Heard In Chestertown

How Bad Backs Have Been Made Strong—Kinney Ills Corrected.

All over Chestertown you hear it. Doan's Kidney Pills are keeping up the good work. Chestertown people are telling about it—telling of bad backs made sound again. You can believe the testimony of your own townspeople. They tell it for the benefit of you who are suffering. If your back aches if you feel lame, sore and miserable, if the kidneys act too frequently or passages are painful, scanty and off color use Doan's Kidney Pills the remedy that has helped so many of your friends and neighbors. Follow this Chestertown citizen's advice and give Doan's a chance to do the same for you.

Thomas S. Clements retired farmer S. Mill St., Chestertown says: "I suffered from backache. Whenever I had to bend over I suffered from extremely sharp pains in the small of my back. As Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in the home for several years I got some from M. A. Toulson's Drug Store. I have not been troubled since using them.

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that M. Clements had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Vannort are spending Christmas with their daughter, Mrs. James W. Chapman, Jr., in Baltimore.

Mr. James W. Crouch, teller in the Chestertown Bank, had the misfortune to run into a door in his home on Monday night, injuring his nose quite severely.

Mr. Ruthbin Strong will tenant the farm where Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. Massey now reside next year.

Mr. John C. Davis who had been quite sick for sometime is able to be out. Mr. F. H. Russell, superintendent of the Electric Light plant continues quite poorly.

Dr. Thomas Howard Fowler, of Wells College, Aurora, N. Y., is at home for the Xmas holidays.

Prof. L. J. Talbodeau and family of Waterbury, Conn., are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Bates Russell for the holidays.

Miss Marguerite Howard, of Beckley, W. Va., is at home for the winter.

There was born to Mr. and Mrs. James B. Newnam, Jr., of Quaker Neck on Monday night a little girl. Four generations of the family were in the home at the time. The little girl enjoys the proud distinction of having two grandmothers and two great grandmothers, all living.

Mr. Wm. A. Wheatley, of Federalsburg, was at home for the werkend. He will also spend Christmas athome.

Prof. Benjamin Blackiston Wroth, of Altanta, Ga., and Mr. Galen Vansant, of the University of Virginia, are at home for the Christmas holidays.

Mr. Richard H. Collins, Jr., of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, is at home for the holidays.

Miss Helen Comstock has been attending a national convention of the Home Economics Association in Washington, D. C.

Mrs. Sarah Ivens returned from a visit to her sons in Phila. last week.

Miss Helen Welch attended the funeral of Mrs. H. A. Nowland in Middletown on Tuesday.

Mr. Stephen Collins, of Wilmington, Del., is at home for the Xmas holidays.

Col. Wm. J. Vannort had a bad fall on the slippery streets last Saturday, cutting his head quite badly. Mr. Thomas Clements also had a bad fall, injuring himself slightly.

Mr. James P. Parrott was injured quite painfully about the left ear one day this week. While shaking the stove in Dr. H. C. Hughe's office a leg fell out causing the stove to fall against Mr. Parrott's ear, burning and bruising it quite severely.

Mr. John Collins, of the Johns Hopkins University, is at home for Christmas.

Miss Mary Hines, of Baltimore, is a guest of her brother, Dr. F. B. Hines.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ayres left Friday to spend the winter with their children. They will first spend several weeks in Washington with Mr. Warren Ayres and later will make an extended visit to Mr. Edman Ayres, in Detroit. They will return in the spring.

Mr. John Lowener and family left town on Wednesday for Wilmington, Del., where they will spend the holidays. Mr. Lowener has secured a position in New Jersey, where he will remove his family the first of the year.

Mr. Philip G. Wilmer, who has been in Mercy Hospital, Baltimore, for special treatment, returned home on Thursday. We are glad to state that Mr. Wilmer is improving.

Miss Stephanie Ford, who is teaching at Greensboro, is at home for the holidays.

ONE OF THE BEST.

Mr. George Brice, formerly of Kent, Now of Far Hills, N. J., is Rated as one of the Greatest Huntsmen in the World.

J. C. Cooley, an authority on hunting, contributing a very interesting article on hunting in one of the leading magazines in the country, pays the fine compliment to Mr. George Brice:

"The quietest huntsman I have ever seen with hounds is Freeman, who hunts the Pytchley hounds in England. He is the quietest and perhaps the best in the world. And one of the finest huntsmen I know is Mr. Brice, who hunts the Essex hounds in New Jersey, whose methods also are of the quietest. Sport with the Pytchley is the finest in the world, and the sport at Essex in the past season has been increasing to a tremendous degree.

"To take a case in instance, let me cite that of the Essex Foxhounds in New Jersey. Mr. Charles Pfizer for years hunted this country with great success. When he relinquished the country it was taken up by the present organization, which built kennels at Peapack and went about the work of improving the country in a most systematic and organized way. Mr. Barney Schley and Mr. W. A. Larned were the joint masters of the new organization at the start, and for the last two years the master has been Mr. A. F. Hyde. The sport has improved by leaps and bounds, and to-day it is one of the most popular packs in America, with a tremendous field. The men interested in the sport with the Essex have spared no pains and no expense to make it as fine as possible. In Mr. George Brice they have got one of the finest huntsmen in the world, and under his management the hounds in kennel have been made into one of the most useful working packs in the country. I recently had a day with the Essex, and I was very much struck with the persistency with which the hounds stuck to the line of their fox. It was a glorious day for being out of doors, but a hopelessly bad one for hunting. It was warm and dry, and the scent must have been very poor. But notwithstanding this, hounds worked on and on in a country which I was told was the worst that the Essex hunted over, and finally they marked their fox to ground.

"Mr. Brice rarely lifts his hounds. He, like Freeman with the Pytchley, lets them work out the line themselves, and the work that the Essex hounds showed that day was meritorious in the highest degree. The hunt was slow, very slow at times, but the hounds worked all the time. And no one could possibly expect hounds on such a day, in a parched country, to work with great drive.

"It takes time and patience and money to get together a pack such as Essex seems to have now. And even if you had unlimited money it would be hard to find another such huntsman as Mr. Brice. Huntsmen with his natural ability are not born every day. But the Essex people have built up a very first-class hunting country through the intelligent expenditure of money and time and trouble. They are blessed with a most beautiful natural country, but as fox-hunting is conducted to-day, natural beauties are only the first step. You can stand on the hills around Bernardsville and Peapack and Gladstone and see a lovely country sloping off in every direction. But unless in that lovely country there are foxes, and unless it is rideable, its beauty will be of little avail."

Kennedyville Items.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Hurlock and daughter, Elizabeth, spent the weekend in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Norman Hitch, of Salisbury, is spending sometime with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hurlock.

Mr. Charles Hague spent Sunday with his sister, Mrs. Gus Nickerson.

Mr. Charles Clendaniel went to Annapolis one day last week and returned this week with his bride. Congratulations, Charles.

Miss Helen Haggerty spent a few days in Chestertown.

Miss Blanche Scotten, of the State Normal School, Mr. Harry Rasin, of Washington College, and Miss Martha Walls, of the Western Maryland College, are home for the Xmas holidays.

Don't forget the Xmas entertainment next Wednesday evening in the M. P. Church.

Mrs. D. C. Kelley attended the wedding of her sister, Miss Reba Wilson, of Annapolis.
