THE TRANSCRIPT

THE Democratic and Republican State Central Committees have agreed upon Friday, Sept. 9, 1921, as the date for the primary elections in this state. At the time of going to press no candidates had filed their papers in this county. Friday, August 19, is the last day under the primary law a candidate has to file his certificate as a candidate. If it is not done by that date he cannot get his name on the primary ticket.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

Messrs. Editors—Will you kindly print in your valuable columns the following statement and thus set at rest the minds of the mothers of this county as to whether when soldiers who fell in France during the late war, whose body is returned to his people at home, they may feel satisfied that they are receiving the body of their own boy and not that of some one else.

I have been in charge of the funerals (but one) of all of the boys that have been returned over the seas to Kent county and in every instance I have had it said to me repeatedly that they did not know whether they (the family) had the body of their son or not, and if it was they in the same position that they would not want the body. Let us see.

In the first place, when the troops left this country each man had placed about his neck two aluminum tags on which was a number, no two alike, also the number of the company or regiment to which he belonged. When he fell in the cause the burying squad removed one of these tags and it was given to the chapalin of the regiment, the other tag being left on the neck of the deceased, and, remember, that this was done in a particular way, as the beloved ex-president (Woodrow Wilson) had promised the mothers of this nation that the bodies of their dead who should make the supreme sacrifice would be returned to their native soil for burial, and this work was carefully done, and after the interment the grave, section, lot and even the particular cemetery was numbered and a record kept of each, so that when the time came for the removal of these bodies there would be no trouble in the matter, and in every case I have handled I have found all of the aluminum tags on the casket, outside case, and the papers to be duplicates in every particular, and read as follows: Doe, John E., Pvt., Co. D., 2nd Fld Corps, Gra. 61, Sec. 106, Cem. 5, Tag 6054. Now you can readily see by this that there was no chance of a mistake in the removal of these bodies, as everything was prepared by this government before the time came so that there would be trouble in sending the right body to its particular destination. So let the mothers and fathers rest assured that the body they lay away in their own lot is their own boy who they so bravely gave for the cause of the freedom of the world, and not the body of anyone else.

Further, there are in the neighborhood of seven thousand five hundred unknown dead, who were so mangled that identification was impossible, and their tags were lost entirely. These will not be brought back at all, but will remain buried in the sacred soil for which they fought, and France has promised to see to it that their glory will never grow less and that suitable memorials will be placed over these remains that will tell of their sacrifice for all time. And we can well leave them in the hands and hearts of their friends.

So let us thank God that we had a president during the great war who kept the pledge he gave the country and carried that pledge out to the letter. WM. H. KRUSEN.
