THE TRANSCRIPT

Published Every Saturday Morning at Chestertown, Md.

Entered at the Postoffice at Chestertown, Md., as Second Class matter.

TWELVE thousand or more workmen are rushing the work at Camp Mead, Annapolis Junction.

IT HAS been estimated by the Bureau of Mines Director that 150,000,000 tons of coal were wasted last year.

IT IS HARD to predict from St. Swithan's day what the next forty days will be. There were slight rains and fair skies during the day. It looks as if the weather man is playing safe.

A PUBLIC meeting was held in the court house, Easton, last Saturday, protesting against the taking over of Kent Island as a proving station by the government. What's the use protesting, the government will take it if it needs it.

HARVEY D. GIBSON, president of the Liberty National Bank of New York city, has been made general manager of the Red Cross. Mr. Gibson will serve without compensation, and will devote his whole time in Washington to the work of the Red Cross which he has undertaken.

THE DRAWING for the selective draft started yesterday morning at Washington. At the last report an entire new scheme was chosen for drawing the numbers and at 2 P. M. only 2,000 numbers had been drawn. This new scheme probably took ten hours to complete, and the result will probably be published in this morning daily papers.

IDLERS TO REGISTER.

August 20th is the date set by Governor Harrington, under the law passed at the recent session of the Maryland Legislature, for all persons between the ages of 18 and 50 years who are not regularly employed to register their name, address, age, etc., with the clerks of the circuit courts in the counties of the State.

The penalty for refusing or neglect to register is a fine and imprisonment. It is to be hoped that this law will be strictly enforced and that the many idlers in Chestertown and throughout the county and State will be put to work. It is distressing to see the condition of many fields of corn and other crops throughout this and other counties on the shore caused from lack of work, and we are told that it is impossible for the farmers to get labor to cultivate their crops. Put the law into effect and send the idlers to the farmers to work and save the crops before it is too late.

David L. Greenfield.

Chestertown should feel a deep and reverent sense of honor that one so great as David L. Greenfield should express the wish that his last resting place shall be beneath the sod of our City of the Dead. Dr. Greenfield loved Chestertown. He loved its people, its traditions, its brooks and rivers, and his noble life, so beautifully spent in ministering to the temporal and spiritual needs of the high and low, the rich and poor alike, endeared him to our people regardless of denomination, in the most affectionate and tender regard. Dr. Greenfield was undoubtedly one of the most scholarly and refined men our town has even had the honor to call one of its citizens, and his sincerity and deep religious devotion made him a power in the sick room and a tower of comfort in the hour of death. His gentle, kindly touch was like a blessing from the sky, and his great big sympathetic heart just opened wide and took you in to comfort and to cheer. We shall love to think of Dr. Greenfielp as one of our best and dearest friends, and when the pines and weeping willows in our City of the Dead waft his sweet spirit to the realms of eternal day, it will be one of our sweetest pleasures to know that he loved us and we loved him when we went a yachting on the bay. HIS FRIEND.

Collector Miles Sued

Suit was filed in the United States District Court yesterday by the Baltimore Trust Company, against Joshua W. Miles, collector of internal revenue, to have refunded monies paid the collector as a bankers' special tax and which was imposed by act of congress, approved October, 1914. The complainants declare they had paid this money under protest and to prevent the taking of their property. Twice in one year they paid $1,668.50 and at another period $1,571.

The suit, which is brought on behalf of the trust company, interests other financial intitutions and is understood to be a test case to determine the constitutionality of this tax. The Baltimore Trust Company is represented by Ritchie & Janney.

Fair Notes.

Mrs. Belle Smith will have charge of the women's and children's department at the Fair.

The poultry show that was to have been held at the Fair has been abandoned because of insufficient time for owners to get their birds in condition to enter them. The poultry show would have been an interesting feature, and it is unfortunate that arrangements were not made sooner for this interesting feature.

The entries for the Fair, which will begin Tuesday next, July 24, include some of the best ho ses on the circuit and good racing is assured. The livestock and domestic exhibits will also be well represented.

More Population But Not More Power.

The extension of the limits of Baltimore city, as proposed by the bill of the Non-Partisan Greater Baltimore Extension League, will give Baltimore city about 75,000 more population and thus prevent the chief city of our State from falling to tenth or twelfth place in the census of 1920. But more population does not mean more power. More power could come only from increased representation in the Lsgislature. Representation in the Legislature is fixed by the Constitution and cannot be increased except by amendment of the Constitution. By Section 2 of Article III of the Constitution, Baltimore city is divided into four legislative districts and each district is given one senator. By Section 4 of Article III, each legislative district is given the same number of delegates as the largest counties, and by the same section the largest counties, that is counties having a population of 55,000 or more, are given six. Baltimore city will have four senators, as it now has, and no more, and twenty-four members of the House of Delegates, which it now has, and no more, and the counties will have 23 senators and 77 delegates, just as they now have.

Does anybody really fear that the city will dominate the Senate with four Senators out of twenty-seven, or that the city will dominate the house with twenty-four members out of one hundred and two? The city's representation cannot be increased, either in the Legislature or in the Judiciary, except by an amendment of the constitution. The constitution cannot be amended except by an act which passed the Legislature by a three-fifths' vote in both houses, and is then ratified by the people, or by a Constitutional Convention; and in a Constitutional Convention the city would have the same representation which it has in the Legislature. Neither can the city's representation in a State Convention of either party be increased without an act of the legislature. Nor will the extension of the city's limits have any effect on state elections. The voters in the territory to be added to the city will be the same men after they are brought within the City as before and will vote the same way in state elections, in the city as they would if left out of the city.

St. John's-By-The-Bay Opened

St. John's-by-the-Bay, a chapel built at Betterton under the auspices of I. U. Parish, was opened for the first service on the 15th, when the congregations of I. U., Shrewsbury and Betterton worshipped together. The Rev. T. B. Stauffer, of Kent, and the Rev. E. W. Wroth, of All Saints, Baltimore, were in the chancel with the rector of the parish and all took part in the service. Mr. Wroth being an old I. U. boy, preached a most excellent and appropriate sermon.

This little chapel is beautifully located and is an ornament to the growing town of Betterton. It has been built at a cost of $2100, and has a small debt of less than $400 resting upon it, which will be easily taken care of. For five years a band of faithful, patient and persevering women and one or two men have diligently and quietly collected funds to this end. They are now happy that their labor of love and self-denial has borne fruit. Sunday was a day of rejoicing with this little band, who for many weeks to come (when they think of their dear little church) will feel like singing the doxology of praise.

FIFTH ANNUAL

KENT AND QUEEN ANNE'S FAIR

AT CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND

July 24th, 25th, 26th & 27th, 1917

BIGGER AND BETTER THAN EVER BEFORE!

THE FIFTH REGIMENT BAND OF FIFTEEN PIECES WILL FURNISH MUSIC

Neither pains or money are being spared to make the event this year the crowning one of the five years the Kent and Queen Anne's Fair Association has been in existence.

TUESDAY, JULY 24th, will be CHILDREN'S DAY. Believing that our children should be given everything that we can to make them have a happy and pleasant time in the days when they are free from care and responsibilities, the Association has this year, as in the past, decided to make Tuesday, the first day of the Fair, "Children's Day." On this day all children 12 years old and under will be admitted free.

We hope parents will take advantage of this and bring their children to be our guests on that day. Some attraction of special interest to the children will be arranged for on that day.

POULTRY SHOW. One of the Big Events of the Fair. A tent 50x90 will be required to house the birds. Open to all. All breeds of poultry.

Trophies and Money Prizes. Expected to be the largest poultry show ever held on the Shore.

Agricultural Exhibit, canned goods, bread, pies, cakes, etc.; needle work, fancy work. Money prizes given. Write J. G. Beck, Chestertown, Md., for premium list.

Miss Gale, one of Baltimore City's finest soprano singers, will sing each day in front of grandstand.

On FRIDAY will take place two AUTOMOBILE RACES by professionals. One 10-mile and one 5-mile races for purses.

The management of the Fair Association have this year secured—and will make it a leading feature—an exhibit of PURE BRED CATTLE. This section is fast becoming a cattle country, and an exhibit of this sort will create great interest. Mr. John E. George, our leading Queen Anne's County Dairyman and Breeder, will exhibit Holstein Freisians. Among them will be his $20,000 sire, KING SEGIS PONTIAC MARENGO. Our Kent county dairymen and breeders will also show you some great living milking machines. Don't fail to visit the Fair and see one of the finest arrays of Dairy Cattle ever gotten together on the Eastern Shore. This alone will be worth the price of admission.

OUR MIDWAY this year will be in the hands of Franklin & Baldwin Show Co., of Baltimore, Md., who have had over 30 years experience in shows and amusements and will surpass anything ever seen here before. Over 100 people with shows and concessions.

Chestertown is the starting point of the Fair Circuit this year, and the horses will be fresh and good. Large field in every class is already assured.

DON'T FORGET THE DATE. Come bring your families and spend the day at the great Kent and Queen Anne's Fair at Chestertown, as you will not be able to see it all this year if you don't make a full day of it. Farmers will see a great display of Farm Machinery, as all the leading manufacturers of the country have engaged ample space for exhibits.

The judging in Cattle, Poultry and other exhibits will be made on Tuesday. All exhibits must be placed by 10.30 Tuesday morning.
