GOVERNOR TOLD ROADS COMM. HAS $2,700,000 CASH

Governor O'Conor, at a recent conference at Annapolis with State Road Commission officials, was told that the commission has approximately $2,700,000 cash on hand, it was reported this week.

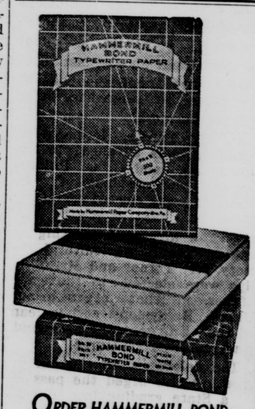

The chief executive, who ordered the roads board to suspend its fiscal operations pending a checkup of its financial affairs, also was assured that the commission is absolutely solvent.

A statement showing the commission's outstanding obligationss, contracts recently award ed and contracts ready to be awarded, is being studied by the Governor. The data was given to him at the conferenee, attended by J. Glenn Beall, chairman of the commission; William A. Codd, chief auditor, and Thomas M. Jenifer, Assistant Attorney General attached to the roads department.

According to reports, the Governor was told that no large contracts were now awaiting payments and that none is anticipated before June.

Governor O'Conor said he intends to review the commission setup with the Board of Public Works. It was pointed out if the Governor or the board decides to halt the awarding of contracts, such action might jeopardize about $2,000,000 in Federal funds, the remainder of a sum allotted the commission for the fiscal years 1937-38.

The funds, allocated for maintenance and construction of roads and for elimination of grade-crossings, must be used on work starting no later than May, or the money will revert to the Federal Government, it was said.
