PAINT UP
Paint Up

A little money, now, to save the surface, or a lot of money, later, for repairs and replacements—which?

Conservation of property is as sound thrift as putting money in the bank. Don't let your buildings run down.

The man who is going to paint "one of these days" is the man who is going to take out insurance "one of these days." He postpones protection in either case.

INSURE YOUR PROPERTY WITH "ACME QUALITY PAINT."

Our stock of paint is complete for either inside or outside work. Paints, Varnishes, Linseed Oil, Turpentine, etc.

Miss Watson instructed her cousin to hold onto her feet, and swinging over the dog rescued him.

Postal Welfare Council Formed

About twenty postmasters and rural carriers throughout Kent met in Lyceum Theatre Tuesday morning and formed a local Postal Welfare Council to be known as Kent County Welfare Council. The purpose of these councils, which are being formed in every city and county throughout the country is to bring into closer relations the various branches of postal employees and promote a keener co-operation among employees and the public that the service may be placed upon a higher plane of efficiency.

Postmaster Bowers, of Chestertown, addressed the meeting upon the importance of the prompt delivery of every piece of mail even to the third and fourth class and pointed out how the public, by hearty co-operation, could aid in making the service more efficient.

The following were elected as a board to the council for the first six months: Chairman, Thos. D. Bowers; W. C. Dempsey, Kennedyville, and Michael Dunn, Massey, representing the 4th class postmasters and N. A. Wallen, Millington, and Fred S. Russell, representing the rural carriers. Mrs. Minnie Hadley, of Galena, was chosen vice-chairman and Charles Judefind, Rock Hall, secretary.

The department not only requests but expects every postmaster and postal employee to enroll as members of the council.

Cradle Roll Campaign Over The Top

The Cradle Roll Campaign for Kent County has gone "over the top." This county's quota was 100 and on the closing day, May 31, 242 names had been reported, meaning that 242 babies' names had been added to the roll of some Sunday School in Kent County and that Kent County had done her part in securing 3000 babies from the counties of Maryland. There are 28 Protestant Sunday Schools in Kent and the following 20 reported an increase: Millington M. E., 6; Millington P. E., 1; Massey M. E., 21; Galena M. E., 7; Galena P. E., 4; Georgetown Presbyterian, 7; Kennedyville M. P., 14; Locust Grove M. E., 13; Lynch M. P., 5; Betterton M. E., 9; Betterton P E., 9; Union M. E., 11; Chestertown M. E., 19; Chestertown M. P., 12; Rock Hall M. E., 42; Wesley Chapel M. P., 19; Raum Chapel M. P., 20; St. James M. P., 6; Salem M. E., 2; Bond M. E., 15. Still Pond M. E., Massey P. E. and Chesterville reported no Cradle Roll and the other three schools did not respond. Mrs. Harvey Moore, the Co. Supt. of Children's Division, expresses her thanks and appreciation to all the Cradle Roll workers and District Superintendents for making the campaign the success it proved to be.

THE POPLARS
Theodosia Garrison

My poplars are like ladies trim
Each conscious of her own estate;
In costume somewhat over-prim,
In manner cordially sedate,
Like two old neighbors met to chat
Beside my garden gate.

My stately old aristocrats—
I fancy still their talk must be
Of rose conserves and Persian cats,
And lavender and Indian tea;
I wonder sometimes as I pass
If they approve of me.

I give them greeting night and morn,
I like to think they answer, too,
With that benign assurance born
When youth gives age the reverence due,
And bend their wise heads as I go
As courteous ladies do.

Long may you stand before my door,
Oh, kindly neighbors garbed in green,
And bend with rustling welcome o'er
The many friends who pass between;
And where the little children play
Look down with gracious mien.

Beautiful Windows Dedicated

The windows in Emmanuel Church, Chestertown, to the memory of Judge and Mrs. Jas. A. Pearce were dedicated at the close of morning prayer by the rector, Rev. C. L. Atwater, on last Sunday morning. The choir marched down the center aisle, singing the hymn, "Who are those in bright array?" after which the prayer for the faithful departed was said. The windows were unveiled by little William Dixon and John Chesley, the nephews of Judge and Mrs. Pearce. The choir returned to the chancel, singing, "Oh King of Saints We Give Thee Praise and Glory for the Bright Clouds of Witnesses We Have Seen." At the conclusion of which the doxology was sung. In his sermon the rector spoke of the window dedicated to Mrs. Pearce for which the Judge provided in his will, asking that the words of our Lord, "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God," should be placed upon it, that the one who knew her best could give the best definition of her character. He compared the Judge to Nicodemus, coming to the Lord by night, in his love of truth and justice and his great love and faithfulness to his Lord.
