ROCK HALL ITEMS.

Farewell old Leap Year, I'm a bachelor still,
It's my sad fate, but much against my will.
T'was her silence. I'm abundantly paid,
To know that she too must remain an Old Maid.
Soliloquy at K. of P. Hall.

Etta, youngest daughter of Leo Durding, will spend the winter with Mrs. Clara Burga, Washington, D. C., and will attend school during her stay.

Mr. Willis Durding, with a confectionery company of Baltimore, spent Xmas with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Durding.

Miss Margie Rich with Chas. Stieff, of Baltimore, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rich.

Miss Edna Downey is home from Washington College and divides her time between parents and friends of Baltimore.

Howard Taylor, of Havre de Grace, paid a flying visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Med Taylor.

Miss Pearl Downey and Miss E. Wallis are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Downey.

Mr. Stanley Downey is visiting his old friends of Rock Hall.

Mrs. James Walmsley and children spent several days with her mother in Baltimore.

Four of our leading citizens dressed in gorgeous costumes paraded the streets making fun for boys and girls, and causing adults many frights and considerable laughter.

Rain, hail, fog and sleet were furnished us by the weatherman, yet as to our watermen it did not deter them from enjoying the holiday.

The pupils of the Prin's room spent a very pleasant evening at the residence of their teacher on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Downey gave a birthday supper in honor of their daughter, Pearl. Their guests were delighted with their hostess and many will remember it for years to come. For it is said, cupid arranged some future contracts.

Some of our citizens were unable to preserve their equilibrium on Monday, not from slippery ice, but——

The P. O. S. of A. will hold a smoker at K. of P. hall on Friday evening. Several speakers will be on hand. Miss Edna Durding and Miss Annie Leary will give a recitation. Misses Downey and Andrews will sing, "in de middle ob de road." Five apples will be suspended from the ceiling and the member who succeeds in masticating his apple first gets a badge of the order.

I. O. of O. F. will install their recently elected officers and give a literary entertainment, consisting of speeches, essays, recitations and reading on Wednesday at 7 P. M. Members with their families are invited to be present.

Mr. John Hughes, who resides near Wesley Chapel, while on his way from the village, was accosted by three drunken negroes. They suspected him of being a policeman and were for "doing him up," but he being prepared for emergencies soon compelled them to desist. Had they been made an example of perhaps future offenses might be avoided.

ROCK HALL SCHOOL.

School closed after rendering the following program: singing by school; recitation by Nannie Newcomb, "Little Joe;" instrumental music by Ida Sewell, "Christmas in the Cabin," by Bessie Wheat; "Grandma's Beau," by Lois Leary. The school, through Miss Edna Durding, presented a revolving chair to the principal. Many little tokens of esteem were presented to each teacher, in fact they were so numerous that the teachers had to procure baskets to carry them home. The janitor was remembered. The Lyceum was convened and the following was discussed: Resolved, "That men of thought have been more potent than men of action." Roman, English and American history furnished very many illustrations in their discussion.

PINEY NECK SCHOOL.

Singing by school; scripture reading by Miss May Douty; Lord's prayer in concert; recitation by Helen Strong, also by Hattie Beck; motion song by school; recitation by Miss Bessie Douty, also by Mary Leary. Miss Douty was again called for and gave several very entertaining selections. Several presents were presented the principal, Miss Lula Thomas, for regular attendance. Santa Claus then gave each pupil a package of confectionery.

The churches were well attended. In the Sunday school Rev. Warren Burr presented each teacher with one of Dixon's celebrated lead pencils. The school presented him with a study coat.

Christmas Day passed off quietly with the exception of the firing of a few crackers, it was as quiet as any other Sunday. Monday was celebrated as Xmas day, and was entered into with much enthusiasm.

Our merchants report Christmas sales above the average. While Saturday was bad for pedestrians the previous good weather brought out customers who laid in their supplies, thus avoiding the rush. Mr. Miller, is profuse in smiles and good wishes to his customers, "business has been very good." The Misses Downey are pleased. Ben Durding, "it met my expectation;" Jos. Downey, "So, so, can't complain." Mr. Cramer, "very good." Alexander & Son, "about the average." Johnnie, "we sold the cuts." Clayton, "not much left of considerable poultry on hand." Undertaker, "no funerals," Ministers, "no matrimonial knots." Casey, "don't know what to expect up here." Willson & Co., "had an auction and got rid of toys, have had good Christmas." Virgil Kendall, "do not handle special Christmas goods but business has been very good." Royal Bargain Store, R. S. Crew, "business has been very good, unusually good notwithstanding the weather." Doctors, "too healthy, but little sickness." Oystermen, "weather operated against us—no busines.

Reybold exhausted his ingenuity in order to furnish a dress for Leo, who desired to masquerade as queen of Richard III. Costumes were plentiful but the size. One was found trimmed with French lace, made of Italian silk of latest Sweedish style, which fit his form to perfection. Tom held train, Jonnie carried bouquet, Reybold was grand escort. In the wake was the village.

When the snow was deep two of our village belles went to inspect a neighbor's poultry yard. The owner had a tame goose. This goose, whom we call Tommie, sought to make their acquaintance; the girls, mistaking his advances for those of violence, rushed headlong in snow banks. Tommie still followed and as a last resort the girls climbed over a 6 foot wire fence to escape. Imagine their plight. They had never seen a goose before.

STILL POND NEWS.

Christmas day passed off quietly, but owing to the inclement weather the attendance at the church was small.

Mr. George Smith has returned home after visiting friends at Chesterville and Wilmington.

Among those who spent their Christmas in our village were: Mrs. A. Jones, Misses Sallie Jones, Blanche Allston, of Philadelphia, Mr. Ernest Schofield, Leamont Hacket, of Baltimore, Jack Jones and Ed. Jarvis, Philadelphia.

Miss Jennie Coleman, who has been quite sick, is able to be out again.

The young people gave a party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Atwell's.

Mr. Howard Dodd and Miss Katie Howard spent Xmas at the home of Mrs. M. J. Howard.

The Sunday School held its Christmas entertainment Tuesday night, but owing to the bad weather not many were present. The music was in charge of Mrs. J. W. Harper. The program was as follows: Opening song, "Birthday of our King;" prayer, Rev. Beauchamp; singing, "The Good News;" opening address, Roland Crewe; singing, "The Angel song;" recitation, "Misletoe & Holly," by Marion Hackett; singing, "We Hail Thee;" exercise by three children, "The Best of All;" recitation "Cripple Tim," by Miss Jennie Bowers; singing, "The Wonderful Song," duet and chorus; singing "Hail to the King of Glory" by choir; recitation, "Christmas Secret," by Bertha Price; recitation, "Longest Night of the Year," by Thos. Beauchamp; Santa Claus enters; singing, "Prince of Peace."

GALENA ITEMS.

Wednesday evening was the annual Xmas treat to the Scholars of the M. E. Sunday School. Mr. Charles E. Lane, Supt. claims the increase in attendance has been very rapid the last two weeks.

Many were invited to Mr. James R. Hicks last Monday night and joined in a taffy-pulling. Those present were: Misses Etta and Bessie Whitaker, Ella and Hettie Hicks, Carrie and Gertrude Dempsey, and Messrs. G. E. Hicks, Hanson Horsey, Authur Hyland, L. Hayes, B. P. Pearce, Wm. Dempsey, Wright Coleman and T. C. Vansant.

Our college students will return to their respective schools next Monday afternoon.

Messrs G. E. Hicks and Wright Coleman attended the Sunday School treat at Crumpton last Tuesday night.

Our hustling merchants have cleared their stores of Xmas goods and are now getting ready for the new year.

Mr. Samuel Caldwell has purchased the property of J. W. Latimer.

Mr. J. F. McIntyre is spending a few weeks with friends in the west.

Messrs. Wm. A. Hyland, Jas. E. Woodall, A. M. McCauley, T. K. Cockran, attended the dance in Middletown, last Tuesday night.

Miss Mary Pennington, of Philadelphia, spent Xmas with her mother in Fredericktown.

Mr. Wright Coleman, of Crumpton, has accepted a position with Mr. W. A. Whitaker.

Our town has heen beautified by the addition of more new lamps.

Mr. Andrew Woodall, of Lambsons, spent Christmas with friends near Massey.

Miss Mary Steel is visiting friends and relatives in Chestertown.

BETTERTON BRIEFS.

Christmas Day passed very quietly and yet pleasantly to most all in our bay side resort. It is the first time for years that there has been no boats coming in on Christmas Eve, but on account of the ice neither the Tolchester Co., nor the Ericsson Line's schedule has been enforced.

Among those who spent Christmas in Betterton were Miss Elizabeth Brice and Mr. Herbert Moore, of Baltimore, Mr. C. Schuyler, of Philadelphia, Misses Lolla Crew; Gurtha Vansant and Mr. Arthur Brice, of Washington College, Mr. William Turner, of New York, Mr. Archie Turner, of Swathmore College, and Miss Elsie Crew.

Shooting matches seem to occupy the time of most of our sportsmen. A "match" takes place most every day, with a different victor each day.

The schooner Thomas R. Travers, of Baltimore, has been frozen up at the Tolchester pier for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mann, entertained some friends on Monday evening. Quite a number were present and a good time resulted.

Miss Flossie Smith is home again after an extended visit to Philadelphia friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Brice, are spending the holidays with Mrs. Brice's parents in Baltimore.

Mrs. Scott Crownhart, is visiting relatives and friends in Syracuse, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. William Greet, of Philadelphia, is at the home of his uncle, Mr. Alex Wheeler, for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Owens are visiting relatives in Queen Annes.

Sleighing and coasting during the recent snow, has been enjoyed by the old and young.

Removals About Town.

This has been a week of moving among our town people, and besides the removals heretofore mentioned in our paper we note the following: R. H. Collins to his residence on Front street. Mr. and Mrs. John M. Toulson will take the residence on Queen street, formerly occupied by Mr. Collins. Mr. P. G. Wilmer has moved from the Collins residence on Front street to the Stuart home on Queen street adjoining the residence of Mrs. Snitcher.
