WESTMINSTER:

THURSDAY, NOV. 28, 1867.

IMPORTANT NOTICE!

In consequence of a change in the business management of this Office on the First of January, next, it becomes positively necessary that all out-standing accounts be closed at an early day. We therefore give notice to all persons indebted to us for Subscription, Job Work or Advertising, to call and settle the same by the 21st day of December, next, or all bills will then be placed in proper Officer's hands for collection, without regard to persons. This step has now become imperative in consequence of our former appeals for settlement in so many instances being utterly disregarded. But it cannot now be delayed longer, and we give all delinquents fair warning.

The Next Legislature.

For the first time in the history of our State our General Assembly will be composed exclusively of the adherents of one party. The next Legislature, Senate and House, will be composed exclusively of Democrats, and to that party will belong all the good that may result from the next session of that body, and to it will attach all the blame for whatever disastrous results may be brought upon the State.—That their acts will be watched with scrutiny by the entire people there is no question, and a system of blind and extravagant legislation, such as characterized the last session, will meet with prompt and emphatic condemnation.

No Compromise with Traitors

If any credence is to be put in the news flashed across the country from Washington, his Accidency, A. J., seems anxious to compromise with Congress and let all things work harmoniously. Now, we think the history of the past warns us to beware how we deal with such base ingrates as President Johnson. He has most egregiously deceived us once, and this should be sufficient to convince any sensible man that he is not to be trusted in the future. The intelligence of the early action of Congress upon the report of the Impeachment committee, or perhaps the talk of a continuous session, grates heavily upon his ears, and he hopes by compromise to stave off either of these contingencies. He has run to the full length of his rope, and he ought to be "snubbed." He has committed acts that has brought the blush to the cheek of every American, and we are opposed to his any longer disgracing the honored position he now holds. Impeach him! Turn him out! Let Congress do its duty in the exercise of the powers guaranteed to it by the Constitution.

Grant as a Humorist.

Most of General Grant's good qualities have had a hearty recognition, but we are afraid the people have not yet appreciated his fine sense of humor. It seems that Andrew Johnson got frightened the other day because two or three hundred colored men in Washington had organized themselves into a volunteer militia regiment, and Gen. Grant was ordered to disband them as "unauthorized by law."—The General thereupon issued an order disbanding all military organizations in the District which were unauthorized by law, and the blow which Andrew aimed at the freedmen has spread havoc in the camps of his own friends. The Fenians and the Shutzen Corps have had to give up their guns, and in trying to damage the negroes, the President has aroused the ire of the men whom he specially delighted to honor.

Repudiation.

The whole of the "little Pendleton" scheme of repudiation is summed up and exposed in the following paragraph from the Philadelphia Press: "A government bond is a promise to pay, and a Government note or greenback is similarly but a promise to pay. The only difference is that one promise bears interest and the other does not. But what is it they promise to pay? Dollars—not other notes, or bond, or promises to pay, or obligations, but hard money."

"Yes, but," says one, "the Government has made its notes legal tender, and you and I are obliged to take notes in payment of debts due to us: and has not the Government as good a right to pay its debts with 'legal tender' notes as any body else?" But see here, friend of repudiation and Pendleton, if U and I bought land from A and B, and gave our bond therefor, payable in five years, would it be just for us, when the five years had elapsed, to pay A and B with our own notes, instead of the real dollars we had promised to pay? And then, should the simple hearted creditors agree to take the notes in payment, might we not pay these notes when they became due with other notes?—and so on in a circle that would end only with eternity. Mr. Pendleton may be "smart," and he may desire very earnestly to be President; but surely he cannot imagine that the people of the country are going to vote to pay their honest debts in this dishonest way.—Boonsboro' Odd Fellow.

Truth Fitly Spoken.

The New York Iron Age says truly that the party which succeeded at the recent elections is the party of the British Free Trade, whose policy is to place us in helpless dependence upon foreign manufactures—the party whose "coming man" has openly advocated repudiation, and whose lights and teachers have followed in his wake—the party which denying its responsibility for the war, now seeks to escape the obligation it imposed. When the news reached us of the defeat of Bull Run, men trembled for the political security of the country. The late defeats now warn of another danger—a danger at once imminent and terrible, of industrial prostration and financial ruin.

If anything could wake up the people to an understanding of the perils which now surround us, the result of the late elections would—perils not this time of sword and carnage, but of bankruptcy and repudiation.

☞"Jenison, the famous jayhawker, who was a 'bloody abolitionist' and the Colonel of a negro regiment, was elected by the Democrats of Leavenworth to the Kansas Legislature, the Republicans unanimously opposing him."—Ex.

If our memory serves us correctly, Mr. Jennison never commanded a Negro regiment; but, previous to the war, was a notorious gambler and thief in Southern Kansas, and ostensibly kept a 'rum-mill' for a livelihood. At the breaking out of the rebellion, he aided in recruiting the 7th Kansas Cavalry, and was made Colonel of it. He remained in the service long enough to steal a handsome fortune from the Missourians, and then resigned, and fell back upon the Copperhead party. He has found his level at last.

Why Were the Republicans Defeated?

It is usual, after a political struggle, for the defeated party to publish to the world the causes that led to their defeat, or, at least, the defeated party's version of those causes. We gave last week our conscientious belief of the causes for our defeat in Maryland, viz: that we hadn't enough of votes to beat the democrats; but this cannot be said of the Republican party in those Northern States where the democrats were successful at the recent elections. There, the Republicans were beaten while their opponents polled fewer votes than they have at former elections. The "stay at-homes" beat us; and the inquiry comes up, Why did so many Republicans stay at home? Because the party was distracted by on side issues—by questions that should not have been brought into the contest. Instead of contending simply for the great principles of their party, the Republican leaders of the North wedded themselves to the cause of Female Suffrage, and prohibition against license to sell whiskey, &c., and, as a consequence very many Republicans, condemning such action, stayed at home on election day, and thus "great democratic victories" have been brought about.

The Republican party should not, at least at this crisis in our national affairs, meddle with any such questions. Its mission is a higher, nobler one. This party has saved the country; it has conquered a gigantic rebellion; it has overthrown a mighty Confederacy built up in opposition to our government; it has stricken the shackles from millions of bondsmen and made them free; it has built schoolhouses for the ignorant, that they might be reclaimed from their low estate, and made capable of exercising the duties of freedmen aright, and is far on the road towards investing these people with all the civil and political rights properly belonging to them as citizens. How will it appear to future generations when they are informed that this great party split upon the rocks cider and lager beer? Yet it is so. Upon the petty question of whether license should be granted to sell cider, lager beer, &c., our party has been divided! And if our friends continue the agitation of this question, as a political one, they deserve defeat. There never was a greater humbug than this prohibitory liquor law which some of the Northern States have got up. All that laws can do is to regulate the traffic in liquor, and when they attempt more they will fail.—Men have drank whiskey ever since Noah got so gloriously fuddled, and they will continue to do so down to the very last day of mundane existence, "Maine liquor laws" to the contrary notwithstanding.—We deplore, of course, drunkenness in all its forms; we wish that there was not a drop of intoxicating liquor on the Continent, but we would see men restrained from its use by other means than that of prohibition by law. The good old principle of "Moral Suasion" is far better: our old-fashioned temperance societies have saved more men from drunkard's graves than all the laws ever passed, and if those who are so anxious to see rum-drinking abolished would only make earnest endeavors to bring men into total abstinence societies, where by example and precept and associations they would learn the many advantages that cold water has over liquor as a beverage, they would accomplish more good than by bringing the question into the political arena, and having the really good principles of their organization connected with a matter which the people will vote against through all time "Stricter Republicanism and Less Lager Beer," should be our party's watchword in the future.—Baltimore County Union.

The Republican Presidential Convention.

The National Republican Committee will meet in Washington on the 11th of December, to decide upon the place of holding the next Presidential Nominating Convention. It is generally conceeded that the West will be chosen, and a lively competition has sprung up between Cincinatti, Chicago and St' Louis. Next to the question of fixing a place, the most important subject before the committee will be the time for holding the convention.

☞The contest for the Ohio Senatorship threatens to culminate in a riot.—Valandigham declares he is the choice of the party, and if any conservative Democrat attempts to cheat him, there will be war. Val.'s idea of a conservative Democrat is good. He insists that a conservative is one who gives a cowardly support to government, while a true and pure Democrat is one like unto himself, who defies the wars on government whenever he sees fit to differ with it. Val. is certainly a sound Democrat.

☞An ex-Rebel soldier of a South Carolina regiment was arrested at Knoxville lately while offering for sale $10,000 worth of watches and jewelry marked with the names of "Hampton" and "Preston." The prisoner claims to have found the articles during the war buried with other jewelry.

Probably this is some of the jewelry the Rebels are so fond of charging the "Yankees" with stealing, and a great deal more of it is doubtless in the hands of the thieving

Change of Bank Officers —

On Saturday week, Dr. J. W. Hering was elected Cashier of the Union National Bank of Westminster, in place of John J. Baumgardner, Esq., who resigned the position for the purpose of devoting his entire time to the practice of the law. We have no doubt the Doctor will make a very efficient officer, but we fear will be sadly missed in the line of his profession.

Light for All.—

Last week the initiatory steps toward lighting our streets was taken by our City Fathers, and Lamp Posts are now standing at proper distances from one end of town to the other, and as the Lamps have already been contracted for, we suppose our nights of darkness are nearly at an end. Their action in this matter has certainly been judicious, and we have no hesitancy in saying will be fully approved.

Unfold d Rumors —

A rumor having gained currency that Mr. P. H. Henry, the popular host of the "Westminster Hotel" designed closing it out, we are glad to state that such is not the case, but on the contrary he is now better than ever prepared to extend a cordial welcome to his hosts of friends and the traveling public in particular. See card in another column.

dv rtising Sales of Property —

The Lancaster Intelligencer, in speaking of the importance and great advantage of advertising sales of property in the newspapers, in addition to having handbills printed, very truthfully says: "A newspaper is read by hundreds who never see the attractive bills which are posted in the taverns and the store rooms. Every subscriber to a county paper reads all such advertisements carefully. He knows who is selling out and exactly what is offered for sale. The advertisements are a topic of conversation when friends meet, and arrangements are made for attending sales. The result is a large crowd, spirited bidding, and a realization of ten, twenty or fifty times of what it cost to advertise. No money is so sure to return a large profit as that spent on printer's ink. A single additional bidder on a single article will pay all its costs to advertise a sale of personal property in a newspaper. Is it not strange, then, that any one should fail to advertise? Let our friends think of the matter."

Tribute of Respect—

At a meeting of the Bar of Carroll County, for the purpose of testifying their respect for his Honor Judge JOHN E. SMITH, Wm. N. Hayden was called to the Chair, James A. C. Bond appointed Secretary.

On motion of E. F. Crout, Chas. W. Webster was appointed Chairman of Committee on resolutions, said Committee consisting of all the members of the Bar. The following resolutions were then reported and adopted.

Resolved, That as the Honorable John E. Smith is about to retire from the Bench, it is proper that we should give expression to our sentiments on the occasion.

Resolved, That he brought to the Bench, in addition to his great legal acquirements, the cheerfulness and sanctity of a kind and conscientious gentleman.

Resolved, That in the discharge of his high and delicate duties, we have experienced a pure and impartial administration of justice, sustained by elaborate legal learning.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be signed by the officers, and that a copy of the Resolutions be presented to the Honorable John E. Smith by the Chairman of the Committee and be published.

The Alabama Convention.

Some of the journals are trying to make the Alabama Convention ridiculous and odious. They talk of it in the same tone as the British journals used to speak of the Continental Congress. Of course they will not succeed, unless the Convention helps them by conducting itself in a manner undeserving of public respect.

So far the Convention has put to shame its traducers. Its members, among whom are several freedmen—men, that is to say to whom it was counted a heinous crime to know how to read three years ago—have conducted themselves with moderation and decency. Some wild propositions have been made by individuals—though none so unreasonable, or so unpatriotic, or so disgraceful to their authors, as some made at the Chicago and other Democratic conventions during the war. But the action of the Convention has been sensible. In the matter of suffrage, for instance, the committee has reported to the Convention a clause for the Constitution which gives the vote to all male adults, excluding only convicted criminals, and persons who, having registered, should refuse to vote at the next election. The Convention repealed even this last clause, and thus showed the most liberal spirit.

We hope it will proceed with its work in the same spirit. The people of the Northern States are watching its proceedings, and hope to see a kindly and liberal spirit prevail, and such a Constitution framed as may appeal to the consent of all well-meaning men, of whatever color or party, in Alabama. We trust the members will remember that a Constitution is not a party platform, and that all parties are to live under it, and that its provisions ought to be so framed that no man or party can reasonably object to them.

If they make such a Constitution, they will put their opponents in the wrong, and will conciliate the favor and support of the country at large.—New York Post.

A Bad Prospect.

The New York correspondent of the Boston Journal writes:

Dry goods have not been as low since 1860 as now. The auctions are glutted with goods which can be bought, with currency, very much below what it costs to buy them with gold, in Europe. All classes of dry goods are lower than they were at any time during the war. The city is placarded in every direction with offers to sell at less than cost. The manufacturers over the water are obliged to send their goods here.

Provisions are still high, because speculators control the market. Thousands of workmen are out of employment, but will not work for less than four or five dollars a day. Real estate is at a standstill. It is usually the last thing to go up and the last to fall. The prospect is that the winter will be a hard one, not only for the poor, but for laborers and tradesmen.—Many parties took houses last May who have had to abandon them this autumn.

Large Stores that were leased at great rents are deserted. One firm that made more noise than any other in the city, who on one of the side streets did an immense business, came up on Broadway in the spring and took a mammoth store at a mammoth rent. I passed the store yesterday. The sign is still on the building; the great rooms deserted and the suggestive placard meets the eye: "This store and lofts to let."

Gen. Sherman on the "Lost Cause."

General Sherman, in his recent speech at St. Louis, after alluding to the ruin and wretchedness prevailing in the South thus rebuked the braggarts who still devote themselves to the purpose of glorifying and reviving the lost cause:

How any Southern gentleman, with these facts, plain and palpable, everywhere staring him in the face and recorded forever in the book of history, can still boast of his "Lost Cause," or speak of it in language other than of shame and sorrow, passes my understanding, and instead of being revived, I know that their Lost Cause will sink deeper into infamy as time more keenly probes its hidden mysteries, and reveals them to the light of day.

Meeting of Congress

The United States Senate and House of Representatives re-assembled at noon on Thursday, in continuation of the first session of the Fortieth Congress.

The opening of the session was marked as usual, by the assemblage of a great throng at the Capitol. The galleries and vestibules were crowded, whilst in all parts of the building could be noticed many from abroad who had chosen this for a day in Washington.

The attendance of members in each House was large, and promptly at noon the two bodies were called together. The Senate remained in session scarcely half an hour, and adjourned over until Monday, the only point of interest in its proceedings being a resolution introduced by Senator Edmunds pledging the faith of the nation to the payment of the bonds of the Government in gold.

☞It turns out that Democratic victories are scarce out West. Indiana did as well for the Republicans as last year; Iowa did well enough—as 27,000 is near enough to 30,000 for all practical purposes. Nebraska and Colorado have given handsome Republican gains. The loss of a Senator in California and one in Ohio will be more than made up by the gain of one in Tennessee and the admission of Colorado with two republican Senators. This state of things is discouraging to the Democratic party.

☞"THEIR NAME IS LEGION," may be applied to the innumeral diseases to which the skin is subject. It would be well for those who are afflicted with apparently incurable ulcers, old sores, erysipelas and eruptions, to use Grace's Celebrated Salve, which cures in a very short time, cuts, burns, scalds, flesh wounds, &c.

☞An informal meeting of Democratic politicians was held at Washington on Monday, at which the Presidential question was discussed. At the caucus it was stated that Gen. Grant had been sounded and refused to accept any nomination from the Democratic party. The caucus then nominated Gen. Steedman for the position, and John Q. Adams, of Massachusetts for Vice President. General Sherman was considered too much under Republican influence, and Messrs. Pendleton and Seymour not available.

☞Hon. David Davis, a inministrator of the late Abraham Lincoln, made a final settlement of the estate at Springfield, Illinois, a few weeks ago. After paying all the debts, there remained $110,294.62, which, divided among the widow and heirs, gives $36,765.30 to Mrs. Lincoln, and the same amount to each son. Poor Mrs. Lincoln!

IRON IN THE BLOOD.

The necessity of a due proportion of iron is well known to all medical men; when it becomes reduced from any cause whatever, the whole system suffers, the weakest part being first attacked, and a feeling of languor, lassitude, and "all goneness" pervades the system. Stimulants only afford temporary relief, and have the same effect as giving a tired horse the whip instead of oats. The true remedy is to supply the blood with the necessary quantity of iron. This can be done by using the a protected solution of the protoxide of Iron, which is so prepared that it assimilates at once with the blood, giving strength, vigor and new life to the whole system.

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of IRON IN THE BLOOD, without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

An eminent divine says: "I have been using the PERUVIAN SYRUP for some time past; it gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, elasticity of muscle."

Pamphlets containing certificates of cures, and recommendations from some of the most eminent physicians, clergymen and others, will be sent free to any address.

The genuine has "PERUVIAN SYRUP" blown in the glass.

No. 960, EQUITY

In the Circuit Court for Carroll County

Isaac Hesson, vs. George Everly and Mary Everly, his wife.

THE object of this suit is to procure a Decree for the Conveyance to the Complainant, by the Defendants of their interest in certain real estate in said County, which was purchased by Magdalena Hesson, in her lifetime, and devised by the last Will and Testament to the Complainant.

The Bill States that Peter Hesson died in the year 1856, having first made a last Will and Testament in writing, whereby he appointed Joseph Hesson and the Complainant his Executors. That said Testator at his death, left a valuable real and personal estate, in said County, and a Widow, Magdalena Hesson, and the following children and heirs at law, viz: Joseph Hesson, Isaac Hesson, the Complainant, Sarah Yingling wife of Frederick Yingling, Hannah Engmicher, wife of Peter Engmicher, all of Carroll County, Pa., Hesson, and Mary Everly, wife of George Everly, of Fulton County, in the State of Illinois. That said Joseph Hesson and the Complainant, as Executors, aforesaid, sold a part of the real estate of which the said Testator died seized and particularly described in Exhibit A, filed with the Bill, to the said Magdalena Hesson, that the sale thereof was reported and finally ratified by the Orphans' Court of said County. That the whole of the purchase money for said real estate was paid by the said Magdalena Hesson in her lifetime, whereupon she became entitled to a Deed of Conveyance therefor. That the said Magdalena Hesson, during the said Deed on application to the said Executors, instituted proceedings against them in the Circuit Court for Carroll county, as a Court of Equity, to procure said Deed, but died pending said proceedings, and before said Deed had been Executed. That said Magdalena Hesson, by her last Will and Testament, duly executed, probated and recorded, devised the said real estate to the Complainant. The Bill further states that disputes and controversies arose amongst a portion of the heirs of said Peter Hesson and the Complainant in regard to a claim which he had against the estate of said Peter (which was afterwards established,) and in regard to the sale of said real estate to the said Magdalena, and that suits at law and in Equity were instituted to determine the matters in controversy and the rights of the parties thereto. That all of said disputes and controversies were at length settled, adjusted and compromised between all the heirs at law of said Peter and the Complainant, and in consequence thereof the said Joseph Hesson and wife, Sarah Yingling and her husband, and Hannah Engmicher and her husband, all united in a Deed of Conveyance of their respective interests, rights, title and claims in said real estate to the Complainant to complete as far as they could, his title thereto. The Bill further states, that the Complainant, as one of the Executors, as aforesaid, on the 14th day of October, 1862 settled his second and final account in said Orphans' Court, in and by which he charged himself with the full amount of the purchase money of the said real estate, and the interest thereon received by him from the said Magdalena Hesson, and that in the distribution on said settlement said Mary Everly as one of the heirs of said Peter Hesson, was allowed the sum of $772 69, which said sum of money was paid by the complainant to the said Mary Everly, as appears by a copy of a full and final release executed by said Mary and her husband, filed with the bill, and that in consideration thereof, and of the settlement of the controversies aforesaid, the said George Everly and Mary, his wife, became bound, and promised and agreed to execute to the complainant a good and sufficient Deed in law of all their interest, right, title and claim in and to said Real Estate, and did, in fact, execute a Deed therefor, which was defective and inoperative. That the Complainant has frequently applied since said defective conveyance to the said George Everly and Mary, his wife, for a good and sufficient Deed of their interests in said real estate, and that he caused said Deed to be prepared for them to execute and acknowledge according to law, which was delivered to the said George Everly months ago, and that he, the said Everly, promised on his return to his home in Illinois, to execute and acknowledge, (with his said wife,) and forward the same to the complainant so that he could have the same recorded and his title to said real estate perfected; but that notwithstanding said promises and assurements, and after repeated solicitations, they, the said Everly and wife, after the lapse of many months, have refused, and still refuse to execute and acknowledge and forward said Deed without reason or excuse. The Bill further states that the said George Everly and wife reside in the State of Illinois, and that the complainant is remediless without the aid of this Court. The Bill then prays that the said George Everly and Mary Everly his wife may by good and sufficient Deed in law, properly and legally executed and acknowledged, convey to the complainant all their interest, right, title, claim and demand in and to said real estate, or in the event of their refusal that a Trustee may be appointed to make such Deed of Conveyance at their costs and expense and for general relief.

It is therefore adjudged and ordered this 25th day of November, 1867, that the complainant by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Carroll county, aforesaid, once in each of four successive weeks before the twenty-eighth day of December next, give notice to the said absent Defendants of the object and substance of this bill, and warn them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor, on or before the First day of April, next, to answer the premises and show cause if any they have why a Decree ought not to pass as prayed.
