THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

The struggle is over and the result is gratifying to the Republican party. After twenty-two ballots the New York Convention unanimously nominated Horatio N. Seymour of New York for the Presidency. They at once proceeded to nominate a candidate for the Vice Presidency and the lot fell to Gen. F. P. Blair of Missouri. Where the strength of this ticket lies we are not able to see. Seymour's record is before the public and it has been one of defeat. He has never held an office under the National Government and has never had any save ignominious notoriety outside of his own State. He was four times a candidate for Governor, being twice defeated when his ticket was elected and the other times running thousands behind his ticket. The only two things which distinguished his administration as Governor were his veto of the Maine Liquor Law, and his speech to the draft mob in New York. Everyone remembers the latter event, when bands of drunken and excited men were murdering peaceable citizens and destroying property in the streets of New York. "I am your friend," said Horatio Seymour, "I will see that you get your rights." "I am your friend," said this Democratic Candidate, to the armed bands of pickpockets, thieves, murderers and ruffians of every kind who were there assembled, and the crowd answering, said "We know you are." He is an arrant Copperhead and a supporter of treason. "There is nothing in Seymour" says the N. Y. Herald, "and the result of the nomination will be a reaction which will give New York to Grant by twenty, thirty or forty thousand majority."

Gen. Blair has no strength outside of Missouri and even there, while he has warm friends he has equally bitter enemies. He is not the man recommended by the Soldiers and Sailors' convention and he belongs to that Blair family, which is politically damning to any party which has the misfortune to have them in its ranks.

To again quote from the Herald "Seymour is behind the age, and Blair, as a Soldier, pinned to his ticket, makes a mockery of the combination. Grant and Colfax against such a ticket will sweep the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

WHERE is the enthusiasm?" said the Democratic papers when Grant and Colfax were unanimously nominated and everywhere cordially endorsed as the standard bearers of Republicanism. We will now ask the same question in regard to their nominees. Seymour and Blair are put in nomination and the Herald leaves the party and says Grant and Colfax are as good as elected; the World refuses to endorse a part of the platform; the Journal of Commerce, while it accepts, complains of the weakness of the nominations. In Washington, Philadelphia and Boston feelings of disgust are manifested and the Hon. John Morrissey offers bets against their election. The Soldiers and Sailors' Convention decided, by a majority of one, to endorse the nominations, while the minority said they would not support the ticket. This convention had twice recommended candidates to the other convention and were snubbed both times. The Central Chase association of New York passed resolutions, repudiating Seymour and declaring for Grant. At Terre Haut, Indiana, a large meeting was held and resolutions of indignation passed. From all parts of the country we hear the muttered thunders of dissatisfaction, and the press seem to be settleing down to the fact that the election of Grant and Colfax is a foregone conclusion.

THE RESULT.

The old time tricksters and the Rebel soldiers who formed the Convention that met at Tammany Hall a few days ago, have at length pointed out to us the men who are expected by all faithful Democrats to carry their party triumphantly through the perils of the coming Presidential election. It mattered very little to the Republican party upon whom the choice of the convention would fall for we are in a high state of preparation to administer a most overwhelming defeat to any man calling himself a Democrat, but yet we took some interest in it out of curiosity to see what men and measures would be advanced for the relief of a country which they say we have so sorely distressed. The Convention did exactly what we expected such a collection of men would do. Forgetting all the questions decided by the war, ignoring the mighty strides we have made since eighteen hundred and sixty towards the freedom, enlightenment and equality of all men, and living only in the dark past, they placed at the head of their ticket a man more thoroughly dead to all ideas of any kind of progress than any other in their party.—We have only to say of Horatio N. Seymour that he is the man who, when Governor of New York, said to an infuriated mob of brutal murderers, "I am your friend." The stone of ignominy is like the gravestone; when it falls it can never be raised again, and so Mr. Seymour will find it. The platform adopted by the Convention—and probably drawn up by Gen. Forrest one of its members, who eminently qualified himself in the eyes of the Democracy for that high position by his murders at Fort Pillow—contains nothing but most dishonest, presumptuous, and outragious principles. It proposes to place the government of the South in the hands of the men who made war on their Country, drenched it in blood, and who, even now, instead of hanging down their heads in shame and contrition, vindicate all that they have done, and give us illustrious proofs of their present loyalty by murdering the poor blacks who aided in their downfall. Traitors with pardons in their pockets are to be ranked with men who, from first to last, through good and evil, in the cabinet and on the field of battle, have stood by their Country. All the great results for which we have paid so large a price in blood and money are to be taken from us, the wise reconstruction measures of Congress which have been so successful in all the South, are to be rendered void and the States replaced in their former condition.—Our bonds are to be taxed—which means total repudiation in a few years:—In a word, the Democratic platform simply and only means that—we shall have a country pointed at by the whole world with the finger of scorn and contempt for its dishonesty and a country in which shall be heard once again a man say unto his fellow man: "I am your master, you are my Slave." For the prevention of this calamity, nearly every State in the Union will give large majorities; our own State is one of the sad exceptions, but by hard work we certainly can redeem one part of it. For that purpose will not the people of our district organize ot once and fight a hard fight. Will not the farmers and laboring men, forming as they do the most numerous portion of the inhabitants, resolutely and inflexibly determine that the evils we have pictured shall never happen—that it must and shall be enough for traitors that their lives and property, a hundred times forfeited to justice, are secure, and that they are allowed to share in all the blessings of that mild government they once attempted to destroy?—Will not the mechanics, who can only thrive when the country prospers, raise their brawny arms to save at least one district of our State from the hands of this extravagant, wasteful and pestilent Democracy?

SEYMOUR and Blair are admirable names for Democratic candidates.—But they may say more and blare (bellow, roar,) as much as they please, Ulysses the Silent will tan their hides and Schuyler the Printer will attend to their case, mashing their form and spoiling their bold face when he makes up and justifies things in November, so that they won't know where to find enough live matter for the next issue.

THE Democratic Candidates for the Presidency will probably say more than Ulysses, for even our opponents will Grant that he is a man of action and not of words, but all their blaring will not avail them much against the cold facts we shall present to them in November.

NOTICES inserted in our Local Column are charged 10 cents a line.

THE following is a synopsis of the platform adopted by the New York Democratic Convention.

First—The immediate restoration of all the States to their rights in the Union under the Constitution, and of civil government to the American people.

Second—Amnesty for all past political offences, and the regulation of the elective franchise in the States by their citizens.

Third—The payment of the public debt of the United States as soon as practicable; and that all moneys drawn from the people by taxation, except so much as is requisite for the necessities of the Government economically administered, be honestly applied to such payment; and where the obligations of the Government do not expressly state upon their face, or the law under which they were issued does not provide that they shall be paid in coin they ought, in right and in justice, to be paid in the lawful money of the United States.

Fourth—The equal taxation of all property, including Government Bonds.

Fifth—One currency for the Government and people, laborer and office-holder, pensioner and soldier, producer and bondholder.

Sixth—Economy in the Administration reduction of the army and navy; abolition of the Freedmen's Bureau and of inquisitorial modes of collecting revenue, tariff for revenue, and such equal taxation under internal revenue as will afford incidental protection to industry.

Seventh—Subordination of military to civil power.

Eighth—Equal rights and protection for native and adopted citizens; against doctrine of immutable allegiance.

Ninth—Denounces the usurpation and tyranny of the Radical party; its violation of pledge to conduct war only for the preservation of the Union; that it has subjugated States, overthrown freedom of speech and of the press, established system of espionage, disregarded habeas corpus, made of the National Capital a bastile, and threatened to destroy original jurisdiction of the Supreme Court and maligned the Chief Justice because of his integrity on the trial of the President.

The report continues at considerable length to recite these abuses, and in conclusion declares that the privilege and trust of suffrage belongs exclusively to the control of each State, and that Congress has usurped it in violation of the Constitution; specifically denounces the Reconstruction acts as usurpations, unconstitutional and void. The soldiers and sailors' pensions are to be faithfully paid. The public lands should be reserved for homesteads, and thanks Andrew Johnson for resisting the aggressions of Congress.

In conclusion the report invites men of all parties in the past to unite on this platform.

Anders' Iodine Water is a specific. If those afflicted will try these remedies they will thank us for calling their attention to them.

WE are glad to say that the lamps at the East End were lit up on the night of the 8th inst., because it shows that a spirit of enterprise animates our Democratic City Council. We know that some of them were lit up because we saw the lamp lighter lighting the one on the corner of Main and Sycamore Sts., and we examined critically the one on the corner of Court and Main Sts., and could tell by the reflector that there was fire somewhere about the thing. We should think that the citizens of the West End would be gratified to see their lamps burning once more, but we guess that to be impossible as three of the Council reside in that part of town.—We presume that Democracy loves to walk in darkness because its deeds are evil.

THE REGATTA SEASON.—Almost simultaneously with the opening of "fashionable navigation," by the New York Yacht Club, and the inauguration of the new club house on Staten Island, LORILLARD has introduced his "Yacht Club Smoking Tobacco" and "Yacht Club Pipe." Both are specialities—the tobacco being composed of the finest Virginia leaf, deprived of its nicotine and the pipe being of the finest quality of meerschaum, with a unique and tasteful design, representing a yacht "going large" before the wind. Mr. Lorillard, who is a man of original ideas, and never does things by halves, has linked the new brand and its elegant receptacles together in a very pretty way. Orders for the pipes are placed in different packages of the brand daily, which orders, on being presented, entitle the lucky holders to a pipe each. The demand for Yacht Club Tobacco is already immence, and it is an article of extraordinary merit, and can be smoked without inconvenience by persons who can use no other kind. it bids fair to rival in popularity the famous century brand manufactured by the same time honored house.—N. Y. Telegram

THE ORGANIZATION OF THE FREDERICK AND PENNSYLVANIA LINE RAILROAD.—A meeting of the stockholders of the Frederick and Pennsylvania line Railroad was held at Woodsboro' in this county, on the 30th ult., but owing to some informality in giving notice of the meeting the election for a President and eight Directors could not be proceeded with. Several of the Commissioners were present and determined to give notice in the proper manner as soon as the signatures of a requisite number of their board could be procured. The meeting of the stockholders was large and enthusiastic, and the advantages of the road and the route which would probably be adopted were very freely discussed. Many of the gentlemen who have been prominent in the movement favoring a railroad connection between Frederick and the Pennsylvania Line were present, among whom were Major A. M. Eichelberger, President of the Hanover Branch Railroad Company; the President of the Littlestown, and Hanover Railroad, and several of the Directors of these roads; Dr. Samuel Swope, Mr. Gambril, and Sterling Galt, President of the Board of Commissioners of said road, of Taneytown; John Sifford, Capt. H. Clay Naill and Capt. James McSherry, Jr., Commissioners of the road from Frederick City. Another meeting of stockholders will be called at an early day, of which due notice will be given, when a proper and thorough organization of the company will be effected and measures instituted for pushing the project rapidly forward.—Frederick Republican.

POST OFFICE BUSINESS.—A VERY BAD ARRANGEMENT.—It is really true that the P. O. Department has discontinued the mail route from Frederick East through this place. In place of this mail, which was but twice a week, there is now a tri-weekly one from Westminster to Unionville. The latter only three miles East of, and one-tenth as large as Liberty. We understand that certain parties below us, in order to get a tri-weekly mail to Unionville from Baltimore, had our important semi-weekly county mail stopped—an arrangement our people will soon feel to their sorrow, and one they should not quietly submit to. The inconveniences caused by the stoppage of this mail are too numerous to designate, both to letter writers and newspaper subscribers; for instance: Frederick papers will arrive here at least a day later than before; and any paper or letter mailed here for Unionville—only three miles distant—must first go South nine miles, then East to Baltimore we suppose, then up to Westminster and on to its desination, after being carried seventy or eighty miles and delayed two or three days. Again, mail matter for Mt. Pleasant, Walkersville or Woodsboro'—five miles distant, Creagerstown, Mechanicstown, Emmittsburg etc., will be from two to four days on the road. Is this right? will the people remain quiet? will the Department be thus imposed upon? In the name of all that is right and just, give us back the old route or else extend the present tri-weekly mail from Westminster (or New Windsor, whichever it is,) to Unionville on to Liberty and then give us a line from Liberty to Frederick two or three times a week. The latter could be contracted for at a low figure, and thus a mail from Frederick to Liberty on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and from Westminster on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, would give us a complete mail route, and be a great public convenience, and all for an additional cost of less than three hundred dollars.—Bus. of Lib.

What has been said by our brother in the above extract will apply here. A letter from here to New Windsor, seven miles off, must go to Baltimore, thirty miles off, and then return. A letter from New Windsor for this place, comes down the railroad in the mail, passes through Westminster to Baltimore and returns. Wakefield is about midway between the two places and yet the only mail communication is through Baltimore. Business letters of importance pass from one place to the other, but the mails are comparatively useless for this purpose, and it is only through the courtesy of the Railroad officials and private individuals that the business between the two places can be properly transacted.—This is not the only route of which complaint is made, but we take it as a sample. We print our paper on Wednesday and, when they have to go by mail, they reach their destination seven miles off on Friday or Saturday. Efforts have been made by the people of New Windsor to have this thing changed but the Democratic gentlemen who govern the mail arrangement at the Capital, have enough to do, attending to their own interests without worrying about so trifling a thing as the accommodation of the people. We hope our brethren of the press will make a note of this matter so that public opinion shall force it into notice. This is not the only section of country by any means, as we can see by our exchanges, in which the mismanagement of the mail department is made apparent.

No. 964 Equity.

George A. Brannan, Adm'r of Eliza J. Brannan, deceased, vs. Christopher F. Miller & Eliza J. Miller his wife.

THE object of this suit is to procure a sale of the real estate of the Defendant Eliza J. Miller, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay a claim of the Complainant against her.

The Bill states that on the 14th day of April, 1864 one Eliza Jane Miller, the wife of Christopher F. Miller of Carr. County, passed to Eliza J. Brannan, (now deceased) for a valuable consideration accruing to said Eliza Jane Miller, her promissory note whereby she promised to pay to the said Eliza Jane Brannan, on the 14th day of October then ensuing, the sum of four hundred and thirty-six dollars and sixty-seven cents, upon the face of said promissory note subjecting all her separate estate to liability for the payment of said note as appears by said note filed with the Bill. That although she has been frequently thereto requested, the said Eliza Jane Miller, has failed to pay any part of the money secured by said promissory note and the whole sum so secured together with a large amount of interest is still due and wholly unpaid.—That the said Eliza Jane Miller, is seized in fee of a large and valuable Real Estate situate in Carroll co., which is described in the Deed for the same from Robert H. Pennington, and wife, to the said Eliza Jane Miller, a certified copy of which is filed with the Bill. That a Decree should pass subjecting said Real Estate to sale for the payment of said promissory note and interest and costs of suit, and a Trustee appointed for that purpose. Two successive subpoenas against the said Defendants having been returned non est, it is therefore ordered and adjudged this 6th day of July, 1868 that the Complainant by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Carroll co., once a week for four successive weeks before the 18th day of August, next, give notice to the said Defendants, of the object and substance of this bill, and warn them to appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor on or before the 6th day of November, next, to answer the premises and show cause if any they have why a Decree should not pass as prayed.

ORDERED this 6th day of July, 1868, that the Complainant by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Carroll co., once a week of four successive weeks before the 18th day of August, next, give notice to the said Defendants, of the object and substance of this bill, and warn them to appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor on or before the 6th day of November, next, to answer the premises and show cause if any they have why a Decree should not pass as prayed.
