EVERY EVENING IN 1921

Long recognized as Delaware's leading newspaper, not only at home but throughout the country, Every Evening's plans for the New Year aim to make the paper more than ever an integral part of the daily life of all Delawareans.

A new mechanical equipment and larger and more commodious quarters, now being constructed, will give Every Evening one of the most complete and modern newspaper plants in the country. Every Evening's reputation for printing the news of the day without color and without bias is well-known and appreciated by its thousands of readers. Its slogan is "The News and the Truth About It." Flaming headlines and attempts at sensationalism find no place in its columns.

Here are seme of the exclusive features which make Every Evening a real newspaper and which contribute to its prestige and enlarge its sphere of influence and usefulness among the intelligent class of people in the community which it serves :

The Associated Press, by special Wire.
The Haskin Letter, by Fred J. Haskin, of Washington, D. C.
Dorothy Dix, the highest paid woman writer in the country.
A Daily Short Story, by Marion Rubencame.
The Girl on the Job, by Jessie Roberts.
The Sandman Story, for the Young Folks.
The Daily Economy Calendar, for the Housewife.
Good Housekeeping, by Laura Kirkman.
Little Benny's Note Book, by Lee Pape.
The Letters of Tessie and Joe.
Toots and Casper, a daily Comic.
Walt Mason's Rhymes, Eddie Guest's Daily Poems, and others.

Every Evening will, as usual, have two staff correspondents at the coming session of the State Legislature, in Dover, and its daily reports will be complete and dependable.

SPORTING NOTES

LOCAL AMERICAN LEGION TEAM EVENS THE SCORE WITH THE W.C.QUINT—OTHER NOTES OF INTERST

The Washington College—Drexel Institute game, scheduled for Saturday night, was cancelled.

Preliminary to the big game Friday night, a Chestertown team and a W. C. team played a gruelling game of basketball. It was a nip and tuck affair. The first half ended with the score standing 5 to 5. The final score was 15 to 13 in favor of W. C. Two shots toward the close of the game by Rouse for the Chestertown team were perhaps the features of the game. The local team was as follows: Blyman, center; Brown and Blackway, guards; Rouse and Armstrong, forwards.

The American Legion basketball team, composed of Derringer, center; Kibler and Jarman, forwards; Ford and Usilton, guards, evened up the score with the Washington College team on Friday night, before a fair crowd, defeating them by the score of 37 to 29.

From many viewpoints, the game was the greatest ever played here, in our mind only one game that we know of being in the same class, that with Loyola back in 1916. It was a contest between a perfectly organized and finely trained aggregation against a team composed of the greatest list of star players ever here with one team, and, unlike the usual history of such events, the superior natural ability of the stars won out, in spite of the lack of team work and practice.

Harry Derringer, a Chestertown boy, who was the forward of the Navy team several years back, was in the game and gave a good account of himself, making 22 points out of the 37 scored for the Legion. He tossed the ball in from many difficult positions close to the basket. He reminded us a great deal of Pearson, the star center on the W. C. team several years ago, who was an equally sure shot under the basket.

But while his work under the basket was of a calibre that marks him as a basketball man of the highest type, it was largely due to the remarkable floor work of Kibler and Jarman that enabled Derringer to get a chance at the basket. Kibler and Jarman were aboht the floor like lightning and their work, along with Derringer's, was as good as ever seen. We doubt if there was ever a team that played here that had such forwards and center as the above men. Usilton and Ford guarded well, but their position does not give them the chance for spectacular work as the former does.

Kibler made perhaps the greatest shot of the evening—one at a dead run, near the center of the floor, and at a difficult angle, while Jarman practically clinched the game with an overhead heave into the basket.

And the Legion boys were not the only ones who covered themselves with glory. The Washington College team played one of the finest and best games they have played during the year and were a hard team to defeat. Laurens and Russell, W. C. forwards, were never in better form and both are marked as top-notchers for the future; Gordy played a fast, aggressive game and improves with every game; while Johnson and Robbins played in their usual superb form and are as good a pair of guards as there are in the state.

The Legion team jumped into the lead at the start and the first half ended with them having a lead of 22 to 18. In the second half the W. C. team soon tied the score, but the aggressive Legion team kept at their opponents, and the game was three minutes from being over before the decision was reached. Gould umpired a good game.

LOCAL BUSINESS MEN HELP

Messrs. P. A. M. Brooks and Claude E. Truslow Co-operate With Girls' Clubs of Kent County

Mr. P. A. M. Brooks, proprietor of Radcliffe Mill, and Mr. Claude E. Truslow, who conducts a large poultry farm near Chestertown, have formed a plan by which all Club girls who have completed one year of Club work may obtain pure bred eggs for hatching.

Mr. Brooks and Mr. Truslow have been closely associated with the poultrymen of the county for several years and feel very strongly the need for better bred poultry and better methods of management.

The plan is this: Mr. Brooks has agreed to buy all the pure bred eggs required for all girls who have reached second year work, with the provision that in the fall at a specified time each girl will return one of her average pullets for each setting of eggs obtained. Mr. Truslow agrees to furnish these eggs and promises that they shall be of a good type. He will sell them to Mr. Brooks at market price.

When the pullets are returned in the fall the plan is to sell these birds at auction. The money wil be used to pay for the eggs. Should there be any money left it will be divided among the respective Clubs in proportion to the number of pullets returned from each club. This money will be used for promoting beter club work.

Girls are already responding to this offer and it promises to be a great success.

NEW MONTE CARLO IN CUBA?

Possibility That World-Famous Gambling Establishment May Be Located on the Island.

"The greatest gambling center in the world will be located in the western hemisphere if plans for 'palaces' in Cuba develop as given out," said Walter P. Harris of Havanna. "Cuba is already beset with the gambling fever, and fortunes change hands there almost every day.

"Since the announcement of the prince of Monaco that he is preparing to close Monte Carlo, there have been extensive preparations for the establishment of great gambling palaces designed to attract the sporting element that now visits Monte Carlo to the 'Pearl of the Antilles.' Several villages have been surveyed with the view of locating this gambling center, but so far no definite decision has been reached.

"Gambling is already flourishing in Havana. The Casino de la Playa is a great garish temple of roulette, where wonderful dinners are served at less than cost. The profit to the house comes from the wheel. The men who take women to the Casino for dinner invariably back them at the wheel.

"The moratorium now in effect on the island has not affected the crowds at the Casino, because they are mostly composed of tourists, and the visitor is treated to the sight of a country, apparently bankrupt but gambling madly, where fortunes change hands overnight and the beggar of today may be the rich man of tomorrow."—Washington Post.

HUMAN FACE AS A BEACON

Radiometer Able to Record the "Shine" Thrown Off, at a Distance of Several Miles.

Novelists that speak of a face "lighting up" put down an actual truth that few of them are aware of or intend. One of the most delicate instruments in the world, a radiometer, records the "shine" of a human face, and can do it at a distance of several miles. So delicate is the instrument that it can detect and record the glimmer of a candle half a mile away, and if there were no atmospheric obstruction it could detect the same candle 16 miles away. The instrument consists of two thin glass disks, one polished and one blackened, suspended by a quartz thread in a vacuum. Waves of radiant energy striking this instrument disturb its balance, because the bright disk reflects them, while the black one absorbs them.

While the human face to the normal eye gives out no waves of radiant energy, the fact remains that a constant flow of energy is being thrown off, and these waves travel an unknown distance. Although the radiometer is a wonderful and delicate instrument, there is a thermal couple ten times as sensitive as the radiometer and it can detect the heat of a candle 60 miles distant.

Italy to the Rescue.

Visiting a school is a doubtful pleasure. But the woman had promised to call for a friend who is known as a "rooky" teacher. She waited until almost closing time before entering the school, a red brick, lumpy sort of building, not specially attractive. It looked as if she had come too soon. All eyes soon focussed on her instead of on the busy little teacher. The word "trio" was being explained to the children and volunteers were asked to stand and use the word in a sentence. And no one need expect to go home until the word was fully explained.

Little R. T. coaxed, "Come now, tell me just one little story with 'trio' in it."

Timidly, swarthy little Giuseppe raised his hand. His naturally happy face was strained in his effort to help. Then flashed a bright smile at the woman and shouted cheerfully:

"It is nearly trio clock."—New York Sun.

Go to Class by Underground Tunnels.

An underground tunnel system that has all the fascination of the catacombs, although it serves the less dramatic function of conveying heating pipes, is one of the chief attractions at Wellesley college.

It has just been completed and undergraduates are being permitted to ramble around under the 300-acre campus.

The tunnels are six feet high and wide enough for comfortable walking. Girls have found that no matter how cold the weather, it is a good plan to abandon coats when taking this long adventure. The temperature from the heating pipes is about that of a Turkish bath.

This Oil May Cure Leprosy.

The use of Chaulmoogra oil has been known for some time to have some virtue in the treatment of leprosy, and recently it has been discovered that there are a great many points of similarity between the germs of leprosy and those of tuberculosis. This has led to some government experiments in the direction of combating tuberculosis which will be conducted at Hawaii.

Iron Ore From the Alps.

A new iron ore field has been discovered in Switzerland which is estimated to contain 47,000,000 tons, which will assure to Switzerland, at prewar consumption rate, sufficient iron ore to last for 45 years. The federal council suggests a provision by the government of 1,200,000 francs upon condition that a total capital of 4,000,000 francs is raised for exploitation.
