Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

Never attempt to relieve your baby with a remedy that you would use for yourself.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. SPORTING NOTES

"STARS OF THE MIGHT HAVE BEEN"—WASHINGTON ENDS A SUCCESSFUL SEASON—OTHER ITEMS

Frank Jarman had more of the natural attributes that make a twirler great than any mound artist that we have ever known. Why he never reached the crowning heights of baseball is, in our mind, more of a psychological problem than a physical one. Frank got his start with the Chestertown High School team, attained size quickly, entered Washington College and was easily the best college twirler in the State of Maryland of the year. His feat at Washington College of winning three games in as many days against good teams was, in itself, a feat worthy of notice. From Washington College Frank went to the Tri-State League, then to the International League. While in the International League he was successful in six or eight contests against big league teams, two of which were against the Boston team, world's champions of the year before. From the International League he went to the Ohio State League and then to the Virginia League, in both of which he twirled good ball. The war came along about that time and ended his pitching career. As we have said before, Frank possessed all the qualities that go to make a big league pitcher. He had the size, to start with, he had as much speed, as much curve, as good control, and as much head as any pitcher that ever played the national game in this section. At the time when he was breaking into the professional end of the game more than the usual number of young twirlers were trying to gain an entry into the big leagues. About one out of every hundred ever get a fair try-out with the big leagues. Frank never got his try-out. Had Frank Jarman been given a fair tryout of a week or so, with a big league team behind him, we have no doubt that he would have made a name for himself which would have made him a prominent figure on the sporting page. [Frank Jarman is dead—a victim of war's travail. His life was a sacrifice for his country's honor and safety. He was one of those heroic souls who died in the wake of the conflict. Baseball lost a big asset—we lost a good friend. Those we love pass away; our horizon narrows; death again takes its toll; life holds less for us. He was a fine fellow. The earth may run red with other wars, but he is at rest.]

Washintgon College, on last Saturday afternoon easily defeated Grace M. E. Church team, of Wilmington. Wright was on the mound for Washington College and was invincible. He pitched for six innings and they failed to get a run. In our opinion, had he continued to pitch for ten more innings they would have failed to score. Coach Kibler gave Schelberg a chance after the sixth, as Wright was slated to be on the mound for Massey against the Legion team. Schelberg was in trouble after two were out, and was unable to locate the plate. Two runs scored before Johnny got their measure. After that all was well. Washington's heavy hitters battered the Grace twirlers at will and drove one pitcher from the mound. The final score was 11-3. The weather and a poor schedule has been a great handicap to one of the best teams which ever represented the institution this year. The weather has kept the field in a poor condition all the season, which has made the work of our team slow. And then the teams scheduled have been no match for our club. Washington has lost three and won ten games this season.

A new player—who has come forward in giant strides this year—is Flowers, who replaced Bounds in the short field, Bounds going to right. We thought Coach Kibler had mistake in making this shift, but we must acknowledge it makes a stronger combination. Flowers is coming along at a fearful pace in baseball. He has had only one year's experience. If he develops like he promises to, look out for him. Another corking good player is Duffy, in center, the fastest fielder at the College in recent years and a fine hitter. Coach Kibler told us before the season he fielded like a big leaguer. We have found out that he does. The future holds bright prospects for him. Both these players will be on Chestertown's summer baseball team.

Hanson Horsey, official umpire at Washington College this year—and a good one—has made definite arrangements to manage Centreville's baseball team this summer. We are glad of this. Horsey is a good baseball man and will give Centreville a good team if they will give him the proper support. He knows the game and knows how to manage a team. We look forward with keen interest to games between Chestertown and Centreville this summer.

Gordy pitched two games for Milford against St. Paul's Church on Memorial day. He retired in the sixth in the first game with the score standing two to nothing in his favor and won the second game, 3-2. Gordy goes with Washington June 15. Here's hoping he makes good! Duffy pitched his first game of the year against Bridgeton for Rich Neck on Monday.

Kennedyville hammered Davis Saturday and Kennedyville defeated Massey 17 to 2. Kennedyville always has a bunch of heavy hitters and it takes a good pitcher to hold them.

In another column appears an account of the Legion-Massey game. It is only fair to Wright to say he was poorly supported. He pitched a good game. Blackway retained his reputation as the "wizard of the box" by twirling a full game without any practice whatever. He had Massey guessing all the time. He is an athletic marvel.

The championship of the colleges of the country on track and field went to the West Saturday, when the University of California captured the cup in a meet marked by the closest competition and by a final margin of one-half point. Harvard was second.

Washington College closed the baseball season on Wednesday afternoon when they played the Globe Dry Dock team, of Baltimore. The game was the best of the season. Washington won by the score of 3 to 2. Washington threatened to swamp the visitors in the early stages of the game, when they put two on with none out and scored two runs. The visitors' twirler, however, tightened up and shut the home team off from further scoring until the fifth when they tallied again. The Dry Docks were unable to score until the ninth, when they bunched four hits and scored two runs. They threatened to tie up the score in this session, but the wonderful heave of Duffy, from deep center, was true to the mark and Davis pinned the runner at the plate. Wright was on the mound for Washington and allowed only 24 men to face him in the first eight innings. The visitors had a fast aggregation and their twirler was a good one, having twirled professional ball in the Pennsylvania cities, while their catcher was Doctor Kerr, a former Tri-State receiver.

A resume of the season at Washington College this year shows, to the writer, the following:

Davis has improved in batting and fielding, and, next to Zearfoss, is no doubt, the best catcher ever developed at Washington College.

Wright has showed steady improvement in fielding and twirling in general. He has bright prospects for the future in baseball.

Gordy has hardly been up to his high standard of last year when the season closed, largely, we believe, due to the fact that the weather has been unfavorable to his rounding into form. Warmer weather will, without doubt, bring him into better shape than ever, and when he goes to Washington he will be in as good form as he ever has been.

Schelberg has only had one year of training under an efficient coach and has shown marked improvement since coming here. He has the "stuff," but lacks control. Another year and he will, doubtless, show up even better.

Usilton continues to be the best first baseman that ever played the game at Washington College. He is every bit as good as last year and hits somewhat better.

Robbins, at second, has improved in batting, while his fielding has been sharp and sure.

Flowers is a new man at short this year and gives promise of being one of the best infield men at the college in many years, while at the bat he is a dangerous man.

Johnson, at third, has improved gradually during the year and has made few errors. He is a good man on third—one of the best we have ever seen at the college. He is also swift on the paths and a good batter.

Bounds was transferred from short to left field. He is a fast man in the field and on the bases and gets as many runs as the next one, although he has not yet struck his batting stride.

Duffy is a fine hitter, a splendid fielder and a good all-around man. He is improving gradually and will make a baseball player capable of playing in fast company.

Seigenfuse, in right field, is a catcher also and a good one. This has been his first year at the college and he has improved greatly in the last few weeks of playing. He is fielding better and hitting the ball hard and often.

Wade Bounds is playing as utility man in the field and is a good one. He is not as good a batter as he is a fielder, but is a valuable man to have on a team.

The Chestertown High School team went to Centreville Wednesday afternoon and was defeated by the team of that town by the score of 7 to 3. The battery for Chestertown was McGinniss and Peacock.

Lightning Damages Tecliphone Service

More than 500 telephone stations on the Eastern Shore were thrown out of commission by the recent lightning, hail and wind storm and in less than half an hour after first reports of damage began to come in at the exchanges, wiremen and trouble men set out from Salisbury and Easton and were replacing damaged equipment. The majority of the damage was done by lightning and hail, which burned out equipment, fuses and cut down outside wires. Wires were blown down in several places, however, the chief damage in this respect being at Still Pond. More than 100 stations were put out of service in the neighborhood of Still Pond, about 40 at Oxford, close to 100 at Cape Charles and about half that many in the neighborhood of St. Michaels.

Though the storm lasted less than an hour the lightning was unusually heavy and struck frequently. The repair work was done under the direction of F. G. Adams, Jr., Dist. Supt. of plant of the C. & P. Co. Repair gangs were sent out and covered nearly 500 stations. In automobile trucks they traveled from station to station, restoring service as rapidly as possible. Fully 60 per cent of the telephones were in condition in less than 25 hours after the storm had passed over the peninsula.
