SATURDAY, DEC,30. 1905.

WE WISH all our readers and friends a very happy and prosperous New Year.

HON. CHAMP CLARK in a speech in Baltimore this week stated that some of our law makers in Congress haven't sense enough to draw their salaries. This will therefore be a memorable session of Congress.

A MOVEMENT has been started in one of the Western States to raise $800,000 to invest in a wedding present for Miss Alice Roosevelt, daughter of the President, upon the occasion of her marriage to Representative Longworth in February. Every State in the Union has been asked to assist and contributions as low as ten cents will be received. The money must be raised by the middle of February.

THE SESSION of the Maryland Legislature which begins on Wednesday next is one of great possibilities to both great parties in the State. The Democratic party has the opportunity either to make or mar its chances of success in the general election of two years hence, by the enactment of wise laws and by the record of a thorough and profitable business session, or by the attempt of one faction of the party to defeat the other in the organization of the Legislature, and by a determined effort on the part of some members of the Legislature and leaders to play personal politics. The Republican minority will of course play practical politics and they will take advantage of every opportunity to make political capital out of whatever mistakes the Democrats may make. It behooves the Democrats therefore to make no mistakes in this session. They should give the people of the State a good clean business-like session, and should enact such laws and pass such bills as will be to the welfare of the entire State. It is encumbent therefore upon the Democrats to begin with the organization of the Legislature and make no mistakes in the selections of its presiding officers. Let them be men of business ability and impartiality, and let the legislature work in harmony with the Governor of the State for the passage of sound and profitable laws. The Republican position in the legislature will be that of a practical politician waiting for something to turn up that will give him an advantage for future play. So we urge the Democrats to be mindful of the trust reposed in them by their constituents. Let them look to the future as well as the present, and let all get together for a harmonious and profitable session.

GETS INTO POLITICS.

Rev. T. P. Revelle Candidate for City Council in Seattle, Washington State.

Rev. T. P. Revelle, formerly a resident of Somerset county, but until recently pastor of First Methodist Protestant Church, Seattle, Washington State, has left the pulpit and is at present a candidate for the city council in that beautiful city. Until about a year ago Mr, Revelle was a member of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, and was one of the best known young ministers in the denomination. During his pastorate in Seattle, Mr. Revelle studied and graduated in law, and about one year ago decided to leave the ministry and enter upon the practice of the legal profession with his two brothers, who had gone west several years before Mr. Revelle. He left his pulpit last April and at once began practicing law, and in less than a year thereafter he presents himself as a candidate for a political office. Mr. Revelle is a graduate of Western Maryland College and of Westminister Seminary. He was taken into church by Rev. S. A. Hoblitzell and entered the Maryland Conference. His last appointment in the Conference was Dover, Del. Several years ago he was loaned by the Conference to the Home Mission Board to take up the work in Seattle, where he has since resided. He is a young man, full of energy, and above all, he is a self-made man.

Immediately upon the announcement of Mr. Revelle's choice also comes the information that the First Church, which Mr. Revelle served in Seattle, is planning to build a $35,000 edifice on a new and more desirable lot. The present pastor is Rev. A. Norman Ward, formerly of North Carolina Avenue Church, Washington, D. C. Mr. Ward and Mr. Revelle were classmates at Western Maryland College. Mr. Ward is doing excellent work in Seattle.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN;

I take pleasure in saying that from actual knowledge Mr. J. Waters Russell is a reliable and progressive Real Estate Broker.

Yours truly,
ARTHUR D. RIVERS.

If you are thinking of selling your farm or other property and have had an offer, and are about to make the deal,

REMEMBER,

I can probably interest one hundred or more people in your place, thus you are making a fatal mistake, unless you let me handle your property; BECAUSE, the more people who want the property, the better for you.

A Navigator knows the channel,
A Detective tracks the criminal,
A Physician locates the disease,

I FIND BUYERS OF REAL ESTATE.

Very easily understood, isn't it?
