POETRY.

Sunshine Comes To Morrow.

FRANK W. POTTER.

Here's a lasting truth to learn,
Ye that trouble borrow—
Though thy path be dark to-day,
Sunshine comes to-morrow.

True the skies of summer fade,
Die the summer flowers,
And stern winter rudely brings
Dark and gloomy hours.

Yet the spring shall come again,
With its tender glances;
And again the summer'll bloom
As the year advances.

Then the birds will warble songs
In the summer meadow;
Branches, waving in the breeze,
Cast on earth their shadows.

Darkness will succeed to light—
Night will yield to morning;
Brighter joys are on the wing—
Radiant hopes adorning.

Soon the light of holy truth
Error's cords shall sever;
'Neath its rage shall wrong grow right—
Peace descend forever.

O, let's work and hope and love,
However dark the hour;
Trust to Him who rules the storm
With Almighty power.

Then this lesson wisely learn—
It will heal your sorrow;
That, however dark the day,
Sunshine comes to-morrow.

MISCELLANEOUS.

A Sharp Trick.

Without mentioning names we will relate a decidedly sharp trick that was played in Omaha a day or two since.—There was a well-to-do couple residing in the most aristocratic part of the city. They were well off in worldly goods and blessed with a pair of interesting children—a boy and girl. Latterly they had rather an unhappy life, with bickering, scoldings, upbraidings and misunderstandings; so that an outsider would hazzard the opinion that they were not constitutionally created for each other. They gazed on the dark side of each other's life; and truly seperation would be better than such an existence. The husband bethought himself of a sharp dodge. He went secretly and sold the entire property, and converted it into greenbacks—to the amount of 7,500 The wife got an inkling of what the husband was trying to do, and resolved to checkmate him.—She went privately and sold the furniture—the only property the husband had not disposed of—for some $1,200. She had the privilege of the chattels for a few days, to perfect her game. The husband had received his money. She knew the day and had a nice supper prepared. They had not in a long time appeared as affectionate as this evening.

After supper they indulged in a quiet glass of stock ale. He felt like a sleep and retired. He was soon in the soundest sleep he had enjoyed for many a day, for she had drugged his ale. She then went and examined his clothes.—In his pocket-book were nearly $400. a further search discovered to her, carefully stiched in the lining of his vest, the $7,500 he received for their property She extracted the greenbacks and put in their stead a copy of the Omaha Daily Herald, and stitched it up the same as before.

Next morning he awoke and started for Julesburg. She kept her own counsel, but was made aware of his preconserted plan of desertion.

He did go to Julesburg, and on a chance to invest, opened the treasure, and there was rather taken back to find the Herald, on the margin of which was penciled: 'Dearly beloved husband: Thinking I could take better care of all this money than you, I have taken charge of it. Find me now, if you can. The children will be all right. I wish you a pleasant journey—such as I expect you to have. Your dear forlorn wife. ——'

Mad with rage and disappointment he came back to Omaha yesterday, and his most dilligent inquiries could find no clue as to whither she went.

☞ A clam merchant, meeting one of his own fraternity the other day, whose pony might be considered a beautiful specimen of a living skeleton, remonstrated with the owner, and asked him if he ever fed him. 'Ever feed him! that's a good one;' was the reply; 'he's got a bushel and a-half of oats at home now, only he hain't got time to eat 'em.'

A Backwoods Adventure.

A Virginia Banker, who was the chairman of a noted Infidel Club, was once travelling through Kentucky, having with him bank bills to the value of twenty-five thousand dollars. When he came to a lonely forest, where robberies and murders were said to be frequent, he was soon lost, through taking a wrong road. The darkness of night came quickly over him, and how to escape from the threatened danger he knew not In his alarm, he suddenly espied, in the distance, a dim light, and urging his horse onward, he at length came to a wretched looking cabin. He knocked, and the door was opened by a woman, who said that her husband was out hunting, but would shortly return, and she was sure he would cheerfully give him shelter for the night.—The gentleman tied up his horse and entered the cabin, but with feelings that can be better imagined than described. Here he was, with a large sum of money, and perhaps in the house of one of the robbers whose name was a terror to the country.

In a short time the man of the house returned He had on a deer-skin shirt a bear-skin cap, seemed much fatigued, and in no talkative mood. All this boded the infidel no good He felt for his pistols in his pocket, and placed them so as to be ready for instant use. The man asked the stranger to retire to bed, but he declined, saying that he would sit by the fire all night. The man urged, but the more he urged, the more the infidel was alarmed. He felt assured that this was his last night upon earth, but he determined to sell his life as dearly as he could. His infidel principles gave him no comfort. His fears grew into perfect agony. What was to be done?

At length the backwoodsman rose, and reaching to a wooden shelf, he took down an old book and said:

'Well, stranger, if you won't go to bed, I will; but it is my custom always to read a chapter of Holy Scripture before I go to bed.'

What a change did these words produce! Alarm was at once removed from the skeptic's mind. Though avowing himself an infidel, he had new confidence in the Bible. He felt safe. He felt that the man who kept an old Bible in his house, and read it, and bent his knees in prayer, was no robber or murderer. He listened to the simple prayer of the good man, at once dismissed all his fears, and lay down in that rude cabin and slept as calmly as under his father's roof. From that night he ceased to revile the good old Bible.—He became a sincere Christian, and often related the story of his eventful journey, to prove the folly of infidelity.

H-e-r-e We Come.

There was a wedding in a church in a village near Chicago, recently, which was attended by a large crowd of people, the bride being a famous belle in this the way in which the woman was saved from further ill-treatment. Her husband knocked her down, jumped on her and then throwing himself on her, seized her by the throat, and attempted to strangle her, but while she lay on the ground screaming a favorite cat, named Topsy, suddenly sprang on her husband and fastened her claws in his eyes and her teeth in his face. Her husband could not tear the cat away, and he was obliged to implore her to take it from him to save his life. The husband got a month's hard labor. The report does not say whether 'the worthy magistrate' ordered Topsy to have a treat at the expense of the poor-box'

How a Young Man Ruined Himself.

A man is now confined in the Marion (Ill.) co. jail who ought to be in better business His name is Albert Wells.—Three months since he was agent for the Adams' Express Company, at Sandoval In an evil hour, and being addicted to loose company, he was tempted to embezzle $1,800, Express money, and fled. He has an excellent and intelligent wife living in Worcester, Mass.—To her he fled, was arrested on requisition from Governor Oglesby, brought back to Salem, and imprisoned to await trial. This unhappy young man, now about thirty-three years of age, is a genius. His education is superb; he is an excellent scholar, can converse fluently in German, French and Italian; is tolerably conversant with Latin and Greek, an admirable penman, and an uncommonly unique telegrapher. He can receive and transmit by sound messages by telegraph at the same time. He can write at the same time on two sheets of paper, with his right and left hand, in a beautiful style of chirography. Being of very courteous and prepossessing manners, it is said, he worked upon the feelings of one of the female attachees of the prison, and was let out of jail and escaped. Once out, his genius was at fault. Not being familiar with the country, he took the line of railroad for escape Had he struck off South, he would not have been subject to be pursued by telegraph or overtaken by railroad. At Flora he was re-arrested, brought back, and is now in jail at Salem, to be tried for felony. What a lesson does this instance exhibit to our young men, and to all men, of the danger of yielding to temptation, and forgetting the virtuous instructions of youth!

An Amusing Tunnel Incident.

Doubtless the tunnel on the Eastern Railroad, just east of the depot, in Salem, has been the scene of numerous amusing incidents, but we doubt if anything of a more ludicrous character has ever taken place in it than the following: It seems that a few days since a lady and her sister, and a grown-up son of the latter, took the cars at Boston for the East, the sisters occupying one seat together and the young man the one behind with another person. Upon entering the tunnel, the aunt, to have a little fun, rose up carefully, reached over to the seat the young man had been occupying, seized some one by the collar, shook him soundly, and then resumed her seat.

The sister, surprised at her vigorous movements, asked what she had been doing, and was informed by the other that she had been attempting to frighten her nephew. Her feelings can be imagined when the mother made her acquainted with the fact that the young man left the train at Salem, and that she had been 'shaking the wrong passenger.'

When the train emerged from the tunnel the person who had been mistaken for the son was observed adjusting his neck-tie and collar, and remarked that he did not know what the matter was with the ladies in front of him, but thought one of them must be insane, for he had given him a severe shaking, torn off his neck-tie, scratched his face and disarranged his hair, and he was at a loss to give any other account for the sudden attack that had been made upon him.

Definitions of Character.

Fine Fellow.—The man who advertises in your paper, the man who never refuses to lend you money, and the fellow who is courting your sister.

Genteel People.—The young lady who gets her mother do the ironing for fear of spoiling her hands, the miss who wears thin soled shoes on a rainy day, and the young gentleman who is ashamed to be seen walking with his father.

Industrious People.—The young lady who reads romances in bed, the friend who is always engaged when you call, and the correspondent who cannot find time to answer your letter.

Unpopular People.—The fat man in an omnibus, a tall man in a crowd, and a short man on parade.

Timid People.—A lover about to pop the question, a man who does not like to be shot at, and a steamboat company with Cholera on board.

Persecuted People.—Woman by that tyrant, man, boys by their parents and teachers, and all poor people by society at large.

Unhappy People.—Old Bachelors.

Ambitious People.—The writer who pays the magazines for inserting his communications, the politician who quits his party because he cannot get into office, and the boy who expects to be President.

Humble Persons.—The husband who does his wife's churning, the wife who blacks her husbands boots, and the man who thinks you do him much honor.

Mean People.—The man who kicks people when they are down, and the subscriber who refuses to pay for his paper.

Sensible People.—You and I.

Cure for Neuralgia

We have, if we mistake not, already published the following recipe. We have, says the Harrisburg Union, heard it highly recommended, and it will do no harm to again publish it:

"Take two large tablespoonsful of cologne, two tablespoonsful of fine salt, and mix them together in a small bottle, every time you have any acute affection of the nerves or neuralgia simply breathe the fumes in your nose from the bottle, and you will be immediately relieved."

The Secret of Spurgeon's Efficiency.

Spurgeon's efficiency is said to lie in his administrative ability. He not only works himself, but inspires others to work with all their might It is said that a commercial firm in London were so impressed with his administrative ability that they offered him 15,000 a year to embark his influence in their enterprise. He manages a church of 3,800 members, a theological seminary of 100 students, publishes a monthly magazine and a weekly sermon, has just issued a hymn book, and is about to establish an orphan assylum He has infused this spirit to work into his church. Six hundred young men go out every Sunday to preach wherever they can get a hearing Prayer meetings are held in fifty or more places every evening. A Bible class of 300 young men is conducted by one of the elders Mrs. Bartlet, a member of this church, has a class of nine hundred, the average attendance being seven hundred, which at inception, numbered only three. Success, in religious as well as secular enterprises, is generally proportionate to the amount of well directed effort. If we would reap we must sow. The most shining abilities cannot dispense with active labors

Almost and Altogether.

Once as two ladies were conversing in their quiet parlor, an aged clergyman entered. The conversation immediately took a religious turn, and the peace and comfort of a Christian hope were spoken of. Suddenly the clergyman turned to one of his friends and said rather abruptly:

'Madam, is your husband a Christian?'

The lady's face flushed painfully.—For a moment she hesitated, and then said:

'My husband is one of the best persons I ever knew. He is so amiable and benevolent that I think few Christians can equal him.'

'And yet,' said the clergyman, 'you must feel deeply anxious for his salvation.'

'I don't know,' said the lady; 'I can not but think that all will be well with him. He is so good He has such a respect for religion. He is almost a Christian.'

The clergyman bent upon her a look of tender concern and sympathy as he said:

'But almost saved is altogeth r lost. Remember that.'

The words smote her with a sudden conviction of her husband's danger, and from that time forth her prayers for him were constant and fervent.—S S Times.

Fell Asleep.

The Norfolk Day Book tells the following:—A young gentleman from this city, who is deeply smitten with a young and fair damsel on Ferry Point and who had fondly hoped that all his ardent attachment was reciprocated, called on the fair Ferry Pointer yesterday. She looked lovely, and met him with such a winning smile that he had succeeded in awakening an interest for himself in her heart. Under this blissful delusion he sat down beside her, and with a tongue inspired with his own ardent feelings poured out his love in what he supposed was her willing ear! By the time he had gotten through with the recital of his own devotion the lady was fast asleep, and the young gent retired, leaving the deeply interested(?) lady in the land of Nod. He declines to patronize the Ferry Point bridge any longer.

What A Good Newspaper May Do.

Show us an intelligent family of boys and girls, and we will show you a family where newspapers and periodicals are plenty. Nobody who has been without these silent private tutors can know their educating powers for good or evil.—Have you thought of the innumerable topics of discussion which they suggest at the breakfast table; the important public measures with which thus early, our children become acquainted; great philanthropic questions of the day, to which unconsciously their attention is awakened and the general spirit of intelligence which is evoked by these quiet visitors? Anything that makes home pleasant, cheerful and chatty, thins the haunts of vice, and the thousand and one avenues of temptation, should certainly be regarded, when we consider its influence on the minds of the young, as a great moral and social light.—Emerson.

☞ A funny case came before a Justice in Milwaukie the other day. A young woman who had accepted the attentions and civilities of a young gentleman for some time, at length was married to some one else, whereupon the deceived individual sued for a bill of $204.25, the amount he paid in her behalf in taking her to concerts, operas, pic nics, rides and ice-cream saloons.—As an offset he credited her with sundry kisses valued at $16.67½, an unreturned photograph and a ring, making in all a total of $37 75. He recovered the bill, the Judge allowed the plaintiff the kisses at his own valuation.

☞ "In the old flush times' a passenger on a river boat accosted a negro boy with an inquiry usual at that day: 'Who do you belong to?' 'Don't know sir,' answered the boy 'Why don't you know?' 'When I come aboard I b'longs to Mass Sam White, but he went me on two little pair, and de clerk ob dis boat win me Den Col. Smiff he beat de clerk on a bluff, an' he had me last, so I can't tell sir, who I b'longs to till de game close.'

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.

BALTIMORE, MD.

ESTABLISHED AS A REFUGE FROM QUACKERY.

The Only Place Where a Cure Can be Obtained.

DR JOHNSTON HAS DISCOVERED THE most Certain, Speedy, and only Effectual Remedy in the World for Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys and Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach, or Bowels—those Terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible,

YOUNG MEN

Especially, who have become the victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of Young Men of the most excellent talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call upon me with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married Persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, being aware of Physical weakness, organic debility, deformities, &c., speedily cured

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a Physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS.

Immediately Cured and Full Vigor Restored.

This Dreadful Disease—which renders Life miserable and Marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both body and mind arise.—The system becomes Deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, a Wasting of the Frame, Coughs, Consumption, &c.

The Doctor's DIPLOMA hangs in his office

DR. JOHNSTON.

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate from one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with a derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE!

Dr. J addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgences and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsy, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded—Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

DR. JOHNSTON'S INVIGORATING REMEDY FOR ORGANIC WEAKNESS.

By this great and important remedy, Weakness of the Organs is speedily cured, and full vigor restored.

Thousands of the most nervous and debilitated, who had lost all hope, have been immediately relieved. All impediments to Marriage, Physical or Mental Disqualification, Nervous Irritability, Trembling, Weakness or Exhaustion of the most fearful kind, speedily cured by Dr Johnston.

YOUNG MEN

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice indulged in when alone—a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man the hope of his country, the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons MUST, before contemplating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisition to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability can alone befriend him. He falls into the hands of ignorant and designing pretenders, who, incapable of curing, filch his pecuniary substance, keep him trifling month after month, or as long as the smallest fee can be obtained, and in despair leave him with ruined health to sigh over his galling disappointment; or, by the use of that deadly poison, Mercury, hasten the constitutional symptoms of this terrible disease, such as affection of the Head, Throat, Nose, Skin, etc., progressing with frightful rapidity till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings by sending him to that undiscovered country from whose bourne no traveller returns.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS

The many thousands cured at this institution within the last eighteen years, and the numerous important Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the reporters of the "Sun" and many other papers, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

Skin Diseases Speedily Cured.

Persons writing should send that portion of the Advertisement which describes Symptoms; also, be particular to enclose a Postage Stamp to be used on the reply and direct in the following manner Dr. J. M. JOHNSTON, of the Baltimore Lock Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland. May 25, '65.—y

Shriver's Bitter Wine of Iron.

AN exquisite combination of Calisay Bark, Citrate of Iron and Dry Spanish Wine. It has a Vinous flavor very grateful to the palate, with very little chalybeate taste, and will not discolor the teeth, it excites feeble appetite, improves digestion, increases the strength, removes the pallor of debility, gives firmness to the action of the nervous system with power to endure fatigue and resist disease.

Calasay's Bark has no equal as a strengthener or restorative, nor rival as an antipenodic—and in this preparation all the virtues of the Bark are preserved in an eminent degree. Sold at SHRIVER'S West End Drug Store, Westminster, Md. June 21.

The Great Destroyer has come!

Appearance of the Asiatic Cholera in the United States!

THE ZINGARI BITTERS

The Only Sure Antidote for Disease!

As a Preventative it is Infallible!
As a Cure it is Certain!

The appearance of the Asiatic Cholera in the United States has given rise to the just apprehensions of all classes. The National Congress has appointed a special committee to ascertain what means are necessary to insure the proper quarantine at all the ports on the Atlantic coast while the authorities in the great commercial cities on the sea-board are actively engaged in enforcing such sanitary measures as will secure the cleanliness and promote the healthfulness of the communities in their charge. These proceedings are all laudable. Cleanliness and temperance are the first great essentials necessary to set by guard against attacks from the Cholera, but greater than all these efforts of Congress, more potent than the proceedings of municipal bodies, and infallible beyond all doubt is the Great Zingari Bitters,

as a sure preventative of Cholera. The discoverer of the component part of this Bitters, an eminent Egyptian physician, had much experience in Egypt, where the Cholera rages with tremendous virulence. He had long seen and felt the want of some remedy which would strike at the root of the disease and so prevent much of the suffering which the human family has been compelled to endure from this scourge. The result of his thoughts and labors at length presented themselves in the production of the wonderful

ZINGARI BITTERS.

It was not long before this Bitters was recognized and accepted in all parts along the Mediterranean coast, in the south of Europe, among the semi-civilized tribes of Africa, and by the ablest practitioners of the old world, as the only sure and certain preventative or cure for the Cholera. The ZINGARI BITTERS acts on the organs of excretion and secretion, keeping up a perfect balance between them. It is composed entirely of roots and herbs, so nicely concocted that every organ is acted upon and put in tone Its taste is pleasant and its effects prompt and lasting.

For travelers who are subject to all the changes of climate and water the ZINGARI BITTERS is a companion that should never be left behind. It is for sale by all the druggists in the United States.

SOMETHING NEW TO SMOKERS!

ADVANTAGES OF THE

PATENT GRANULATED

SMOKING TOBACCO.

IT has the flavor of the best Havana Cigar. It has the flavor because it is manufactured from the finest part of the leaf, and of the choicest Tobacco, previously reduced to a comminuted state.

Owing to its "Granulated" state, the ashes of this tobacco never rises up in the pipe; while the ashes of all other smoking tobacco does, often falling on, burning, or soiling the clothes.

A pipe full of the "Granulated" will last longer in smoking than any other form of tobacco.

The flavor of the last inhalation is as pure as the first; its "Granulated" condition preventing the tobacco in the bowl and the pipe from becoming impregnated by the smoke, as it is drawn through it.

The "Granulated" does not foul the pipe or stem nearly so much as any other tobacco; nor does it leave any unpleasant taste or foulness in the mouth, so usual and strongly marked, after smoking other forms of tobacco.

The above advantages of the "Granulated" (are not vague and theoretical, but) are simple and practical points which may be tested and proved by actual trial. Let each one verify for himself the important advantages claimed.

Intending to make a speciality of the Segar and Tobacco trade in connexion with the Watch, Clock and Jewelry business.—We invite those fond of a Good Segar to give us a call, promising them something nice in that line. Also, the Patent Granulated Smoking Tobacco, warranted to be superior to any Tobacco in market, always on hand. WM. MOORE,

Few doors East of the Railroad,
Westminster, May 16.
