Mr. Anthony Notified

As stated in our last issue, Mr. James T. Anthony, Prohibition candidate for congress in this district was notified of his nomination in Firemen's Hall last Friday evening. The gathering was called to order by Mr. Charles R. Wood, of Baltimore. Dr. T. F. Beauchamp, pastor of Chestertown M. E. Church, led in prayer, after which Mr. Wood, after making a short address, introduced Mr. John H. Dulany, of Fruitland, who has, on several previous occasions, been on the prohibition ticket for governor. Mr. Dulany, however, spoke only a few words, and then gave way to the Rev. Ivanhoe Wills, of Tilghman's Island, formerly of this section, being well known here, and a brother of Mr. Thomas Willis. Mr. Wills made the notification speech. Mr. Anthony accepted the nomination in a strong speech. At the close of the meeting a club was formed to promote the interests of the entire Prohibition ticket.

P. M. C. At Betterton.

Seventeen cadets, members of the football squad of the Pennsylvania Military College at Chester, Pa., arrived in Betterton on Monday and started practice, under the direction of "Si" Pauxtix, Pennsylvania's old end, on the shores of Chesapeake bay. Pauxtis announced that he will drive his pupils hard for the next week or ten days, in preparation for the season's first game which is against Delaware College on October 7, at Chester.

The cadets have a hard schedule ahead of them. Games with Muhlenburg and Fordham follow almost immediately upon the Delaware contest. Pauxtis and Captain "Lou" Siegel respect Coach W. J. McAvoy's Delaware's warriors and six hours' practice each day with two hours' blackboard instruction each night will be in order while the team remains at Betterton.

The Chesapeake House is the cadets' training camp and tackling dummies and line plunging machines have been set up on the hotel lawn.

Oysters Dying In Their Beds

The Conservation Commission last Wednesday gave out a statement that an investigation of the oyster beds in the upper part of the bay and along its western side had disclosed great mortality in the crop, and that it seemed that the market supply from the Cheapeake will be lessened considerably. The beds along the eastern side of the bay, below Love Point, have not been investigated. The commission has no idea of the cause of the mortality, and will ask the United States Bureau of Fisheries to make a thorough scientific investigation. The statement says:

"The investigation thus far made by the commission has, of course, been only superficial and the real extent of the loss reflected by it cannot be determined until the dredging season opens and actual work all over the area begins but the commission has developed sufficient information to justify the forecast that the supply this year from the Chesapeake bay will be very materially curtailed.

Jewish New Year.

Rosh Hashanah (the Jewish New Year also called Yom Hazikoron "Day of Memorial" fell this year on Thursday, September 28th. It commenced however, the evening previous, since in Bible usage the days are counted from sundown to sundowu. The more orthodox observed not only Thursday but Friday as well, it being their custom to keep a second day in connectien with practically all the more important Jewish holidays and festivals. This custom on their part grew out of certain complex conditions in the calendation of early rabbinical times and the practice, once established, has been kept up by them, even though the original reason no longer obtains. The Reform Jews observe only the day scripturally prescribed. The date of Rosh Hashanah is the first day of the month of Tishri and the New year now to be ushered in, is, according to the traditional Jewish calendar the year 5677.
