WANTED!

IMMEDIATELY at this Office, a smart active BOY, from the Country, to learn the Printing Business.

Another Fenian Excitement.

The Fenian rising in Ireland appears at last to be something more than a mere local outbreak. The despatches by the Atlantic telegraph, coming through English sources, and naturally colored by the feelings of those adverse to the rebellion, admit that the rising is general, whilst the accounts given of the encounters between the insurgents and the soldiery show that it is beyond doubt serious. In each of these encounters the British forces are reported to have been the victors, and the insurgents were either captured, killed or dispersed. The Fenians appeared to have attacked the various coast guard and constabulatory stations, their object being the capture of these posts to secure arms and ammunition. In several cases they were successful. They were also searching private houses for arms. A proclamation had been issued in the name of the Irish Republic, declaring that the appeal to arms had been made to secure Ireland from serfdom, and establish "national union, the public safety, and political freedom," and to bring about the separation of Church and State. The forces are reported to have encountered the insurgents in the counties of Limerick, Clonmel, and at Tallaght, near Dublin. Armed bands are moving through the counties of Clare, Tipperary and Limerick. One band, fifteen hundred strong, was threatening the city of Tipperary. Incendiary fires were frequent in and around Limerick. The Irish correspondent of the Times says that the country is full of Irish Americans, and urges the severest punishment in their cases. The same correspondent claims that the rising is considered a failure in Dublin. Among the leaders of the Fenians are mentioned Gen. Gleason, Gen. Lane, and Col. Dunn, each of whom have seen service in this country. The latest despatches report all quiet at Dublin, Cork, and a severe storm was prevailing, and it was supposed the insurgents who had been driven to take refuge among the mountains would suffer greatly from want and exposure.

The Impeachment Question.

The House of Representatives was engaged during nearly all of Thursday's session with a debate on the Impeachment question, the discussion being marked with considerable excitement. Mr. Ashley, of Ohio, introduced a resolution, reciting the action of the Thirty-ninth Congress upon the subject of impeachment, and directing the Judiciary Committee, when appointed, to pursue their investigation, with power to sit during a recess, and authorizing the Speaker to appoint a Judiciary Committee at once. On this resolution he addressed the House at length, speaking very strongly of the usurpations of the President, and charging that his recent veto message was an invitation to revolution and civil war. The Speaker at one time called Mr. Ashley to order for using unparliamentary language towards the President. Mr. Spalding (Repub.) of Ohio, protested against the impeachment movement as unjustified and uncalled for. General Butler urged the adoption of the resolutions. The debate was continued on the Democratic side by Fernando Wood and Mr. Brooks, of New York. A motion to lay the resolutions on the table was rejected by a more than two-thirds vote, and it was then passed without a division.

York and Reisterstown Turnpikes.

Mr. Hammond, on the 1st inst., in the House of Delegates, offered the following, which was adopted:

Whereas it has been represented to this General Assembly that a gross imposition, under the color of law, has been practised by corporations of its creation: therefore

Resolved, by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the Attorney General be, and he is hereby directed to inquire whether the rates of toll charged by the president and managers of the Yorktown Turnpike Company and the Reisterstown Turnpike Company are higher than is warranted by law; whether they are charging for passing over any road or way not now by law belonging to them, and whether or not it is the custom of said companies to charge travellers the whole distance between the gates, irrespective of the distance actually travelled. And if he shall be of opinion that the Charter of said Companies or either of them, in any or all of these particulars, is violated, he shall publish his written opinion to that effect in two of the newspapers in the city of Baltimore, and shall give notice to the said Companies of his opinion; and if they shall not within a reasonable time after said notice correct the wrong which they shall authorize or permit, then the said Attorney General shall take such steps as he may deem necessary to enforce obedience to the laws; providing that he shall not take proceedings to forfeit their charter, unless he shall be unable otherwise to compel said companies to comply with the terms of their charters.

☞We regard this as exceeding lenient legislation, and a rather doubtful method of remedying the evil complained of. We do know, however, that the tolls on the Baltimore and Reisterstown Turnpike have been increased considerably, while the condition of the road has been anything else but improved.

Hon. Reverdy Johnson.

In the opinion of Rebs, Reverdy Johnson has fallen from grace—gone back to the flesh-pots of Egypt. But a few weeks since he was the "pet of the brigade,"—"the fairest among ten thousand and one altogether lovely." It was Reverdy Johnson the Statesman, Patriot, and friend of Andy Johnson. Rebel newspapers vied with each other in fulsome panegyrics; Rebel stump-speakers bellowed out eulogies; the Legislature passed resolutions commendatory, and the small fry joined in the chorus, and yelped his praise from every corner and at every cross-road in the State. But alas! how soon the mighty have fallen. Since his vote on Thad. Steven's Military Bill, they have suddenly discovered that he is no Statesman, is unreliable, and unworthy of trust, &c., &c. So it is; to be a respected Rebel you must "go it blind" on all questions—no independence, no self-respect, no free thinking—no nothing but mulish, stubborn, stupid adherence to rebel democratic policy.

☞Union men of Maryland, you have frequently been told by the Democratic party that they were opposed to secession and revolution; that they had no sympathy with treason, but discountenanced it, and were law-abiding, Union-loving citizens, and many of you were almost persuaded to become one of their fold. How now, think you, that their acts correspond with their words? But a few days since, the Maryland Legislature passed a law granting compensation to the Rebel Legislature of 1861, which would have cast your destines with the South, and caused the demolition of your homes and laying waste of your lands, as was the case of your "sister State" of Virginia, had not the powerful arm of the Government averted the dire calamity. Remember this, Union men. Treasure it up against the next election, and then strike the blow that will consign the aiders and abetters of treason to eternal infamy and disgrace.

Payment for Slaves.

We have always contended that as soon as they were able, Rebels would tax the State to the tune of $30,000,000 to pay for emancipated Slaves. This they strenuously denied in this County, for the reason that the measure was unpopular. In the State Senate, on the 21 instant, leave was granted to Mr. Henkle to introduce a bill for taking and preserving testimony of the ownership of Slaves in the State of Maryland, emancipated by the constitution of 1864. Don't this look as if they expected pay for their slaves? Let them once frame a new Constitution and our prediction will soon be verified and this debt saddled upon your shoulders. So look to it that you be not again deceived by their specious promises and ingenious denials.

A Book for All.

The first number of an interesting book, entitled "one hundred choice selections" both new and old, designed for the use of Academies, Schools, private classes, and the Home Circle, has reached us. The selections have been made with great care by a popular elocutionist with a view to combine patriotism, sentiment, eloquence and humor in proper portion, and a glance at the table of contents will satisfy any one of the successful achievements of this object, and we feel assured that whatever merit it may contain, will be appreciated by a discriminating public. Published by P. Garrett & Co., Philadelphia, at the small sum of 30 cents in pamphlet edition, and 75 cents on fine paper, cloth, gilt back. Send for a copy.

U. S. Senator.

The Democratic members, including the Conservatives, of the Maryland Legislature met in caucus last night and resumed the labor of selecting a candidate for United States Senator. On the first ballot Ex Governor P. F. Thomas was nominated he receiving one more vote than a majority of the members present. The successful candidate was subsequently introduced in the caucus and made a speech, in which he "thundered in the index" at a terrible rate. The men at Washington, meaning, we presume, the Republicans in Congress, were described as "bent upon destroying the Union," "establishing a military despotism," etc., and he pledged himself to assert the rights of the States, and "to face these men who are now and always were traitors to the Union." We would have given the Ex-Governor credit for more taste and discretion than indulging in this Jack Rogers' kind of talk. He has been in Congress before, and ought to know the difference between being a great man at Annapolis and enacting the same role in the United States Senate. When he gets there, if at all—and on that point he seems himself to have some doubts—he will find that he is but one among many abler and more patriotic men, whose composure—nor that of the country, let us also gently hint—will not be disturbed either by his incoming or outgoings.—Balt. American.

The New Internal Revenue Tax Law.

Important Circular.—The following has just been issued from the office of the Internal Revenue Bureau:

Washington, March 5, 1867.—The act approved March 2d, 1867, amending the existing laws relating to internal revenue, requires the assessment of the annual taxes heretofore made in the month of May, to be made on the corresponding days in the month of March. The principal changes in the law respecting the income tax are those increasing the exemption from $600 to $1,000, and the repeal of the tax of 10 per cent. on sums above $5,000, so that the law now imposes a uniform tax of 5 per cent. on incomes in excess of $1.000. Profits on sales of real estate purchased since December 31, 1863, are made taxable as income. Attention is also called to that portion of the act of July 13, 1866, which repealed the tax on musical instruments, yachts, and certain carriages heretofore taxed in schedule A.

Instructions and rulings concerning the assessment of the annual taxes will be issued in a few days.

Foreign Immigration.

During January there arrived at New York from foreign ports 7,674 immigrants; during February, 5,688, and during the first week of March, 1,610; a total number of arrivals since the beginning of the year of 14,972, as compared with 18,476 during the same period of 1866. The stormy weather of the last few days has kept back several emigrant ships, or otherwise the total would have been as great as during the corresponding period of 1866.

Negro Suffrage in Tennessee.

The great State of Tennessee has completed the logical fruits of treason's wanton war, by enfranchising the freemen and disfranchising rebels. One of the first acts of the loyal Legislature of that State was to deny suffrage to those who took up arms against the Government, and about a fortnight ago the Legislature passed an act extending the elective franchise to all loyal men without regard to caste or color, and Gov. Brownlow has approved it. The true and faithful men of Tennessee having felt the full weight of rebel barbarity, know well how essential to the peace and safety of the people is the withdrawal of all power from those who have so terribly abused it, and they are manifestly in earnest, as they have passed a military bill to provide State troops when necessary to enforce the laws and maintain order. The negroes of Tennessee, in bygone days, voted with the whites, and once decided a contest that sent John Bell to Congress. Now they return to the exercise of all the rights of manhood, and will command respect and protection by their political power as citizens. How long will it require the Rebel Conservative Swannites of Maryland to learn that the world moves?

Another Mammoth Gift Enterprise Broken Up.

The New York Tribune gives an account of the breaking up of a mammoth gift enterprise in that city. It says that on Wednesday a special officer of the post office ascertained that the proprietors of a new gift-lottery enterprise were loading the mails with their circulars and tickets, and on making inquiry he learned that the dealers had leased four rooms at No. 62 Broadway, and made every preparation for a very lucrative business. Several police officers were on Thursday sent to the place and seized the whole establishment, and took into custody the manager, thirty-three young men and twenty-nine girls.

Gen. Grant on Reconstruction.

At the present critical juncture of our national affairs, the opinion of such a man as General Grant is regarded with no little interest, says a Washington correspondent of the New York Herald. The General is known to be quite conservative in his political views, and until recently it was generally believed that he agreed, to a great extent, with the President, in his policy of Southern Reconstruction, but since the Chicago trip the General has manifested a perceptible tendency towards the radical side of the question, and especially during the uncertainty that surrounded the Military Government Bill has been more outspoken in his views on this subject. He has on several occasions expressed the interest he felt in this measure, and his hope that it would become a law. On Sunday, while in conversation with a gentleman on the steps of Dr. Sunderland's Church, he said "that he was much pleased at the passage of the Military Government Bill over the veto of the President," and stated "that he hoped and expected that the result would be the speedy reconstruction of the Southern States, and the admission of their representatives to the Capitol before the adjournment of the Fortieth Congress."

Adjournment of Congress.

The prevalent idea is that when the two Houses adjourn, which is expected to take place in a few weeks, they will do so on a resolution authorizing the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House to recall them whenever, in their joint judgment, the public exigencies require it.—There are now seventeen States unrepresented; of which seven are adhering and ten insurgent. The latter have begun for the first time honestly to reconstruct themselves according to a practical and equal plan. Unless some important disclosures take place in a day or two, an adjournment at an early day, under the conditions stated, is believed to be certain. The committees of the two Houses will, of course, be appointed before the adjournment, and that of the Judiciary in the House, to which impeachment is referred, can sit in the recess.

The New Vice President.

By reference to our Congressional summary, it will be seen that Hon. B. F. Wade, of Ohio, has been elected President of the Senate in place of Senator Foster of Connecticut, whose Senatorial term expired on the 4th inst.. Wr. Wade is an original Republican and an able man. He has been Senator about sixteen years and in all that time has stood the fast friend of Freedom and Humanity.—As President of the Senate Mr. Wade is ex officio Vice President of the United States.

The Flood in the South.

The Virginia and Tennessee valley has just been visited with the heaviest freshet that has occurred within the memory of the oldest inhabitant. The whole valley, from Lynchburg to Chattanooga, has been swept by the swollen streams. The Virginia and Tennesse railroad is badly damaged, and two bridges on the East Tennessee and Virginia railroad are gone. It rained last week for three days incessantly, washing away barns, fences, etc. The Richmond papers report a heavy rise in the James river, At Rocketts all the wharves were submerged and many cellars inundated, but no very serious damage was done. The freshet in the vicinity of Petersburg caused some damage.

☞The New York Post says that on the Military Reconstruction bill becoming a law, citizens of North Carolina and Arkansas will begin the work of reorganization under it. They are now making preparations for this inportant work, so as to secure proper concert of action in the different parts of the States; and though they expect to meet at first with some opposition from the factiously disposed, they depend upon the United States to protect them in exercising full and free discussion before the people, and in holding the election prescribed by the act. The Post also learns from South Corolina that Mr. Orr has received such treatment from the extremists for recent moderate counsels, that his friends are outraged and offended, and talk of cutting loose from men who, they begin to see, are too thick-headed to accept anything but ruin.

Destitution in the South.

Secretary Stanton has transmitted to the Senate a statement of General Howard in regard to the extreme destitution in the Southern States. The report states that from official sources, and confirmed by gentlemen from different sections of the South, he estimates that 32,622 whites and 24,238 colored people will need food from some source before the next crop can relieve them. The number of rations required for one month is 1,707,000; for five months, the probable time required, 8,535,000.

Local Items.

Prizes of the Late Fair.—As many persons from the country had chances in the various valuable articles disposed of at the late Fair, and much inquiry made in regard to them, we today give the names of the fortunate recipients of the most valuable articles:—Silver Tea Sett, Mrs. Annie McKellip; China Tea Sett, Mr. Geo. Fringer; Sideboard, Mr. John B. Vandersloot; Sewing Machine, Mr. Samuel Sawble; Silver Pitcher, Mr. Edwin Lawyer; Reception Chair, John Stonesifer.

Fashionable Tailoring.—As Spring is fast approaching, and our young men, and old ones too, will wants to spruce up and look their best, we take pleasure in informing them that they can find at the West End, at John L. Reifsnider's a full stock of Goods, and a genuine living fashionable Tailor, ready to make them up, and fit you to a charm. By all means call on friend Kretzer, and our word for it you will never have cause to regret it.

The Lutheran Church Fair.

It is with extreme pleasure that we announce and gratefully acknowledge the successful issue of the Lutheran Church Fair. The project was undertaken in the hope of success, and we hoped not in vain. We had confidence in the liberality of the people, and our confidence was by no means misplaced, for nobly have we been sustained. Most praiseworthily has the public responded to our wishes.

It seems as though every one, irrespective of denominational distinctions, wished us success, and generously have they given of their substantial aid. Every effort was made upon the part of the managers of the Fair to please and render full satisfaction, and we know of no just reason for complaint, and hear of none.

The Pastor of the Lutheran Church, and those associated with him in this enterprize, take great pleasure in thanking all our friends for their liberal patronage towards a public good, and especially do we find ourselves indebted to the untiring zeal and most faithful labors, of the fair ladies in our behalf. Their attractive smiles in the famous "New England Kitchen," and around the tables below, contributed much, and principally, to our success. We never knew of any enterprize to fail when in the hands of the ladies; for indeed they are famous for conquests.

As we have been so kindly remembered and so liberally patronized in this our first attempt, as a church to advance the cause of religion in this place, we shall always be careful to return the same Christian favor. Hoping that all feel that they have contributed to a noble cause, we trust they may ever realize the comforts of the truth that "it is more blessed to give than to receive."

The following is a correct account of our receipts, expenses, &c.

| Gross Receipts, | $2,407 66 |
| Expenses, | 571 24 |
| Nett, | $1,836 42 |

Maryland and Emigration.

The New York Commercial says:—The Maryland Legislature is now endeavoring to fix upon some scheme for turning the tide of emigration to that State. The journals are becoming alarmed at the prospects of a standstill in the growth of population, and call upon their Solons to act quickly in the matter of organizing an Emigration Bureau, or something of the kind. We can assure them, however that no emigration legislation will attract strangers thither so long as the State is apparently advancing backward. Whether or not there be any foundation for it, the opinion now prevails both at the North and abroad, that Maryland is now taking the back track as regards enlightened, liberal and progressive views; that the Legislature is undoing the good work of the past five years, and attempting to restore the evils of caste and aristocracy. If Maryland would secure her share of the strangers who come to our shores to escape the oppression and despotism of the Old World, she must hasten to eradicate this impression by liberal and progressive legislation. Furthermore, her present policy must be abandoned, if she would retain her present population. We hear that large numbers of Unionists, depressed and discouraged at the turn which affairs have taken, are preparing to sell out and remove elsewhere.

Brutality of the Turks.

How the Turks carry war against the Cretans, is demonstrated by an incident related in a letter from Athens. The Christians in Selino were informed by the Consuls at Cranch that European ships would appear off Sugia and take such families away as chose to leave the island. In consequence, nearly three thousand women and children flocked thither, anxiously awaiting the arrival of the promised vessels. A large steamer appeared carrying the English flag, and was cheered by those on shore, when suddenly the steamer turned out to be a Turkish ship of war, opened her ports and fired her broadsides into the helpless and unarmed crowd. Over 150 women and children were killed outright, and a much larger number more or less seriously wounded. Such wanton acts of cruelty and barbarism must hasten the termination of Turkish dominion in Europe.

An Unpublished Incident.

It is stated says the New York Evening Gazette, that a few months before the fall of Richmond, Virginia, while the Rebel Congress was deeply concerned about the cruelty and barbarity of the North, a woman of that city walked into the House of Representatives and attacked three members with a cowhide, castigating them mercilessly. At last the Speaker caught the virago in his arms, and held her there until she went into hysterics. She said her intention was to chastise the entire body because of its abuse of the North, and she made a very good commencement, certainly. After her departure, the House passed a resolution that body recommended to the press the impropriety of making public the unhappy incident, as a matter calculated to bring reproach upon the dignity of Southern legislators. The Richmond papers never mentioned the circumstance, only recently was the story told by a reconstructed member of the defunct House.

☞When Jeff. Davis was arrested and held a prisoner, after he had filled the land with blood and mourning, in order that he might perpetuate the enslavement of a race, the English aristocracy loudly protested against the United States Government holding the arch-traitor a prisoner. Colonel O'Conner, the leader of the Fenian movement to free a race, and a man who has not been instrumental in shedding a drop of blood to Davis' deluge of gore, has lately been captured by the hirelings of the British crown. We will now see whether the English will treat the Irish revolutionists as tenderly as they asked that the American traitor, Davis, be treated. John Bull has now a chance to practice what he preached in Davis' case.

☞Last Spring and Summer the Democrats and Conservatives found a good deal of solid satisfaction in denouncing Congress, and in predicting that the people, at the elections then approaching, would stamp it with reprobation. The elections came, and the people did no such thing. Congress was emphatically approved. All the advanced Radicals were renominated and re-elected. Only the Conservatives and half hearted Radicals were dropped. For a time the abuse of Congress was silenced. Recently, however, it has been renewed. In view of the undeniable facts, we submit that the real point of objection is not against Congress, but against Popular Government. The objectors do not want the people to govern, but only an insignificant faction.

☞The Supreme Court of Indiana has decided in the case of McCormic, a Brigadier General of the "Sons of Liberty," claiming damages in $25,000 for his arrest under the act of March, 1863, that the act was constitutional, thus denying the claims for damages. Could'nt an act of Congress be so devised as to effectually and forever put a stop to the insolent experiments on public forbearance, that these unhung, traitorous scoundrels are continually attempting.

☞The flood in the Western waters is remarkable for its continuance as well as its extent. For three weeks the Ohio has been at flood height, and the losses by the overflow of bottom lands have been enormous. The river is rising, and greater disaster and more suffering than have been known from this cause for many years are apprehended.

Executive Appointments.

The Senate rejected so many nominations for Postmaster and other offices, sent in at a late hour, that it is now said the President will take counsel with the Republican members in future appointments, in order to make selections which the Senate will confirm.

Consumption Curable by Dr. Schenck's Medicines.

TO CURE CONSUMPTION, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach of all billious or mucuous accumulations, and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP is nutricious as well as medicinal, and by using the three remedies all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stages yields readily in their action.—Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhœa they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well.
