SATURDAY, JANUARY 23, 1909.

THE celebration of the 10th anniversary of Edgar Allen Poe, Maryland's greatest poet, was celebrated in many parts of this country and Europe on Tuesday.

WE CALL the attention of our readers to the fine statement of the Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Kent county. There is no safer and better conducted company in existance than the Kent Mutual as the statement found in another column will show.

GOVERNOR CROTHERS announced emphatically last Saturday that he would not be a candidate for the United States Senate under any circumstances. He believes Senator Rayner should be returned to the Senate. This is undoubtedly wise politics on the part of Gov. Crothers, who knows what the people want.

GOVERNOR CROTHERS favors an additional loan of $6,000,000 for good roads at the next session of the Legislature. Gov. Crothers asserts that his ambition as Governor is to put the State of Maryland upon a business basis. We fail to see any good business in saddleing upon the people of the State a debt of $5,000,000 at the last Legislature and one of $6,000,000 at the next session to provide an automobile boulevard from one end of the State to the other at a cost of $8,000 per mile. Gov. Crothers is endeavoring to make us see that the people will not be taxed directly to provide for this absolutely unnecessary and uncalled for loan, but even if the tax will only be indirect, the Governor has no business to inflict the burden upon the people, unless the money appropriated for each county shall be distributed upon all the roads of the counties. We fail to see where the good business principle comes in in this gigantic loan which the people must eventually pay, directly or indirectly. The State was practically freed of debt during Gov. Warfield's splendid administration and the State tax reduced to 16 cents on the $100. The rate will go back to 25 cents next year, unless there is a mistake in the State finances, and the State at the end of Mr. Crothers' administration will have a debt of $11,000,000 if the second appropriation of $6,000,000 is allowed by the Legislature.

FEDERAL INSPECTION.

A bill has been reported favorably in the United States Senate providing for the federal grading of grain. This means that the government will have supervision over all grain inspections at our ports of entry instead of it being left to the red tape method which is now working such injustice to the farmer. The Baltimore Stock Exchange is opposing the passage of the bill upon the ground that the inspector appointed by the government may be an incompetent person. An extremely poor excuse. It is not at all probable that the Agricultural Department of our government will appoint a man who knows nothing about the business of inspecting grain. The government does not do business that way. The method of grain inspection as at present conducted is, as every farmer knows, open to the greatest criticism. The farmer is completely at the mercy of this method as at present conducted, and he is compelled to take such prices for his grain as is determined by the present very incompetent method of grain inspection. At present the farmer has no redress, because he does not know where to place the blame for faulty inspection of his grain. Should the present bill before congress become a law, there will be uniform method of inspection at every port of entry and the farmer can settle all difficulties arising from any injustice in the inspection of his grain with the department of agriculture which will have supervision of all grain inspection. We believe that government inspection by uniform rules for all ports of entry is what the farmers need, and since the Chamber of Commerce has urged our Senators to vote against the bill, we trust that every farmer in Kent will write to our Senators urging them to vote for the bill.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

The columns of the TRANSCRIPT are open to the proper discussion of all topics of public interest or importance. Whether the editors agree with the sentiment expressed or not, the people should and may be heard through the TRANSCRIPT's columns—the paper will be the People's Forum from which they may be heard on all subjects—purely personal matter excepted. The Editors are not responsible in any manner for articles that appear in this column.

DEAR SIRS:—The public is notified by your excellent paper that Dr. Cain has arranged for an interesting course of lectures at Washington College in February and March. This is a pleasure Chestertown should avail itself of. These lectures should be liberally patronized. They are educational in the highest degree. Dr. Cain deserves the thanks of the entire community for his efforts in this direction. Each of the lectures will be a treat. The people of this town and county are exceedingly fortunate to have an opportunity to hear such notable men as Dr. Ames, Dr. Hovey, Dr. Phillips and others. I venture to say that no town in Maryland has ever been so fortunate as to have such a chance as this. Many men would gladly give the price of the entire course to hear the lecture of either Prof. Greuner, of Yale, or Dr. Kellogg, of Wimington. LITERARY.

Federal Grading of Grain Provided.

Senator Dolliver on Friday reported from the Committee on Agriculture the McCumber bill providing for Federal grading and inspection of grain. It is the first time such a bill has been reported from a committee, although efforts have been made for several years to effect such legislation.

This bill is regarded as one of the most important to agricultural interests presented in years.

For several years the department of Agriculture has been conducting experiments to determine if a scientific and absolutely uniform system of grading grain could be developed. It is charged that under present conditions grading is simply a matter of individual judgment, and that judgments vary widely. The result of this is that in buying grain the tendency is to grade it too low, and this pays the producer too low a price for it, while in selling it the tendency is to overgrade it and overcharge for it.

FARMER IS UNDERPAID.

The American farmer, consequently, is underpaid for his grain, the big grain-buying interests are credited with making undue profits, and in foreign markets confidence in American grading has been destroyed.

The bill reported on Friday provides for establishing a bureau for grain inspection and grading under the Department of Agriculture and the establishment of an inspection force, under a chief inspector, at Portland, Maine; Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Chicago, Duluth, Seattle, Superior, Kansas City, St. Louis, New Orleans, Minneapolis, Tacoma, San Francisco and other important centers of grain trade.

The Secretary of Agriculture is to provide classification and grading of wheat, flax, corn, rye, oats, barley and other grains. He may adopt standards of classification now in force, or others, as his judgment may dictate, and the inspection force shall enforce them.

Hush-a-bye Land.

The following beautiful little poem was written by Miss Esther Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Jackson, of Havre de Grace, and niece of Mrs. Dr. H. Benge Simmons, of this town. Miss Esther has frequently visited her aunt here. She was in the 3rd grade, when the junior editor of the TRANSCRIPT was the principal of Havre de Grace High school, and she is not only a sweet little girl, but she is an exceptionally bright scholar as the following original lines will show:

Oh, Hush-a-bye Land is a beautiful place
For tired, sleepy children to go
And Rock-a-bye Route is the nicest way
But of this only little ones know.

It's not very far to Hush-a-bye Land
When the Sand-man comes around,
You go a short way down a flowery path
And you're there with a leap and a bound.

Oh! the dreams the little ones have while they're there
They're so beautiful and bright;
And they dream of so many different things
For they stay there all the night.

Just as soon as mother tucks them in bed
And turns the lamp down low,
Before they know it the Sand man comes
Then to Hush-a-bye Land they go.

Perhaps while the little ones are asleep
They see angels, all clad in white,
And that is why they smile in their sleep
For that must be a beautiful sight.

We're too old now for Hush-a-bye Land
But we went there long ago,
And each one could tell of some beautiful dream
That they've had while there, I know.
