FERRY LINE BEGINS

Baltimore and Eastern Shore Ferry Company Inaugurates Service Under Most Encouraging Circumstances

The Baltimore and Eastern Shore Ferry is now in operation, making three trips each day. The first trip of the new ferry line connecting Baltimore with the Eastern Shore was made by the ferry on Wednesday, which made the 13-mile trip across the bay in good time. A large crowd assembled at the end of the 1000-foot concrete pier at Bay Shore, while an even larger crowd witnessed the arrival of the boat at Rock Hall. Eastern Shore citizens are greatly interested in the new ferry line, and it will doubtless mean a big boom for Rock Hall, as it felt that the ferry service will prove of tremendous value to that bay-side town, since it will permit the disposal of the produce of that section direct to the Baltimore truckers at good prices.

The "Eastern Shore" carried on her first trip six large loaded auto-trucks, three passenger cars and 25 passengers. Among these passengers, in addition to General Manager S. A. Tubman, was Mr. Ellis Blackiston, of Rock Hall, who is said to be the first individual to buy stock in the ferry. He is also said to be the first to purchase a ticket.

The Ferry Company is advertising in this issue three round trips each day.

For many years there has been greatly needed by the residents of the Eastern Shore an outlet for their products, the absence of which has materially handicapped them in their effort to properly market their wares. Most of the business of the Eastern Shore has, during the past, been diverted to northern markets, thus helping to swell the business of other states when it rightfully belongs to Maryland. This condition was brought about by the lack of facilities.

Things have changed at last. With the opening of the Rock Hall to Balti-Baltimore ferry a fine opportunity is offered the farmers and truckers in the largest and best markets south of New York.

With the operation of this ferry system the Eastern Shore becomes practically a suburb to the City of Baltimore, thus commanding the very best prices for products raised here.

TWO LEGAL DOCUMENTS

Two Legal Papers met on their way to the funeral of a smart business man. By way of introduction one said: I am a mortgage deed, and I shall have the most of his property. "By no means," said the other. "I am an Insurance Policy, and was born to outwit just such fellows as you are. I am for the family every time."

Why not attend to the matter of Life Insurance at once?

Where shall I go to get service, and be assured of having placed my business in the RIGHT COMPANY?
