and elsewhere. He is now stationed at Salisbury, Maryland. The College has honored itself in thus honoring one of its most useful sons.

Dr. and Mrs. H. B. Simmons, Dr. H. L. Dodd, and Mr. and Mrs. Joel R. Clements attended the dedication of the handsome monument to Hahnemann, the father of homœpathy, in Washington, last week. The visitors were feted and otherwise delightfully entertained. A brilliant reception was tendered the visitors at the White House, at which Mr. Clements was introduced to President and Mrs. McKinley as "Dr. Clements, of Chestertown, Maryland." The "doctor" enjoys the joke.

Mr. Kent Lambert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Lambert, of the Voshell House, left Washington Sunday for San Francisco. Mr. Lambert has joined the army and from San Francisco will be ordered either to the Philippines or China.

Mr. George E. Lambert is visiting his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. A. Ayers, in St. Mary's county.

Prof. and Mrs. J. S. W. Jones, and little girl, of Washington College, will leave next week for Prof. Jones' home in Somerset county. Dr. and Mrs. Hall, will leave in the course of a few weeks for their old home in Michigan for the summer. After doing some work for the college Dr. Ried will enjoy his annual fishing and hunting trip in the mountains and Mrs. Ried will visit friends at Melford, Del. Prof. and Mrs. J. Roy Micou will remain at their pretty home at the college enjoying short excursions to the mountains or seashore during the heated term. Prof. and Mrs. E. J. Clarke, are summering at their home in Pocomoke City.

Miss Katharine Hobbs will enjoy the first weeks of her holiday at her home in Denton, and Miss Riley has returned to her home in Annapolis for the summer.

Miss Eleanor Trapnall, who has frequently been the guest of Miss Beulah Hayes, was married to Rev. Henry Felix Klomon, in Zion Protestant Episcopal church, Charles Town, West Virginia, last week. Miss Beulah Hayes was one of the bridesmaids.

Mr. T. R. Hubbard has received a letter from his son, Wilbur W. Hubbard posted in Switzerland. Mr. Hubbard has visited the Paris Exposition and is delighted with what he saw. While in Paris he met several Maryland friends.

Dr. H. L. Dodd has been elected to the vacancy on the board of Visitors and Governors of Washington College, caused by the death of the late William S. Walker.

Miss Ethel Stewart entertained a few friends at a croquet party on Friday afternoon, in honor of her guest, Miss Lula Dryden, of Baltimore.

Miss Nellie McWhorter delights a number of her young friends each afternoon and evening by drives in her pretty pony cart.

Dickinson College has conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity upon Rev. R. W. Todd, of the Wilmington M. E. Conference.

Major Buckley, auditor of the B. and O. Railroad, accompanied by his wife and Mrs. Paul Turner, made a trip to Chestertown on his beautiful yacht, Elanore, on Saturday evening.

Mr. Charles Boyles, of the firm of Turner & Boyles, at Worton Station, has returned from a protracted visit to Ashville, North Carolina, for his health. The many friends of Mr. Boyles will be pleased to learn that he looks the picture of health and says that he never felt better in his life.

The Chestertown Y, which was organized last February, was recently addressed by Miss Florence Hammond, of Baltimore. Those present were delighted with her talk. Miss Hammond is a fluent and graceful speaker, and was thoroughly posted on the subject in hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Eliason entertained a number of young friends very delightfully on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hope H. Barroll gave a whist party on Friday evening in honor of their guests, Mrs. M. L. Miller, and Miss Eloise Spencer, of Annapolis, and Miss Alexine Solomon, of Riverton, N. J. The floor of the reception hall was waxed and dancing was also enjoyed.

Capt. Edward W. Emory gave his sisters and friends a delightful cruise on the Chesapeake, last week. Annapolis and other points were visited. The young ladies did the cooking and a continuous feast of good things was enjoyed.

Mrs. Edna Stevens, of Denton, is visiting her niece, Miss Hester Russell, High street.

Master Hiram Jones, the young cornetist, has greatly added to the richness of the music in the principal's room in the Chestertown Public School, by his playing. He possesses rare talent.

The following citizens of Queen Anne, all well-known in Kent, have sailed for the Paris Exposition: Mrs. M. J. Cahoon, of Centreville; Mrs. William E. Rolph, a visitor in Centreville; Miss. Adelia E. Ellis, Sudlersville; Dr. R. M. Price and Lemuel Dunbracco. After visiting Paris a tour of the continent will be made.

Mrs. Whitlock, of Washington, D. C., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Copper, Washington avenue.
