Cattle Feeder's Day April 28

Actual results of feeding beef cattle in various ways will be viewed by cattle feeders from all parts of the State when they gather at the University of Maryland in College Park on April 28, for Cattle Feeders' Day, it is announced by Professor Fred H. Leinbach, who is in charge of arrangements.

Of special interest, Professor Leinbach states, will be the groups of cattle used in an experiment to determine the extent to which other grains may be replaced by wet and dried rye grains, by-products of the distilling industry, in the feeding of cattle.

Professor F. B. Morrison, head of the animal husbandry department at Cornell University, Ithaca, New York, will describe to the stockmen some of the recent discoveries in livestock feeding. In addition to being author of the standard textbook on livestock feeding, he is recognized as an outstanding authority on feeding and nutrition, both in this country and abroad. At one time he was commissioned to study the livestock industry of Germany and recommend improvements.

Inspection of the new barns and the livestock of the University at 9.30 is scheduled as the first event on the day's program. Acting-Director of the Maryland Experiment Station, J. E. Metzger, will preside at the morning session and will discuss the Use of Research Results. Other speakers will be J. C. Cash, President of the Union Stock Yards Company in Baltimore, on The Value of Feeding Experiment to Maryland Livestock Producers; Raymond C. Heinz, buyer for the Heinz Riverside Abattoir, on Beef Production in Maryland; and Professor Leinbach who will announce the results of beef cattle feeding experiments.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, President of the University of Maryland, will extend greetings to the visiting stockmen at a plate luncheon served by students of the Block and Bridle Club.

Professor Kenneth C. Ikeler, head of the Animal and Dairy Husbandry section, will preside at the afternoon session. In addition to Professor Morrison, the speakers at this session include Professor W. C. Skelley, head of the Animal Husbandry Department of the New Jersey Experiment Station, on the Wintering of Beef Breeding Cows; W. Alan McGregor, manager of Andelot Stock Farm at Worton, Maryland, will speak on Possibilities of Beef Cattle Production in Maryland; Dr. T. B. Symons, Acting Dean of Agriculture and Director of Extension, will discuss The Hope of Tomorrow in Livestock, and Wells E. Hunt, buyer for the Schluderberg-Kurdle Company in Baltimore, will speak on The Packer's Interest in Quality Beef.

The water of milk is identical with any other water. It serves to hold the soluble constituents in solution and to maintain the insoluble constituents in suspension or omulsion.

New York, N. Y.—"IT'S TRUE! that Lew Ayres was once told by a fortune teller that he would never amount to anything, that he would die broke and that no one would ever know his name!" says Wiley Padan . . . "Ian Hunter, British-born leading man, plays Ayres' rival in M-G-M's 'Broadway Serenade' . . . Jeanette MacDonald's nephew, Earl Wallace, just back from service with the Marines in China, was an interested visitor on the 'Broadway Serenade' set."

MERCHANDISE GAMES PERMITTED AT CARNIVAL

Berlin— Volunteer firemen of Berlin said this week their annual summer benefit carnival, with its varied amusements and wheels, would be held as planned this year without fear of being halted by the anti-gambling activities of State's Attorney William G. Kerbin, Jr., and his Worcester county Flying Squad.

The firemen said they had been advised they would be allowed to operate their carnival wheels for articles of merchandise but that cash prizes are taboo.

The Berlin firemen's carnival even annually nets over $1,000 to enable local firemen to purchase equipment.

SLOGAN SOUGHT BY SALISBURY COM. GROUP

Salisbury— Ernest O. Wheatley, president of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce, has asked residents of the Delmarva peninsula to write him asking for $25 in cash. All the winning person has to do is to compose a slogan which the chamber may use in an extensive publicity program.
