OBJECTS AND PRINCIPLES

OF THE

Jr. O. U. A. M.

FIRST—To maintain and promote the interests of Americans and shield them from the depressing effects of unrestricted immigration; to assist them in obtaining employment and to encourage them in business.

SECOND—To provide for the creation of a fund or funds for the payment of benefits in case of sickness, disability or death of its members, to members, their legal dependents or representatives, and to issue certificates of membership for the same.

THIRD—To uphold the American Public School System, to prevent interference therewith, and to encourage the reading of the Holy Bible in the schools thereof.

FOURTH—To promote and maintain a National Orphans' Home.

We recognize the landing upon our shores of the ignorant, the vicious and the lawless of the Old World as a constant menace to our institutions, and believe that it should be viewed with alarm by the loyal and patriotic citizens of the country.

We would place a flag upon and a Bible within every Public School-house of our land, that all might learn these to be a beacon light in every storm which may threaten our destruction.

THE NEW-FASHIONED GIRL.

[To the Bentztown Bard.]

O Bard of the simple lines, tender and sweet,
Whose column each morning with pleasure we greet,
Who sings of the beautiful old-fashioned girl,
So lovely and fair with her little side curl;
Of the old-fashioned garden, where row after row
Sweet flowers in beauty and fragrance did grow.
How she stood in the quaint little old-fashionsd door,
And the sweet, smiles that her soulful face wore,
Of the pink of her cheek and the red of her lip,
Where the honey bees sought the sweet nectar to sip,
Of the b autiful charm of this beautiful pearl,
In his dream of the beautiful old-fashioned girl.

Tell me, what has become of the old-fashioned girl?
My mind sees her now, with her little side curl,
And I bow to this maiden, so dainty and fair,
To the glow of her eye, and the sheen of her hair,
To her simple, sweet life, so modest and pure,
With no studied achievements brave men to allure.
But her true, loving heart, and pure soul for her charm,
And strong men would do battle to keep her from harm.
Pray tell me, O Bard, in your next tuneful lay,
Why call it a dream of a creature so rare?
Ah, what has become of the little side curl,
And the lovely, the beautiful old-fashioned girl?

And what will become of the new-fashioned girl?
With her new-fashioned notions, her swagger and swirl,
In her boots and her spurs, and her new pantaloon,
As she rides across country, 'neath sun or 'neath moon,
And her rats and her puffs and her peach-basket hat,
And her hipless costume, sheath-gown, and all that.
With her chatter, her clatter, her twist and her twirl,
Her slang and her nonsense, her fling and her furl,
Oh, what will become of her, fashions and all?
The hipless, the hapless, the shapeless rag doll.
The broad-minded notions, the gay, giddy whirl,
Of the swaggering, staggering, new-fashioned girl!
