LOCAL ITEMS OF INTEREST

—The threshing of the Kent county wheat crop is nearing its close.

—The wild west show in Chestertown Saturday attracted hardly a passing notice.

—Mrs. J. Polk DeCorse has sold her property at Cliffs to Charles W. Kirby at private sale.

—Captain James Wilson lost four fine sheep and five lambs recently by the ravages of dogs.

—The Chautauqua guarantors held a meeting at the Kent County Savings Bank yesterday evening.

—A gasoline rationing system, to be applied throughout the United States, is now being considered by big refiners.

—County Agent H. B. Derrick receives daily from the weather bureau at Washington a 24-hour weather report.

—Broad Neck farmers have around 200 acres of tomatoes and are without a contract. The outlook is for a good yield.

—The Reno Stock Company is showing some thrilling plays on the lot adjoining Turner's Garage, on Maple avenue, this week.

—Mr. Morris Cooper, living on the Massey farm, near Worton, lost five valuable cows recently from drinking spraying material.

—Mrs. Ella P. Robinson, of Chestertown, has purchased the William R. Robinson farm, in Queen Anne's, at $58 per acre.

—The regular meeting of Pomona Grange was held at Worton Wednesday afternoon. The Maryland State Grange Lecturer, was present.

—Mr. J. Waters Russell was elected vice-president of the State Camp, P. O. S. of A., by the annual encampment last week at Sudlersville.

—Mrs. Mabel Wright has sold to Jas. Greenly, of Bethlehem, N. J., her property containing a house and 30 acres of land, near St. Paul's Church. Price $4000.

—A valuable horse belonging to Mr. A. E. Nicholson, of near Chestertown, was killed by lightning recently during a heavy storm. The animal was insured.

—The Elkton Motor Truck Line is bringing large quantities of mail to the Chestertown postoffice every morning, arriving here at about 8.40 o'clock.

—Henderson's Wharf, on the farm owned by Mr. H. H. Klinefelter and tenanted by Mr. J. T. Smith, in Queen Anne's county, is a complete wreck. This wharf was once a shipping point of considerable activity.

—Miss Mary Wright, of Preston, has been appointed Domestic Science teacher at the Chestertown High School to succeed Miss Coblentz, who resigned.

—No disposition has yet been made of the American Strawboard Company's property here. It is stated that several fine offers have been made for the place.

—A farmer in Kent county, who has 160 acres in wheat, has placed $8000 insurance on the crop and will store it in his barns until the market becomes better.

—Ten car loads of fine peaches have been shipped from the Harrison Nurseries, at Berlin, this year. They expect to ship away about 100 carloads more before the season ends.

—The corn crop in Kent will be one of the largest in years. This has been real "corn weather"—hot weather, a good rain and more hot weather. You can almost see the corn grow.

—Mr. Hyland Copper has been appointed night officer in place of Officer Brown, who resigned. Mr. Brown made a good officer and we believe Mr. Copper will also make good.

—The lightning struck the new barn at Taylor's Ranch, near Rock Hall, last Sunday and knocked off about fifty asbestos shingles. Mr. Taylor was not home when the bolt struck.

—A handsome yacht, belonging to Mr. Stieff, the Baltimore piano man, dropped anchor in the Chestertown harbor Saturday. On board were Mr. Stieff and family and several others.

—There are fifteen Community Clubs in Queen Annes which are doing efficient work. Kent's Community Clubs are doing good work also under the efficient direction of Miss Susan V. Hill.

—A fishing party, consisting of W. B. Strong, Wm. G. Smyth, Claude E. Truslow, R. H. Collins and William Collins, are enjoying a fishing trip this week down at the mouth of the Chester.

—The heavy stormy of Thursday evening caused the meeting that was scheduled to be held in the Court House in the interest of Washington Collgege to be postponed to a future date.

—Mr. and Mrs. Tilden Birce, of near Chestertown, have bought the Rice property in Fairlee occupied by Mr. Morris Bramble. Price $3250. The sale was made by Mr. John E. Barnes, real estate broker.

—The frame work for the main building of the Peerless Fertilizer Co. plant has been erected. When completed the Peerless Fertilizer Co. will have every equipment for convenient and efficient work.

—Morgan & Caldwell, of Galena, have recently sold the Rosehill farm, owned by John B. Cork, of Pennsylvania, to Rev. A. P. Prettyman, of Galena, for $26,000 and other considerations.

—A Kent county tomato grower sent a shipment of tomatoes to a northern market recently and received from his commission merchant a bill for 17 cents. And that's the way it goes in many other lines of shipping.

—The Peninsula Tomato Growers Association met at Hurlock Wednesday. Kent County Produce Exchange was represented by its President, E. A. Corey, M. P. Lee, John N. Bennett, Dr. Copeland and D. W. Ingersoll.

—Some one passed a $20 bill on Mr. Maxwell Blakeney recently which had formerly been a $2 bill. Mr. Blakeney keeps a garage just across the bridge and says an automobilist purchased some gasoline from him and left this counterfeit.

—H. W. Vickers, chairman of the Conservation Commission of the State, has been visiting the tidewater towns during the past month, keeping in touch with the work of the crabbers and the oystermen. Mr. Vickers was in Chestertown for the week-end.

—John Page, assistant keeper of Love Point Lighthouse, has been transferred to Roamer Shoals Light Station, near New York. W. W. Bozman, of Upper Cedar Point Light, has been appointed to the vacancy at Love Point.

—The Orphans Court for Queen Anne's county, has decided the litigation over the will of the late Perry Wilson, colored, who left an estate valued at $30,000, in favor of the heirs, and has ordered the property distributed in accordance with the provisions of the will.

—Mr. James P. Parrott, who has charge of the Court House yard, has greatly beautified the place by putting in a number of fine flower mounds. As these flowers come into bloom, they will delight the eye with their beauty and fill the air in the neighborhood with their fragrance.

—The town authorities are preparing to put in corrugated pipes at the intersection of High and Water streets to carry away the water that always pools there after a rain, causing considerable annoyance to the pedestrians and presenting an unsightly appearance.

—Congressman Linthicum has a large number of 1919 Agricultural Year Books on hand. He will be glad to send one to any party who will be interested in the book. Address him House of Representatives, Washington D. C. Mr. Linthicum represents a City District, and consequently has very few calls for this book.

—The crabbing industry is on the wane in Kent waters. It is said by the authorities that this is due to the fact that the dredgers in the mouths of the Virginia rivers catch the female crabs on their spawning grounds. The government, we understand, will take the matter in hand and put a stop to it.

—H. W. Vickers, Esq., chairman of the State Conservation Commission, informs us that there were 100 pheasants turned out in Kent County and not fifty, as we stated some weeks ago. Reports indicate that these birds are doing well. When full grown they are about the size of a guinea.

—A Child Welfare Clinic will be held every Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the Red Cross Chapter House beginning August 18. All parents with children six years of age and under are requested to bring them. They will be weighed and a physical examination made as was done for the school children.

—A battle in midair between a fishing hawk and a giant eel, which ended in a victory for the eel, was witnessed by a number of people down Chester River recently, according to the story told. Witnesses of the fight, which is described as an interesting one, lasting about 10 minutes, say the hawk plunged down into the waters of the river and arose with the eel in his talons. The big eel squirmed over the bird's back and began to lash it furiously with its heavy tail. Several times the bird tried to get away, but it was compelled to drop the victor back into the water.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

A little horse sense mixed with the use of Automobiles is productive of the Best Results.

For the want of a nail, the shoe was lost;
For the want of a shoe, the horse was lost;
For the want of a horse, the rider was lost;
All for the want of a horse-shoe nail.

The moral and lesson of the above is: If your car needs to be fixed, DON'T PUT IT OFF. Have it done NOW, not TOMORROW, when it is too late.
