LOCAL MATTERS.

Fine New Safe.—Contractor A. M. Culp is putting in a fine new Miller safe in the Kent County Savings Bank. The safe weighs 5000 pounds and is of the very latest improvement in every respect—time-locks, Harveyized steel, etc.

Mr. Foxwell's Good Luck.—To plow up a snapping turtle means good luck and a big corn crop to the cropper. Mr. Garrett Foxwell's men on Friday plowed up a big snapper on the highest portion of the field. It is customary for turtles to spend the winter buried in the mud of a marsh or meadow, but this fellow sought high and dry ground.

A Fine Record.—Since the TRANSCRIPT announced the splendid result in egg production by forty-five hens belonging to a Chestertown lady, big records have continued to come in. Mrs. Gove Everett, of near Millington, leads the list so far. Mrs. Everett, since the last of January, has received 145 dozen eggs. She had fifty chickens hatched during the blizzard and lost but two. This is a difficult record to beat.

Claims $5,000 Insurance.—Mrs. Alice W. McFeely has sued the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance Company of Philadelphia in the United States Circuit Court to recover on a policy of insurance for $5,000 on the life of her husband, the late John Lloyd McFeely. The declaration states that Mr. McFeely was insured in the company on June 28, 1890, and died November 15, 1901. John P. Poe & Sons and Marion deK. Smith are the plaintiff's attorneys.

The Contest for Honors.—A preliminary contest took place at Washington College last week to decide who shall represent the college in the Oratorical Contest of Maryland colleges in April. Because of peculiar circumstances surrounding the preliminary contest no selections were made, but Messrs. Hitch, Nicholson and Marine were designated to contest after Easter for the honor of representing the college as principal and alternate in the contest in April.

Carried To Baltimore For Treatment.—Medford Capels, the unfortunate boy whose hand and forearm were shot off while ducking last week, was carried to a Baltimore hospital on Friday to have the arm amputated nearer the shoulder. Drs. Hines, Whaland and Simpers, immediately following the accident took the hand and arm off between the wrist and elbow, but it was later decided that the taking off of the arm near the shoulder was necessary.

Auditor and Treasurer Appointed.—Chief Judge James A. Pearce has named Lewin W. Wickes, Esq., as auditor of the court to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Eben F. Perkins, Esq., who for many years filled the position. William W. Beck, Esq., was appointed special auditor to act in the absence or ineligibility of the auditor. At a meeting of the board of visitors and governors of Washington College on Monday night, Mr. Eben F. Perkins was made treasurer to succeed his father who had for 20 years so efficiently filled the position.

Black Bass in Morgan Creek.—Mr. Long has taken several fine specimens of black-bass from his fish nets in Morgan Creek. Mr. Josiah Massey has a pond well stocked with black-bass near the waters of Morgant Creek; last year the dam of this pond broke and a number of fish were let into Morgan creek and are evidently growing. The growth of Mr Massey's fish has been entirely satisfactory and he has no doubt that the black-bass would live and propagate in the upper waters of the Chester were the young fry once placed there.

Large Sale of Horses.—Auctioneer C. H. Hurlock sold on Tuesday, for William Ralston, 40 Nebraska horses and mares, at prices, which were, as a rule, exceedingly good. The purchasers and prices paid were:—George McGrogan, two, $102, $76; J. D. Jarmar, $100; Samuel C. Loller, Jr., $76; W. W. Woodall, $101; J. Thomas Quigley, $77, $70; Raymond Bonwill, 57; John Stevens, $121; J. H. Story, $76, $68; B. J. McGugan, $110; William Fields, $120, $70; W. F. Melvin, $55; Frank Mason, $61; J. C. Jones, $58; Edward Warner, $55 John Redmile, $53, $61; Frank Morris, pair mules, $80. The sale aggregated $1647.

Disc Plow Exhibition.—Mr. George W. Smith gave a public exhibition of his Chattanooga Hancock Disc Plow at Mr. George Bell's, on Thursday. A heavy wire grass sod was selected, and with four horses the double disc was started. The test was in every way satisfactory. The plow turned a furrow of from 26 to 27 inches, 8 inches deep, completely turning under weeds and filth, and at the same time pulverizing the ground. So much pleased was Mr. Bell with the draft and general work of the implement, that he gave a written statement that four horses drew the plow with as much ease as three horses would carry the ordinary three-horse moulboard plow.

† Washington College will get its usual State appropriation.

Returned From Cuba.—Messrs. Fred G. Usilton and Lewin Skirven returned on Saturday from their several weeks trip to the Charleston Exposition, the principal points in Florida, and Havana, Cuba. Both gentlemen were deeply interested in all that they saw, but Havana was of course most fertile in novel and interesting features. In Florida they saw orange groves, pineapple groves, aligators, rattlesnakes and the indescribable beauty of the St. John's river scenery, but in Cuba there was endless variety, novelty and historic interest. Mr. Skirven describes the climate as being delightful. He says some of the Spanish ladies are beautiful, and the equipages are the finest he ever saw. They visited a large sugar plantation near Havana, and were greatly interested in the process of harvesting and handling the crop. The proprietor has his own railroad touching at different points on the plantation, and while the gentlemen were there a train came in bringing in carloads of cane. They brought back a number of interesting souvenirs of the trip.

The Peach Outlook in Georgia.—Peach growers are talking hopefully about the damage done to peach buds by the recent cold weather, but it is evident that it is impossible to say with much accuracy how great it is. According to the dispatches the damage done in some localities is very slight, while in others it is greater than the growers like to admit, even to themselves. The reports from the experiment stations are of a reassuring character—that is, they hold out the hope of a fair crop. Of some varities the per cent. of the buds killed is comparatively small, while of others it is large. Director Redding reports, after a careful examination, that of the Sneed variety only 20 per cent. of the buds are killed, of the Waddell 8 per cent., while of the Carman and Matthews' Beauty the damage amounts to fully 45 per cent. The chief peach is the Elberta, and it is estimated that it has been damaged 40 per cent. It will probably be found when the reports are all in that the damage is greater than has been estimated. It is sincerely to be hoped, however, that it isn't. If the damage is not 50 per cent. there are still enough buds to make a good average crop, and the fruit will be much larger and finer than if no damage had been done by cold.—Savannah News.

By an oversight the closing stansas of the pretty memorial poem dedicated to little Earle Gorman Bowman, of Betterton, by Mrs Rosalie Mitchell Schuyler, were omitted last week. The complete tribute to the child is here given:

TO EARLE GORMAN BOWMAN.

As the evening twilight came
And the stars appeared in the skies,
An angel knocked on the parents' hearts,—
An angel of Paradise.
One little child was theirs,
Only one loving and dear,
And the mother watched, and prayed and wept,
Her heart full of sorrow and fear.
And the angel said, "I have come
For thy child, so good and so pure,
Christ wants him to go from this world of sin,
From this world of temptations and care."
He waits for the "Little Ones,"
And says, "let them come unto me,
Oh! forbid them not, forbid them not,
For such of my kingdom shall be."
And he took little Gorman away,
The angel in vestment white,
And placed him in regions of fairest bloom,
In gardens where all is light.
When Jesus holds out His arms
To receive them close to His breast,
Where the wicked forever cease troubling,
And the weary forever are blest.
Blessed are they who mourn,—
The Savior of man, has said—
Blessed are they who mourn,
For they shall be comforted.

GASOLINE RAN OUT IN SQUALL.

Mr. N. Tip Slee Had Excitin" Trip on the Bay In His Launch.

Mr. N. Tip Slee, a member of the Corinthian Yacht Club, and a bicycle dealer well known in Kent, had a thrilling experience last Thursday a week ago in a small launch on the Chesapeake bay. He had gone to St. Michaels and was about to start for Baltimore when he discovered that he had not enough gasoline on board to last all the way up. He tried to buy some, but he was told that the roads were so bad as to make it impossible for gasoline wagons to move over them enough to supply the wants of the people. He finally found one wagon, but the man would only let him have 10 gallons. He then went to Kent Island, East Neck Island and Queenstown, but could not get another drop.

He knew of a place at Bodkin Point where a man had a 500-gallon tank of fluid and set out for that place. When within one mile of the point a squall came up, which turned our to be one of the wildest in years. His launch behaved well, but a firm hand was required to keep her nose in the wind. During the gale the gasoline supply gave out and the engine stopped running.

Mr. Slee now threw out the anchor and prepared to put up the awning as a sale when he saw the tug Progress, and by turning the wheel of his launch by hand he succeeded in blowing the whistle. At the same time he waved his flag until he attracted the attention of the tug. The sea was very high and when Mr. Slee raised his anchor preparatory to being taken in tow the launch started off at a lively rate. The tug followed at full speed, and for one mile there was a hot race. Mr. Slee was afraid to anchor again, as the tug might run into him. Finally the tug got near enough to catch the rope thrown over by Mr. Slee and he was towed up to the city.

A number of oyster boats caught in the squall were wrecked. Three others came up in the same tow with the launch.

Pneumonia Can be Prevented.

This disease always results from a cold or an attack of the grip and may be prevented by the timely use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This remedy was extensively used during the epidemics of la grippe of the past few years, and not a single case has ever been reported that did not recover or that resulted in pneumonia, which shows it to be a certain preventive for that dangerous disease.
