The Democratic Convention and its Candidate.

The body which assembled in Baltimore last week and recommended John C. Groome to the people of Maryland was, indeed, an amalgamated mass. In all honesty we do not think it can claim to be a State Convention, or a fair expression of the feelings of the few remaining Democrats of the State. This county was represented by four delegates, Talbot by fifteen, Frederick by forty-two, while Baltimore city was not represented at all. We ask in all candor was this a fair way to express the feelings of the people of ocratic gain of 64. Mr. Paine, Amer. represent- injured him so severely that his physicians, on the State.
