COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE.
August 24,—td.

Union Victories in the South.

We should like to know the opinion of some of our facetious Southern cotemporaries, who never allude to the National Union party except as the "old gentleman," the "dry bones" and "fossil remains" of antediluvian Whiggery, on the subject of the late remarkable revivification which has taken place among the petrified remains in the geological formation of Kentucky, North Carolina and Missouri. We have never heard of such an extraordinary resurrection since the resuscitation of the dry bones in Ezekiel's valley. We have never known so dry a subject diffuse such genial warmth through every vein of the body politic and light up so many downcast faces with sunshine, as the rising again of the "dead men" in whose political lifetime the country was prosperous, happy and united. The very fluttering of the Union ensign, rent with the balls and bayonets of a hard fought fight,—that flag under which Harry of the West once declared that, should the time ever come which required it, he would himself march,—sets our blood all on fire as we see it flung bravely forth in the front of a victorious column. It is a flag which may know defeat but never dishonor; and its defeat will be the defeat of the country, and its triumph the triumph of the Union, of Law and Order, of national strength and influence, and domestic peace and security.

A Happy Change.

Within the last two weeks the whole aspect of the campaign has changed. The Union party has shown to the Democratic factions that it is useless for them to attempt to make an independent fight, and having made sure of the South, and recruited by hundreds of thousands of conservative Democrats, it is now turning its batteries upon the Republican organization.—The Republicans are compelled to act upon the defensive. There is the merest shadow of a chance between them and defeat. Instead of consulting what they shall do with the spoils of victory, they are kept uncommonly busy contriving how they shall avoid a disastrous, overwhelming defeat.

The bow of promise, which at first made the Wide-Awakes drunk with anticipations of success, now shines only for the friends of Bell and Everett. Southern disunionism is put hors du combat and abolitionism is quaking with apprehension of its well merited doom. Let the friends of the Union, therefore, regardless alike of sneers and calumnies, press steadily onward to the accomplishment of their glorious mission.

Becoming Disheartened.

The victory expected to be so easily won eludes the eager grasp of the Republican harpies. Their vain boasting has been turned to lamentations. A change has suddenly come over the spirit of their dreams, and they find themselves daily receding from the success they thought at the beginning to be within their reach.—They little deemed there was so much vitality in the "old gentleman's party." They did not expect the "fossils" could, under any circumstances, become re-animated. They calculated that patriotism and love of the Union and respect for the Constitution had died out in the hearts of the people, and when they see the men of the olden time marching to the music and carrying the flag of the Union, and the young men of the present, full of nerve and energy and unflagging industry, rallying around the time honored banners that have been tattered in many a desperate conflict, but never disgraced, fear creeps into their souls and they find they have been standing on uncertain ground.

California Politics

Meetings of the Democratic State Central Committee were held at San Francisco on the 30th and 31st. A long discussion occurred on nominating only one electoral ticket, which resulted in a split, twenty-six being for Breckinrdge and ten for Douglas. Both wings have called nominating Conventions, and both published addresses to the Democrats. One wing claims Douglas as the regular nominee, and the other denies that either was regularly nominated.

At the Breckinridge ratification meeting at San Francisco, the Douglasites outvoted the former, which has encouraged the latter. Six of the State Senators who hold over and voted for Gwin as United States Senator, are all for Douglas.

A Bell and Everett Convention is also to be held.

☞ One of our resident barbers, at Dymock's Hotel, whilst returning from camp meeting last week, had one of his legs broken in two places by the horse running away and the wagon passing over him. He is now doing as well as could be expected.

☞ A dog belonging to John H. Conoway, of Westminster District, made an attack upon him last week, and bit him four times. He was professionally attended to by Dr. Albaugh. The dog was immediately killed, and it is feared he was mad.

☞ All efforts to form a Douglas and Breckinridge electoral ticket in Virginia have failed.

Douglas State Convention.

The convention of the friends of Douglas assembled at Baltimore last week, for the purpose of forming an electoral ticket.—After the usual preliminaries of organization and the adoption of resolutions, the following nominations were made: Elector at large for the Western Shore—Wm. P. Maulsby, of Frederick. For the Eastern Shore—John B. Roman, of Cecil.—First congressional district—G. W. P. Smith, of Worcester. Second district—Wm. E. Stephenson, of Harford. Fifth district—Wm. Walsh, of Allegany. Sixth district—Henry E. Wooton, of Howard county.

Col. Wm P. Maulsby and Jos. M. Parke, with others, were appointed to prepare an address to the democracy of the State. The convention was addressed by Col. Maulsby and others, and then adjourned.

The Clipper remarks, the attendance upon the Douglas Convention, was respectable in numbers and in the character of the delegates. Among them we recognized many of the wheel-horses of Democracy in the counties of Maryland, men who have always been first in every fray in which Democracy was concerned. Their deliberations was dignified and in a marked degree decorous in comparison with the State Conventions of the Democratic party of Maryland generally. In the words of the Custom House organ in reference to the Breckinridge State Convention,—"The greatest harmony and good feeling prevailed," and, while the Douglas men had not the impudence to predict that "the certainty of the State of Maryland casting her vote for Douglas and Johnson is now beyond the possibility of a doubt," as the Breckinridgers did upon no more promising showing of hands, they quietly proclaimed themselves the Democratic party of Maryland and a part and parcel of the genuine Democracy of the country. They went at their work in a business-like way and nominated a full electoral ticket, and determined to act and to vote like men who were advocating principles in whose truth and justice they implicitly believed.

Who is "that" Old Gentleman?

A correspondent writing from Taneytown to the Clipper, says, as regards politics, I can only say that in this part of Carroll one scarcely hears of anything but Bell and Everett. Folks here say that there is one Lincoln man in the district, and it is to be hoped that the old gentleman who preaches every day in the week—for Republicanism during six days, and for the salvation of souls on the Sabbath—will take care that this rara avis has a ticket forwarded to him. As there are no custom house offices here, and but one gentleman connected with the post office, you may readily imagine that the followers of Breckinridge and Lane are rather scarce; in fact the Democrats in these parts generally look upon Douglas as a much injured gentleman and will be almost unanimous in support of him. Extensive arrangements are being made for the great Bell and Everett meeting at Westminster, about to take place, and my word for it a proper demonstration will result in great good to the cause. The Baltimoreans can easily reach the town, and it is to be hoped they will be there in their strength.

The Canvass Becomes Exciting.

The glorious Southern victories of the Union party rejoice our hearts because they prove, what we have always believed, that the great beating heart of the South is sound to the core on the subject of the Union. The only influence that Yancey and Rhett exert, outside of South Carolina and Alabama, in the Southern States, is one which is unfavorable to their own cause. They are hotheads, theorists, abstractionists, rhetoricians, men of the closest, not men of action, not men whom the South would select as leaders if she ever should, in sober earnest, resolve upon revolution. Should that fearful day ever come, the Yanceys and Rhetts would disappear like soap-bubbles, and some quiet country gentleman, like George Washington—some Moses slow of speech but wise in judgment and energetic of action—will take the field. Until then we shall feel hopeful even of South Carolina. The summer lightning of oratorical heat rhetoric affrights us not. We believe that a preacher of sedition has profound convictions, even, in his own breast, when he spends his strength in constructing sentences beautifully and in rounding periods harmoniously. There was not as long and rhetorical a speech made from the beginning of the quarrel of the American Colonies with the English King down to the close of the Revolutionary War as the shortest and least ornate that Rhett, Yancey, Keitt & Co., are in the habit of making by the hundred every year. If all this pent up steam had no such means of escape, the Seccession boiler would have burst us all up long ago.

The signs of the times are auspicious. The South, which gave birth to the Union, will stand by it to the last. The flag of Bell and Everett will wave in triumph from the citadel of every Southern State.

Testimonial to Heenan.

The reception festival to John C. Heenan, the "Benicia Boy," took place at Jones' Wood, New York, on Monday. It was, it is stated, attended by full 30,000 people and was characterized by no serious disturbance. Heenan, McDonald, Cusick, Ottignon, Price and Jones engaged in friendly sparring contests in the presence of the multitude, and the champion was presented with a check for $10,000—the contributions of his friends and admirers.

☞ Our neighbor of the Democrat made a visit to Baltimore last week to see the Great Eastern, and among other dignitaries fell in with S. Shoemaker, one of the firm of Adams Express Company, who informed him that an agency will be formed in Westminster and other prominent points as soon as our Railroad is completed. In a small way this enterprise would be as important to most of our citizens as the Railroad itself.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills

Quinsy or inflammation of the throat is very prevalent during the Spring and Fall of the year. Thousands of persons have immediate recourse to these medicines on the first symptoms of attack, and thus not only save time but even dispense with the advice or attendance of a physician. Colds produced by the rapid and frequent changes of the atmosphere during this season, are speedily cured by the pills. These remedies fortify the body against the inclemencies of the winter. Sold by all Druggists, at 25c., 62c. and $1, per box or pot.

Charge Against Hamlin.

Attention is being called to a published speech of Col. Smart, the democratic candidate for Governor of Maine, in which he charges that Hannibal Hamlin received seven thousand dollars as a lobby fee for getting a bill through Congress, he being at the same time a member of that Congress. If this be true he cannot be sustained as the candidate of any party.

Temperance Procession at Uniontown

Brother's Relief Division, No. 136 Sons of Temperance, will celebrate their 9th Anniversary on Saturday, September 1, by a grand demonstration at Uniontown. Addresses will be delivered by J. McKendree Reiley, of Frederick, and D. Evans Reese, of Uniontown.

Fusion Movement in New York

The Douglas-Bell movement will certainly have an important bearing upon the Presidential election. Some of its friends are confident that it will carry the State by a majority of thirty thousand.

The Golden Rule.

It ought to be evident to the most careless observer of things, that the late Southern elections show a change as astonishing as it is gratifying in the public sentiment. One would have supposed that State pride, a well-earned personal popularity at home and the large subsidies contributed by the faithful, would have saved Kentucky to the grasp of Democracy, to seduce into the support of which Mr. Breckinridge has done so much. But the overwhelming majority for Leslie Coombs, shows that the people of that gallant State are looking once more to the maxims and the policy which her greatest son spent his life in maintaining and advocating.

If there be any sincerity whatever in the professions of Democracy, they ought to give proof by coming at once to the support of BELL and EVERETT. If there is any thing at all of strength in the appeal they have so frequently made to Whigs—to come into the support of the strongest party opposed to the Republicans—let them show that they mean what they say, and, believe what they teach, by at once withdrawing in favor of the Union nominees.

Then we might be induced to believe that it is the good of the country—the safety of the Republic and of Southern institutions, which they really have at heart—and we might drop our ancient faith, that their whole cry has been one for the offices and jobs—and made in the hope hitherto successful, of dividing the Opposition, so they could get in between.

Such action on their part would have a different aspect from their generous proposals for us to come to their aid—and we could have then a larger faith in their professions, when they showed a willingness to perform the duty they exact of others.

What has the Democracy Done?

Let Democrats, now in their own last agonies, sneer as they will at the "old gentlemen party," all patriot hearts will rejoice to see the exceeding great army which is coming to the rescue. The country beholds a party advancing under the flag of the Union which will always be true to its interests and unity, and which is the only rallying point presented in this whole canvass for the spirit of American nationality and union. All parties agree that the Republic is on the verge of a precipice down which the boldest fear to look. Who has brought it there? What party is it which boasts it has had possession of the government almost without interruption since the foundation of the Republic?—And what has that party done with the priceless inheritance committed to its hands? Let the broken and bleeding ligaments—political, social and religious—which once held us together, answer. Let a scene of harmony and beauty like that of Paradise, transformed into an arena where the blood of brethren murdered by each other, cries from the ground, and where once affectionate members of the same household eye each other with looks of distrust and hate, and stand prepared to plunge the dagger in each other's hearts, let these proclaim what Democracy has done with the deposit of power and responsibility which a confiding people have placed in its hands. And finally, what has the Democracy done with itself but throw disorder and disunion into its own councils, as it had already done in those of the country?

Our Sentiments.

It is not our province to undertake a defence of the Douglasites. Their quarrel with their quondam Breckinridge associates is a domestic one, but as unprejudiced observers, it is apparent to us that the Douglas men are in fact, legitimately the democratic party. They stand upon the platform which the whole party endorsed with loud acclaim in 1856. They have re[redacted] mained where they were placed by the u[redacted] divided Democratic National Conventio[redacted] that nominated Buchanan and Breck[redacted] ridge. They have pursued an even a[redacted] undeviating course, and with all their faul[redacted] as much as we deprecate and oppose the[redacted] doctrines, to their honor be it said, the[redacted] are opposed to Southern disunion and Northern abolition fanaticism, and are figh[redacted] ing this, the only battle now to be fough[redacted] by the American people.

Come to the Rescue

In 1856, we were told by the leaders and organs of the Democratic party, "come with us to defeat Fremont," and thousands who hated democracy and despised Buchanan, voted for him with no other motive. We now say to these Democrats, in the same spirit, "come with us to defeat Lincoln," and we are willing to recognize the services of all who will for the time forget their party perdilections and contribute to the election of Bell and Everett, as the only practicable way to crush out at once and forever the twin evils—Disunion in the South, and anti-slavery fanaticism at the North.

Sam Houston refuseth to Withdraw.

The Austin Intelligencer contains a long letter from General Houston, the stump candidate for the Presidency, refusing to withdraw his name from the field. He reiterates his opposition to conventions and party nominees, alludes to the blood shed in defence of the country, professes a willingness to retire if he could stop sectional strife and the war of factions, and says that he regards this contest as one in which the permanency of the Union is involved.

☞ By the arrival of the steamship Parana at Boston, we learn that the French troops have left for Syria. Now, look out for squalls, heathens. According to advices from Naples 300 soldiers, who were on the point of joining Garabaldi, had been arrested. The minister of war had drawn off the troops from Abrazzi, in order to concentrate the principal part of the army around Naples. It is reported that the King of Naples has sent 4,200 soldiers to Rezzio, and these troops, it was confidently asserted, intended to join Garibaldi the moment he lands. At Naples and Rome he is waited for with patience. Russia sends four ships of the line and two frigates to Syria.

Peterson's Counterfeit Detector sends us the following description of a new and dangerous counterfeit five dollar note on the the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank, Frederick, Md.;—Vig. female, mechanies' implements, wheat, etc.; female bearing wheat on right end; locomotive and two 5's on left end. Dreadful Storm near New Orleans.

A violent storm in the vicinity of New Orleans, on Saturday, caused immense damage to property. At Procterville, the terminus of the Mexican Gulf Railroad, the water rose over twelve feet, submerging the entire place, and carrying away every house with the exception of one.—Between 35 and 40 lives were lost.

Another admirable article on wheat culture will also be read with interest. These, and various other articles of interest possess great attractions to farmers, their wives, and daughters, constitute this one of the best numbers yet published. The Register and Sentinel will be sent one year for $2.

Remember to address George G. Evans, No. 439 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia.

THE BORDER STATE.—The Patriot's nose is put out of joint. Dissatisfied with its cowardly and skulking mode of supporting Lincoln, while professing friendship for Bell and Everett, the Republicans have commenced the publication of a weekly campaign paper, purporting to be published in Baltimore, by James C. Emery & Co., editors and proprietors, and entitled The Border State. It will be devoted to the advocacy of the election of Lincoln and Hamlin and the diffusion of Republican party doctrines. Who the editors and proprietors of this new organ are further than is here stated, we are not informed, and even the situation of the office of the Border State is sedulously concealed. We are wont to greet respectfully and cordially every accession to the editorial corps of our country, and would like to do so in this instance, but the Border State comes in such questionable guise like that class of public nuisances, flash newspapers, which are fit subjects for police surveillance and its avowed objects are so incendiary and revolutionary, that we cannot give it a cordial welcome to the soil of Maryland.

Our thanks are due Hon. E. H. Webster for a copy of the Covode Investigation.

The Credentials of a Philanthropist.

When a constable's authority is disputed, he produces his staff; when a doctor's skill is questioned he falls back upon his diploma; when a great public benefactor is assailed by the jealous and the envious, he points to what he has done, and bids his deeds speak for him. This has always been the course of Professor Holloway; he has left his reputation in the hands of the community, and they have drowned the sotto voce mutterings of detraction with their spontaneous applause. During the twenty years that his famous remedies have been before the world, thousands of medical bubbles have expanded and exploded. His Pills and Ointment on the other hand, have lived down incredulity and shamed prejudice. Raised from their beds of suffering, rescued from the brink of the grave, convalescent millions have poured forth in all languages their grateful thanks for health, restored by the agency of his medicines. Science has never originated a practical system more perfect in its conception, more simple in its means, or more powerful in its operation than HOLLOWAY'S. Armed with his remedies, the traveller may make the tour of the world, with less peril to life than if [redacted] for the Presidency.

☞ One night last week a colored man named Dennis Wood, was arrested in Baltimore on the charge of being an absconding slave from Wm. R. Steele, of this county. Perhaps he's the same Greeleyite our friend Steele offered a reward of 10 cents for a few weeks ago when he sloped.

☞ A letter to the St. Louis Republican, from Arizona Territory, states that on the 23d ult., the Peons, 11 in number, working at the San Pedro mine, headquarters of the St. Louis Mining Company, arose and surprised the whites, murdering them and decamping with all the movable property.

☞ We learn that His Excellency Gov. Hicks has commissioned Dr. Wm. A. Mathias, of Westminster, Surgeon of the 15th Regiment, Maryland Militia. No better appointment could possibly have been made.

☞ Cyrus Woodbury, Postmaster at White Pigeon, Michigan, was arrested last week on the charge of robbing the mails. He was arrested with stolen money in his pocket.

☞ A man named Ferdinand Newman was arrested in Baltimore last week, charged with firing a building which caused the destruction of a large portion of the town of Salisbury.

☞ George Ellis Monroe, an interesting little boy of Dr. Albaugh, of Warfieldsburg, whilst operating a cutting-box last week, had the front finger of his left hand cut off.

☞ A Republican Ward meeting was held in Baltimore last week, over which J. P. Creager, formerly of Westminster, presided. Jonathan always was a crooked stick.

☞ Michael Friedenburgh, a baker of Washington, was robbed on Saturday last of $1,000 in gold and silver, and a gold watch. The supposed robber was an employee in the bakery.

☞ Three Tomatoes from the garden of Justice Wm. A. Wampler, weigh 5 pounds, the largest drawing two pounds.

☞ A steamer left New York on Sunday for Europe, with $1,400,000 in specie.

☞ A Pic-Nic will be held at New Windsor, to-morrow, 25th.

☞ Everything at Independence, Mo., indicates a general Indian War.

☞ A strait-out Douglas electoral ticket has been formed in Pennsylvania.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION FOR CARROLL COUNTY.

This Convention will be held on Saturday, September 1, in the Methodist Episcopal Church, Westminster, at 10 o'clock, A. M. The design of this meeting is to improve the present state of Sabbath School instruction. Sabbath Schools already yield a considerable influence for good, and no doubt can be made to accomplish much more. They do great good in promoting the observance of the Sabbath, in teaching children and youth to keep holy God's holy day; in withholding them from mischief and scenes of evil on that day, and instilling into their tender minds and hearts the truths of salvation. The amount of good thus done never can be calculated. Sabbath School teachers are pre-eminently benefactors of the human race. Attention enough, however, is not given to vital godliness. "Ye must be born again," is not sufficiently insisted upon. Teachers should plainly and seriously tell their scholars and explain to them that without a new and holy heart they must be lost.—Church membership is not the thing. The Church can save no one. Mere morality will not suffice. Especial pains should be taken to lead children early in life to the Saviour. Their time of accountability begins very soon. They are very early in life susceptible of conversion. Multitudes of facts prove this.—Sabbath Schools should make this a primary object in their labors to bring the scholars to a saving knowledge of Jesus. It is hoped that while measures for a reform in Sabbath Schools are about being adopted something will be done towards establishing a Sabbath School at the West End, Westminster. A good Sabbath School is much needed here. Quite a number of heads of families have expressed an earnest wish to have a School here. The ground is unoccupied, and presents an encouraging field. It is believed that the Convention will be largely attended. All teachers and persons interested in the cause of Sabbath Schools are cordially invited and requested to attend. We cherish the expectation that much good will result from the meeting. SABBATICUS.

LETTER FROM WOODBINE.

MR. EDITOR: An article appeared in your worthy paper a few days since over the signature of Truth. He speaks of the condition of Italy as something strange, and then refers to the falling stars as something more strange; and the blood-red meteor that more recently dashed athwart the heavens was so passing strange that trembling humanity was made to stand aghast. We confess these were strange things, and would not wonder if the earth were to reel to and fro as a drunken man, and the heavens pass away with a great noise. But the most undefinable thing that ever did bewilder our brain, is the position that our esteemed friend and editor of the Carroll County Democrat has taken. It will be recollected that after the Democratic Convention in Baltimore he refused to hoist a flag, because no candidate has been nominated according to the usages of the party. Directly the cry went up from both factions, Shaw wants one of the cabals to buy him. While we believe the Administration party has pillaged money enough to buy anybody, we do not believe that friend Shaw would sell himself even for the loaves and fishes. It would be more charitable to say that he and one Stephen A. Douglas stood on the same platform, and while there a new faction sprang up in the South, and Joseph said to his brother Stephen, I will go and get on the fence, and see if I can learn the intent of this strange people; and while on the fence "his judgment slept," and he slept too, and fell off on the South side. Well, we care not, for all sides of Democracy, front, right, left and back, will soon pass forever away.

We have just returned from the Warfieldsburg camp, and all the ends of the earth (and the rowdy in particular) were there. On the last night of the meeting all gentlemen were requested to leave the female side of the congregation, and they left; while the class who are not gentlemen remained to take charge of and protect the females. We are constrained to say there seems to be a fashion of stalling off and penning up (on the part of the Methodist Church) the beings whom God has made in his own image, that we look upon it with greatly disturbed anxiety. The whole affair passed off as a kind of free institution, where one was just as good as another, and a cent's worth better.

LETTER FROM THE WEST.

Western Maryland Railroad—Prospects of Crops—Conflagration and Loss of Property—Health of the Country—Camp Meetings—Sad Case of Drowning—Politics, &c.

FRIEND GRAMMER: Let me congratulate the people of Old Carroll on the successful issue of the Railroad bill as passed by the City Fathers of the Monumental City, and their worthy Magistrate, Mayor Swann;—and although we are one thousand miles distant, yet we too feel an interest in this another link that goes to strengthen our glorious Union, and call out the hidden treasures of the Great West which yet lies in the fertile soil of the vast prairies stretched out before our eyes, inviting the industrious tiller of the soil to cast abroad the seed that he may gather the rich reward of his labor.

The prospect of a plentiful harvest is now past all doubt. The wheat and oats have been more than an average yield, while the corn bids fair to result in an abundant harvest. The late drought has injured the late crops some, but there is still hopes even for them should we be blessed with rain soon. The farmer seems to be buoyant with hopes of good times and plenty of money, which has been a great stranger for the last three years in all parts of the West, and may I not say in the East too?

On last Friday night the buildings of Wm. A. Garvin, corner of Eighth and Franklin-streets, were set on fire and burned to the ground. The family had scarcely time to make their escape, and was unable to save anything. Mr. Garvin is now at Pike's Peak, and a large family is thrown out on the world homeless. The good citizens have raised about $500 for the unfortunate family, and have secured them a comfortable house till Mr. G.'s return. The flames spread from the dwelling to the new store house occupied by T. S. Smith & Bro., family grocery and provision store, which also burnt to the ground. Most of the goods were saved, however. From this the flames spread to the County jail, a splendid public building which has but lately been completed and cost over $13,000. Despite the exertions of the firemen, it was destroyed. The huge walls are still standing, but will have to be rebuilt. Loss to Mr. Garvin $6,000; T. S. Smith, $300, County, $13,000—total, $19,300. Unfortunately there was no insurance on any of the property. It is supposed to have been the work of a friend of one of the prisoners in the jail, so as to make his escape. However, the jailor Mr. Bevill, secured the prisoners in the Court House.

Circuit Court is now in session, and Judge O. Melveney will send him where he will not have the privilege of so many friends, we trust.

The health of the country and town has been remarkably good this season. Since the dry times there is some bilious complaints, but not very fatal. It is a settled fact that the West, and especially Southern Illinois, is becoming more healthy every year.

The time for pitching tents in the groves has fully come, and all over this happy region the old-fashioned Methodists are flocking to the sacred grove to worship the God of their fathers, and if you could be at one of our Western camp meetings you would be satisfied that the faith of Methodism is still the same when you would hear the spiritual songs of Zion as sung on these occasions.

Last week the body of H. C. Blackwell, a promising young minister, was found in the Kaskaskia river at this place. It is supposed he took a spasm and fell in the river after he had bathed. He leaves a widowed mother and two brothers in Bellville to mourn his loss.

Politics seems to be the all absorbing theme of the day here as elsewhere. The heat of the battle is between Douglas and Lincoln, and while these two great parties are raging and foaming, there is a little party called the American that is laying low and taking it coolly, but when election day rolls around their votes will count for Bell and Everett every time. We do not claim a majority, but we do claim a respectable minority. I hope to be abl eto say more anon.

Carlyle, Ills., Aug. 14, '60. AMERICAN.

☞ The Washington Constitution affirms that the contest is only between Breckenridge and Lincoln. According to the showing of the friends of Mr. Breckinridge, we cannot see, giving him all the votes that his reasonable friends accord to him, what earthly chance he stands. If that were the issue, Lincoln would be elected by the popular vote. But Bell and Everett are in the field.—The Union, conservative men of the country can elect them.

☞ The opposite factions of the Democratic party vie with each other in their efforts to work up and represent enthusiasm in their respective ranks. Listen to one side, and it declares that Breckinridge is gathering in the whole party; listen to the other, and they represent that outside of the "Cotton States," Douglas is the favorite of the 'true Democrats, and that in the North almost the whole party will vote for him.

EVEN THOSE who are in the enjoyment of perfect health frequently have resource to tonics as preventives of disease. We are never too well armored against the assaults of "the ills that flesh is heir to." Such an invigorator they may find in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—a medicine that cannot be taken regularly without giving vitality and elasticity to the system. At this season, particularly, the strongest man is not proof against the malaria, in certain sections of the country. In all cases of fever and ague, the BITTERS is more potent than any amount of quinine, while the most dangerous cases of billious fever yield to its wonderful properties. Those who have tried the medicine will never use another for any of the ailments which the HOSTETTER BITTERS professes to subdue. To those who have not made the experiment, we cordially recommend an early application to the Bitters, whenever they are stricken by diseases of the digestive organs.

Govane Female Institute.

The undersigned having at the invitation of Miss E. P. Rivers, Principal of the GOVANE FEMALE INSTITUTE, occupied two days in the thorough examination of her pupils, would express our great satisfaction at the manner in which they acquitted themselves, without any previous knowledge of the order or mode of the examination. The questions which were asked them on the various branches of instruction were answered with a promptness which clearly showed that they had been carefully taught the practical application of what they had learned. We think that the Principal of this Institution and her teachers possess eminent qualifications for forming in their pupils those habits, attention and diligence which are essential to accurate scholarship. Of the Department of music we can say that the performances were of a much higher order than is usual on such occasions, and were highly gratifying to the large audience present at the closing soiree. The compositions of the young ladies were certainly marked by beauty and simplicity of style, free from affectation and unmeaning expressions.—We take great pleasure in recommending the Govane Female Institute to all who desire for their daughters the advantages of a thorough education combined with the refinements, comforts and influence of a Christian home.
