SATURDAY, AUGUST 25, 1906.

CONGRESSMAN THOMAS A. SMITH speaks most encouragingly of the prospects for the success of the Democratic ticket in the next election. He has been making a tour of the District and finds his party united and ready to work for his election. He is worthy of this honor at the hands of his constituents, and Kent will undoubtedly give him a substantial majority in the fall.

NO CITIZEN of this country has ever received such an ovation as that which will be tendered Hon. William Jennings Bryan upon his return to this country in New York, next Thursday. Mr. Bryan has been making a tour of the world, extending over a period of a year, and during that time sentiment has so changed with respect to his genuine character and statesmanship as to make Mr. Bryan the logical Democratic candidate for the presidency in 1908, and the reception in his honor next Thursday will be the biggest boom any man has ever received for such an exalted office. Maryland will send a committee to assist in receiving, and many other States in the Union will send representative delegations. Messrs. Marion deK. Smith and Richard D. Hynson are members of the committee from Kent.

PERSONAL MENTION.
