Democratic Congressional Ticket.

FOR CONGRESS:

JAMES E. ELLEGOOD,

of Wicomico county.

HAS Chestertown a Health Officer? If so, who is he? If not, why not?

MR. ELLEGOOD represents a PRINCIPLE—Mr Jackson represents a "Bar'l" of money for the purchase of voters. Which will you take?

IT IS NOW CLAIMED that Delaware Republicans are colonizing Mr. Addick's State with Virginia negroes. Whether the "gas man" has the work in hand or the other side, is not stated.

THE OHIO Democratic State convention has endorsed Mr. Bryan and the Chicago platform, but more conspicuously was its endorsement intended for Hon. Tom L Johnson.

JEFFERSON DAVIS for governor, and the entire State ticket were elected in Arkansas on Tuesday. The entire Democratic ticket swept the State by about 45,000.

AN AIR of refreshing serenity hangs like a veil over the High street headquarters of the defeated republican faction in Kent. And why should it not? The other camp is invested with buoyant hopefulness.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS in convention assembled failed to nominate a candidate for Congress in the First district. Gentlemen, why not vote for Mr. Ellegood? Any Prohibitionist in Maryland could stand on his platform.

INDICATIONS NOW POINT to Mr. J. Henry Hurtt as his own successor in the Internal Revenue Department. Mr. Goldsborough, it is declared, will not remove the man who has made one of the most highly satisfactory records of any official in his department.

COLORED republican leaders in the Fifth and Sixth Congressional district are in a state of revolution against Messrs. Mudd and Pearre. They claim that the "bone and sinew" of the party in the State have not been properly recognized in the distribution of office, and they will place colored candidates in the field for Congress against the two western shore statesmen. Of course Messrs. Mudd and Pearre declare the move "ridiculous."

THE GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE TRANSCRIPT—Gentlemen:—In the coming Gubernatorial campaign of 1903 ought it not to be known and distinctly understood that the PEOPLE of Kent county have a preference? The name of Hon. Edwin Warfield has been received with marked and distinct satisfaction by the democracy of Kent. In the last fight when Governor Smith won, Mr. Warfield, when he found he was defeated, stepped gracefully aside and congratulated his opponent. Not only did he do this but he fought for him, and worked for him, and did all in his power to insure his election. The people have not forgotten these facts. Let it be known, then, through your columns that the Democratic sentiment of Kent is almost a unit in favor of the nomination and election of Mr. Warfield. Let this be known openly and above board, and let the PEOPLE themselves get the credit of his selection, and see that delegates are sent who will be Warfield men in the State convention This is a matter for discussion and for decision from now to the time of the primaries of 1903. Let not a few self-proclaimed leaders claim that they owned the delegates and delivered them in the convention. Let us therefore not allow such leaders to place out next Governor under personal obligations to them. Let the PEOPLE of Kent and the yeomen of the party have this credit, and let the next Governor know that he is wanted by the PEOPLE and that the managers in this contest must bow to the will of the people.

HOPE H. BARROLL.

Josh Westhafer, of Loogootee, Ind., is a poor man, but he says he would not be without Chamberlain's Pain Balm if it cost five dollars a bottle, for it saved him from being a cripple. No external application is equal to this linament for stiff and swollen joints, contracted muscles, stiff neck, sprains and rheumatic and muscular pains. It has also cured numerous cases of partial paralysis. It is for sale by M. A. Toulson, Chestertown, Md.

OUR RAILROAD FACILITIES.

Officially the depot moving business seems scarcely subject to change. The Pennsylvania Railroad management gives evidence of a determination to depart from its long-established rule of endeavoring to cultivate the most cordial relations and sympathy between itself and the citizens of the sections reached by the enormous spread of its system. The citizens of Chestertown have given the most unmistakable and substantial evidences of their desire for increased depot conveniences. They have contributed, of their limited means to the expense of securing this greatly needed change, but with a dilatoriness scarcely creditable to the business capacity of a catch-penny merchant, this gigantic corporation has halted, and, unlike itself, talked and promised without the slightest move to fulfill a promise made to the people.

The present passenger facilities are calculated to force each and ever patron of the road into a position of pronounced enmity. Instead of giving an afternoon passenger train, passengers over the road are subjected to conditions which are nothing less than tortureous and exasperating. Should the Pennsylvania Railroad, by any mischance be forced to face a jury of Kent countians, instead of having its case weighed cooly and dispassionately by unprejudiced and fairminded citizens, it will, if present conditions are allowed to go on, find its interests being considered by men unconsciously and unwillingly warped and prejudiced against it by years of injustice and a vicious disregard of their comfort and rights.

The public mind is now in a condition of friendly charity, but the continued ignoring of its appeals will force it to a reactive extreme which would be prejudicial to the interests of all parties concerned.

WHY THIS LACK OF INTEREST?

IT IS A FACT most deeply to be regretted, that at no session of the interesting meetings of the Teachers' Institute in Stam's Hall were there five persons, other than teachers whose duty it was to be present, in attendance. Not ten of the mothers and fathers of the more than two thousand children being educated in Kent county, felt sufficient interest in the discussions of the various phases of school work to honor themselves or give to the teachers the inspiration of their presence. Mothers who would devote hours to securing the perfect fit of a new dress, the harmony of coloring in the trimming of a new hat or bonnet, could not find the time to attend the discussions of questions so vital as the education of their children: fathers who would devote hours to the training of a dog, or days to the development of imaginary speed in some lank farm nag, could find no interest in the splendid effort being made by the State and the teachers to raise the standard of education in the public schools. Until the active support of the mothers and fathers of the children are enlisted in this great battle against ignorance now being waged by means of the public school system, the system must remain handicapped and in great measure a failure.

One gentleman declares the public school system radically wrong. Then let the higher intelligence of the people avail itself of every possible opportunity to correct the evil. This can in no way be so surely and speedily done as by a persistent co-operation of the patrons of the public schools with every means employed to advance and elevate the standard of excellence.

Those features of the Institute programs participated in by Dr. Boyer, Dr. Eckels, Miss Hardcastle and Miss Smith were instructive and really delightful, while the elaborate paper by Miss Link on "The relation of literature to the work of the teacher," and the shorter papers by other teachers, were all of them comprehensive, lucid and instructive.

A more profound interest on the part of parents in the education of their children, is the Golden Key which is to unlock the secret of the most efficient service and the nearest approach to the ideal public school system of the future.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CANDIDATE.

The Democratic Congressional convention, in session at Ocean City on Thursday, made no mistake in the selection of James E. Ellegood as the Congressional nominee of the Democracy of the First district. On the contrary, the convention has raised the clear cut issue of whether or not the First Congressional district is to go to the highest bidder for cash—an issue which the people must pass upon. A case is presented in the Congressional district in every way parallel to the blighting conditions which have existed in unfortunate Delaware for years past—money on the one side, as against intellectual vigor, honesty of purpose and an exalted citizenship on the other.

Mr. Jackson, the Republican nominee, has been selected for the avowed and specific purpose of BUYING the congressional election By debauching the manhood and outraging the citizenship of the district he hopes to make himself a member of the law-making body of the greatest nation upon the globe.

The Ocean City convention accepted the challenge of the Republican party to make this condition an issue before the people, by the nomination of James E. Ellegood and will fight it out along these lines.

For ten years the sturdy manhood and unimpeached and unimpeachable integrity of the people have cried out against the overthrow of PUBLIC OPINION as expressed through the ballot box, by money in the hands of office seekers and office mongers.—AND NOW THE ISSUE IS WITH THEM FOR DECISION.

If Mr. Ellegood stands committed to any one great principle more than another, it is against the purchase of the American franchise and for purity in political life. This stands as the one great sin of commission in the eyes of the gentlemen who have placed Mr. Jackson's "Barrel" and his general record as an issue upon which to win a seat in Congress.

A lawyer of pronounced ability, a citizen whose standard of honor is high, a business man of limited means, Mr. Ellegood stands as the ideal exponent of the great principle upon which the Democrats of the First Congressional District will make their fight.

Now, what will the PEOPLE do about it? The opportunity is given them to prove the sincerity of the demand for reform and that purity in our political life which is demanded in business affairs. Mr. Ellewood will appeal to the rugged honesty of the people and ask the sturdy citizenship of his district to pass upon the question as to whether MERIT or MONEY shall win—whether Addicksism or official fitness shall predominate in the First Congressional District.

A TIMELY SUGGESTION.

TO THE EDITORS OF THE TRANSCRIPT—Gentlemen:—An object lesson has recently been afforded the citizens of Chestertown, and that portion of Kent adjacent thereto, which it seems to me, should in the future bear ripe fruit. We have levied for our roads some $20,000 by our County Commissioners. At the end of five years what will we have to show for this? Why should not the commissioners vote from $3,000 to $5,000 each year, and build one mile of such road as this, taking up first the road from Chestertown to Galena, then from Chestertown to Rock Hall, and then from Chestertown to Millington. These are the roads which bear the heaviest traffic to and from Chestertown. Our farmers are enterprising and energetic. There should be a mass-meeting called for this purpose and the commissioners requested to start such an experiment forthwith. It would doubtless largely be aided by private subscriptions, and such meeting would show the commissioners that they had the people behind them in such a popular and progressive movement. The eyes of the entire State are on this stretch of road, that portion, at least, of the State which has no stone quarries for public road uses. Queen Anne owes this stretch of road to the indomitable energy and zeal displayed by Mr. W. Irving Walker, to whom chief credit is due. Have we not a Mr Walker in our midst? If not, could we not borrow the original one for this purpose?

GOOD ROADS TAX-PAYER.

ELLEGOOD FOR CONGREES.

A Man With an Issue Unanimously Nominated at Ocean City.

The Democratic convention for the First district of Maryland met at Ocean City on Thursday and nominated James E. Ellegood, of Salisbury, Md., for Congress. The nomination was made on the second ballot. Talbot was the first county to change its vote. This was followed by Kent and all the other counties until a motion prevailed to make Mr. Ellegood's vote unanimous. This was done amid cheers and the band playing "Maryland, My Maryland."

A PROFFER DECLINED.

Up to an hour before the convention started the fight for the place was anybody's. The sentiment was for ex-Gov. E. E. Jackson. This sentiment became so pronounced that Mr. Lloyd Wilkinson and Mr. Samuel K. Dennis, the private secretary to Gov. John Walter Smith, was dispatched to Salisbury to wait on Governor Jackson and say that the convention would do him the honor of nominating him if he would accept it. The Governor received the visitors in his bedroom, being confined to the house by illness. After hearing the message Governor Jackson said he would be unable to accept the nomination owto his poor health.

WIRE-PULLING BEGINS.

While the committee was gone the delegates were at sea. When the announcement was made that Governor Jackson would not have it, wire-pulling started at once. The friends of Mr. Philemon B. Hopper began an active carvass, which for a while looked as if he would land the prize. But as quickly as can be told, sentiment became prevalent for Mr. Ellegood. The source from which it sprung was the State administration. All along the line delegates expressed themselves satisfied to nominate anyone that the State leaders desired. The Queen Anne's delegates tried to stem the tide, but to no avail.

CONVENTION PROCEEDINGS.

At noon State Senator John P. Moore called the delegates to order. Hon. Edward Lloyd, of Talbot county, was called to the chair. Colonel Lloyd received a perfect ovation as he stepped forward. After gracefully acknowledging the compliment the chairman said he was ready for business.

Nominations in order, the secretary called the roll.

Caroline passed.

Cecil—Mr. W. S. Evans nominated Mr. John H. Kimble.

Dorchester—Emerson C. Harrington placed State Senator Wm. F. Applegarth in nomination. Mr. Harrington made a strong speech in behalf of Mr. Applegarth and was frequently interrupted by applause.

Kent passed.

Queen Anne—Mr. J. Frank Harper named Mr. P. B. Hopper. Mr. Harper captured the crowd and made a speech in which he paid his compliments to Senator McComas and the Republican party, and said that the Senator had said that all the blessings of mankind are the direct result of Republican rule. He declared that strikes only take place under Republican administrations. Therefore, the strike is another blessing which we are to attribute to the boundless beneficence of our Republican friends, and if you find you are not able to buy a ton of coal this winter just sit down and keep cool and breathe out your heartfelt gratitude to Senator McComas and the grand old party for the inestimable privilege of freezing under Republican rule.

Somerset passed.

Mr. J. Frank Turner named Gen. Jos. B. Seth.

Wicomico was now called. Mr. Leonard Wailes named Mr. Ellegood. He said: "We have come here to-day charged with a duty of great responsibility, not only in the eyes of the people of this district, but the people of the State as well. We are just preparing for a great struggle, and it is very essential that the First district of Maryland be redeemed from Republican rule. This is a period in our history when great questions of national importance are presenting themselves, and it is, therefore, necessary that our standard-bearer be a man of intelligence and capacity."

Worcester, when called, seconded the nomination of Mr. Ellewood. The vote was taken by roll call of the counties.

THE BALLOTING.

First ballot, Caroline 3; Somerset, 4; Wicomico, 4, and Worcester 4 votes for Ellegood; total, 15. Kent, 3, and Queen Anne's 4 votes for Hopper; total, 7. Dorchester, 5 votes for Applegarth; total, 5. Talbot, 4 votes for Seth; total, 4. Cecil, 4 votes for Kimble; total, 4.

On the second ballot the voting was the same, but before the vote was announced, Mr. Joseph B. Harrington, of the Talbot delegation, said Talbot wanted to change its vote to Ellegood.

This announcement almost caused a panic, and the chairman of the convention pounded for order while the delegates from the various counties strove to get recognition from the Chair in order that they might also change their votes.

This was finally checked by Mr. J. Frank Harper, of Queen Anne's, who said: "I desire to say to this body that Mr. P. B. Hopper told me that Mr. Ellegood was the typical candidate for this nomination, and now I move that we make his choice unanimous. Cheers rang out and the vote was taken with a cheer. The news had already reached outside of the hall, and a brass band struck up the tune "Maryland, My Maryland," while the delegates and spectators reached over to the Wicomico delegates and offered congratulations.

Hon. James E Ellegood is a lawyer in active practice in Salisbury, where he enjoys the confidence and esteem of his fellow-citizens. He is 60 years of age. He was born January 1, 1842, in Wicomico county as now organized. He was graduated at Washington College, Chestertown, Md., in the class of 1863 and took up the study of law shortly afterward, but did not apply for admission to the bar till 1869. In 1867 he held a clerkship in the Treasury Department under President Johnson's administration and at the same time attended the Columbian Law School in Washington.
