RALSTON SMILES

Be not misled, oh patient men, by stunts which dot this mortal ken. For instance, windows hung with shoes, may only prove a clever ruse. It's not by NUMBER you must judge—to bulky stocks we say—"OH Fudge!" No gaudy bunch of "highs" and "lows" will bring a weary foot repose.

Look deeper than this surface stuff—the window show is not enough. Demand to know whose MAKE is being handed out to you. The name upon the blooming sole is what may comfort and console. For built-in quality, b'gad, is no mere passing window fad. You men who judge too much by LOOKS, had better study up your books. A single Ralston on display, means more than windows bright and gay. The "feel", the "look", the "lines", the "last", we think will never be surpassed.

So, lads, snap-judgment lay aside. Let number never be your guide. Suave salesmanship should never lose, but what you want to buy is SHOES.

RALSTON SHOES

They are their own best salesman. Their appeal to the eye is understood—but it's the way they wear and feel that really counts.

Prices $6, $7, $8, $9, & $10.

olks Entertained.—The of Betterton were delightfully ained at a party at the home isses Mabel and Martha Rasin, y evening last. Many interest es were played until a late hou freshments were served. A e present were Misses Ethel Wilmer, Louise ith, Madge Wilmer, Le d Jessie Willis and Messrs. Edwin and m Owens, Clarence asin, Claude Wilmer, Merritt Sutton.

Slacker i—Joseph Bey, a white man 25 ears of age, now confined in Centreville jail, tells something of his former life. Born in New York, moved with parents to Baltimore when 3 years old. States his father and uncle, who live in Baltimore, would like to get to Germany to fight for the Kaiser. Joseph seems to have spent much of his life indoors, having been confined in St. Mary's Reformatory, Maryland House of Correction, City Jail, Towson Jail and St. Vincent's Asylum, on various charges, vagrancy being the most frequent offense.

Miss Owens Entertains.—Miss Elsie Owens has returned to Philadelphia, where she has lived for the past year, after spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Owens, of Betterton. She delightfully entertained a party of friends at her home on January 1, 1918. Those present were: Misses Lillie Smith, Ethel Wilmer, Marie and Jessie Willis, Lillian and Florence Owens, Mabel and Martha Rasin, Messrs Merrit Sutton, Norman Brice,, Clarence Boone, William Owens, Harold Crew, Edwin Myers, and Leroy Owens. Games were played and refreshments were served. At a late h in the evening the guests w drew with many wishes for a happy new year to all.

New Families.—The family of Mr. Keeler—who purchased Mr. J. T. Anthony's farm in Queen Annes—arrived Wednesday from frozen Canada and have taken up their permanent residence here.

Mr. Malcomb and family, who came here from Harford county and upon whose farm where once waved billowy fields of wheat and corn now thunder the big guns that will help abolish German kultur, have become permanently located.

These two families came here when our section was at its worst, with the thermometer around zero. In a few weeks, however, the scene will change. The south wind will push the frost king into the background, the song of the mocking bird and robin will drown the sullen cawing of the crow, while Mother Earth, now lying stark in the seemingly relentless grip of ice and snow, will delight the eye with growing erb, while the budding trees and the pungent odor of newly plowed ground will fill the air with perfume.

We welcome these families to this section.

Coal Situation Improves.—The arrival of eight car loads of coal on last Thursday evening has for the time relieved the coal situation in Kent Co. Mr. J. D. Bacchus, by strenuous efforts, succeeded in getting three car loads of stove and nut coal, while Mr. A. S. Turner, the progressive grain dealer and merchan of Worton, brought three cars of al of the same kind to Chestertown n the same evening. The Electric Lig Plant and Messrs. C. W. Kibler & Son each received a car load of hard coal. This relieves the coal situation for the time, but our people should practice strict economy and make the supply goes as far as possible. The people of Chestertown and vicinity have been greatly inconvenienced by lack of coal. Mr. Bacchus received a car load of coal last Saturday night, which for the time being prevented much suffering. The coal was delivered on Sunday, which marks an epoch in Chestertown, while the sight of small wagons, sleds and other conveyances, carrying coal in small quantities up and down Cannon street was a sight that will not soon be forgotten. Mr. A. M. Culp has not yet received coal that was shipped several weeks ago. Mr. Culp says the situation looks bad. There is considerable coal at Middletown, and Mr. Culp has offered to buy the coal at a good figure, but the owners refused to part with it.

—The December report of the Kent County Woman's Section of the Maryland Council of Defense appears in this issue. The report is interesting and shows what the good women of the county are doing to aid in the fight for the maintenance of civilization.

—Mr. Frank Jarrell is greatly improving his cellar on Washington auenue. Mr. Edward Newton is doing the work.

—Skating by light furnished by Mr. Horace Wood's Delco lighting plant Saturday night was an innovation in Chestertown.

—Mr. H. W. Moore, of near Sandy Bottom, has sold his farm of 30 acres through Mr. H. Theodore Jewell. The price paid is around $3500.

—The coal shortage will cause many acres of woodland to fall before the ax shortly. This seems the only permanent way out of the difficulty.

—Mr. Charles E. Kirby recently received six boxes of oranges and two barrels of grapes from New York that had been frozen and ruined.

—We don't hear anything of the man who used to tell us about the old-fashioned winters. He must have gone "away back and set down."

—The booming of guns on the proving grounds of Harford county sounds as if a fleet of boats have laid seige to Tolchester or Rock Hall.

—Mr. Lewis H. Wood, who patriotically sold the coal at the mill at cost, has a force of men employed cutting wood near the mill to keep the pipes from freezing.

Several Chestertown streets have been dangerously slippery this week. The residents should sprinkle ashes or saw dust on the same.

—Dr. J. E. Graham had fried tomatoes yesteday for dinner. The doctor picked them green and has had them in the cellar for several months.

—Mr. John H. Clendaniel has sold his interest in the garage at Kennedyville to Mr. W. W. Clendaniel.

—H. Sachs' & Son's Annual Inventory Sale commences Wednesday, Jan. 26. These inventory sales always present many bargains to the people of this county.

—College is open again, which always makes things more lively. The basket-ball season reopens Saturday night with the Penn Reserves, and a good game is looked for.

—Several have informed us this week that they have not received an egg for so long that if they would figure up the cost of the egg when it does arrive it would be really a golden —The Kent Exemption Board and its assistants sent out the last questionnaires last Wednesday. About ten days more work will be required before the task will be completed.

—There were 23 births, 15 white and 8 colored, in Kent in December; 28 deaths, 15 white and 13 colored. There were 2 cases of communicable diseases reported, 1 typhoid and 1 chicken pox.

—The commissioners of Kent Co. attended the meeting of the commissioners of the Eastern Shore at Easton Thursday. The meeting was held for the purpose of considering a uniform assessment of the live stock, autos, etc., of the various counties.

—In spite of the constantly climbing cost of publishing, this paper remains $1.00 a year. Will you not help us to keep it at that price by paying us promptly? We are paying more for everything that is required in producing it.

—Eighty thousand persons have been hanged in Austria-Hungary since the beginning of the war, for political or radical opposition to the government, pacifist activities and separatist propaganda, according to estimates made in London.

—Mr. Edward Bradley, who was found dead in his home near Kennedyville last week by Messrs. H. J. Hill, Robert Wallace, Robert Kennedy, Geo. R. Raisin and Wm. M. Hurlock, is not believed to have frozen to death, but is believed by his neighbors to have suffered a paralytic stroke. Mr. Bradley had not been seen for a day or so and the above named gentlemen went to his house to investigate and found him lying straight out on the floor dead.

—Mr. John G. Usilton has a number of men cutting wood from his woods down in Quaker Neck. Mr. W. Frank Jarrell also has a large number of men employed in the same occupation. Something must be done to supply Chestertown with fuel, as the railroads cannot be depended upon to bring sufficient here to supply the demand, and if other owners of woodland would put men to work at the same occupation work would be furnished many who are without it, while the needed fuel would also be supplied.
