SATURDAY, JULY 12, 1902.

IT IS NOW POSSIBLE that King Edward of England, may be crowned on August 9. This distinguished patient continues to improve.

THERE WILL probably be no important development in the matter of the Trolley Line until the meeting of the county commissioners on Tuesday next.

HOPE HUSTLER BARROLL, is the name given by Col. George E. Haddaway, of Easton, to Hope H. Barroll Esqr., of the Kent county bar. Col. Haddaway rarely fails (except in politics) to hit the nail on the head.

THE PECULIARLY pertinent political conundrum is now being asked: What is the difference between Mount Peelee and United States Senator McComas? Answer,—Mount Peelee threw mud up, and Senator McComas threw Mudd down.

THE HEARING in the election contest cases was continued in Justice Melvin's court yesterday with the same result as has marked the proceedings of the other days. The chances so far are that the ballot boxes will not be opened. Capt. Joseph Downey, Willard England, Clarence L. Turner and Clerk James T. Dixon were examined yesterday. The last witness will be examined to day.

MR. ATWELL, a Republican, has rented the Almshouse farm, now tenanted by Mr. R. Moffett, a Democrat. Mr. Moffett was waited upon by a prominent Republican and told if he would come out and work for and support the Republican ticket he need not move. Mr. Moffett's answer was an honor to his manhood and the independence which should characterize every real man—be he Democrat or Republican. He spurned the insinuation as an insult, and has been accordingly notified to look for another farm. It is unfortunate that there are not more men who hold their manhood as too sacred a thing to be bartered for political patronage thrown to them by disreputable party leaders.

A COMMENDABLE INNOVATION.

Sidney P. Townshend, Esq., the new attorney to the board of county commissioners, has devised a system of reports which is a great advance over old methods. This innovation looks to the making of quarterly reports by all justices of the peace and police justices to the board of county commissioners. These reports give the docket number of each case, the title, charge, date of trial, number of witnesses on each side, disposition of case, fines paid and not paid, magistrates' costs charged county or paid by travaser, constables' costs charged county or paid by the travaser, with a blank space left for "remarks" which we would suggest be used to note the appearance of the State's Attorney, and if he appeared, whether or not it had been at the request of the justice. Police Justice France, following out this very commendable innovation, has filed his first report, which is from May 12 to June 30. This report shows 25 cases, in which there were fourteen findings of "guilty," five held for court and six declared "not guilty." These reports are comprehensive, and will prove interesting to the public from time to time. Mr. Townshend is to be congratulated upon his suggestion, and the board has shown wisdom in acting so promptly in adopting this excellent change.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

R. Bergen's Announcement.

R. Bergen makes some interesting announcements in his add this week. Mr. Bergen always has something of interest to the cautious purchaser of fine goods, and this season is no exception to his well established rule.

The delightful excursions to Rehoboth on Wednesday and Thursday of next week, should not be forgotten. These excursions, full particulars of which will be found in another column of this issue, will afford rare chances for a dip in the ocean and a pleasant trip at little cost.

The Same Old Story.

J. A. Kelley relates an experience similar to that which has happened in almost every neighborhood in the United States and has been told and retold by thousands of others. He says: "Last summer I had an attack of dysentery and purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy, which I used according to directions and with entirely satisfactory results. The trouble was controlled much quicker than former attacks when I used other remedies." Mr. Kelley is a well known citizen of Henderson, N. C. For sale by M. A. Toulson, Chestertown, Md.

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES.

The forthcoming levy list will make some interesting disclosures. Among other things it will show the great underlying causes which, after great travail gave birth to States Attorney John D. Urie's self-martyrizing solicitude and condition of financial plethora which last winter impelled him to seek a curtailment of fees and perquisites of his office. Snugly embosomed in the levy list now in a state of preparation will be these self-illuminating items: 51 appearances before justices outside of Chestertown at $7.50 each, or a total of $382.50; 76 cases before Justice Melvin at $3.33 or a total of $253.08; Circuit court expenses, $1,459.87, which figures incident to the Kent county State's Attorneyship make a shown total of $2,100.45—a sum more than double that ever received by a predecessor in office, and $1,100.45 more than is received by State's Attorney J. Frank Harper in the larger county of Queen Anne.

Is Mr. Urie responsible for his own appearance at so great a number of these penny-a-piece cases? Or can it be possible that the justices of the county solicit his presence at the innumerable petty cases which come before them? An answer to these questions would be equal in importance and interest to the figures which they would do much to explain. Are the magistrates or is Mr. Urie responsible for this needless but enormous expense to the people?

It is intimated that Mr. Urie will, at the next meeting of the Commissioner's Board, ask that their action of last week reducing his fees, be rescinded. This is an incredible report and does, we hope, an injustice to Mr. Urie's magnificent charity and that large-hearted generosity which characterizes the public benefactor of Mr. Urie's exclusive class. Attention is called to these interesting items simply that the large benefactions of the States attorney may not, in the hurry and rush of pressing business affairs, be entirely lost sight of. An unpardonable public oversight, forced Mr. Urie last year into an unenviable publicity in having to demand in person that his salary (conspicuous among the salaries of the State's Attorneys of the State by its largeness) be materially reduced. It is asked as a kindness to Mr. Urie that these matters be not in the future either ignored or overlooked. Mr. Urie's consistency as a great political leader and a financier of no mean capacity depend in large measure upon a due regard to the size of his financial emoluments. See to it, tax-payers of Kent, that these embarrassments cease, and cease at once.

The matter of auditing Kent county finances, referred to and insisted upon several weeks ago in THE TRANSCRIPT'S editorial column met with a hearty response. Both democratic and republican tax-payers insist that they have a right to know just what the county's financial condition is. An audit with a general straightening out of accounts as is done annually in Caroline county, would be a paying investment. When local conditions are fully known the remedy would be more easily discovered. The annual levy, which will be made public about the middle of August, may furnish food for thought and offer a basis for suggestions as to an adjustment of county financial affairs, aside from their political bearing.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Views of Readers of the Transcript on Timely Topics.

☞ The columns of the TRANSCRIPT are open to the proper discussion of all topics of public interest or importance. Whether the editors agree with the sentiments expressed or not, the people should and may be heard through the TRANSCRIPT'S columns—the paper will be the People's Forum from which they may be heard on all subjects, purely party politics excepted.

TEACHING GRAMMAR

MESSRS. EDITORS:—The day has been set for the examination of those who desire certificates to teach in our schools, and whose duty it shall be to instruct the children of Kent. This examination should be thorough and searching. Some of those who now teach in the schools are grossly incompetent, especially are they lacking in a knowledge of grammar, as the writer has often observed. The pupils, when they leave school, are untaught in the first principles of this most important branch, and can scarcely utter a grammatical expression, simply because the teacher (?) is incapable of imparting a knowledge of what is not possessed. I not long ago heard this reply to a question, on being asked to have a chair the party exclaimed: "You needn't to git no chair for me." This party is now a teacher in one of our public schools. What can be expected from the pupils of such a teacher? Lacking a knowledge of the principles of grammar how can such a one comprehend, much, less correct a mistake when made? I have listened to the talk of those who pretend to teach that was enough to make old Murray (if possible) come from his tomb and drive out such impostors as Christ drove out the money changers from His Father's temple, and for the same reason, that they defamed it. Such people, presuming to teach, do but defame the great temple of learning in attempting to do that which they are incapable of doing.

Therefore, let the examiner see that each applicant is fully qualified to teach, especially this most important branch, before a certificate be issued, and speedily root out all incompetents.

It has been a source of wonder to me how the party quoted above ever obtained a permit to teach. Either the examination was very superficial or the examiner did not look over the papers carefully.

TRUTH.

DEMOCRATS MEAN FIGHT.

What Democratic State Central Committee Did.

Fixed date and places of Congressional conventions as follows:

First District—Ocean City, September 4.

Second District—Havre de Grace, August 28.

Third District—Manhattan Hall, Baltimore, September 11.

Fourth District—Russell Hall, Baltimore, September 11.

Fifth District—Cross Street Hall, Baltimore, September 11.

Sixth District—Cumberland, September 4.

The action of the peace conference in postponing primaries for party organization until the summer of 1903 was ratified.

The special committee of seven to take charge of the municipal campaign will be appointed the first week of January next.

The State Central Committee for Baltimore city will have charge of the Congressional campaign in Baltimore this fall, and is also empowered to select auxiliary committees of three from each precinct as well as an executive from each ward, thus providing a party organization.

The work of the Democratic State Central Committee, which met on Wednesday afternoon at the Eutaw House, Baltimore, is succinctly given in the above summary. Harmony prevailed and every element of the party was represented. A more liberal spirit than has been shown in recent years was exhibited in the resolutions, and by many present the belief was expressed that the party managers had at last seen the wisdom of throwing away their "gum shoes" and are about to enter a campaign without these hitherto necessary articles.

The arrangements made for the coming campaign, as well as for the fight in the spring, seem to satisfy everyone, and there is seemingly nothing about them which will antagonize any element. In fact, one well-known Democrat who has not hitherto been friendly to the organization was heard to say after the meeting that henceforth in the Democratic party there would be nothing but "straight politics," and that the new primary law had made impossible the sulking of any one leader with a following, on the plea that he had been robbed of his rights.

JUDGE PEARCE'S ADDRESS.

On the second page of this issue will be found the address of Judge James A. Pearce before the State Bar Association, at Ocean City. Judge Pearce, in selecting "An Incident in the Life of Judge Carmichael," has emphasized a fact which throws light upon a phase of local history with which every well-informed citizen should be conversant. The Baltimore Sun, in referring editorially to Judge Pearce's address, said:

"Judge James Alfred Pearce, in his fine address to the State Bar Association, paid a deserved tribute to the memory of Judge Carmichael to his ability as a lawyer, his justice as a judge, his unflinching courage as a man and a citizen. He gives him full credit for his heroic attempt to uphold the law of the land in the face of the military lawlessness and aggression. The address dwelt more especially upon one incident in the life of Judge Carmichael. Citizens of Talbot and Queen Anne counties, which were in the Judge's circuit, had been deprived of their liberty by persons professing to act under military authority, without due process of law. Their homes had been invaded in the night and they had been taken from their beds to foreign prisons without being notified of any charges against them. Judge Carmichael, as was his duty, instructed the grand juries in these counties to inquire into these outrages and indict the guilty parties. He did this, knowing it was at the risk of his liberty, but that did not deter him. The consequence which had been forseen followed. His court was invaded by a Federal provost-marshal, accompanied by a band of armed men. The brave Judge was beaten down by these men and dragged bleeding from the bench. He was confined for months in a damp dungeon and his health was impaired. He applied for information of the nature of the charges against him, but his application was ignored.

"In the action which brought this vengeance upon the head of Judge Carmichael was but following the law as laid down by the highest Federal authority, namely, the Chief Justice of the United States, Judge Taney, in the Merryman case. Mr. John Merryman was a citizen of Baltimore county. In the middle of the night of May 25, 1861, while he was peaceably in his own home with his family, his house was entered by armed men, he was taken from his bed and carried to Fort McHenry, where he was imprisoned without lawful warrant or authority. Upon application the Chief Justice of the United States issued a writ of habeas corpus. But the commandant of the fort, Gen. Cadwalader, treated the writ with contempt and refused to bring the prisoner into court. He declared that a military officer resiling in Pennsylvania had ordered the arrest and that the President had authorized him to suspend the writ of habeas corpus. The Chief Justice in his opinion showed that in time of public danger Congress alone, and not the President, has the power to suspend this writ. This opinion was, by order of the Chief Justice, sent to the President. 'It will then remain for that high officer,' he said, 'in fulfillment of his Constitutional obligation, to take care that the laws be faithfully executed.'

"Judge Pearce did not revive the recollection of that painful time in factional or partisan spirit, but only to illustrate the courage and patriotism of a Maryland judge. The history will also serve to show the inevitable result of militarism in the triumph of force over law. It is well for the generation which has grown up since these things happened to be reminded of them, especially at a time when we are celebrating the independence of our people. It remains for the generations which are to come to determine whether that liberty which we were talking about yesterday shall continue to be real or whether it will finally become a mockery."
