What Are You Losing

Because you have not yet bought a tractor, we think you must have been doing a little quiet figuring to see just what you are losing in time, labor and money by not having a tractor specially built to operate on low-priced, low-grade fuels. Remember that the

TITAN 10-20 TRACTOR

is designed and built with but one purpose in view—delivering its full rated horse power and doing good serviceable drawbar and belt work at all loads within its capacity, on kerosene and any oil fuel down to 39 degrees Baume.

You know what kerosene costs compared to gasoline. The difference in the present prices of these fuels represents a saving of from fifty to sixty per cent. in the cost of fuel to a Titan owner.

What higher recommendation can a tractor have than demonstraetd ability to deliver at all times, in all seasons, low-cost, dependable power at drawbar and belt?

You know the Titan does that. You know why it does. Let us remind you again that Titan tractors are worth owning and that you cannot place your order too soon.

LOCAL MATTERS

Auto Accident—While Messrs. John Smith and Josiah Massey were riding on the state road in an automobile on Monday night, the car became unmanageable for a second or two and struck a culvert. The car was badly damaged. Mr. Massey was cut about the face and head but Mr. Smith escaped unhurt.

Residents Make Improvements—A great many improvements have been made by the residents along High St., extended, near the cemetery. Mr. Albert Raleigh, who purchased the Orem property, has torn down the old buildings and erected a comfortable home and other buildings; Mr. Edward Newton, who purchased the Boone property a few weeks ago, has greatly improved his property and removed some old trees in the yard. The other residents have also improved their properties.

Money In Kent Banks—Total deposits as shown by the Kent County Banks in their sworn statements appearing in last week's papers, are as follows: The Millington Bank, Millington, Md., $155,622.98; The Peoples Bank, Chestertown, Md., $518,210.25; The Kent County Savings Bank, Chestertown, Md., $741,541.73; The Chestertown Bank of Maryland, Chestertown, Md., $921,108.96; The Third National Bank, Chestertown, Md., $1,450,408.71. Total, $3,786,892.63.

To Propagate Oysters—Bills designed to aid in the propagation of oysters probably will be introduced at the next session of the Maryland legislature of the state at the instigation of oystermen. These men declare that steps must be taken to provide for the return of a certain amount of oyster shells into the waters of the state if the bivalve is to continue its existence. Men in the oyster business appear to be nearly unanimous that some oyster shells should be restored to the beds of the bays and salt rivers in order that the young oysters have a base to which to attach themselves. Millions of dollars are realized from the sale of oysters from this state each year and lessening of the production would be keenly felt.

Celebrated Wedding Anniversary—In honor of the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. George P. Hendrickson entertained at dinner at their home near town, last Friday evening, more than one hundred of their neighbors and relatives being present, who partook of the most sumptuous repast. The spread, which included all the season's delicacies, temptingly prepared, such as a Kent county farmer's wife knows so well how to prepare, and served in good old Maryland fashion, was immensely enjoyed. The menu consisted of turkey, chicken salad, oysters, celery, pickles, cranberry sauce, jelly, Maryland biscuit, rolls, butter, tea, coffee, ice cream and cake.

A Way To Help The Starving—It has been suggested by Rev. Harold F. Pellegrin, State Director of the Near East Relief, that the merchants in the county in taking stock might find upon the shelves some shelf-worn clothing which could be sent to the children of the Near East. Such stock can be sent to the Near East Relief Committee at 14 W. Franklin Street, Baltimore, Md., from which point it will be sent abroad. Quite a few merchants throughout Maryland are helping the half-starved and almost naked Armenians in this way.

The Unknown Soldier

From N. Y. Post

(On Armistice Day, November 11, the body of an Unknown Soldier was buried in Westminster Abbey.)

Here to the Abbey where all the greatest,
All of England's greatest dead are put to lie—
Here to the abbey bring we this latest
One who for England knew how to die.

"A simple private of the Buffs?"
Maybe! Or "Leicestors," "Lines," or "Lancs"—
One of a mob of fellow toughs—
Just "Other Ranks."

He drilled and marched and groused and cursed
His C. S. M., whom he'd demolish,
Because of martinets the worst
For "spit and polish."

He heard, in intervals of ease,
The ribald jest and vulgar oath,
The barrack room's obscenities—
And liked them both.

No stranger to the canteen (wet)
And nearby pubs, 'tis likely he,
Falling from grace, would sometimes get
Eight days' C. B.

His training done, he went to France
With others of his mob. There tried
To do his bit and take his chance—
Took it, and died.

"An Unknown Soldier"—that's his fame.
But in the last great muster he
Will Spring to attention at the name
Of Atkins, T.

Here to the Abbey, where all the greatest,
All of England's greatest dead are put to lie—
Here to the Abbey bring we this latest
One who for England knew how to die.
