CURFEW PLAN MAY LAST UNTIL WAR IS OVER

The midnight curfew for entertainment spots which is to become effective Monday probably will not be lifted until the war in Europe is over.

It can be stated unequivocally, however, that it is not being imposed as a reform move although it may produce some collateral benefits in that direction.

For example, it is the feeling of those responsible for the order that enforcement is almost sure to cause some reduction of absenteeism among war workers; absenteeism often directly attributable to over-indulgence and late hours in night refreshment centers.

The immediate and compelling reason for the order is the genuine concern of James F. Byrnes, director of War Mobilization and Reconversion, over the present inadequate coal supply and the threat of even more serious shortage in the future.

To bad weather, interrupted transportation and the shortage of miners which have contributed to impair the supply up to this point.

Last week, while Liza Jane was sleeping, I told the boys where they could get most anything they needed. Where can I get Stetson hats for $5? Yes, S. H. Jones has them for $1.75. What? Yes, sir. Paint $2 gal.; Portorik molasses. Oh boy, that's right. Liza Jane, step aside and let me talk to him. That good flour, Jones' Best. That tickles Liza Jane. With all her faults she can make good bread with Jones' Best Flour. Hominy, Wheel grease. 10c box; Oranges sweet and juicy; Lemons and Cakes; Apples 6c pound; Men's and Women's sweater coats $1.50 each; Men's gum shoes, $1; arctics $2.50; women's $1.25; hog feed to make hogs grow; laying mash for more eggs; dress goods; raincoats for boys and girls, $2.50. Men's raincoats $5. Polly, some more of that Portorik molasses, it's good. I am the same old Bill in a funny way, but people do not know it. Books written by S. H. Jones, 10c, 25c, 50c; Chevrolet truck $225. — S. H. JONES' Store, Church Creek, Maryland.
