SEA LOVE
By Edward Oldham

I want to go back to the coast again
Where salt sea foam is flying.
I want to go back to the shell-beach plain
Of weed and fish nets drying.
I'll worship the sea in a chapel of pines
On an altar of sand where the tide mark twines—
I want to go back to the coast again
Where salt sea foam is flying.

I'm weary of valleys and leafy hills,
Gaunt plains and fields a-haying;
I'm weary of upland woods and frills
Of forest green-ry playing;
I'm weary of somberish mountainous sides,
Of frowning stone peaks and gaping divides—
I want to go back to the coast again
Where salt sea foam is spraying.

Oh, I long for the boom of breaking surf
And roaring seas resounding.
Oh, I yearn for the smell of salt marsh turf
And laden fish boats grounding.
I'd gladly exchange these landlubber schemes
For a fishermen's hut/or a beach-comber's dreams—
I want to go back to the coast again
Where salt sea foam is pounding.

POULTRY

An ancient proverb says: "Hold on till you can't hold on any longer, and then still hold on."—All of which applies very forcibly to the raising of chickens.

This season of the year is the season of growth with the youngsters. It is also a time of uncertainty as to results with the mature fowls. In some respects it is the most unsatisfactory season of the year. The man who is a slacker in his poultry yards in July and August will be certain to suffer serious loss all through the year. It is well to look our problems and perplexities squarely in the eye and master them every day as they come.

The sitting hen is present in large numbers at this eason of the year and while we think she is all right at the proper time, we loathe the sight of her at this season of the year. It is easy to break her up. Do not let her sit on the nest more than one night. The longer she sits the harder she breaks. Confine her three days without food, but give her plenty of water. Keep her in a cool place as possible in a box without straw. This will break her in most cases. If not repeat the same dose.

Don't let the hens miss a meal. The time is coming when eggs will be worth something—and it's only a few weeks away.

A hen that lays every other day uses a goodly quantity of shell in a year. If she is closed in or has a limited range she must be supplied with shells or she will not do well.

The cost of living is still 50 per cent higher than in 1914. But the cost of eggs are no higher than at that time.

If you are contemplating the erection of poultry houses for this winter make sure you are building them right or don't build them at all. It is easy to build right as it is to build wrong.

Don't keep weak pullets for winter layers. It is cheaper to cull out the weak ones than to run the risk of disease through overcrowding. Each bird should have as much floor space as possible when housed for the winter.

Do not stint your chickens in the matter of feed. The more you give them the better they will develop and the sooner your investment will pay you a premium.

KENNEDYVILLE

Mrs. Vickers and daughter, Miss Ada, are ivsiting Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Redmile.

Mr. Harper Webb, of Wilmington, spent the week-end with relatives.

Master Thomas Robinson has been visiting his aunt in Wilmington.

Miss Gertrude Reynolds, of Baltimore, has been spending some time with Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Urie.

Miss Mary Hill returned home on Saturday from a visit with relatives at Annapolis, accompanied by her grandmother, Mrs. Wilson.

Mr. John Rigler, of Landenberg, was the guest of Mr. James Weer and wife.

Cecilton Band will give a musical concert on Firday evening, September 1, on the lawn of the high school for the benefit of Grace Church.

Miss Mildred Melvin spent the week end with Mrs. Walter Hurlock.

Mrs. John Hessner returned home from a visit with relatives in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Anna Johnston has been very sick during the week, but is improving at this writing.

Miss Clara B. McKnett, of Philadelphia, has been visiting Mrs. George Johnston.

Mr. William Garey, of Baltimore, and Miss Lillie Garey, of Harrisonburg, Va., spent several days with their sister, Mrs. L. A. Pennington.

Mr. Olin Wilson, of Annapolis, is spending some time with his sister, Mrs. D. C. Kelley.

BETTERTON

The boarding season at Betterton is now at its height and while all of the hotels and cottages have a goodly number of guests the season, on a whole, is not as good as in previous years.

The state road through Betterton is completed and the one through Still Pond will be opened shortly. These detours have been most inconvenient during the summer season and have probably been the cause of keeping a great many motorists from Betterton.

Mr. Floyd Crownhart has purchased a Studebaker touring car.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gooding and daughter, of Wilmington, are spending some time with Capt. and Mrs. Horace Brice.

Mrs. Grace Garr and daughter, of Western Maryland, are visitng Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Herbert Moore and children, of Jacksonville, Florida, are spending several weeks with Mr. Moore's parents, Capt. and Mrs. G. W. Moore.

Mr. Clarence Newsome has returned to his home from the hospital in Baltimore, where he has been for treatment for six weeks.

Farmers, List Your Repair Needs

It would be hard to find a farmer who at some time or another had not lost valuable time waiting for necessary repair parts. Take this territory and total up the time lost in this way and it will astonish you. And all because repairs are not odered as early as they should be.

There is no better time than right now—just before the busiest season on the farm—to go over your machines carefully, make a list of repairs you are likely to need and send it to us. With this list in our hands, we can order our stock so as to be prepared to meet every call promptly.

Repair part service is a necessary part of our business. We realize what it means to you in time and money to get what you need at once. Help us to help you by making up your list now and sending it in to us.

Queer Feelings

"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of and of others, who seemed to have the same troubles I had, being benefited, so I began to use it. I found it most beneficial. I took several bottles . . . . and was made so much better I didn't have any more trouble of this kind. It regulated me."

CARDUI

Cardui has been found very helpful in the correction of many cases of painful female disorders, such as Mrs. Robie mentions above. If you suffer as she did, take Cardui—a purely vegetable, medicinal tonic, in use for more than 40 years. It should help you.
