THE WORLD OF ATHLETICS.

A New Intercollegiate Athletic Association to be Formed—Other Athletic Matters.

Washington College has been invited to become a charter member of a new Intercolligiate Athletic Association to be composed of St. John's College, Western Maryland College, Maryland Agriculture College and Washington College.

This seems to portend the breakup of the Association now existing composed of Johns Hopkins, Western Maryland College and St. Johns. For a long time great dissatisfaction has existed in the ranks of the abeve named institutions, on account of athletic politics in which Hopkins posed as a boss. Further, Hopkins refused to confine her athletics to undergraduates, and so outclassed the other colleges by her post-graduates that all competition was destroyed. The new association will drop Hopkins. Washington College will probably cooperate with the three colleges named above and hopes to revive interest in base ball and other sports, an interest which seems to have grown somewhat lax.

John Townsend, the old Washington College base ball pitcher, and his wife, visited Mr. Townsend's uncle, Mr. John D. Carter, at the Cliffs, last week. Mr. Townsend called at the TRANSCRIPT office and was looking hale and hearty. He stated that he has signed with the Washington team, of the National league, for the coming season. He laughed at the idea of having been fil, as reported by a Philadelphia paper. He further stated that his brother Samuel intends to enter Washington College with the opening of the spring team and will be an acquisition to the Washington College base ball team. He insists that his brother is equally as effective in the box as he was when he first joined the Washington College club.

SPORT WITH THE DUCKS.

Over One Hundred Black-Heads Bagged by Three Gunners in One Day—Many Wild-Geese Killed.

Fine spring black-heads were as plentiful in the Chestertown market on Tuesday as were herring or yellow perch.

Messrs. Abe Casey, Joseph Downey and Mr. Ayres, of Rock Hall, spent Monday in the blinds in Church Creek. These gentlemen have control of the grounds and had been baiting. From the ducker's standpoint Monday would not have been considered an ideal day for sport, but game showered in and the three gentlemen named were in trim for business.

At times there was a regular cannonade and over one hundred of the ducks dropped. Many pairs of the birds were disposed of in Chestertown at sixty cents per pair.

Not in any former season has so great a number of wild geese been killed in the wheat fields of Kent. In the vicinity of Black's station about twenty-five geese have been killed. William Graves leads the list of successful gunners with nine geese to his credit. Charles Elliott has killed three, Edward England three, Spencer Sutton three, Charles England and a number of others one each.

REYNARD'S TRICKS.

Fooled Green Spring Valley Hounds and Escaped.

The visiting members of the Green Spring Valley Hunt Club left Kent on Saturday afternoon after only a fairly successful outing. The two Queen Anne foxes on Friday gave poor sport, making but short dashes and soon eluded the dogs. The fine mount of Mr. Burke died within a few hours after his accident. This was the only serious mishap of the two days hunt. In addition to being a valuable animal from a monetary standpoint, Mr. Burke was more attached to the horse than to any of his several mounts.

The entertainment by Mr. George Brice at an oyster roast and scald on Friday night was socially a delightful success, and Mr. Brice was voted a capital host as well as one of the finest alround sportsmen on the Eastern Shore

On Friday morning a bag fox was turned out in Quaker Neck, but unfortunately reynard was caught napping and ran directly into the jaws of an outside hound. For a long distance this fresh dog was snapping at the fox's brush and so wearied him that he was soon caught. Mr. Brice was in at the death and captured the brush.

Broad Neck was then invaded and a game fellow was soon started, but he played a characteristic trick, swam across a prong of Lankford's Bay and left the pack to guess where he "was at." The party took the afternoon boat at Tolchester for Baltimore. Misses Helen and Amye Shaw joined in the chase each day and were well in with the best of the riders throughout the hunt.

THE EASTER JOY.

Delightful Musical Programs Arranged for To-morrow's Services.

Choirs of the different churches have completed preparations for a delightful celebration of the Easter Joy in song. The triumph of the Resurrection morning will be heralded in sweet music, pastors will discourse upon the ever-new and ever reassuring story of the Risen Lord. Bright flowers will send out their fragrance and lend their beauty to honor the great christian festival.

The TRANSCRIPT presents the programs of music for tomorrow in the Chestertown churches. On occount of the absence of the pastor, Rev. E. P. Roberts, there will be no service in the Methodist Episcopal church.

IMPROVEMENTS ABOUT TOWN.

Many Changes Being Made Which will add to Beauty and Comfort.

Contractor William R. Pippin will, at a near date, commence the work of putting a handsome plate glass front in the store of Mr. Rufus F. Parks. The entire front of this old business stand will be taken out, steel girders will support the super structure and the finest French plate glass will be used in making this front improvement. This is one of the most desirable and widely-known business places in Chestertown, and when the contemplated improvements are finished there will be few prettier store rooms on the Eastern Shore.

Contractor Walter T. Pippin, on Monday commenced the erection of two double houses on Scott street, near Scott's Point, for Mr. Joel R. Clements. The low ground back of the building lots is being filled in, and as rapidly as possible Mr. Clements desires to fill in the entire low portion of his lots in this section.

Mr. Frank H. Howard is beautifying the home of Mr. Walter T. Pippin with a spring suit of paint.

A NEW COMPANY.

Mr. Isaac Robinson has Organized the Canning and Mercantile Company of Kent County.

Judge James A. Pearce, on Wednesday signed the papers incorporating the Canning and Mercantile Company of Kent county.

The capital stock in $27,000, divided into 540 shares at $50 per share. The incorporators named are:—Isaac Robinson, George E. Silver, of Harford county; Dennis J. Wood, S. H. Pippin and Lawrence Ady, all of Kent county, Maryland. Mr. Robinson, Mr. Silver and Mr. Pippin were in the county prospecting as to the outlook for the new enterprise. The capital stock is all paid in and the new company is backed by a substantial bank account. The gentlemen stated that they will operate three canning houses in Kent this year—Rosedale and Hepbron, near Still Pond, and the large plant at Chestertown They will also conduct hardware and general implement stores at Chestertown and Still Pond.

Mr. Dennis J. Wood will have charge of the Chestertown business, and Mr. S. H. Pippin will be in charge at Still Pond.

THE CONFERENCES.

Bishop Joyce Exhorts Those Who Got Undesirable Places to Make the Best of the Situation.

The thirty-fourth Wilmington annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church adjourned on Wednesday directly after the appointments were made. Bishop Joyce made a few closing remarks, exhorting those who received undesirable appointments to accept the situation gracefully and remember that the best ministers are obliged to start at the lowest rung of the latter.

The committee presented a resolution, which was unanimously adopted, thanking the citizens of Crisfield for their hospitality. Music was rendered Wednesday morning by a double quartette of male voices.
