GIVING OUT

The Struggle Discourages Many A Citizen of Chestertown

Around all day with an aching back,
Can't rest at night;
Enough to make any one "give out."
Doan's Kidney Pills are helping thousands.
They are for kidney backache;
And other kidney ills.
Here is Chesterotwn proof of their merit:

John R. Hadaway, chauffer, 700 W. High St., says: "I can give Doan's Kidney Pills the highest praise. They have never failed to straighten me up whenever my kidneys troubled me. The jolting of the truck is trying on the back and kidneys and at times I suffered so with my back that I could hardly straighten up and often came home at night tired out and nervous. The action of my kidneys was irregular. Colds made the trouble worse. I used Doan's Kidney Pills from Sterling's Pharmacy and they soon put my kidneys in good shape."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Hadaway had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo., N. Y.

SPORTING NOTES

STARS OF "THE MIGHT HAVE BEEN"—W. C. SETS RECORD FOR RUN GETTING—MORE NEWS OF THE SPORTING REALM

Perhaps the purple twilight of the mythical kingdom which we have styled "The Might Have Been" never had a more promising candidate for admission than Mr. Fred S. Russell, of Chestertown, rural route carrier on Number 4. Fred was perhaps the fastest and classiest shortstop that ever played the game here and made many plays that would have done credit to a Wagner or a Jennings. At the bat he was not so strong, but he never had the opportunity to get that training which is necessary to make a first-class batter. Fred can still play a fast game at short and, with a little pracice would be a much better player than many who now play the game in the county. If Fred had had the opportunity to get systematic training that others have had here, we have no doubt whatever that he would have developed into one, if not the best, short stop that Kent county has ever turned out. It will be remembered that he played shortstop on the old Chestertown team, when baseball reached its summit here, and would have held down the berth regularly had he not had other business that demanded his attention.

Hanson Horsey ruined his pitching arm for Reading, Pa., in the Tri-State League back there eight or ten years ago, when he won 24 and lost 4 games for that club, pitching them into the lead and the pennant. He was said to be the best twirler in the Tri-State League of his time and was purchased for a big sum by Cincinnati, of the National League. Cincinnati used him five times and he won three games for them, but he was sold to San Francisco in the Pacific Coast League, who refused to give him a try-out because they had bargained with Cincinnati for a left-hander, while Horsey is a right hander. Horsey was rather young when he went to Cincinnati, but had he been a left-hander and had he been given the proper try-out by the California team, perhaps he might have made one of the stars of the league which Mathewson and Alexander have made famous. Horsey now resides at Galena and will probably manage the Centreville team this year. He knows the game and can still give a good account of himself either on the bases or on the mound. The last chapter of Horsey's life will likely be one in which baseball will play the leading role.

When we pen the next word—Latimer—our mind harks back more than twenty years ago when a tall, slender figure, in a loose-fitting suit, was playing for the champion Chestertown baseball club, still believed by a great many people to be the greatest twirler that ever donned a suit on the Eastern Shore of Maryland; when we pen this word we think of the streaming banners that bade a welcome to Cambridge, who brought nearly a thousand rooters here in two steamboats for the championship game of the season; and we remember how this speed king of the old Chestertown team held them helpless through nine innings of baseball. We also faintly remember how, a short time before, he defeated the Baltimore Yanigans, composed of the second-string players of the Baltimore National League team, perhaps one of the greatest aggregations of players which had invaded the Shore up to that time. Latimer was said to be the wizard of the pitching mound. He was brought here from the University of Virginia by Mr. Thomas Trenchard. He had all the assets of the big-league twirler and was offered a try-out in every big-league team in the east. But Latimer was more interested in the practice of medicine, which he was then studying, than he was in becoming a baseball star and perhaps the game lost another Bender or a Mathewson.

The Chestertown Jumpsteadies went to Felton, Del., on Saturday last and found easy pickings, the score being 17 to 6 in their favor. The Chestertown team made 11 runs in the first inning and after that lost interest in the game, using five pitchers and finding that Felton could do nothing with any of them. The Chestertown team is open for games with any team on the Shore.

The Grace M. E. Church baseball team, of Wilmington, will play the Washington College team this, Saturday afternoon on the College diamond. Grace Church is one of the largest churches in Wilmington, Del., and if the team comes anywhere near what their basketball team was last winter, the game should be a corker. This team is composed of college stars who reside in Wilmington.

Frank Baker is making good with the New York Yanks. The batting column shows that he is doing fairly good, while at fielding he has not yet been given an error. He had the misfortune to sprain his ankle the other day.

Snow Hill is another Eastern Shore town which will have a baseball team this summer. This question was settled at a meeting recently when a number of representative business men met and decided to have a team and to enter the league, if it is formed, as now seems likely.

The Temple University team was helpless before Gordy on Friday afternoon and only two hits were registered off his delivery, and fourteen going back to the bench by the strike-out route. The visitors were hopelessly outclassed. Their three pitchers were wild and ineffective, and their offerings were hit to all parts of the field, Gordy making perhaps the longest hit ever made on the field, the ball going over center field for three bases, and nearly reaching the fence. Bounds, Usilton, Davis, Flowers, Robins and Johnson led with the stick. A peculiar feature of the game was the fact that Washington's catcher and first baseman made all the put-outs on their side. The W. C. players run wild on the bases, pulling off three double steals. The final score was 31 to 1, which Washington could probably have made a 100 to 1 count, had they wanted to. Washington scored in every one of the eight innings they were at bat, and hit the ball for thirty safeties, four of them being for two bases and three for three bases.

For the third time in about as many weeks, rain prevented Washington College and St. Paul's [illegible] mington, from palying a scheduled game. It is hoped the game will be scheduled again for next week.

Perhaps the fastest fox hound which had run a trail in Kent county in many years is "Casey Jones," a bob-tail foxhound of the Walker-English type, which was left in the possession of Mr. Earle Smith by Mr. Yandell, the millionaire huntsman, of Connecticut, who was here with Mr. George Brice a few months ago. Mr. Lee Robinson is now in possession of the hound, which will be kept until Mr. Yandell calls for him. This hound is so fast that our Kent dogs can't pack with him and in a few minutes he is a field or so ahead of them. When he strikes a trail he makes a quick getaway with it, and, as his note is not similar to our dogs when they have a running trail, they refuse to "hark" to him quick enough to prevent him from soon obtaining a big lead. The dog is built like an athlete, runs like a fox and Mr. Yarnell says he is one of the best-bred dogs in the world and that he would not sell him for a thousand dollars.

The baseball team captained by Mr. Harry Fallowfield and the one captained by Mr. W. Frazier Russell, Jr., played a one-sided contest on the High School grounds on Monday afternoon. Mr. Fallowfield's team won this contest, which makes the count now one for each team. The score was 13 to 0. Mr. Fallowfield sprang a surprise on Mr. Russell's team when he sent practically an "unknown" in basball to the box in the person of Mr. Nichols, station-master at Worton, who is a member of the Young Men's Club of the M. P. Church here. Mr. Nichols had the "sign" on Mr. Russell's team and they were unable to solve his delivery during the five innings played. Mr. Arthur Bacon did the twirling honors for Mr. Russell's team and was hit somewhat freely at times and was also somewhat wild. The two teams are making active preparations for the "championship"(?) game, which will take place in the near future.

BETTERTON

The hail storm on Monday afternoon did a great deal of damage in and around Betterton. Faremrs had their entire wheat and hay crops practically destroyed. In the town gardens were cut down and hundreds of windows were broken. One of the triple memorial windows in the M. E. Church was shattered and five smaller ones broken. Five of the stained glass windows in the Episcopal chapel were broken.
