Entered at the Postoffice at Chestertown, Md., as Second Class matter.

Do your bit, buy a Liberty Bond. If you are compelled to make a sacrifice, buy at least one $50 bond. You can get it without the slightest trouble at the Third National Bank.

ACCORDING to a statement issued by Postmaster General Burleson on Tuesday liquor advertisements of any kind will be barred from the mails in 24 states in their entirety and in portions of two others.

SIX thousand people from all parts of the State attended the inaugural ceremonies and cornerstone laying at the Maryland State College on Decoration Day. Gov. Harrington and other notables made addresses.

THE Prudential Life Insurance Company has subscribed for $5,000,000 of the Liberty Loan, and has written its representatives in the country to buy the bonds. This is patriotism. How much will you subscribe, Mr. Man, who dosen't have to be drafted ?

THE United States Civil Service Commission has selected Chestertown as one of the cities of the State for holding examinations for stenographer and typewriter, the only other city on the Eastern Shore being Salisbury. The first examination will be held June 16.

HON. Lloyd Wilkinson, of Baltimore, was in Chestertown on Tuesdsy and Wednesday and interviewed the editors of the papers and a number of prominent citizens in reference to annexation. A strong sentiment is developing in Kent county in favor of the extension of the limits of Baltimore city.

MORE recruits are wanted for the farm army now stationed at Galena. This unit is known as Company B, and 11 men are needed to complete the complement. The call came to Capt. E. J. O'Brien in charge of the recruiting office in the Garrett Building. Those now on the roster will be given the preference.

GOV. HARRINGTON has named June 12 as the date for convening the extra session of the Legislature to provide legislation for the defence of the state in the war. A caucus of the Democratic members will be held on the evening of the eleventh to determine a course of action.

A BASIC price of $2.50 a bushel at northwestern terminals was agreed upon on Friday night as the figure the government would be urged to guarantee for the 1917 wheat crop at a meeting of the northwestern grain growers. A committee from the association will go to Washington to urge a $2.50 limit to be placed in the food control bill now under consideration by Congress.

EVERYBODY MUST REGISTER.

Tuesday next, June 5th, is registration day. Every young man in Kent county between the ages of 21 and 30 years, must go to his polling place in the district or precinct in which he resides and register. It will not excuse you if you are sick or are away from home. You must send a letter in the care of some responsible person who will register your name. No man is excused—white or black. Your refusal to register will subject you to a heavy fine and imprisonment. Be sure to attend to this matter on TUESDAY, JUNE 5th NEXT.

RELATION OF CITY TO COUNTY.

In his fine speach last week before the Maryland State Bankers Association in Atlantic City, Mayor Preston made this very strong statement:

"The interests of country and city are not conflicting but mutually dependent and helpful. The right relation between Baltimore City and the counties is that of copartners jointly engaged in the business of making Maryland a greater State. The State can be made greater, just as a bank may be made greater, by the efficient development and employment of its assets, and opportunities.

"The greatest single asset of Maryland is the City and Harbor of Baltimore. The money value of this asset to the State is indicated by the fact that the State collects more revenue from the 30 square miles of Baltimore City than from the 9830 square miles of the State outside of Baltimore, and the further fact that a large part of the revenue which the State collects outside of Baltimore results from increased property values due to proximity to Baltimore, and other cities of the State."

The Graduating Class.

The graduating class of the Chestertewn High School numbers 30 and is as follows: Academic—Helen Margaret Baxter, Esther Lee Beauchamp, Ellen Constable Beck, Florence Adele Brice, Frances Ferrill Corey, Jessie Perkins Copper, Kathryn H. Donahoe, Annie Lusby Duyer, Dorothy Smith Edwards, Nettie May Graham, Anna Irene Hendrickson, Rebecca Trew Kendall, Edna Lottie Kirby, Rebecca Moffett, Kathryn Myers, Grace Nickerson, Alice Halstead Skipper, Louise Miller Strong, Mary Elizabeth Willis, Eloise Cleaver Wilkins, C. Mr. Thomas W. Perkins has purchased of Mr. Arthur Bacon, the local agent, a new Hupmobile.

THE FEDERATED CLUB ENTERTAINS.

A Delightful Social Function Held In Chestertown.

(CONTRIBUTED)

The Federated Club of Chestertown entertained jointly the clubs of Cambridge and Elkton on Thursday May 24th, at the Eastern Shore Inn. Nearly a hundred visitors were present and with the Chestertown Club made quite a large assemblage. The guests began to arrive about 12 A. M. The large office was beautifully decorated and filled with small tables at which the guests were seated and served with a dainty and delightful lunch. Mrs. Physick made the address of welcome which was as follows:

MADAME PRESIDENT, AND FELLOW-CLUB WOMEN—I deem it not only a great pleasure, but a privilege to be the one to welcome among us to-day our fellow-club women of Cambridge and Elkton.

It is a day we have looked forward to with many and pleasing anticipations, and we sincerely appreciate the opportunity thus afforded us of meeting together for the mutual exchange of thought and opinion for the uplift and advancement spiritually, morally, socially, intellectually and physically of our respective committees.

You will agree with me I know in saying that this interchange of thought is of inestimable value and benefit inasmuch as it should broaden our ideals, enlarge our vision, strengthen our convictions, especially the conviction that in unity of purpose there is unlimited might and progress.

It has been said that the ideal of the eighteenth century was "Liberty." We may illustrate it by the immortal words "Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death."

That the ideal of the nineteenth century was "Equality"—"All Men Are Born Equal." And that the ideal of the twentieth century is "Service"—"No Man Liveth Unto Himself."

Service then is the true aim and purpose of club life, and no one should enter club life with the thought "What Can I Get Out of it?" That is of purely selfish pleasure or benefit, but with the sole thought, "What can I put in it of Interest, Time, Enthusiasm, Influence for the Uplift and Betterment of Social Conditions. We all know the permanency of action, "What a Man Soweth, That Shall he Reap." It is what the good men do that lives after them—not what they say or think.

It was the service that Mary of the Alabaster box of precious ointment rendered that has not been forgotten. The greatest men, the fairest women have been forgotten, but Mary's offering of service lives forever, filling these nineteen hundred centuries with the program of possibilities. So if we would remain indelibly in the hearts and minds of our fellowmen let us render unto them due service. Therefore my dear club women I welcome you, not only for who you are or what you are, but for what you are doing, and I trust that your pleasure in being with us will be somewhat commensurate with our pleasure in having you, and that the memory of this occasion may remain fragrant for all time.

Mrs. Hubbard, president of the Chestertown club, was master of toast and introduced each speaker with most appropriate words of "wit and wisdom."

Mrs. Andrews, president of the Cambridge club, and Mrs. Davis, president of the Elkton club, made each a very interesting response to Mrs. Physick's welcome.

Mrs. McCready, of Cambridge, gave a delightful talk entitled "Fine Feathers."

Mrs. McCulloh, of Elkton, next spoke of the influence of club life in small communities and of how uplifting woman's work may be.

Mrs. Weed, of Washington, daughter of Congressman Hill, of Connecticutt, delivered a very able address on "woman's work in the world today." She was followed by Mrs. Donald Hooker, of Baltimore, who spoke most eloquently of woman's influence in remedying social evils, and pointed out what a strenuous effort mothers must make to rectify social wrongs in our mobilization camps. A delightful musical program was rendered by Mr. Kemp Bordley, violinist, accompanied by Miss Mabel Toulson. A song entitled, "The Eastern Shore" was sung at the opening of the program and "The Star Spangled Banner", at the closing. The visitors expressed themselves as delighted with the entertainment, and recognized in it an "eye opener" as to what women may aspire to do in the world's work. The bringing of the women of the different towns together is not only a delightful social affair but it is believed will be a great incentive to higher achievements.
